BAPTIST MINISTER.

Rev. R. R. Fleming Appointed Chaplain in U. S. Army.

The following clipping from a paper published in Streator, Ill., though the name of the paper was not mentioned, was sent to a relative here, and knowing it will be of interest to the many friends of Mr. Fleming in his native county, The Reflector asked permission to copy it:

Rev. Robt. R. Fleming, pastor of the First Baptist church, has received a commission signed by President Taft and Secretary of War Dickinson, appointing him chaplain in the United States Army, with rank of 1st Lieutenant, mounted.

The appointment was made April 20, but has just been received and will probably be accepted by Rev. Fleming.

Last fall Senator Long of Kansas was notified that there was a vacancy for a Baptist Chaplain from Kansas. He immediately offered the position to Rev. Fleming who accepted but when he applied for examination, was turned down by the medical experts. His health being good and having been accepted by the medical examiner for life insurance he felt sure there must be some mistake, and in March was granted a second examination. Since then he had heard nothing further from the war department until today when he received the commission.

The office of chaplain carries with it a salary of $2,000 per year, with $150 for purchase of horse, feed for two horses, horse light and fuel, together with free transportation, making an approximate salary of $2,500 per year.

Rev. Fleming has not yet been notified in regard to where he will be stationed, but will probably be ordered to report for duty at the nearest fort, which is Ft. Sheridan. As chaplain he has over 1000 men under him for religious instruction and feels that the opportunity affords a wide field for labor. The appointment is for life, with privilege of resigning whenever he sees fit.

Rev. Fleming accepted a call to the 1st Baptist church last October and during his pastorate has won the respect and esteem of every one. He is a bright enthusiastic young man, deeply interested in his work and while he has not yet consulted his church in the matter, he will probably accept the opportunity which has been offered him. He has made a large circle of friends here outside as well as within his church, who will greatly regret his departure but will rejoice at his advancement.

Autos Run Too Fast.

We do not think any automobile owner in Greenville desires to do personal injury to any one, but the way some of them run their machines is really dangerous. The aldermen adopted an ordinance forbidding a speed greater than ten miles an hour, and the ordinance has been duly published so that all may have warning, but it is easy to see machines running at a speed much greater than the limit prescribed in the ordinance. Several times in turning corners collisions have been narrowly averted, and if the fast running is not stopped serious damage is likely to occur.

Gave Away Her Husband's Dress Suit to Bury a Nigger In.

One worthy Salisburian goes on record today as an unbeliever in woman's ability to do anything practical. This is the reason of his unbelief. Tuesday an indigent negro man whose best apparel consisted of a few rags died and the good wife of this citizen was appealed to by relatives of the deceased to contribute some old garments. A kind-hearted woman, she went to the closet in a darkened room where her spouse's apparel is kept and bundled up what she supposed was a well-worn suit.

Last night when her husband was preparing to dress for a social engagement he looked everywhere, but in vain, for his glad rags. Calling upon his wife for assistance, she, too, failed utterly to discover the suit. Then the light dawned upon her. She had given away a $40 tailor-made outfit that the dead pauper might have a decent burial and left her husband for wear on special occasions a ready-made, sadly-worn suit.—Salisbury Post.

Senate Adopted Corporation Taxes.

Washington, July 2.—The corporation amendment, which was suggested by President Taft, is an integral part of the tariff bill that now stands.

After much tribulation the senate reached a vote shortly before adjournment at 7 o'clock today, and the amendment was agreed to 60 to 11. Many Democrats voted with most of the Republicans for the amendment. Only three Democrats voted against the provision on the final vote, but some refrained from voting at all.

Cotton Crop Condition 74.6.

Washington, July 2.—Reports of the condition of the cotton crop of the bureau of statistics, of the department of agriculture, estimated from reports of its correspondents, on June 25, was 74.6 per cent. of normal as compared with 81.1 per cent. May 25 and 81.2 per cent. June 25 last year; 72 June 25, 1907; 80.8 per cent. ten year average.

Disturbance Saturday Night.

A personal difficulty Saturday night created much excitement and attracted a crowd on the street. The trouble started between Messrs. J. B. White and J. F. Stokes, and later Mr. S. T. White got in it. Being only a fist and foot affair there was no serious results. The matter was adjusted before the mayor and all hope it is at an end.

Universalist Services.

The evangelistic services in the Universalist church will continue until Wednesday evening. Dr. Bradley is preaching strong, helpful sermons and all who hear feel the spiritual uplift. The services tonight will begin at 8:30. Let everybody come and assist in these services. W. O. Bodell, Pastor.

STATE NEWS.

Happenings of Interest in North Carolina.

Kinston, N. C., July 3.—In a moment of despondency, caused by continued illness, Mrs. J. L. Albertson committed suicide by stabbing herself in the left side, just below the heart, this afternoon at 2 o'clock at her home on East North street, this city. Just prior to committing the deed, Mrs. Albertson had been talking with her daughter, Mrs. Ross Sutton, on the back porch. She left to go into the sitting room, as was thought, to take a nap. In a few minutes Mrs. Sutton went into the room and found her mother lying on the couch with a bloody knife in her hand.

At Elizabeth City Saturday Seth Newby killed his sister, Mrs. William Barnes, and then fatally shot himself with the same pistol. Newby and his sister had been living together several years, she doing the house-keeping for him. She married a few days before the tragedy, and it is thought that Newby's brooding over the loss of his sister caused him to commit the murder and suicide.

Governor Kitchin has refused the applications of three prisoners for pardons, these being: John Gordon, of Columbus county, convicted in April, 1908, of retailing liquor and sentenced to eighteen months on the roads. John Stephens, of Columbus county, convicted in April, 1908, of retailing liquor and sentenced to eighteen months on the public roads. Julius Hudsons, of Johnston county, convicted in September, 1906, of murder in the second degree and sentenced to fifteen years in the State's Prison.

Lights Went Out.

The electric light plant took a notion for a little celebrating Saturday night, and put the town in darkness for an hour or so. The trouble was due to the breaking of a cross circuit wire, which was repaired as quickly as possible. When things like this happen many people have a habit of phoning to the plant to ascertain the trouble or how long before the lights will come on, without thinking the time required for answering phone calls at the plant is just that much time taken off from repairing the trouble.

July ought to be made to bring things to pass for Greenville. In fact, we should keep everlastingly at it and make every month better than the preceding one.

Since the hot spell has been broken and some cooler weather taken its place, congress may take a new grip and decide to stay in Washington longer, even if it is not classed as a summer resort.

PREACHING THE GOSPEL OF GOOD ROADS

The good-roads movement which has taken hold of the country will be very far-reaching in its effect. We are entering upon a period in which there is to be a revolution mightily affecting social conditions and educational and religious advancement, a period in which the loneliness of farm life is to be banished by the closer intercommunication between the people of the agricultural districts with each other and with adjacent towns and cities. Bad roads have meant more than simply an enormous loss, a wastage of time and effort in getting the products of the farm to market and the merchandise which the farmer buys from the depot back to the country place. The aggregate cost of bad roads runs into the hundreds of millions of dollars annually, and the farmers and the people away from the centers of population are the ones who have had to pay the cost.

The automobile, the use of which is helping to stimulate an interest in good roads is only an expression or exponent of new conditions upon which all civilization has entered. We have come upon a time when the gas or internal combustion engine has started a revolution equally as important, equally as far-reaching in its effect, as that of the locomotive, which for the last three-quarters of a century has been the greatest material power in human advancement. The internal-combustion engine makes possible the lessening of work on the farm. It makes possible the pumping of water for use in country homes and for stock. It makes possible many things around a farm and in connection with farm life heretofore impossible except by hard manual labor. It makes possible the motor boat, which is found on every river of the land. The development of this great engine for human progress will necessitate a very broad and rapid building of good roads, for the automobile in its present uses for pleasure is but the forerunner of the auto-truck, which soon will be found in use throughout the country wherever good roads and good streets make feasible the hauling in this way rather than by the slow and costly wagon of the present.

When one begins seriously to contemplate the changes which are being brought on us by the development of the internal-combustion engine, the benefit of the motor boat and the motor car, the small farm engine, the facility of travel which these things and good roads will bring about, the imagination is apt to almost stagger us with the limitless possible advancement of the period upon which we have entered. The man who is working for the building of good roads is directly working for the betterment of mankind. He is working for the advancement of education and religion and for all that makes the highest civilization. Of what use are schools and churches in country districts if for five or six months of the year country roads are so impassable that they cannot be attended? Of what value to the grower are the products of farms which can only reach the market at a cost of transportation by wagon which eliminates all profit? The charm of country, the beauty of nature are pictured as reasons why farm life should appeal to the people, but when farm life means drudgery and separation from friends by reason of bad roads, it is not to be wondered at that the people of the agricultural districts, young and old, crowd the cities in order to get a place where modern conveniences are available. The construction of good roads will change this. It will add a thousandfold to the charms of country life. It will be the most powerful factor in stemming the movement of population toward the city and making the country boy and girl happy at home. The gospel of good roads ought to be preached with the zeal of the missionary, and the farmer, the merchant, the manufacturer and the banker, and above all else, the women of the country districts ought to be incessant workers for the building of good roads. Let us not leave unto future generations that which we should do today.

The South, which has lingered so far in the rear in this work, should take it up with greater energy than any other section, and in this way overcome the deficiencies of the past and take the lead in the construction of good roads. It should be borne in mind that good roads are not a luxury only, but a necessity, and that the cost of their building is not extravagance, but simply a wise investment. It may probably be stated without contradiction that the cost of the building of any good road anywhere in this country will bring about an increase in the value of adjacent property, and this increased value will be based on increased earning possibilities, greater than the total cost of the construction of the road. In view of this fact no town, no community, is too poor to build good streets and good roads, for spending money for such a purpose, if wisely spent, is the making of an investment that immediately is repaid to the community by the enhancement in value of property, and this enhancement continues on perpetually.

Let the good work go on.—Baltimore Manufacturers' Record.

Singer Talks

The Difference Between Poor and Good Cabinet Work

It is a fact not generally known that very few sewing machine manufacturers produce their own cabinet work. This is a distinct industry in itself.

The Singer Company owns and operates the largest and best equipped factory in the world, exclusively devoted to the production of the highest grade sewing machine cabinet work.

Only the finest woods procurable are used. To insure the proper selection of these woods, a corps of expert wood rangers is employed, whose duty it is to purchase individual trees, the grain and growth of which entitle them to use in Singer cabinet work.

This is why Singer cabinet work, besides being the most durable, is also the most beautiful,—the Singer process brings out all the richness and natural beauty of the wood.

Sold only by
Singer Sewing Machine Company
141 Main St., GREENVILLE, N. C.

Pronunciation.

Dr. Johnson would not have consented to pronounce "wind" differently in prose and in verse. He insisted upon making the "i" long always. The story goes that, in order to crush somebody who preferred the short "i" in ordinary conversation, Johnson, rhyming all three words with "tinned," remarked, "I cannot find it in my mind to call it wind, but"—rhyming all three words with "blind"—"I can find it in my mind to call it wind." But his adversary got the better of him. Johnson himself always pronounced "gold" as "goold." "If I may be so boold," said the other, "I should like to be toold why you call it goold."

A Caustic Critic.

The Paris critic Martin once only had taken his chocolate in a place other than the Cafe Foy, and he then found it not good. This happened at the Regence, and the young woman at the desk, to whom he expressed his displeasure, said: "You are the only one to complain. All of the gentlemen of the court who come here find it good."
"They also say, perhaps, that you are pretty," he replied slowly.

Defenseless Man.

A woman writer in one of the magazines says women are sacrificed by thousands in the name of marriage. Yes, but what about the defenseless men who are each year torn from their comfortable homes and dragged to the altar?—Columbia (S. C.) State.

Optimism.

"Some fish ate the bait right off my hook," she said.
"Cheer up. He'll be all the bigger when you do catch him," he responded encouragingly.—Buffalo Express.

Passionate Fondness.

"Do you think that most people nowadays worship money?"
"No; I won't go as far as that," answered the home grown philosopher, "but I will say that the love of money is seldom platonic."—New York Journal.

CENTRAL Barber Shop

Herbert Edmond, Prop.

THROW OUT THE LINE.

Give the Kinneys Help and Many Greenville People Will Be Happier

"Throw Out the Life Line"—The kidneys need help. They're overworked—can't get the poison filtered out of the blood. They're getting worse every minute. Will you help them? Doan's Kidney Pills have brought thousands of kidney sufferers back from the verge of despair. Will cure any form of kidney trouble. Mrs. Robert Williams, 317 S. Washington St., Rocky Mount, N. C., says: "I willingly give my name in recommending Doan's Kidney Pills as they benefitted me greatly. I suffered for a long time from a dull, nagging backache and rheumatism twinges in my kidneys. I was restless at night and arose in the morning unfit to commence the day's duties. I obtained no relief from the various remedies I used and had about despaired of ever being cured when Doan's Kidney Pills were recommended to me, I began their use and could soon see that they were helping me. They soon disposed of the backache and improved my health in every way."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States. Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

A Fashion Garrick Killed.

Women of England in the eighteenth century wore large hats. Samuel Rogers once traveled to Ranelagh in the same coach with a woman who was compelled to sit on a stool on the floor of the coach on account of the inconvenient height of her headdress. Hannah More, who was all for simplicity in costume, writes in her diary that she has seen women wearing on their heads "an acre and a half of shrubbery, besides slopes, grass plats, tulip beds, clumps of peonies, kitchen gardens and greenhouses." The credit of killing this fashion is given to Garrick. He appeared one night on the stage with a mass of vegetables on his head and a carrot suspended from each side, to the shame and confusion of many fair members of his audience.

Dr. Johnson's Resolutions.

Dr. Johnson compiled this list of good resolutions on his fifty-first birthday in 1760: "Resolved, Deo juvante, to combat notions of obligations; to apply to study; to reclaim imaginations; to consult the resolves on Tetty's coffin; to rise early; to study religion; to go to church; to drink less strong liquors; to keep a journal; to oppose laziness by doing what is to be done tomorrow; rise as early as I can; send for books of history of war; put books in order; scheme of life."
