LASSITER-BEAMAN.

Beautiful Church Wedding, in Snow Hill, N. C.

St Barnabas Episcopal church, Snow Hill, N. C., was the scene of the most beautiful wedding ever held in this place, when Miss Mary Lassiter became the bride of Mr. E. C. Beaman. The color scheme throughout was pink and white. The church was tastefully decorated with festoons of evergreens and a background of ferns, capejesamine and pink geraniums enhanced the beauty of the scene.

As Miss Rosa Dail rendered Lohengrin's wedding march the attendants came in as follows:

Miss Mary Harper, gowned in white messaline carrying pink carnations tied with pink chiffon. Miss Pearl Herring, wearing pink sousine silk carrying white carnations tied with chiffon. Mr. H. L. Lassiter, brother of the bride, and Mr. J. Y. Monk, Miss Lena Mae Potter, who wore a love gown of white messaline with pink carnations, Miss Rosabelle Lassiter with a gown of pink sousine and with white carnations. Following came Mr. Carl L. Beaman, brother of the groom, with Mr. J. A. Albrighton, then little Miss Catherine Dail carrying the ring on a silver tray in shape of heart with cupids.

Then came the bride gowned in white satin with trimmings of point lace, her veil looped with white Palmer violets carrying bride roses tied with white chiffon, leaning on the arm of her sister, Miss Maud Lassiter, who wore an exquisite gown of blue satin with a robe of blue net embroidered with pearls and silver cloth, carrying white carnations. They were met at the altar by the groom and his best man, Dr. James H. Harper, who came from the vestry. Rev. John H. Griffith read the impressive and ancient marriage service of the Episcopal church from a beautifully bound copy of the ceremony which he presented to the bride. After the ceremony the bridal party left the church by the strains of Mendelssohn's march.

The church was filled with the many friends of the popular couple who showed their best wishes for them by the many handsome and beautiful presents received. Mr. and Mrs. Beaman will make their home in Farmville, N. C.

Universalist Church.

There will be services tonight at 8:15. The subject will be "The Heart of Saul."

The Sunday services will be held at 11 a. m. and 8:15 p. m. Morning subject, "The Message of Jonah." Evening subject, "The Personal Atmosphere." Dr. Bradley will preach at each of these services.

Last night the doctor spoke upon the Dynamic of Faith, and the sermon was pronounced great by all who heard it.

These services are designed to strengthen the moral and spiritual life of all who hear. Dr. Bradley is a pleasant, forceful speaker and the public is cordially invited to hear him during these services. W. O. Bodell, Pastor.

DEATH OF MRS. B. P. SMITH.

Last Sunday evening June 27th, 1909, between the hours of three and four o'clock, the spirit of Mrs. Ella H. Smith took its flight to that unknown country beyond.

Her death was almost sudden, she was taken sick about four o'clock in the morning. About four weeks ago she was sick but all thought she was as well as she had been for a long while. She said Friday before her death she felt as well as she had this year but she seemed to think her time was short, for she told her brother's wife she would not live this year out. She was the oldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Walker, of Pinetops.

In March, 1897, she was married to Mr. B. P. Smith of Kings Cross roads. Her few married years were full of trouble and bereavements, being the mother of ten children of whom only four are living.

She bore her afflictions with Christian patience, knowing that God does all things for the best, though at times it seems more than we can bear. She united with the Methodist church at old Bethlehem while quite young, and lived a faithful Christian until her death.

She leaves a husband and four children, three girls and one boy, an aged father and mother, five brothers and one sister, to mourn her loss. But why should we mourn when we know our loss is her gain.

WINTERVILLE ITEMS.

Newsy Notes From Our Hustling Neighbor.

Winterville, N. C., July 3, 1909.

Rev. Mr. Armstrong, of Ayden, was in town a while Wednesday.

Miss Roland Cobb left for her home at Conetoe Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. L. T. West, of Kinston, spent Wednesday here visiting Mr. Oglesby.

Guy Taylor, of Ayden, was in town yesterday.

M. B. Bryan left Wednesday evening for Zebulon, where he will work as bookkeeper for the tobacco warehouse there. Mr. Bryan is an excellent young man. He is very popular and his many friends wish him much success.

A number of Masons here attended the public installation of officers of the Ayden and Winterville lodges held at Ayden last Thursday. They report a time.

C. T. Cox left for Raleigh Thursday evening where he will study banking in a business college. We miss him very much, especially those "contagious smiles" and his sunny disposition. His friends wish for him much success in banking as well as in laughing.

Several of our citizens went to Greenville last night to a meeting of the Red Men.

Miss Janie Kittrell went to Greenville today.

J. B. Kittrell went to Greenville today.

Notice.

I hereby recommend that anybody can trade for or buy or sell the horses that I traded to Clayton Turnage, also to Joe S. Pittman. I purchased the said horses from Winslow with the same horse note that he told me every man signed who bought a horse from him. I traded said horses by his consent. I want everybody to know that the notes are not due until next fall, and I shall meet them promptly and settle them. But the one note I have forbidden anyone to buy, I will not pay until the court says I must pay it.

Cause of the Damage.

Mr. R. M. Hearne calls our attention to an error made in the report of the aldermen meeting, published in The Reflector Friday, wherein it was stated that his bill for $25 was based on damage done to his fish and lily pond in building the street to the water and light plant. He says that the damage was done by the town hands entering his property and cutting a ditch that so nearly drained the pond as to make it unfit for the purpose intended.

Correction in License Taxes.

In the list of special license taxes, published Friday, an error was made as to drays. Instead of being $5 for each horse used it should be $10 each for first two horses and $5 for each additional horse.

A license of $25 per year was also levied on dealers in "near beer."

Tarboro Wins.

Greenville got walloped in the game of ball played here Friday afternoon with the Tarboro team, the score being 5 to 1 in favor of Tarboro. This was the second game Greenville has lost this season, while our boys have had four victories.

GREENVILLE DEFEATED.

Tarboro Wins by the Score of 5 to 1.

Friday afternoon on the home ground the Greenville team was defeated by Tarboro, the visitors winning by the score of 5 to 1.

The inability of the locals to hit the ball hard and opportunely was responsible for their defeat. They played steady ball in the field, but when it came to batting, they could not deliver the goods, as is shown by the fact that they secured only one hit, Haskett C. getting this in the first inning.

Score by innings R H Greenville 1 0 0 0 0 0 0 1 1 Tarboro 0 2 0 2 0 1 0 0 0 5 6

Summary: Two base hit, Cherry. Base on balls, off Pender 4, off White 2, off Lanier 8, by White 7, by Lanier 5.

Batteries: Tarboro, Pender and Bryan and Deebery. Greenville, White, Lanier and Haskett.

Dug up Bodies of Infants.

Wilmington, N. C., July 2.—

Something in the nature of a sensation was sprung in police circles today when it was reported that a fisherman digging bait across the river from the city, on an isolated island known as Point Peter, had unearthed the body of an infant buried only a few inches under the earth.

Subsequent investigation by an officer and the coroner disclosing that four others, three white and one colored, had been likewise buried in the same locality.

A colored undertaker's helper has been arrested, charged with criminal knowledge of the interments, but none of the infants has been identified. The police are inclined to believe that no crime has been committed but are of the opinion that the bodies were interred to evade cemetery expenses and the regulations required by the board of health.

Notice.

I wish to state to my customers that I am no longer running a restaurant in the Norcott building, but am still cooking cakes and bread and am in the Baptist parsonage, formerly occupied by Rev. W. A. Taylor, corner of First and Pitt streets. Will be glad to fill orders for cakes, bread and rolls

Mrs. Maggie Whitley.

Monday Afternoon.

Miss Etta Spier, representative of the Former Students Association of the State Normal College, will meet the Pitt county former students of the college in the chapel of the graded school, at five o'clock, Monday, July 5.

The citizens of the town and county are cordially invited to attend this meeting.

Examination Thursday.

On Thursday, July 8th, county superintendent, W. H. Ragsdale will hold examinations for applicants for state teachers certificates, teachers 5 year state certificates, high school teachers certificates and of students for admission into A. & M. College at Raleigh.

After Saturday July the 3rd, the End Century Library will be opened only once a week, every Tuesday afternoon from 5 to 7.

New books will be added at once, a publication of same will be made later.

GOVERNMENT COMPETING WITH JOB PRINTERS.

The government is in the printing business in a way that competes with the job printers of the country much to the disadvantage of the latter. It is in the matter of envelopes, the government furnishing the stamped envelopes practically at cost above the stamps and printing the return card thereon free of charge. In order to get more of this business the government has inaugurated a systematic canvas among business men to secure it. Printers throughout the country are protesting against this practice of the government, and at the recent meeting of the North Carolina Press Association the following was adopted:

"Resolved, That we most emphatically protest against the custom of the Postoffice Department of printing the return card on stamped envelopes free of cost, and of charge to the customer, as thereby the government becomes a direct competitor of the individual citizen, and that without profit to the government."

"Resolved, That this is intended to express our disapproval of the course of the Third Assistant Postmaster General in advertising this feature by means of alluring circulars sent through the mail free of postage to every postoffice in the country to be distributed to business men generally."

"Resolved, That we respectfully ask that steps be taken at once to discontinue this unwarranted interference with the legitimate printing business, as it is obviously unfair for officials to use the machinery of the government of the people to solicit business from our customers, especially when this business is done without charge and delivered free to the customer, thus making it impossible for us to compete for it."

The secretary, Mr. J. B. Sherrill, was instructed to forward, a copy to each of the senators and representatives from North Carolina, with the request that they do all in their power to have the custom referred to discontinued.

What possesses the people of Greenville to dig up the grass on their sidewalks? During the recent heavy rains the sidewalks on some of our streets were washed into great gulches and almost washed them completely away. This was caused by the grass being dug away. In most places people plant grass on the bare spots and keep it well mowed which makes a very pretty sight; but here they seem to have a mania for digging it up and having the spots bare, making very unsightly places as well as causing sand to wash into the gutters on the streets to be shoveled out. Plant grass and keep it mowed; don't dig it up. A town ordinance says keep your sidewalks clean of weeds and grass, but it would be far better to let a grass strip remain next to the curb line to prevent washing. The aldermen might well make such amendment to the ordinance.

While "Central" is enforcing the "call by number" rule, it will help the cause along if some of the operators are drilled a little in catching the number asked for without having to be told as many as half a dozen times and then be given the name also to be sure of correctness. For our part we like the calling by number, but for efficiency there must be some improvement at both ends of the line.

A New York grand jury is after the sugar trust, but it is not expected to squeeze much sweetness out of it.

By the fourth of July coming on Sunday those sections that take holiday get Saturday and Monday both.

ADVERTISING IS LIFE.

Visitors from St. Louis and Fort Worth were guests recently of the Dallas (Tex) Advertising League at a banquet.

President George W. Baker, of the league, was toastmaster. Dan O. Lively welcomed the visitors to the city.

William H. O'Brien, a former newspaper man, and now general counsel for the Great American Life Insurance Company of St. Louis, was the first to respond.

"What the business interests of the country have attained has been due to advertising and to men like you," he said in part. "I have bought advertising and have sold advertising, as your members are doing the one or the other. I have secured contracts, written the ads, set them into type, for I am a member of the typographical union, and I have circulated the advertising. Everything comes from advertising of the proper kind."

"For good advertising, never go to a cheap concern. Do not utter a cheap ad., and don't let anybody do it for you. Columbus advertised the new found land in the best medium of his day, or you and I would not be here. They advertise us when we are born, and they advertise us when we die. Its an age of advertising. Do it, and do it right."

Gus Frey, of the Woodward Tierman Printing Company of St. Louis, spoke of publicity.

"It pays a man to pay for the best advertising," he said, "and then to see to it that he gets his money's worth. It pays the man who is selling advertising to see to it that he gives what he offers to give, to know that a patron gets satisfaction. Then there'll be more advertising and plenty of it, for the right advertising pays, regardless of cost."

He declared for an advertising man in every business house, one person responsible for the publicity of all of it.

"That's what makes things go," he said, "and if I was starting anew I'd give half of the money to the advertising man."

Woman's Friend

Nearly all women suffer at times from female ailments. Some women suffer more acutely and more constantly than others. But whether you have little pain or whether you suffer intensely, you should take Wine of Cardui and get relief. Cardui is a safe, natural medicine, for women, prepared scientifically from harmless vegetable ingredients. It acts easily on the female organs and gives strength and tone to the whole system.

TAKE CARDUI

The Woman's Tonic

Mrs. Verna Wallace, of Sanger, Tex., tried Cardui. She writes: "Cardui has done more for me than I can describe. Last spring I was taken with female inflammation and consulted a doctor, but to no avail, so I took Cardui, and inside of three days, I was able to do my housework. Since then my trouble has never returned." Try it.

Experiences of Emperor Napoleon I. at a Masked Ball.

The Emperor Napoleon I. once announced to his valet that he intended on a certain evening going to a ball at the Italian embassy and requested that complete costumes should be sent in advance. The valet, Constant, obeyed and attended his imperious master and commenced to dress him in a manner which might, had the emperor followed the valet's advice, have defied detection. Constant had some trouble with Napoleon over one or two minor matters, but when it came to changing his top boots for shoes the emperor resolutely refused.

Going into the ballroom, Napoleon at once relapsed into his accustomed attitude and, wishing to engage a lady in conversation, approached her with his hands behind his back. To his first question she prefaced her reply with "sire." Turning away abruptly, he went back to his room and said: "You were right, Constant. I have been recognized. Give me another costume and shoes this time."

The valet redressed his master and warned him to keep his hands at his side. No sooner had he entered the room the second time than once more he relapsed into his natural attitude. This time a lady addressed him, "Sire, you are recognized." Once more the emperor left the room in disgust.

Returning to his room, Napoleon was disguised for the third time. His toilet complete, he went back to the ballroom, which he entered as if it were a barrack room, pushing and swaggering. He was at once detected, and some one whispered to him. "Your majesty is recognized." Another disappointment and another change, still with the same result, and in the end the emperor left the embassy convinced that it was impossible to conceal his identity.

The Mathematical Problem.

Little Marion was busy at her "home work." After a great many perplexed frowns and much nibbling at her pencil she looked up and said:

"The only answer I can get to this example is 'five and three-fourths horses.' Do you s'pose that is right, mamma?"

"Well, I don't know," answered her mother cautiously. "It sounds rather queer."

A long pause; then the small arithmetician's face lit up with a smile. "Oh, I know," she cried; "I'll reduce the three-fourths horses to colts!"—Woman's Home Companion.

Missed the Name.

Guest of the Doctor's (late home from the theater)—Hurry up, old chap, and let me in. Absentminded Doctor (who has forgotten all about his visitor)—Who are you? Guest—Mr. Trane. Doctor—Missed a train, have you? Well, catch the next.—London Fun.

Well Enough.

"Didn't I tell you to let well enough alone?" said the doctor to the convalescent who had disobeyed and was suffering a relapse.

"Yes, doctor," whined the patient, "but I wasn't well enough."—Detroit Free Press.

THE BOTTLE CONJURER.

An Old Time Hoax That Caused a Riot in a London Theater.

In 1748 there appeared in the newspapers of London an advertisement stating that on a certain night a remarkable conjurer would perform in the Haymarket theater. He would, the advertisement ran, borrow a common walking cane from any member of the audience and "thereupon play the music of every instrument now in use." It was also promised that he would take an ordinary wine bottle, place it on a table in the middle of the stage, get into it "in the sight of all the spectators" and sing while in it. In the same issue of the newspaper was a second advertisement announcing the arrival of Signor Capitello Jumpedo, "a surprising dwarf no taller than a tobacco pipe," who engaged to perform with and outdo the "bottle conjurer," contorting himself in all manner of shapes and finally "opening his mouth wide and jumping down his own throat." This feat, not without reason, Signor Jumpedo described as the "most wonderfulst wonder of all wonders as ever the world wondered at."

The night set for this dual display of "wonderfulst wonders" found the theater packed from roof to pit. But as the time passed and the curtain remained down catcalls and hisses began to be heard. Then a man in the pit stood up and in a calm voice announced that if double prices were paid the conjurer would get into a pint instead of a quart bottle. At once the audience realized that they were being hoaxed. Somebody threw a lighted candle into a box, and this was the signal for a riot. Benches were torn up and boxes pulled down, while the timid rushed for the doors, with great loss of wigs, hats, swords and canes. Those who remained, re-enforced by roughs from outside, completely destroyed the interior of the theater and finished up by dragging the scenery into the street, where it was burned in a huge bonfire. Nor was the author of this imposture ever discovered, although it was commonly attributed either to an actor who had been discharged or to a mischievous nobleman bent on winning a wager.—New York Tribune.

In his better moments stormy Carlyle used to say, "Kindness is the sum of life, the charm to captivate and the sword with which to conquer."

Prompt treatment of a slight attack of Diarrhoea will often prevent a serious sickness. The best known remedy is Dr. Seth Arnold's Balsam. Your apothecary, J. L. Wooten, warrants it to give satisfaction.
