ALDERMEN HAVE BUSY SESSION. MANY IMPORTANT MATTERS UP FOR CONSIDERATION.

Drainage and Street Improvements Discussed—Tax Levy Same Total as Last Year—Market to be Improved

The Board of Aldermen were in regular session Thursday night, with the mayor and all members of the board present, and had business enough to keep them together until well past midnight.

D. D. Overton, chief of fire department, appeared with some estimates and recommendations looking to the better equipment of the department, and Aldermen Flanagan and Higgs were appointed a committee to act with the chief to select and purchase such appliances as are needed to equip the hook and ladder truck.

The board donated a sum not exceeding $15 to pay railroad fare for members of Rough & Ready Fire Company to attend the meeting of the State colored firemen's association to be held in New Bern.

W. F. Evans, secretary of the Retail Merchants' Association of Greenville, presented a resolution adopted by the association requesting the repeal of the license tax levied by the town on dealers in cigarettes. Alderman Flanagan moved that the request be denied and the license remain. Alderman Bowen offered an amendment that the tax be reduced from $10 to $5. The amendment was lost and the motion to deny the request carried.

Mr. Evans also at order of the association presented an ordinance requesting the board to pass it, levying a tax of $10 a day on itinerant retail drummers and solicitors selling or taking orders for goods in the town. This was referred to the ordinance committee with instructions to draft an ordinance covering the matter if it shall be found to be applicable.

A report from Engineer D. M. Clark accompanied by map and suggestions as to the needed surface drainage of the town, with approximate estimates of cost, was read and discussed, both by members of the board and citizens present. The matter was referred to the street committee for conference with citizens interested, with instructions to report to a called meeting of the board as soon as ready.

The street committee was authorized to make needed repairs to the Evans street culvert at once.

Some applications to allow market business to be done outside of the market house were referred to the market committee.

Ferd Barnhill, colored, requested an increase in wages for the street hands, which was referred to the committee.

The finance committee recommended that the following tax levy for the year be made, which was adopted: For general purposes 65 cents on each $100 valuation of real and personal property; for maintenance of graded schools 40 cents; for interest on school bonds 2 cents; for interest on first improvement bonds 15 cents, on second improvement bonds 21 cents, on third bonds 7 cents; making a total of $1.50 on each $100 valuation of property and $4.50 on each poll. This is the same total levy as last year and also takes care of the interest on the third issue of bonds without an increase.

that the Board of County Commissioners had promised the use of convicts to help construct a sand-clay road on Fifth street from Evans street to the East Carolina Teachers Training school. The work is to be done before the opening of the school in October.

The street committee was instructed to have drain near Mrs. Godwin's fixed.

The municipal building committee reported that the new city hall building was ready for occupancy, and next Monday was set for moving the mayor's office, the clerk offices and the water and light department offices to the new building on Fifth street.

The duty of displaying weather signals from the flag staff on the municipal building was placed upon the chief of police.

The street committee was instructed to have a bridge built across the branch on the street leading from Dickinson avenue to Eight street.

The market committee was authorized to make improvements to the market house at a cost not exceeding $1,000, and were authorized to borrow $500 for this purpose if needed. The entire interior of the market house is to be remodeled and kept in thorough sanitary condition.

An ordinance was adopted requiring property owners to place curbing on Ninth street westward from Evans street. There was also an ordinance requiring property owners on Fifth street to put granolithic sidewalk and stone curbing on the north side of the street from Evans to Cotanch streets; also that property owners place heart or stone curbing on Third and Fourth streets from Cotanch to Washington streets and on Fifth street from Evans to Washington streets.

An ordinance was adopted requiring public buildings and depots to put in sewerage.

The chief of police was instructed to notify all property owners included in the surface privy ordinance previously adopted, that all such privies within the bounds named therein will be torn down after Oct. 1st.

The Water and Light Commission was instructed to credit Hill & Johnson $75 for the construction of a line of pipe to their ice plant.

Bills as approved by the finance committee were ordered paid.

S. J. Nobles was granted license to run two pool tables in the Dancy building.

An account of Jarvis & Blow for $150 for services in connection with the bond issue of 1907, was referred to the finance committee.

The plumbing ordinance was amended to forbid the use of copper lined tanks in the construction of domestic sewerage.

The clerk was instructed to have published the financial statement of the last fiscal year.

AYDEN ITEMS.

Newsy Notes From a Hustling Town Briefly Told.

Ayden, N. C., Aug. 3, 1909.

Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Moon, of Burke, Va., came in Tuesday for a few days visit to their daughter, Mrs. Stencil Hodges. J. C. Gardner and Osborn Lyons went to Greenville Tuesday.

J. W. Moore returned from Norfolk Tuesday.

W. E. Tingle went to Grifton Tuesday.

J. C. Rasberry, of Kinston, was in town a short while Wednesday.

Misses Jennie and Irene Cobb, who have been spending a few days with Mrs. E. L. Brown, left Wednesday for Fort Barnwell.

Misses Lee Nichols and Lula Hazlett spent Tuesday in the country.

Miss Lois Joyner, who has been the guest of Mrs. E. Leslie Turnage, left Wednesday for her home in LaGrange.

Mrs. R. M. Prince, of Hobgood, came in Wednesday for a short visit to her mother, Mrs. Sarah Smith. Her sister, Mrs. W. L. Browning, who has been spending a few day with her, returned with her, Mrs. Prince accompanied by her brother, Major Smith.

There has been another small improvement made in our town in the way of a little more paved sidewalk. We are very glad to see this improvement and there is one other place yet that needs it very badly.

John Dail, of Kinston, was in town a short while Wednesday. B. D. Dechert, of Richmond, was here a short while Wednesday.

We are sorry that Miss Lizzie Blount is quite sick again. Hope she will soon be out.

W. J. Boyd left Thursday for Richmond.

D. G. Berry went somewhere Thursday, going towards Greenville.

Guy Moore has accepted a position with L. H. Witherington & Co.

How the Arrest Was Made.

I only drop this card in because things sound so one-sided in the papers. To read the statements anyone that did not know would think strange of a woman murderer getting around town here and not being picked up. The reader will understand I only got a description of Van Ray on Aug. 1st. Under assumed name I spotted her on Monday, Aug. 2nd, I shadowed her to her stopping place. I asked the chief of police to go with me and we made the arrest. I like for things to show as they really are. Of course if anyone sees this differently it stands for correction. W. C. Hines.

Flow From Well is Dynamo Power.

Edward Stauffenburg, a former Will county (Ill.) farmer, has met with great success at Putnam, S. D., says the Chicago Inter Ocean.

He sunk a deep well on his farm and struck a rich flow of water. The outpour is so strong that it has been harnessed and is generating electricity sufficient to run all the machines on the farm and to illuminate all of the the farm buildings, including the dwelling.

There is no lessening of the power of the well, the clear water being sufficient to meet the wants of stock and to supply the needs of the household.

STATE NEWS.

Happenings of Interest in North Carolina.

Concord, Aug. 5.—Thomas Cannon, about 54 years of age, was found dead this morning at 8 o'clock in a wood house at the home of Mrs. Joe Foil, with whom he boarded. He had not gone to his room during the night. Mrs. Foil went into the garden and on coming out saw a man lying in the wood house door, dead. A razor laying beside the body told the story of suicide. His throat was deeply gashed and the wound was perfectly dry, showing that death came some hours before.

United States Commissioner Barnes has bound over to the federal court Mr. Levy Eason, postmaster at Walstonburg, for a shortage of accounts of some $383. Mr. Eason made the shortage good before his arrest. The discrepancy was due more to an ignorance of the postal laws than anything else. His bond was fixed at $300, which he gave. He has resigned his position as postmaster.—Wilson Times.

Payne Tariff Bill Passed.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 5.—The tariff has been revised and the extraordinary session of congress has been brought to a close. Both houses adjourned sine die officially at six o'clock tonight. The actual adjournment was taken in the house at 5:38 p. m. and in the senate at 5:58 p. m.

The conference report on the bill was agreed to by the senate by a vote of 43 to 31. The vote was taken and soon afterwards the concurrent resolution making certain changes in the leather schedule was adopted by both houses.

President Taft arrived at the capitol at 4:45 p. m. It was his first appearance there since his incumbency as president, and there was a constant procession of handshaking statesmen through the president's room from the time of his arrival until his departure at 5:50 o'clock.

Juvenile State in Georgia

The advantages of the juvenile state have been tested in Georgia, as training unruly boys to become good citizens fit for self-government, instead of sending them to prisons.

Now, the Saturday Times says, the Juvenile Protective Association of Atlanta is to have charge of the Uncle Remus Home for Children, to be established as a memorial to Joel Chandler Harris near Atlanta. The site for the home has been given to the association and much of the money necessary for the building has already been collected. The institution is to be known as a juvenile state. It will contain a school, gymnasium and mechanical workshop.

Will Return to Greenville.

Miss Birdie McKinney, a graduate of the State Normal and Industrial College, and a member of the graded school faculty of Reidsville, has been elected a teacher in the State's new training school, which begins its first session at Greenville in the fall. Miss McKinney has resigned her position in Reidsville to accept.—Greensboro Record.

Miss McKinney was once a teacher in the the graded school here. She made many friends in Greenville and they are all glad she is to return.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL BRIEFS.

FRIDAY, AUG. 6, 1909.

Now and then there are good crops in Pitt county, but they are few.

Long meetings like the one Thursday night certainly makes the aldermen over earn their pay.

There is comfort in the announcement that the extra session of congress is nearing its close.

The thing that ought to keep on the minds of the people, especially the farmers, is good roads.

If Charlotte don't mind out she is going to stir up a municipal scandal. But it may do good to sift out things a little and see just how the money goes.

On Thursday the Raleigh Evening Times published a North Carolina development edition. It contained thirty-two pages and was a handsome publication. The Times is up to date as a newspaper.

The Daily News, a paper at Washington that succeeds the lately suspended Evening Messenger, made its appearance Wednesday. J. L. Mayo is editor, and he starts out like he is going to make good. Washington ought to support such a paper handsomely.

The "Whiskey Ad."

It is rather curious that the editors of some newspapers have such perverted notions of common morals. They fight like tigers for prohibition and then turn right round and sell their space to Virginia whiskey dealers. The distinction between selling newspaper space to a liquor man and handing the alcoholic beverage over the counter is rather too fine to be comfortable to a man who poses as a leader of moral sentiment. The truth is, whiskey is so vile a thing that nobody can touch it in any shape, form or fashion without loss. Our statute law forbids the manufacture and sale of liquor within the borders of our commonwealth. All good citizens, whatever their views on the prohibition question, are in duty bound to aid in the enforcement of this law and not wink at its violation. The end of the law is the suppression of the liquor traffic. Its aim is to afford protection, especially to our youth, from the unspeakable evils of intemperance. Now, if this be true of the average citizen, how much more should it be true of the man who sets himself up as the special champion and defender of law and order! Any agency that hinders the full enforcement of the law or that tends to violate any of its provisions, certainly should not receive the sanction of moral citizens. A fine sense of the obligation of citizenship would even range the "morally stunted" on the side of a proper enforcement of the prohibition law, and we are glad to say it has done so in many Kidney Troubles Attack Greenville Men and Women, Old and Young.

Kidney ill's seize young and old. Come quickly with little warning. Children suffer in their early years—Can't control the kid-e-y secretions. Girls are languid, nervous, suffer pain.

Women worry, can't do daily work. Men have lame and aching backs. The cure for man, woman or child. Is to cure the cause—the kidneys. Doan's Kidney Pills cure sick kidneys—

Cure all forms of kidney suffering. Greenville testimony proves it.

Miss Susan Kai, sul, 5 3 N. Fifth St., Greenville, N. C., says: "I derived great benefit from Doan's Kidney Pills and take pleasure in recommending them. For some time I suffered from dull, nagging backaches and had distressing pains through my loins. My kidneys were very weak and the frequent passages of the secretions caused me great annoyance. My back pained me severely and when first arising in the morning I was so lame and sore that I could scarcely get around. I at length procured Doan's Kidney Pills at Wooten's drug store and through their use I was entirely relieved of these troubles. The fact that my kidneys have given me no trouble since leads me to recommend Doan's Kidney Pills most highly."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States. Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

notable cases. It is a pity that a single reputable newspaper in the State should respond less promptly to the high demands of good citizenship. Selling space to a class of men who are avowed enemies of the law is poor business for "sentiment makers." The claim that liquor ads are too profitable to turn down, is wholly unworthy, and the newspaper that thus prostitutes the profession will find in the long run that whiskey ads are not profitable, for a paper that accepts them will lose much more in character than it will gain in cash.—Charity and Children.

A Massachusetts judge has adopted a new plan in dealing with youthful criminals charged with the lighter offenses. He sentences them to be kept at home every night from six in the evening until at least six the next morning, in the care of their parents, and he sees that the order is obeyed. If it is not, then he sends them where they will be kept. If they remain at home for the allotted time and conduct themselves properly he lifts the ban. What's the matter with this idea? He makes the parents responsible, whether they will or not. He knows a thing or two.—Greensboro Record.

"I guess," said the Yankee who had been asked to admire an echo, "I guess you don't know anything about echoes in this country. Why, at my country place up in the Rocky Mountains it takes eight hours to hear the echo of your voice. When I go to bed I put my head out of the window and shout, "Time to get up! and the echo wakes me in the morning."—Illustrated Review.

Singer Talks

Singer the Standard to Which All Others Are Compared

Have you ever wondered why it is that dealers in other makes of sewing machines take pains to emphasize their claim that their particular machine is "just as good as" the Singer?

Or why it is that more than 2,000,000 women buy Singers every year—more than all other makes combined?

Or why Singer sales have spread all over the world, into every civilized country?

The Singer has so long represented the highest degree of excellence that it is today everywhere recognized as the standard of perfection—the envy of every competitor—the pride of every owner.

It is easy to own a Singer. Ask in any Singer store—they're everywhere.

TEACHING HORSES TO JUMP.

There Are Three Methods Used—Coaxing, Lunging and Driving.

There are three methods of teaching a horse to leap—coaxing, lunging and driving. In the coaxing method the young horse is turned into a small paddock having a low hedge or hurdle across the center. In plain view of the pupil a rider on a veteran jumper should take him over the hurdle several times.

The trainer then goes to the opposite side with a measure of corn or oats and calls the horse, shaking up the grain and pouring it with his hand back and forth in the receptacle. The boundary will soon be cleared, and when a few mouthfuls have been eaten the station of the instructor should be at the other side of the hurdle and the lesson repeated. If this be done daily the hurdle may be gradually heightened.

The habit of jumping is thus acquired without those risks which attend a novel performance when a heavy burden oppresses the strength and whip and spur distract the attention. The horse's body, says Country Life In America, is not partially disabled by the imposition of a heavy load before the powers are taxed to the utmost and his capabilities are unfettered.

The second method is termed lunging. A long rein or cord is attached to the bit, and the animal is exercised in a circle in which a hurdle has been placed or a shallow ditch dug. A long lashed whip, used only to keep him in motion or lightly applied at the proper moment, will keep him up to his work. Soon the horse will enter into the spirit of the occasion and by unmistakable signs will manifest his enthusiastic enjoyment of the exercise.

The third method, driving, is exactly what its name implies. At first the obstruction should be slight. Any open space will answer the purpose, an earth or sod surface or tanbark being preferable. Long reins, a straight bar or snaffle bit, a long whip and patience and perseverance are required.

All things considered, the driving method is the quickest and surest way of teaching the horse to leap. When he has become somewhat proficient, having thoroughly learned what is required of him, the saddle may be called into requisition and the practical lessons begun.

Almost any young horse can be taught to leap. Of course his proficiency will depend on the care bestowed on his training and on his general characteristics of wind, limb and nerve. An ordinary cob or Morgan will attain the proficiency of an Irish hunter, but any horse that is used for a saddler will be of far greater value to his owner if he can be taken occasionally for a cross country ride and put over ditches and low obstructions.

Ethics and Morality.

If a woman's husband has been silly enough to take more wine than is good for him, morality would lead her to send him to bed. Ethics would lead her to send him to Coventry. And ethology would probably lead her to send him to a penal settlement for inebriates.

If a man's wife throws a teapot at him (as happened recently in the aristocratic neighborhood in which I live) morality would lead him to go out of the house for an hour or so and give her nerves a chance. Ethics would probably induce him to go out of the town and write to her from a garden city that their temperaments were incompatible. What ethology would make him do I hardly dare to think.—Chesterton in Illustrated London News.

More Accurate.

The pastor and his wife had called upon a member of the congregation, a widow with a small but exceedingly lively boy, and were on their way home. "Well," said the preacher, "she seems to be a very intelligent woman anyhow."

"Yes."

"And very positive in expressing her opinions."

"On the contrary," said his wife, "she struck me as being strongly negative."

"Negative? How?"

"Everything she said to her little boy began with a 'Don't, Johnny!'"

The Pins.

"Oh, dear," sighed her husband's wife, "I can't find a pin anywhere. I wonder where all the pins go to anyway?"

"That's a difficult question to answer," replied his wife's husband, "because they are always pointed in one direction and headed in another."

Sympathy of the Flowers.

More or less credence is still given in England to the old belief in the sympathy of the vegetable kingdom for human suffering. "I prayed all night," writes a gardener whose employer was very sick, "and the flowers on my window sill drooped, and I said to myself they were dead. But toward morning they picked up, and I was sure enough the master was better. And the same thing had happened to the flowers I had sent to his bedroom. They were dying, and they came to life again. And I knew when those flowers picked up that the master was better."

Clever Responses.

An American orator in endeavoring to respond to a toast frankly acknowledged his incapacity in this unique manner: "Ladies and gentlemen, I am the possessor of a gigantic intellect, but just at this moment I haven't got it about me."

Tallyrand got out of a similar difficulty by a successful ruse. In responding to his health being drunk he got up before the applause subsided, mumbled, but spoke nothing, made a bow and sat down, at which the applause redoubled.—London Tit-Bits.
