AUTO PARTY TAKES OUTING.

TRIP TO OLD FORD SECTION OF BEAUFORT COUNTY.

Messrs. J. W. and T. R. Hodges
Striking Examples of Modern Farmers.

A party left here Saturday afternoon in two automobiles for a trip to the Old Ford section of Beaufort county, returning Sunday evening. In the party were Messrs. O. C. Gregory, R. O. Jeffers, E. B. Furgerson, C. R. Townsend, O. L. Joyner and D. J. Whichard. The automobiles of Messrs. Gregory and Townsend were used for the trip, these gentlemen driving their own cars.

The objective point of the party was the splendid country home of Mr. T. R. Hodges with whom and his father, Mr. J. W. Hodges, the party spent Saturday night and Sunday, and every moment of their stay was enjoyed to the utmost.

Leaving Greenville a little past 5 o'clock one of the automobiles went by what is known as the creek road and the other by the river road as far as Pactus, where they joined and made the remainder of the trip together. This gave opportunity of viewing from the roads the crops on both routes. And the crops in the sections of the county traversed are nothing to brag on, in fact they are about as poor as are ever seen on some of the fine farms passed, owing to too much rain.

It was after dark when the home of Mr. T. R. Hodges was reached and nothing of that section could be seen until next morning. Then it was almost like waking up in another country. It was indeed a joy to look across the broad fields lying out in every direction and covered with magnificent crops. In the Old Ford section, which is one of the best in Beaufort county, weather conditions this season have been more favorable, and the result of systematic farming practiced by the Messrs. Hodges was shown in their fine crops and splendidly kept farms.

Early after breakfast Sunday morning the party all joined at the home of Mr. J. W. Hodges where vehicles were soon in readiness for a drive over the large estate. The two plantations of father and son join and are practically cultivated together as one. All through them are good roads making access easy to any part of the farms. Some idea of the magnitude of these farms may be known when it is stated that on the two there are nearly 400 acres in cultivation. Of these 100 acres are in tobacco and it requires more than 20 barns to cure this crop. The two hours spent driving over these farms gave a continuous view of fine crops of all kinds. There were broad corn fields from which 12 barrels per acre are expected to be harvested, and cotton that looks like it will easily yield a bale per acre. To the writer the homes and plantations of the Messrs. Hodges fills his ideal of country life and real farming. There are no better people nor better farmers.

The run back to Greenville began about the middle of the afternoon and on the way the party stopped and spent an hour most pleasantly with Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Fleming at Pactus. The entire trip was delightful except a little part on the home stretch, when trouble with one of the cars caused a long enough delay to catch a rain, though not a wetting.

HARRINGTON LOT SELECTED.

On Which to Locate Greenville's Public Building.

Today the editor received a telegram from Congressman John H. Small stating that the Secretary of the Treasury had selected the W. H. Harrington lot on which to locate the public building to be erected in Greenville by the government.

Some over a year ago congress made an appropriation of $10,000 to purchase a lot here for a public building here, and when proposals were called for several were submitted. On two occasions representatives of the government came here to look over the situation and inspect the sites offered. The choice narrowed down to three sites—the Munford lot on Five Points, the Harrington lot opposite the court house, and the Moye lot on the corner of Washington and Fifth streets, the preference for these being in the order named. The Munford lot was later eliminated from the fact that the size of lot there required by the government could not be had for the amount of the appropriation and there was no authority for paying more.

During the spring the secretary was about to make a decision between the other two lots, when parties here desired a hearing on it and at the instance of Congressman Small the matter was held open for a while in absolute fairness to all interested. This was followed by several delegations visiting Washington City to confer with the secretary and also the writing of many letters to him. After going over the matter thoroughly the decision for the Harrington lot has been announced.

The Reflector believes the selection a good one, that will be satisfactory to the largest number of people and best serve the business interests of the town. We hope before a great while to see a handsome public building on the lot.

Bank Cashier Goes.

Southern Pines, N. C., July 31.—Cashier Geo. A. Kimball, of the Citizens Bank and Trust Company left for a vacation to York Beach, Maine, on July 17. Absence of funds supposed to be in corresponding banks led to an investigation and an apparent shortage of fifteen thousand dollars is found. Depositors though, are amply protected. There is hope to adjust the affairs and go on. Fruit men were recent heavy depositors.

Wood Industry Shows Rapid Growth.

Washington, July 31.—During the year 1908, there were cut into veneer 382,542,000 feet of logs, valued at $7,891,000 against 348,525,000 feet, valued at $6,436,000, in 1907, according to statistics just published by the Bureau of the Census in co-operation with the United States Forest service. Although industrial conditions generally were unfavorable during the year 1908, the amount of wood cut into veneer increased, substantial gains being made in the quantity of both imported and domestic wood consumed. This was due in a measure to the closer canvass in 1908, when returns were received from 402 active establishments located in thirty-four states, as against 370 in thirty-one states, for the preceding year.

Red gum, as in the preceding year, ranked first among the woods used for veneer, 119,945 feet being consumed, with a valuation of $1,272,095, forming a percentage of 31.4 of the total consumption. The demand for red gum was even greater than in 1907, when its percentage of the whole consumption was 29.5. Among other woods, with the exception of yellow pine, which shows an important increase is noted.

The principal woods imported for the industry were mahogany and Spanish cedar. Of the former 11,487 feet were used, with a valuation of $1,478,364 against 6,722 feet with a valuation of $839,695 in 1907.

Rock-a-bye Baby.

Romanticism, as well as a good deal of manual labor, is being separated from this cold world of ours as the commercialism of the age gains ground.

The pretty little lullaby which tells of baby in the tree-top being gently rocked by the zephyrs is now changed, with the progress of the times, to the young hopeful receiving the swinging motion his heart craves by means of the application of clockwork to the cradle or swing.

The infant may be locked into his cradle and left alone, and no matter how he turns in his sleep he will not interfere with the continuation of the clock-given motion—Van Nordens.

THE TOBACCO MARKET OPENS.

BAD WEATHER MAKES LIGHT SALES AT ALL HOUSES.

Prices Start Satisfactorily and Outlook is for Good Market—Strong Corps of Buyers.

The Greenville tobacco market opened today for the sale of the 1909 crop. Owing to previous bad weather and heavy rains there was not much tobacco on the market, the five warehouses having only a few loads each. Though they did not bring much tobacco, there were many farmers present to see how the market started off, and they seemed satisfied at the opening prices which run from 4 cents to 12 1/2 cents.

The tobacco that was brought to the opening was the first of the season's primings and curings, therefore had not the quality to bring much in prices, but the outlook is that the market will be good and prices fairly satisfactory if farmers will not sell too fast. There will be seven months in which the sales can be made, and the farmers will find it more profitable to sell only part of their crop each month and not crowd the market.

The Gum warehouse had first sale today, the rotation then being to the Liberty, Star, Centre Brick and Peoples in the order named. In a recent issue of The Reflector was given the names of the working forces at the three warehouses operated by the Farmers Consolidated Tobacco Company (Gum, Star and Peoples) hence they will not be repeated here. At the other two warehouses the crews are as follows:

LIBERTY.

S. T. Hooker, proprietor.
John Parkerson, floor manager.
W. L. Rice, auctioneer.
Walter Izard, bookkeeper.
J. J. Harrington, assistant bookkeeper.

CENTRE BRICK.

Brinkley, Hutchings and Spain, proprietors.
Dow Beaman, floor manager.
J. R. Hutchings, auctioneer.
D. S. Spain, bookkeeper.
G. E. Harris and D. W. Arnold, assistant bookkeepers.

BUYERS.

The buyers on the opening sale were R. O. Jeffress and Iverson Skinner, for the Imperial Tobacco Co; O. C. Gregory and E. B. Furgerson for the American Tobacco Co; E. B. Ficklen and C. A. Cash for E. B. Ficklen Tobacco Co, T. W. Skinner for Parham & Skinner; D. E. House, T. A. Person and G. F. Evans. There will be more buyers on later and double sales will be run as soon as the market gets brisk.

The farmers are going to find the Greenville market up with the best, for we have a clever corps of warehousemen who look after the interest of those who sell with them, and the buyers have ample facilities for handling purchases. When you get ready to sell come to Greenville.

MONDAY, AUG. 2, 1909.

The editor of The Reflector was a member of a double automobile party that took a trip over into Beaufort county Saturday and back Sunday, which gave opportunity of seeing much of the public roads in both Pitt and Beaufort counties, and the trip made him a stronger advocate of good roads than ever. When it comes to bad roads, we saw some on this trip. Holes, gullies, bad bridges, deep sand, embankments and cuts not wide enough for vehicles to pass each other, were much in evidence. To travel over such roads in a rail-bodied cart, to say nothing of an automobile, should be enough to make every such traveler want to see the roads improved. Eastern counties are far behind in the matter of good roads, and it is time they were catching up. Much good would come every way by having improved roads.

HAD AS WELL BE CHEERFUL.

We May All Be Happy While Being Robbed.

Would you be happy? Would you go singing about your work all the day, eat your meals with relish and lie down to pleasant dreams? Then list to the words of Rev. Dr. O. F. Aked:

"If you are not wealthy yourself, be glad that some one else is and you will be astonished at the happiness that will result to yourself."

Rejoice and be glad and make a joyous noise unto Rockefeller and Carnegie. John and Andrew—do they not throw light into the dark places? Dr. Aked is one of the leading preachers on Mr. Rockefeller's staff, and thus he practices what he preaches. For he rejoices that if he is not himself rich, there are others right across in the amen corner who are. Here this pean of pious praise:

"If there are others of God's children who are better off than we are, why, it is all in the family, and let us rejoice with those who rejoice."

Yet there be those who go around and grumble because the trust magnates take their money, because they raise the price of bread and meat and clothes. They do not realize how sinful they are. They should rejoice in being able to help pile up the millions of those who have more than they need. May we not soon expect to find the Aked spirit prevailing in the country, and hear rising on every hand the merry carols of the people. "O joy! the trust has raised the price of beef;" "Fire the cannon, boom the gun, Rockefeller has caught more mon;" or that little pastoral ballad, "Thank heaven, while we rake the hay, the trusts grow richer every day."

Dr. Aked deserves the thanks of the country. If we are going to be robbed, let us be robbed cheerfully and with due gratitude.—Lincolnton News.

Rich and Poor.

It is no disgrace to be rich. And it is no disgrace to be poor. Rich saints figure largely in the Scriptures. The climax of the proof sent by our Lord to John was to the poor the Gospel is preached. And He said, "Blessed are the poor in spirit." Inquiries more or less thorough have been made about church attendance and services by the rich in our cities and the report in the aggregate has been creditable to a surprising degree. But it is interesting to note that the world is holding it to be not only true that it is more disgraceful to be rich than poor, but also there is a legitimate ground for suspicion against that class. No doubt the workers and supporters in the church from the rich lass are now of the older people. It was not so thus in years ago when they were younger and devoted to money-making. It is interesting to observe that the rich are saying the great problem with them is how to secure for their children the advantages of the poor man's sons and daughters. The poor, on the other hand, are crying as in despairing overture for the money of the rich to give coveted advantages for their sons and daughters. Our Savior said; "Seek ye first the kingdom of God, and His righteousness and all these things shall be added unto you."—Presbyterian Standard.

Costing More to Live.

According to Bradstreet's, between July 1, 1906, and July 1, 1909, breadstuffs and live stock have more than doubled in price, provisions, fruits, hides and leather have increased over 50 per cent, and textiles 60 per cent. Taking separate items that figure in the cost of the average poor man's table, on July 1, 1909, flour cost 100 per cent. more than on July 1, 1906; beef over 80 per cent., pork about 150 per cent., mutton 125 per cent., ham 33 1-3 per cent., bacon over 170 per cent., lard over 180 per cent., butter 70 per cent. and potatoes over 180 per cent.

Even within the last year the increase in price has gone on almost without interruption. Flour has risen nearly 60 per cent., pork over 20 per cent., mutton nearly the same, hams almost 10 per cent., butter 18 per cent. and coffee over 25 per cent. Beef is one of the few articles which did not materially increase in price.

These are hard facts, which there is no getting around. Retail prices may vary more or less from month to month, according to locality and the character of dealers' establishments, but Bradstreet's figures are based on market reports, which are beyond controversy.—New York World.

Singer Talks

Better to be Sure Beforehand Than to be Sorry Afterwards

How many, many times women have been heard to say "I wish I had bought a Singer!"

Some of them own bargain-store machines which were represented to be "as good as the best, and cheaper." A little use soon uncovered their weaknesses—and the loss or break of a part left them utterly useless and a waste of money.

The only way to avoid the tricks of irresponsible "dealers" is to buy a Singer direct from the maker.

Then you know beyond any doubt that you are getting the best sewing machine made for the lowest price at which a reliable machine can be sold.

And you will have no reason to be sorry afterward. Wherever you are there's a Singer Store near by to promptly supply parts, make repairs, give expert assistance.

Be sure beforehand—get a Singer.

A PERILOUS PERCH.

Two Nights on a Ledge of a Lofty Peak in the Tyrol.

In the northeastern corner of the Tyrol is the best sledge ground in Europe, writes W. A. Balfour-Graham in "Tyrol." The region has many lofty peaks, which make mountain climbing of interest. The author gives one of his adventures on a peak near the village of Kitzbuhel.

On one of these peaks occurred to me many years ago a little adventure which gave me an opportunity of admiring the grand view rather longer than was pleasant.

I was out stalking chamois, and, having some unoccupied hours in the middle of the day, when stalking is practically useless, as the beasts are resting, I thought I would ascend one of those pinnacles upon which at that time few human beings, I suppose, had ever set foot.

The very last bit was a smooth faced rock not more than twelve feet high, but absolutely unclimbable if unaided by rope or another man upon whose shoulders one could get and so obtain a hand grip of the top and thus draw oneself up. As I was alone I had recourse to a short length of rope I had in my rucksack. Making a slip noose, I threw it upward till it gripped some projection. Then I drew myself up.

While looking about me an unfortunate movement of my legs, which were dangling over the brink as I sat, caused the rope to slip and fall down to the small ledge on which I had stood when clinging it upward. This ledge or band of rock was uncomfortably narrow, not wider than thirty inches, and the abyss below was a perpendicular wall four or five church steeples in depth.

At first it did not seem such a serious fix to be in. By letting myself drop to the ledge, my extended arms gripping the top, the distance between the soles of my feet and the ledge was not more than four feet or so—nothing to speak of if that yawning gulf had not been there and I had had boots on my feet. But, having taken these off and left them below, together with my coat and rifle, I should have to drop on to sharp rocks barefooted and hence would be very apt to lose my balance.

The more I considered the position the more I funk'd that drop, and, to make a long story short, I stayed on that pinnacle two nights, until the morning of the third day, before hunger drove me to risk the drop, which I did in safety.

How I got down the remainder of that descent, "shinning" down chimneys and creeping along narrow edges, was a mystery to me afterward, for I was faint with hunger and my knees trembled and shook under me. When I reached the first habitation where I happened to be known the peasant woman at the door hardly recognized me.

A BUSINESS EXTENDER.

The Kind of Man For Whom There is a Big Demand.

"I am looking for a clerk, a man with a personality, a man who can do things and increase my business. Money is no item. I will not take salary into consideration. I will pay $100, $125 or whatever he is worth. I want the man." That is what a successful merchant said some days ago.

Let us pay our respects to the merchant who is looking for a clerk of this kind. A good clerk deserves a good salary and usually gets it. This matter of good pay for good services is the basic principle of the relations between employer and employee. While all merchants are not willing to pay enough salary to their clerks, there are more merchants who are glad to pay all a clerk is worth than there are clerks who are glad to be worth all they are paid.

Every village, town and city is looking for the man who can "increase business." The man who will work for the interests of his employer is wanted the world over. The world of business is crying out for such men, for men whom it can trust and in whom it can place confidence that a thing will be done when the "boss" back is turned. This man is wanted in every store, factory, at every post and in every great business in the land.

If you are attempting to avoid responsibility and as much work as possible you will, unless by great mistake, escape promotion or increase in salary. There are two kinds of clerks, and only two kinds. One the entire business world is anxiously searching for, and the other the entire business world is anxiously waiting to get rid of.—Twin City Commercial Bulletin.

To deal honestly with others is not so difficult as to cheat others to deal honestly with you that is power.—Smart Set.

THE ARTERIES.

They Are Liable to Become Hardened in Old Age.

"A man is as old as his arteries," was said some time ago by a French physician, and the saying, like so many others of the phrase loving French, has a good deal of truth in it and not a little error.

There is many a man, old in years, but young in spirit, whose arteries are like pipstems. So brittle do they seem, indeed, that the physician hardly dares feel the pulse lest he crush the friable artery under his finger, yet these old people are active in mind and body and seem often much younger than men of but two-thirds their years.

Again, one meets old and feeble folk, whose lives seem to flicker dangerously, like a candle flame in a draft, whose arteries are as soft and compressible as those of a child.

In general, however, the saying is true, and especially in premature old age it will usually be found that the arteries are hard, with fibrous thickening, if not already more or less calcified. Hardening of the blood vessels—arteriosclerosis is the accepted medical term—consists in a fibrous overgrowth of the walls of the arteries, usually following more or less degeneration of the normal tissues of the vessels. As to just how this comes about physicians are not entirely agreed. It is probable that the change occurs first in the very minute vessels, those that run through the walls of the larger vessels supplying them with blood for their nourishment. When these are hardened by the deposit of fibrous tissue they carry less blood and carry it more slowly, and so the nutrition of the walls of the larger vessels is reduced. This leads to softening, and then nature tries to repair the damage by the only new tissue at her hand—namely, fibrous tissue.

Later these fibrous and thickened walls of the larger arteries may be hardened still more by a deposit of lime salts from the blood.

The arteriosclerosis so common in old age is the result of "wear and tear." An elastic tube dilated by hydraulic pressure and then contracting 10,000 times a day will have done much work by the end of seventy years. In younger life arteriosclerosis is most commonly caused by intemperance—not in drinking only, but in eating, especially meat eating, without enough exercise to consume the excess of nutrient material. Overwork, worry and chronic poisoning, such as lead poisoning, are also factors.

The best thing for arteriosclerosis is not to get it, and the best way not to get it is to be moderate in everything. People growing old should be examined medically every six months, and then incipient arteriosclerosis may be detected and perhaps arrested by proper diet, drugs and regimen.—Youth's Companion.

FAIR EXCHANGE

A New Back for an Old One. How it Can be Done in Greenville.

The back aches at times with a dull, indescribable feeling, making you weary and restless; piercing pains shoot across the region of the kidneys, and again the loins are so lame to stoop is agony. No use to rub or apply a plaster to the back in this condition. You cannot reach the cause. Exchange the bad back for a new and stronger one. Greenville residents would do well to profit by the following example.

Thomas Moseley, 109 East St., Kingston, N. C., says: "Several months ago I had a severe attack of kidney trouble, at which time Doan's Kidney Pills proved their merit. My back ached severely, I had pains through my hips and felt generally miserable. I heard so much in favor of Doan's Kidney Pills that I procured a box and used them according to directions. They soon dispelled the aches and pains and improved my health in every way. I have no hesitation in recommending Doan's Kidney Pills."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.
