TOBACCO SITUATION.

As Seen by Capt. J. R. Hutchings,—
Crop Cut Short 20 Per Cent.

Mr. Editor:

In my ramblings among the tobacco fields, I find that the general crop has been cut short at least 20 per cent in weight by the recent heavy rains. The crop will be color and light in weight, with a fair sprinkling of good heavy tobacco, but this type will be a small proportion of the crop. In the Grimesland, Black Jack, Winterville, Ayden and Ormondville section, and up the Tarboro road, crops are better by far than other sections tributary to the Greenville market.

On all light sandy lands the crop is badly damaged and will be light.

Reports from other sections and other large markets, and through the old belt in North Carolina and Virginia seem to indicate a worse crop and smaller yield than our crop.

I was asked by nearly every man, how will prices rule? Of course no one can tell, but with cotton 12½ cents in the field, flour $8 to $9 a barrel, meat 12 to 15 cents per pound, everything higher, I do not think it at all unreasonable to say that the tobacco crop will sell fairly well. The ruling spirits in the tobacco world are men of brains, and with such conditions confronting the farmer it is not at all reasonable to suppose they would fail to see the conditions, and that they will set prices for tobacco apace with other commodities is a natural conclusion. The government report for June shows an increase in the sale of tobacco stamps, thus indicating a healthy condition for the manufacturers, therefore the raw material should look upward in sympathy with every other product and tobacco's own sale as indicated. The farmers need a good price for tobacco and many a poor fellow will be in the hole if prices are low. So let us hope for remunerative prices.

J. R. Hutchings.

Gives $ 3,500 Check.

The August number of The Uplift, the publication issued from the Jackson Training School, near this city, will contain a full and complete story concerning the handsome donation of $3,500 by a prominent North Carolinian, who visited our city and the institution yesterday and presented Mr. James P. Cook, the chairman of the board of directors, with check covering the amount named, the money to be applied toward the construction of a mechanical and industrial building now in course of erection. This contribution is the outgrowth of an item that appeared in a recent issue of The Uplift, in which it was stated that such a man lived in North Carolina, but could not then be named. The gentleman walked in yesterday and when presenting the check and his compliments, stated, "I am the man."

A donation of this character and in the figures named, shows very clearly the sincerity of good citizenship of North Carolina in its endeavor to place the unfortunate and unruly boy in a position that he can grow mental and physical strength and be what he is justly entitled to be among the God fearing and law-abiding citizens instead of an outcast, subject to the scorn and ostracism of all society.—Concord Tribune.

STATE NEWS.

Happenings of Interest in North Carolina.

Rutherfordton, July 24.—Ten-year-old boy of Will Blanton was run down and accidentally killed by a lumber wagon near the Rutherford hospital late yesterday afternoon. The boy attempted to step on the brake to get on the wagon, but missed his footing and fell between the wheels, the wagon passing over his chest and killing him almost instantly.

Hendersonville, July 23.—Pinckney Stepp, the 14-year-old son of Mr. John Stepp, who lives about six miles from this city on the Polk county line, was bitten by a rattlesnake yesterday evening and died late last night.

Durham, July 23.—The 2 year-old child of Rev. W. O. Bodell, a Universalist minister, was choked to death this evening on a piece of candy. The child's mother had gone over to the Watt's Hospital and the father gave the baby the candy. It took a piece and in a few minutes was dead. It had been perfectly well until a minute before the accident.

Struck by lightning, the barn of Mr. Edward Pusser, of Goose Creek township, with two corn cribs, was burned Monday afternoon of last week. Much roughness was lost, but the grain and live stock were saved. Promptly next morning the neighbors gathered and began cutting trees, hauling them to the saw mill, sawing the lumber and building a new barn for Mr. Pusser. The occasion was made sad by an accident to Mr. James Carriker, one of the good neighbors at work. A tree fell on him and severely hurt him. The wound was received on the head.—Monroe Journal.

It is desirable that there shall be a large attendance for the purpose of hearing the discussion upon this and other interesting subjects.

Do the Sweeping Later

Some of the merchants are complaining about the street sweeper coming out so early Saturday evenings to clean up for Sunday. It would be better to wait until business is nearer over, or better still until the stores close.

SCRAPS AND BLIND TIGER.

Mayor Whedbee Has a Busy Monday Morning Court.

Mayor H. W. Whedbee had a much busier court this morning than for some time, there being quite a bunch of scrappers, one drunk and one blind tiger case before him. All the defendants were colored, except the one for drunkenness.

The first case called was Will Streater charged with assault with deadly weapon on Peggy Ruffin and for carrying concealed weapon. The woman was the first witness, and in an effort to get the man off she swore that he had made no assault on her at all and that there was nothing at all in the whole charge, the defendant in his own behalf swearing to the same effect. Five other witnesses, however, put a different face on the charge, they each swearing that Streater rushed in the room where the woman was, in the presence of all these witnesses, grabbed the woman and drawing a pistol said he would shoot her unless she went with him. Mayor Whedbee adjudged Streater guilty of both charges under which he was held to Superior court, and also bound him and the woman both over for perjury.

Jim Wright Hanrahan was up for cursing and abusive language and was taxed a penny and costs.

J. A. Sutton was on hand for drunkenness for which there was a fine and costs.

Jack Bryant was arraigned for selling liquor. J. A. Sutton was the witness against him, testifying that he put fifty cents on a plank in the "Rainbow" stables on Fifth street and that Bryant put a bottle of whiskey there for him and took away the money. Bryant was required to give $500 verified bond for appearance at Superior court, and Sutton was required to give bond for $200 to appear as witness.

Jim Donaldson and Joe Smith for affray were fined a penny and one half costs each. It developing that Donaldson owed the town some taxes and the amount due for this was added to his costs.

Louis Foster for beating his wife was fined $5 and costs. His wife was in court with a badly swollen eye, but did not want her spouse punished.

ROWLAND-HAYES.

A Quiet Home Marriage This Morning.

A quiet home marriage was celebrated at the residence of Mr. Z. T. Broughton, on Dickinson avenue this morning at 10 o'clock, by Rev. D. W. Arnold, between Mr. George Rowland, of Wilson, and Mrs. Alma E. Hayes, of Greenville. The bride is the eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Z. T. Broughton, and Mr. Rowland is a trusted employee in the Hackney Buggy Works of Wilson. The ceremony was beautifully and impressively rendered in the presence of a few of the neighbors and friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Rowland will make their home in Wilson and will be at home on North Railroad street after August 1st. We tender the happy couple our best wishes for their voyage through life.

We have just received about 250 carpet sample rugs. That we can sell at a bargain. Come and see them. Taft & Vandyke. 7 13 dtf

Some time during Saturday night the store of Mr. C. D. Tunstall, on Dickinson avenue, was broken into and a quantity of goods stolen. What small change left in the cash drawer was taken, and Mr. Tunstall says he has missed some pants, dry goods, cigars and cigarettes to the value of about $50. Sunday the police arrested several suspects but failed to get evidence sufficient to hold any of them. This is the second time Mr. Tunstall's store has been entered.

MONDAY, JULY 26, 1909.

It is a long lane that has no turning. Good times coming bye and bye.

Don't you feel better for having passed through a Sunday and taken a day of rest?

If the court turns Thaw loose on the public again it will do what it ought not to do.

Congress certainly ought to shut up shop and go home. The extra session has been about on a par with a school boys' farce.

It is usually the witnesses who get the dragging from the lawyers in court, but in a recent trial in Raleigh the disciples of Blackstone turned their guns on each other.

Our townsman ex-Gov. T. J. Jarvis has accepted an invitation to attend the reunion of Confederate veterans in Charlotte, the latter part of August, and will address his old comrades on that occasion. There is no man in State more loved than Governor Jarvis, and the reunion will be made all the more interesting by reason of his presence.

About the crankiest ideas of the present age are those recently advanced by Dr. Elliot on his "new religion." It is nothing new for men to arise who try to explain away the teachings of Bible. It has been so all through the ages and will be so to the end of time. The "old religion," founded upon God's Word, is good enough, and there is none other by which men can reach salvation and eternal happiness. The world needs no new brand, yet there will doubtless be people with "itching ears" who may be ready to follow the new fangled teachings of Dr. Elliot to their own eternal undoing.

Credit Too Cheap.

Raeferd Facts and Figures enunciates a truth when it says: "We have a way of postponing the payment of little debts in this country that causes more trouble than war, famine and pestilence all combined.

Credit is too cheap in the south and if our business men would insist on a more prompt punctual liquidation of small accounts there would be a strengthening of business all along the line.

When the grocer has his capital locked up in accounts on his books and his stock depleted by continuous selling, how is he able to replenish his stock? It is so with enterprises of all kinds that are run on the credit system.

Again the time consumed in running after a customer to find when you reach him that it is inconvenient to settle now, means a loss of time and energy that should be devoted to better things.

A tightening all along the line will prove invaluable to both business man and customer for a business man cannot pay bills unless he can collect his accounts.

The extension of credit has ruined many a man and demoralized those who would have been in better shape had they enjoyed less.

Take the salaried man for instance who can buy everything he wants on time and pay for it when it suits his own sweet will. Is not the extension of credit to that man a curse, if he abuses the privilege?

A man working on a stipulated salary has no right to allow his wants to exceed his income and he should diligently seek to "cut his patching according to his cloth" with a little balance over to lay aside to build a home and for a "rainy day." The "rainy days" too, should be provided for, for sickness and affliction will sometimes come to all of us, and something should be provided against those conditions.

Of course there are isolated cases where it would seem that the hand of affliction is never raised, but under all conditions a sympathetic people will take care and deal leniently with such matters.

In fact it would be better if our business men would tighten upon credits and tax themselves a certain amount per annum to be expended by a committee on those found to be worthy, yet unable to help themselves.

We have been thinking much of late of the indifference to the payment of accounts and the growing extravagance of the times and our conclusion is that the only solution to the vexing problem is an ironclad organization among our business men in order to readjust our credit system. This will prove a blessing to everyone, for it will curtail extravagance and bring conditions down to a solid business basis.

Any county that is able to work its roads is able to do something in the way of building good roads if it would only go about it. They might not make such progress as this and a few other counties, but they could do something. A start is half the battle.—Durham Herald.

A New Back for an Old One. How it can be Done in Greenville.

The back aches at times with a dull, indescribable feeling, making you weary and restless; piercing pains shoot across the region of the kidneys, and again the kidneys are so lame to stop is agony. No use to rub or apply a plaster to the back in this condition. You can't reach the cause. Exchange the bad back for a new and stronger one. Greenville residents would do well to profit by the following example.

Thomas Moseley, 109 East St., Kinston, N. C., says: "Several months ago I had a severe attack of kidney trouble, at which time Doan's Kidney Pills proved their merit. My back ached severely, I had pains through my hips and felt generally miserable. I heard so much in favor of Doan's Kidney Pills that I procured a box and used them according to directions. They soon dispelled the ache and pains and improved my health in every way. I have no hesitation in recommending Doan's Kidney Pills."

THE UNPRODUCTIVE MAN.

He Who Has Neither Imagination Nor Ideas In Business.

It is a commonplace that the really valuable man in business or anything else is the man who has ideas or imagination. Mr. Lorin F. DeLand, writing in the Atlantic Monthly, tells of a young man who went to him for advice as to some way of getting an increase of salary. He was even debating whether he had not better give up his situation and trust to luck to find something better. "I urged him at once against such a course," says the writer, "and told him to look for something better while he was holding his present situation. I said to him: 'Mills, the important thing for you in this matter is to ascertain whether you are paid all that you are worth and, that settled, whether you can make yourself worth any more. But first of all let us see if you can make yourself worth any more, whether you are paid it or not. If you can, you had better stick and look for your raise at the first fair opportunity.' He agreed, and I went ahead with my plan.

"First I told him for thirty days to put his mind on one thing—to devise some method whereby his house could sell at least $100 worth more of goods. It must be a practicable plan and should be presented as any interested employee would present such a matter to his superior.

"Thirty days passed, and Mills came in again. With all his thinking he had found no method by which the business of the firm could be extended even $100 a year. "I then put him to work on his second month's labor—to discover any method by which the firm could transact its present volume of business with greater economy, so that by improved methods there should be effected a saving of at least $50 a year.

"At the end of the time he came back to me with his report. He had been able to discover no new method whereby the firm could economize. He had, however, discovered one thing—namely, that he would not need to go ahead for another thirty days with our experiment, for he had about made up his mind that he would continue where he was.

"My boy," I said to him, "just realize for a moment where you stand. You are not able, though you have worked three years in this house, to increase the volume of the business $100 a year, nor can you point out a way to save that amount. My warning is, lie low! Attract as little attention to yourself as you can. Don't let the proprietors or the manager remember that you have been three years in their employ if you can help it.

"You are an absolutely unproductive man. I don't mean that you are a bit inferior to thousands of other young men who are in the stores and wholesale houses of this city, but you, like them, are simply sitting upon the head of one of the bright men in the counting room. He has to solve all these problems. You and fifty others in your establishment are just sitting on the top of his head, like so many dead weights. If the business prospers you expect a raise of salary when it is his headwork that has gained every inch of progress. He has to carry you all."

"The young man went off, sadder and wiser than he came. For five years thereafter, in which I was able to follow his course, he held the same place at the same salary."

No Need to Hurry.

The scorching cyclist was on the road to Stratford-on-Avon. He was bent over the handle bars, and the beads which bespeak the strenuous toiler were trickling off his face. "Hi, sonny," he called to a passing youth. "am I right for Shakespeare's house?"

"Yes, you're right, mister," was the dreary reply of the leisurely youth; "but you needn't hurry. Shakespeare's dead." — London Queen.

A Cool Customer.

A woman shoplifter was caught stealing an umbrella one day in a Philadelphia dry goods store. But it was decided not to prosecute her if she would pay for the umbrella, valued at $2.50, which she did. The next day she returned and requested to see the manager. When that surprised person could recover himself sufficiently to ask her business the woman calmly told him that she had been pricing umbrellas in other stores and found she could purchase one like her own for $2, and she wanted to know if he wouldn't refund her 50 cents. As a tribute to her monumental nerve the 50 cents was handed her in silence.
