STATE NEWS.

Happenings of Interest in North Carolina.

About ten days ago Henry Jackson, a colored man living on Mr. J. T. Bolton's Roanoke farm, while plowing in the field was struck by lightning, knocked down and for a while it was thought he was dead but he is now up and was in town a day or two ago. The lightning tore the cap to pieces he had on his head broke his watch chain and dented his watch. The mule he was plowing was also knocked down but not killed.—Rich Square Times.

Wadesboro, July 8.—Hilliard Shepherd, a young white man who lives in the lower part of Anson county, was killed yesterday afternoon by a limb from a falling tree striking him on the head. He had cut down the tree for honey, discovering a swarm of bees in its trunk, and as the tree fell the limb was broken loose, striking the young man so as to break his neck, causing instant death.

This morning when Mr. Hyman Mewborn came in town to accompany the Second Infantry band to camp at Morehead he brought along with him a fifty pound ham, which he presented the commissary department of the band with the statement that "Hogs didn't do much last year."—Kinston Free Press.

Charlotte, N. C., July 8.—A thunderous noise and roar that awoke the entire southern end of the city occurred this afternoon about 2:30 o'clock, when the bleachery of the Southern Cotton Oil Company was demolished by the explosion of a huge boiler, several tons of iron and timber being hurled high in the air, and several men having narrow escapes from death. John James, a colored workman, was hurled through a window, but was not seriously hurt. C. A. McCall, the manager, and William Beattie were more or less injured by falling timbers.

Raleigh, July 8.—Into all parts of the State there are now going from day to day notices from the Corporation Commission to the effect that the Commission has assessed and appraised the capital stock of one and another of the 5,200 corporations of the State that are subject to this assessment and deducted corporate excess. The officers are notified that if there are exceptions they desire to make to these figures they can have a hearing in the office of the commission within ten days after the receipt of the notice. Officers or attorneys for corporations that are not satisfied with the assessments are coming in almost every day to be heard and their general complaint is that the assessments are put very considerably higher than has been the practice heretofore by the State auditor who has in the past made these assessments. It is estimated by some that the increase in this corporate excess taxation this year will be as much as 25 per cent. On the other hand there are said to be large corporations in the State whose assessment in this connection in the past have not amounted to as much as their surplus actually on hand. It will be several weeks before the commission completes its work in connection with the assessments.

Tonight's program. His Duty. Duty is above all consequences, and often at a crisis of difficulty, commands us to throw them overboard. It commands us to look neither to the right nor to the left, but straight forward. These were the noble principles instilled in the make up of Allen the policeman. Jack his younger brother Bob and their mother composed the little family. Today is Bob's twenty-first birthday and mother and Jack make him a present of a cap, with his initials "B. A." on the lining. Jack goes out on his best and Bob leaves the house seemingly highly pleased with his present. During the evening Jack is called to the scene of the robbery of a jewelry store. While going over the place for a possible clue he finds a cap, on the inside of which there are the letters "B. A." crushed beyond measure. He seeks Bob out at their home and it is all too true, Bob is inclined to brave the situation and the poor old mother's heart is breaking, but Jack's duty is plain, Bob is carried to prison.

Eradicating Aunty is one of biograph comic pictures and is a side splitter. Miss Faust is one of Pathe's beautifully hand colored pictures, full of tricks and wonderful mysteries, Alphonso got in wrong. This picture is a real side splitter, you will have to laugh and you cannot help it. The program for tonight is without a doubt one of the best ever shown here.

For the Daughter That Wasn't Married

There will be a very unique social affair in Atchison soon. A certain lady has never been married, and as all her sisters married and enjoyed pretty clothes and wedding presents her father announces that he wants to do as well by her and will give her a mock wedding.

She will have as much money to spend on clothes as if she were to be a bride, and after she has them all made her father will give her a party and notify all of her kin that they must carry presents as if to a bride. Then he will send the girl on a trip to the seacoast, where she can wear her new clothes and have more fun than if there were a man tagging along.—Atchison Globe.

Hon. J. Y. Joyner Honored.

Denver, Col., July 8.—The election of James Yarkin Joyner, Superintendent of Public Instruction of North Carolina, as president of the National Educational Association today is regarded by his supporters as a victory in their fight against any regulation of the prices of school text books. Mr. Joyner was elected over Ben Blewett, head of the St. Louis schools, and Dr. J. H. Phillips, of Birmingham, Ala.

FRIDAY, JULY 9, 1909.

As is usually the case, the high price of cotton comes too late to benefit the farmer.

The Coopers of Tennessee hope they will do at least as well as the night riders, get a new trial.

Greensboro is about the easiest town to work on the map. Another trickster has fleeced a number of people there and skipped.

The man who has discovered that watermelon seed tea will cure appendicitis, is on the right track to make that disease unpopular.

The man who pays promptly in a time like this is the one most appreciated. There are those who would pay if the other fellow would pay them, hence the importance of every one trying to meet his obligations.

Democratic State Chairman Eller says that Democrats have the right to exercise sound discretion about matters, and in the next election they will roll up the usual majority. It is to be hoped he is correct in his prediction, but from the recent division in the party on the tariff question it is evident that something must be done to bring the party back together.

Concerning the Quitter.

The world has little use for a quitter, the fellow who starts and backs out, remarks Spare Moments. It says: "There is a big family of these quitters, but they are a sorry lot. They never want a job that takes time and patience. With the qualifications of a bill poster they would like to earn the salary of a railroad president. Their ideal is a job that requires two hours of easy labor each day, with Saturdays and holidays off. You will find them scattered up and down the road of human failure, turning back from the handle of the plow, complaining of their lot and of the world. They are clogs in the wheels, broken rails on the road, time killers, patience killers, forever wanting what they have not."

The people who accomplish things in the world, continues this journal, with our entire assent, are those who qualify themselves "in spite of bad crops, high water and measles," who hang onto their work until failure turns to victory, whose courage rises as difficulties thicken and whose faces are ever turned to the rising sun. The best training for his future, battle with life a boy can have is to be taught not to give up, to complete whatever task is undertaken, to preserve unto the end in all things. Success is the result of perseverance, and perseverance can be made a habit just as easily as "quitting" can be. The only difference between the two habits is that one brings success and the other ends in failure. Quitters never accomplish anything. Their habit grows so strong upon them that they become incapable of succeeding in anything they undertake. The man who has acquired the habit of "staying" finds success grows easier with every difficulty overcome. The world does not know which the quitter most deserves, pity or contempt.—Charlotte Observer.

The Linen Duster.

How many of our people have noticed the final disappearance of this article of men's wear that was once so common? The linen duster was at one time indispensable to the traveler's outfit. There was an idea that it protected his clothing from dust and cinders, and that is was cool. It would be hard to imagine a more uncomfortable man on a railroad car than a man buttoned up in the long, stiff flaxen shroud, yet, a few years ago, when a journey, however short, on a railroad train was considered somewhat of a ceremonial affair, no man felt perfectly equipped for it without a stove pipe hat and a linen duster. The last duster we remember to have seen covered the form of Judge R. T. Bennett, in Wadesboro, on May 29, 1900, when the judge had arrayed himself with an eye to bodily comfort while waiting for the eclipse to come on and pass off. He wore a hat and his feet were shod in slippers and there may have been some other article of raiment about him, but as to that we could not aver. But the last of the duster-wearers—the last of the duster-wearers—is Colonel John D. Shaw, of Rockingham, and we believe that in recent years he has forsworn the garment, not from choice, probably, but because, having worn out his old one, he cannot find a new one in the stores anywhere. The linen duster is an article sacred to the memory of the past.—Charlotte Chronicle.

In the interest of an experiment with hog cholera which the state now has under way Dr. Christman, the state Veterinarian and Dr. Roberts, of the State Experimental Farm at West Raleigh arrived in the city yesterday afternoon, and have been on a search for disease where ever they might locate it, in hopes of treating and experimenting with the disease. The method that is now being employed by the State is that of inoculating the animal that is not diseased with the blood from the diseased animal, and this will make the hog immune from the disease for some little time. This method has worked to some little advantage and about ninety per cent have been saved when this preventative was adopted. There has been reports of a number of cases of cholera with hogs in this section, and to the farmers who are so troubled if they will correspond with either of the above named gentlemen, they will take a pleasure in extending to them all the help in this way that is possible, and they may be instrumental in the working of a great saving from death of a large number.—Rocky Mount Record

Singer Talks

What Perfect Adjustment Means

- ¶ If you've ever had the misfortune to own a cheaply constructed sewing machine, you'll know what it means to have parts constantly breaking, or the machine refuse to run for some seemingly unaccountable reason.
- ¶ Singer quality and the perfect adjustment of every Singer machine save you such discouraging experiences. Every Singer runs so light and easy as to require practically no effort on your part to do the heaviest sewing.
- ¶ Many women use a Singer who haven't strength enough to operate ordinary machines. The Singer does all the work, runs noiselessly and does not easily get out of order.
- ¶ Should repairs or new parts, needles, etc., ever be needed there's always a Singer store nearby to save you annoying delays.

Newspapers as Makers of History.

When in 1887 I began a critical study of the history of the United States from 1850-60 I was struck with the paucity of material which would serve the purpose of an animated narrative. While considering my materials I was struck with a statement cited by Herbert Spencer as an illustration in his "Philosophy of Style," "A modern newspaper statement, though probably true, if quoted in a book as testimony, would be laughed at, but the letter of a court gossip if written some centuries ago is thought good historical evidence." At about the same time I noticed that Motley used as one of his main authorities for the battle of St. Quentin the manuscript of an anonymous writer. From these two circumstances it was a logical reflection that some historians might make an exaggerated estimate of the value of manuscript material because it reposed in dusty archives and could be utilized only by severe labor and long patience and that, imbued with this idea, other historians for other periods might neglect the newspaper because of its ready accessibility.—James Ford Rhodes in Atlantic.

Wise Effie.

Both father and mother struggled valiantly to teach little Effie to repeat the letter "A." The child emphatically refused to pronounce the first letter of the alphabet, and after many vain efforts the father retired from the fight discouraged. The mother took the little girl on her lap and pleaded with her affectionately.

"Dearie, why won't you learn to say 'A'?" she asked.
"Because, mamma," explained Effie, "des as soon as I say 'A' you an' papa will want me to say 'B.'"

THROW OUT THE LINE.

Give the Kinneys Help and Many Greenville People Will be Happier

"Throw Out the Life Line"—The kidneys need help. They're overworked—can't get the poison filtered out of the blood. They're getting worse every minute. Will you help them?

Doan's Kidney Pills have brought thousands of kidney sufferers back from the verge of despair. Will cure any form of kidney trouble. Mrs. Robert Williams, 317 S. Washington St., Rocky Mount, N. C., says: "I willingly give my name in recommending Doan's Kidney Pills as they benefited me greatly. I suffered for a long time from a dull, nagging backache and rheumatism twinges in my kidneys. I was restless at night and arose in the morning unfit to commence the day's duties. I obtained no relief from the various remedies I used and had about despaired of ever being cured when Doan's Kidney Pills were recommended to me, I began their use and could soon see that they were helping me. They soon disposed of the backache and improved my health in every way."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

Are Soups Digestible?

There are varied opinions about the digestibility of soups. Some physicians disapprove of them for weak stomachs, and all physicians condemn them for obesity. Milk or cream soups, purees they are called, are wholesome and easily digested, but meat soups have a tendency to give an oversupply of uric acid, just as has meat itself. Therefore those with a tendency to rheumatism or diabetes should eat sparingly of it. Soup is thought to be more digestible if it is eaten very slowly. Hold each spoonful in the mouth for a few seconds before swallowing. This simple precaution has in many cases enabled those who thought they could not eat any kind of soup to take it without bad effect.—New York Press.
