NUMBER 5553

STATE AND GENERAL NEWS.

Happenings in North Carolina and Other States.

Wilmington, June 24.—J. E. Edwards, 35 years old, an employe of the Butters Lumber Company at Boardman, committed suicide early today by shooting himself through the head with a .38-calibre pistol. General despondency is assigned as the cause of the deed.

Governor Kitchin yesterday granted a pardon to Frank Bruton, of Buncombe county, conditioned on his remaining a law-abiding citizen and of good behavior. Bruton was convicted at the April term, 1905, of Buncombe criminal court of larceny, and sentenced to four years on the public roads.

Durham, N. C., June 25.—Sheriff Harward reached here tonight from Columbus, Ohio, where he went Tuesday for Solomon Shepard, the negro who confesses to a complicity in the murder of Engineer Holt.

There isn't any doubt now that Shepard was at least an accessory to the assassination of the engineer. From the authorities who have heard his strange talk, there has been gained knowledge of the negro's conduct here and there is no longer doubt that he was seen that night at twelve o'clock with the shotgun by his side, that he boarded at a colored man's house and left the gun there. One of the three shells of peculiar color, was fired at the engineer. The weapon that wrought death has been found, his picture was in the clothes and every circumstance that counts, is against him. There is no possible escape from the circumstances dug up by the officers.

St. Michaels, Md., June 25.—Emmet T. Roberts, Washington newspaper correspondent and magazine writer, slayer of the beautiful and accomplished Edith May Thompson Woodill, the adopted daughter of Col. Chas. A. Thompson, a wealthy Los Angeles auto manufacturer, whose rude, mutilated and weighted down body was dragged from the river here Wednesday, was shot and killed by the sheriff's posse while resisting arrest at the wharf at McDaniel, Talbot county, at 4 o'clock this morning. The secret of the horrible tragedy probably died with him.

Roanoke, Va., June 24.—The "drys" won by a majority of 104 votes in a local option election yesterday at Radford, Va. The dry majority two years ago was 153. The total votes cast today was 383 of which the "wets" cast 139 and the "dry" 244. The total votes two years ago was 398 of which the "drys" had 275 and the "wets" 122.

New York, June 25.—Almost the entire State of New York and New England States sweltered today. The maximum temperature recorded here was 92. There were at least seven deaths in the city proper due to heat, one suicide and two attempts at suicide. Prostrations were so frequent as to pass almost unnoticed. Conditions were almost unbearable in the manufacturing centers of New England and many mills and shops were closed. Two deaths were reported at Providence, R. I., and one at New Bedford, Mass.

Bostonian and Wilson Special, low cut shoes in all leathers, $3.50 and $4 grade reduced to $2.90. Frank Wilson.

PRESS CONVENTION END.

Brilliant Ball at Hotel Gates Closes Annual Session—Officers Elected

Hendersonville, June 25.—Thursday was the second and last of the North Carolina Press Association's visit to the "Lake City of the Mountains," and was marked by two enjoyable social events, the reading of many important papers, and the election of officers.

The morning was pleasantly spent in a drive to Lake Osceola and to Mount Hebron, the pleasure of which was not marred by a slight shower, which, Mr. J. P. Caldwell remarked, was but a pleasant diversion. The editors and their families went in a body and the string of carriages was a long one.

The ball at the Gates Thursday was largely attended and thoroughly enjoyed by both visitors and home people and was distinctly a success.

At the afternoon session the following officers were elected: President, Rev. J. O. Atkinson; first vice president, M. L. Shipman; second vice president, J. K. Swann; third vice president, W. K. Jacobson; secretary and treasurer, J. B. Sherrill; historian, Archibald Johnson; orators, W. C. Hammer and Josephus Daniels; poet, D. F. St. Clair; executive committee, H. A. London, W. C. Dowd, H. B. Varner, Josephus Daniels, D. T. Edwards.

A resolution was adopted condemning the United States government for maintaining a job printing office to compete with the country's job printers, and a copy of the resolution was ordered sent to every Representative and Senator of North Carolina.

Interesting articles were read by Rev. J. O. Atkinson, Clarence H. Poe and R. B. Clark.

The important address of the day was that of M. V. Richards, land and industrial agent of the Southern Railway.

New Schedule for N. & S. Trains.

Attention is called to the new schedule of the N. & S. railway printed in another column, which goes into effect Sunday, June 27th, when all of the trains passing Greenville on this line change time of arrival. The new schedule is the most convenient one we have had. One wishing to go to New Berne from here can leave now at 9:40 a. m. and go right through, returning at 6:13 p. m. The N. & S. officials are trying in every way to give its patrons good service and this new change adds a great deal to the efficiency of the line passing Greenville.

The following new industries have been established in North Carolina during the week ending June 23 says The Tradesman.

Greenville Loses Her First Game.

In a fast game of ball at Tarboro yesterday the Greenville boys were defeated by the narrow margin of 3 to 2. Lanier was on the mound for the visitors and was right there with the goods. He allowed only five hits while thirteen of the sluggers who faced him dropped the wood in amazement.

The good work of Lanier was supported by the other players, the entire team making only two errors, resulting from the fact that the ground was faster than the boys are used to playing on.

The boys will play Farmville here Tuesday, and Friday they will meet the Tarboro aggregation again. They are working hard now and deserve the patronage of the home people.

Summary.—Earned runs—Greenville 1. Hits—Tarboro 5, Greenville 4. Struck out by Pender 6, Lanier 13. Errors, Tarboro 2, Greenville 2. Batteries—Tarboro, Pender, Taylor and Deberry; Greenville, Lanier, Haskett and Haskett.

The Concert Wednesday Night.

The Boston Transcript has the following of Miss Helen Marie Day's voice:

Miss Day's talents as a soloist and pianist are conspicuous. Her voice is a contralto of excellent range and power, with the rich and touching quality which is peculiar to the genuine contralto voice. She sings with intelligence and authority, possesses the singer's temperament to an unusual degree. She is not alone an interesting and artistic singer, she is more than that, she knows the voice.—Boston Transcript.

She in company with her sister, Miss Henrietta Day, and Miss Phillis Woodall will appear here in concert next Wednesday night, 30th, and you will have an opportunity of hearing her. The other ladies mentioned are excellent singers, too, and doubtless their concert is the best the people of Greenville have ever had the opportunity of hearing.

Mr. E. H. Evans Hurt.

While working on the power house at the East Carolina Teachers Training School Friday afternoon Mr. E. H. Evans hurt himself very badly, but not seriously. He was working up on a scaffold when his foot slipped, causing him to fall heavily on one side and in the fall he struck a scuttling brace, which broke one of his ribs. One thigh and his body were considerably bruised by the fall also. He is resting very well today.

Almost Serious Fire.

The awning on the Norcott store building, occupied by Maggie Whitley's restaurant caught fire in some unknown way this morning and came very near resulting in a serious fire, as it is a wooden building. No damage was done except to the awning, which was almost completely destroyed.

Moonlight Sail.

The ladies of St. Paul's Episcopal church will give a moonlight sail next Friday night, July 2nd, on which everybody is invited to go. 75 cents will be charged for each couple, and single fare will be 50 cents. Don't miss it.

How to Control the Flies.

Flies on the farm can be made much scarcer by keeping the manure well cleaned up. Then the woven wire screens are now made very cheaply and easily adopted to all sizes of windows, and wire screen doors fitted with springs to close quickly will also aid in keeping out flies and mosquitoes. The few that get in can be rapidly disposed of with one of the fine wire brushes now sold in the hardware stores. With one of these, the housekeeper can go around the room and kill every fly on wall or window very rapidly.

Especially should there be the closest attention to keeping out flies when there is sickness in the neighborhood, and people are careless about the wastes of the sick room. I called attention last year to the fact that flies in the dining-room caused the outbreak of typhoid at the State Normal college at Greensboro, and doubtless, many other cases of diseases that puzzled people to find the cause, were due to the flies. Hence it is not only important for comfort to keep the flies out, but especially important as a preventative of disease.

With a farm-house isolated from other buildings, it should be easy to prevent many of the flies that are usually found there, by keeping the stables and farm-yard absolutely clean of manure, and getting it out where it will do good and not harm.

Remember that they have horse manure and filth to breed in, and you do not want the e carried into your milk or other food.—W. F. Massey, in Raleigh, (N. C.) Progressive Farmer.

Mr. W. F. Harding to Addresses Masons at Albemarle.

Mr. William F. Harding has gone to Albemarle where he will deliver an address today to the crowd attending the Masonic celebration of St. John's Day. Mr. Harding is one of the ablest and most gifted speakers of the local bar and his address will doubtless be heard by a large and appreciative crowd. Masonic celebrations will also be held today at Mocksville and Oxford.—Charlotte Observer, 25th.

DOGS AND LAWS AGAIN.

Following up our editorial in The Reflector Friday on "Dogs and Laws" we reprint the following extract from the Monroe Journal, which sums up the dog troubles in Monroe:

"Monroe is too nice a town to be turned over to the dogs. Dogs, dogs, of every class and kind, but mostly curs of low degree. Lying on the sidewalks for ladies to pass around, stopping the entrances to buildings and even the church doors, carrying bones and filth from place to place, scratching holes in graves at the cemetery, chasing cats about folks' houses and baying loudly at every shadow on moonlight nights, rousing sleeping people, and threatening the lives of children on the streets. Monroe, north Monroe, east Monroe, south Monroe, west Monroe, all surrendered to the dogs. One man who knows the town well thinks there are 500 dogs here, all of them more or less at times on the streets. Many families own from two to ten. Some of them are trained chicken catchers and don't respect the property rights of chicken owners. The hot season is on us and time for mad dog scares at hand. We've got the dogs alright.

"There was once a special tax on dogs, but the dogs were too sacred to be bothered and like the United States tax on incomes, the law passed out of itself and no tax was collected. The present tax collector, Mr. T. L. Crowell, says that if the aldermen will levy a special tax this year it will be collected."

Conditions are almost as bad here. Of course your dog is valuable, nice and not at all vicious, but we do not think it ought to be allowed to run at large without a muzzle for the safety of the public, which we have no right whatever to impose upon in any way. Consideration for the safety of others should be paramount in us, and whether we think the dog is vicious or not it should not be allowed on the streets without a muzzle, especially if it is a bull pup.

It would be a good idea for our citizens to clear the sidewalks in front of their property of weeds. The growth is very dense in some places. Have a little city pride and don't wait for the police to force you to do this.

A letter from Congressman J. H. Small to the editor states again that he wants everyone heard in the postoffice site matter, and that he will be glad to assist them to get a hearing.

And yet another town in Virginia comes over into the prohibition column. This time it is Roanoke.

The Wages of Sin.

The most satisfactory thing the Chronicle prints today, in connection with the murder of Mrs. Woodill, is the shooting $100 Reward $100.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

down of the man who committed the deed. It was not a lynching. The fellow lost his life while resisting arrest. By this rather happy outcome the country is spared one more scandalous murder trial in the courts. The young woman was no doubt much to blame, but woman's name is frailty. Of this failing the world knows and the world is full of men on the look-out all the time to take advantage of it. The fellow Roberts who led this weak young woman to ruin and death was of a type of man only too common, and his own death was but too easy. The world is the better for his being out of it. No greater truth was ever uttered than that "the wages of sin is death." It comes true every time, even though the facts are not always recorded in the newspapers.—Charlotte Chronicle.

Of No Use to Anybody.

We still have one or two men in this community who stand around on the street corners from morning until night complaining about the town, their neighbors, their taxes and the weather. Such men are mighty common and it is fortunate we have so few of them. Such men are of no use to the town, their families or their God. They seem to live but no one can tell how. Like mosquitoes and flies, they are not fatal but disagreeable to have about. It is not necessary to publish the names of the two or three who infest this community for you all know them.—Albemarle Enterprise.

EGG POISONING.

Some Persons Always Affected—Others Only Occasionally.

Instances of egg poisoning appear from time to time in periodical literature, and the subject is referred to in some but by no means all works on dietetics.

While cases of acute poisoning are rare, writes a physician in the Medical Record, some susceptibility as regards eggs is not so very uncommon. People constantly assert that eggs make them bilious, and, while in some this is often imaginary, in others the condition actually exists.

This is notably true of infants and young children. Not only do many infants and young children digest eggs with difficulty, especially when first eaten, but many more are made ill if this particular food is partaken of too freely or, in the case of older children, if the egg diet is kept up too continuously.

This inability of young children to digest eggs is probably in line with the well recognized fact that the infant's stomach, or digestive juices, must be taught to digest most dietary articles other than the maternal milk. Cows' milk, for instance, is a veritable poison to some infants, while many a newly born requires some practice and education before it can thoroughly digest even mother's milk.

Individual susceptibility as regards eggs is extremely variable. In some persons' eggs always act as poisons, while in others the toxic influence may be marked at one time and at another much diminished or entirely wanting, especially when the subject is in sound condition.

The susceptibility may be observed in eggs of every degree of freshness and in some cases only with eggs of certain birds. Changes in eggs may also be brought about by methods of cooking, for, while some persons manifest their susceptibility only when the egg is raw, others are poisoned when it is cooked or prepared in some unusual and unaccustomed manner.

In most of the reported cases the white of the egg appears to have been the offending element. The symptoms of egg poisoning differ greatly in degree. In some cases only nausea and headache occur. In others the most violent symptoms, suggestive of irritant poisoning, are observed.

Sometimes when the use of eggs is long continued they give rise to the symptom group which we call biliousness, which, after all, is but a form of auto-intoxication, due possibly to the presence of some alkaloid in the blood. The symptoms of egg poisoning are essentially those of so called ptomaine poisoning.

It is true that the eggs giving rise to toxic phenomena are in most instances apparently fresh when eaten, but when we recall that the porous shell of the egg will admit the micro organisms that cause the egg to rot, as well as various strong odors, it is easy to comprehend that an egg may appear fresh and yet contain bacteria that in susceptible persons and in certain conditions of digestion may produce changes which may cause toxic symptoms.

Pandemonium.

"How do you make that out?"

VARIES IN QUANTITY.

A Cord of Wood Is a Rather Uncertain Proposition.

ODD FACTS ABOUT ITS BULK.

There Are Many Different Conditions That Affect the Measurement of the Pile—The Interesting Result of an Experimental Test.

When is a cord not a cord?

To the farmer harvesting his small wood lot and to the man laying in logs for the large fireplace of his country or seaside home, to the paper manufacturer buying pulp wood and to the proprietor of the ordinary city wood yard, to all of these men this question has an important financial meaning.

Queer to say and contrary to the belief of most people, there are many times when a cord is less than a cord and many conditions when it is more. School arithmetics say that a cord of wood is 128 cubic feet, or the contents of a pile eight feet long, four feet high and four feet wide. Wood is marketed on this basis. A pile whose length, breadth and height multiplied together gives this number of cubic feet fills this requirement, no matter whether the sticks are long or short, straight or crooked, round or split, unless there is an understanding to the contrary. Nevertheless, a cord, though it comes up to legal measurements, is an uncertain quantity, even when the seller is honest and the buyer satisfied.

A lumberman may have a tract of pulp wood which he sells to a paper mill at $5 a cord for as many cords as it will make. It is in the contract that he shall cut and stack it. He cuts it in twelve foot lengths, and when the job is complete it measures 200 cords, and he receives $1,000 for it. Would he have made or lost by cutting four foot lengths instead of twelve?

He would have lost in the first place from the additional labor required to cut four foot wood, but his principal loss would have resulted from a greatly diminished number of cubic feet, due to the fact that short sticks lie closer together than large.

Measurements and experimental tests have been made to ascertain exactly how much actual wood is in cords of different lengths, sizes, shapes and species.

Had the 200 cords of twelve foot wood been cut in four foot lengths there would have been only 176 cords, and the owner would have received for it $880 instead of $1,000. It was, therefore, clearly to his advantage to cut twelve foot lengths, but it would have been to the buyer's advantage to have it cut in four foot lengths. He would have received the same actual quantity of wood for $120 less.

It also makes considerable difference to the seller whether wood is chopped or sawed. If chopped, the chips are lost. Where the logs are large this loss amounts to no small total. In a cord of four foot wood, with sticks six inches in diameter, the chip loss is from 6 to 8 per cent, and, of course, the shorter the sticks are cut the greater the loss. If the wood is saved the sawdust loss is scarcely the half of 1 per cent.

The difference due to spaces between the sticks, of course, depends very much on the shape and size of the sticks. Straight, smooth sticks lie close together, and a cord contains more wood and less air. For given lengths sticks of soft woods are usually straighter and smoother and when stacked lie closer together. But whatever the kind, cords of long sticks are pretty sure to contain more empty space than cords made of short pieces. Likewise cords of split wood contain less than cords of round sticks. The finer the wood is split the more it makes; hence wood dealers are often willing to sell kindlings, all sawed and split, for the same price per cord as unsplit wood. They get back the cost of labor in the increased bulk.

A cord (128 cubic feet) of four foot hardwood usually contains about eighty-three cubic feet of solid wood, a cord of three foot wood averages eighty-three and one-half feet, of two foot wood eighty-four feet and of one foot wood eighty-five feet. The conifers, soft woods, contain ninety to ninety-six cubic feet. Thus the purchaser receives on an average about two-thirds of a cord of real wood and one-third of a cord of spaces.

In some countries wood is bought by weight, and the buyer comes more nearly getting what he bargains for, but even then he may miss it if he receives green wood when he wants dry. According to timber testing engineers of the United States forest service, wood may lose half or more its green weight in seasoning. Cedar for lead pencils is bought by weight in this country. The pieces are so small and of such irregular size that they cannot conveniently be stacked and measured as cordwood.

The bulk of nearly all woods decreases as seasoning goes on. A hundred cords green will make from eighty-nine to ninety-three cords when dry. This is a factor of no small importance to dealers who handle large quantities.

Wood lot owners and farmers who have small forest tracts from which they expect to sell cord wood are no less interested than contractors who buy and sell large quantities. It will stand them in hand to know how much difference it makes whether wood is cut long or short, chopped or sawed, whether the sticks are round or split, whether large or small and whether the measurements are to be made while the wood is green or after it is seasoned.

The Climate of China.

The summers in north China are dry and hot. Then come a short period of torrential rains and then a long, dry fall and winter. Frost will come about the middle of October, and the last of November the river will freeze up, to stay closed until the middle of February, though often until a month later. There is almost no snow during the entire winter—two or three little flurries, but never enough to cover the ground. The cold is comparatively steady.

Why RALSTON SHOES are non-wrinkling

As you have probably noticed, most shoes have a tendency to wrinkle and "bunch up" across the toes after the shoes have been worn a few times. This is the fault of the lasting (the process of pulling and stretching the leather over the wooden last.)

The RALSTON method has remedied this fault. Ralston vamps are first crimped (see illustration) then lasted. There are no bunches, no wrinkles, because every part of the vamp fits the last perfectly without straining the leather at any point. This adds to the wear of the shoe. It also explains the reason why Ralstons retain their smart appearance until worn out.

There are other unusual features of RALSTON SHOE construction which will appeal to you. Come in and look over our new styles.
