Miss Ethel Bowling, of Greenville, is visiting Miss Rusha Dixon this week.

Tom Dawson is visiting his sister, Mrs. F. G. Buhmann.

Our United Brotherhood of Bachelors is about to lose another one of its true members as J. H. Tripp has sent in his resignation and will soon take unto himself a member of our fairer sex. We are very sorry to have Brother Tripp leave us at this time. We could better let him go at our next meeting.

MEETING AT ROUNTREE CHURCH.

Rev. C. F. Outlaw, of Wilson, began a revival meeting at Rountree Christian church last night, under very favorable circumstances. A large congregation was present and gave the very closest attention to the excellent discourse by Mr. Outlaw. It is expected that the meeting will continue about ten days or two weeks. If the weather is favorable large crowds are expected to attend—a number going over from Ayden and Grifton. All are invited.

FISHING PARTY.

On Aug. 16th a few of the young men and ladies of Ayden went out to the old country home of Mrs. Ann Coward and had an enjoyable fishing trip. Reaching there about twelve o'clock, they drove to the pond and at one o'clock they spread lunch. Those in attendance were John Coward with Miss Blanche Cannon, Ned McLawhon with Miss Eliza Kennedy, Ray Turnage with Miss Nancy Coward and Jasper Gardner with Miss Olive Berry.

TOWN COURT.

Court opened Monday and the following cases were disposed of:

J. R. Smith & Co. vs J. C. Stocks. Verdict rendered in favor of the plaintiff. Defendant took an appeal to higher court.

OPEN THE MARKET LATER.

A Farmer Gives Some Good Suggestions About Tobacco Crop.

Ayden, N. C., Aug. 16 1909. Editor Reflector.

I see you and The News and Observer and Mr. Ficklen are having a sling back and forth concerning the price of tobacco.

Now, Mr. Editor, I don't propose to have anything to say about the trust part, but will just write of the time of sale and grade of tobacco, and what it is bringing. Mr. Ficklen shows that the price is governed by the grade, etc., and offers some suggestion whereby there may be an improvement in the grade, and we old clod hoppers ought to profit by it, coming from an independent buyer as it does. In fact, Mr. Editor, one of the managers of The Farmers Consolidate Tobacco Co. of your town, or city, if you please, sent out a circular letter to the farmers along the line indicated in Mr. Ficklen's article in your paper, and I know only one man who tried to profit by it. Mr. Ficklen said crop off and throw away those bottom leaves and top low so as to get weight and ripeness, and if we farmers would do this and put our tobacco on the market in sound and attractive condition we should surely get better prices. While it is fresh in our mind, this soundness, I wish to say we can hardly keep our tobacco sound marketing it in such hot and often sultry weather. Therefore I suggest the advisability of not opening the warehouses for the sale of our tobacco until September, by which time the weather is generally better and the buyers have come back from their summer rest and have their limits as to price from headquarters. They are now buying without any price limits from their houses, and of course we farmers are paying the penalty in receiving low prices. Then as to supply which Mr. Ficklen mentions in his article, if we old fools make more and make it sorrier than the trade wants, why we just may expect to go ragged and hungry and have ourselves to blame largely. Here comes the rub. We can't make it much better with this unprofitable, destructive, ruinous and detested tenant system under which the East is raising most of the tobacco it is raising.

"Aunt Winnie."

Small Boy Rescues Chum.

A party of three small disciples of Izaak Walton were seated on the dock last Saturday, industriously wriggling their hooks in the waters of the Pamlico, seeking to entice the wary redfin, robin, and catfish to nibble at the tempting bait, when one of the happy trio fell into the river. The small feminine member was frightened to death and ran away, leaving one little boy struggling for life in the water, and one still smaller boy upon the wharf to help. That he did not hesitate to do this is the reason that John Havens Moss is alive and running about today. Nat. S. Rulford, Jr., better known as "Boo," sprang into a boat that was tied nearby, and catching up a pole, he held it out to his playmate, dragged him to the boat and pulled him over the side. The coolness and presence of mind displayed by this boy may well be envied by many an older person, and he says that had there been no boat handy he would have jumped in the water and tried his best to save his little friends.—Washington News.

OVER-SPEEDERS FINED.

Mayor Will Recommend That the Limit Be Reduced.

The trial of the parties charged with running automobiles over the speed limit in town attracted quite a crowd in the mayor's court this morning. There were three defendants, E. G. Flanagan, Evans Sledge and M. H. Quinerly. All entered a plea of not guilty, but during the progress of the trial Mr. Quinerly changed his plea to guilty. Several witnesses were examined, and while none could testify accurately as to the speed the cars made (the three were running together at the time) all said that they were making over 10 miles an hour, some thinking the speed anywhere from 15 to 25 miles an hour.

Mayor Whedbee adjudged all the defendants guilty and placed a fine of $5 and costs on each. The mayor also stated, that to avoid danger of speeding he would recommend to the aldermen that the limit within the town be reduced from 10 to 5 miles an hour.

Small Breaks and Low Prices.

The tobacco warehouses had very light breaks today. One man said, 'prices are picking up some,' when another standing by said 'If you call it picking up, I pity the farmer who has been getting any less. It is practically being given away now.' The farmers would do the right thing to keep their tobacco off the market until there is enough demand to insure them something like a fair price for it. The present prices do not pay the cost of production.

MRS. HALL ENTERTAINS.

In Honor of Misses Long, of Garysburg, and Fenner, of Scotland Neck.

On Monday evening at her home on Eighth street, Mrs. W. L. Hall entertained at a porch party a number of young people in honor of her guests, Misses Sallie Long, of Garysburg and Annie Fenner, of Scotland Neck. Mr. and Mrs. Hall were assisted by Mr. and Mrs. G. J. Woodward in receiving the guests, and also in serving refreshments.

There was a jumble word contest (the word being the names of cities) in which the prize, a set of gold pins, was won by Miss Helen Forbes.

Another interesting feature was a spelling match in which Mr. Woodward cut up to the head of the class and was awarded a deck of cards. This he permitted the guests of honor to cut for and Miss Long was the winner.

Vocal solos by Mrs. Hall and Miss Long were greatly enjoyed by the guests, also instrumental selections by several of the ladies.

Reform is Real and Determined.

The Raleigh News and Observer thinks that it would be best to keep Harry Thaw permanently incarcerated and to send "the Evelyn woman" to Alaska. The march of "Reform" keeps up in this dear Old North State. Having chased the "Demon Rum" out of North Carolina, the prohis are now looking around for new worlds to conquer.—Columbia State.

NOW CONNECT AT WILSON.

Norfolk and Southern and Atlantic Coast Line Get Together.

From Raleigh over the Norfolk and Southern with connection at Wilson for Rocky Mount and points north became a reality yesterday, for the changed schedule of the Atlantic Coast Line at Wilson following the Norfolk and Southern change has made this possible.

The first train of the Norfolk and Southern to make connection was that which left here at 6:15 yesterday morning, the leaving time having been changed on August 8 from 6:30 to 6:15 a. m. At Wilson the Atlantic Coast Line yesterday changed its northbound arrival time from 8:03 a. m. to 8:15, with a wait of five minutes if necessary. The Norfolk and Southern schedule puts it in Wilson at 8:13 a. m., and there is thus allowed seven minutes for the making of the connection. This will give to the traveling public a long needed connection and the railroads will find that it will be appreciated.—Raleigh News and Observer.

TUESDAY, AUG. 17, 1909.

Those who were waiting for census enumerator jobs feel relieved, except those aspirants who failed to land.

Every farmer from other sections of the county who comes to Greenville ought to go out and look at the piece of sand-clay road near town before returning to his home. The Reflector believes it will convince him that there ought to be a road like that running by his farm.

If what is being said in the papers on the subject does not convince the farmers that every section ought to have good roads, they are hard to convince. And when you come to think about it seriously, good roads can be had in every section when the people make up their minds that they are not going to do without them.

Every business man in Greenville and community, and every farmer living anywhere near Tar river, ought to be interested in the movement looking to the deepening of the channel of the river, so that steamboat transportation can be restored and operated at all seasons of the year. Water transportation means cheaper freights, and it would mean thousands of dollars saved to the people of Pitt county if Tar river afforded an 8 foot channel to Greenville.

A Chicago dispatch starts off "Chicago is full of sinners. The devil owns most of the people of this city." The writer of that seems to be hitting pretty close to the mark. There is not a worse den of fakirs and swindlers huddled together on any other spot in the world than in Chicago. It is the home of mail order swindles, and the victims are all over the country. If you see a Chicago address to an advertisement the first thing to do is make up your mind to let it alone if you do not want to be humbugged.

Network of Good Roads.

No section of North Carolina needs good roads worse than the eastern part of the State, and we believe that improved highways would bring about a greater development in the eastern counties than is possible in any of the western counties. Every county in the State has its advantages, but they have not been so liberally showered as they have been throughout tide-water North Carolina.

The press is a great factor in creating sentiment for good roads, and the editors of the county papers are doing splendid work. The Rowland Sun puts in this lick:

"A good roads cyclone has surely struck North Carolina. You can hardly pick up a daily paper without seeing where some county or township has voted a small bond issue or done some other way to build good roads. At the State meeting of county commissioners held in Wilmington this week the whole talk was good roads. A few years ago it was a hard matter to get the commissioners in many counties enough interested in roads to appropriate even small amounts toward the building of bridges. Now in almost every county they are willing to appropriate for roads just as long as the funds are sufficient. Next to schools and churches, good roads are the greatest thing for any community."

The movement for good roads is wide-spread and it is taking all kinds of directions. In a speech to the Louisiana Good Roads Convention at Baton Rouge, on Thursday, Governor Saunders took advanced grounds. He advocated the disposal of all but one of the State's convict farms so that the convicts could be employed in building roads. He also declared that the National government should construct national roads connecting every State capital in the Union, and that the States should construct roads connecting every county seat with every other county seat.

The agitation is doing good. Let it continue.—Wilmington Star.

Good Roads and Good Schools Go Hand-in-Hand.

Whether good roads cause good schools or vice versa, it is true that they exist together and that one of the most important reasons for good roads is their effect on school attendance in the country. If country schools are to have a maximum efficiency in training and instruction, the children must be afforded facilities for reaching the schools with dry feet at all seasons of the year. Then the graded school can replace the little one room, one teacher schools so prevalent in many sections of the country. The possibilities of a region of improved roads are made apparent by the many examples of school wagons regularly gathering up the pupils and hauling them to and from school. When the roads are placed in such condition as to make this practice general a tremendous impetus will have been given to education in the United States.—July World's Work.

MANY SUDDEN DEATHS FROM POISONOUS RHEUMATISM.

Rheumatism has for years been regarded as an exceedingly painful disease but it has only been discovered within the last few years that it is this terrible trouble that is either directly or indirectly causing thousands of deaths yearly throughout our country. Rheumatism of the Heart, Neuralgia of the Heart, Paralysis, Uric Acid Poisoning are among the most dangerous forms of the disease. If Uric Acid is allowed to stay in the system sudden death can scarcely be averted. If any sufferer will go at once to J. W. Bryan and get a bottle of "Bloodine" the guaranteed remedy for Rheumatism. They will positively be cured. Bloodine in large bottles cost 50 cents. In old chronic cases where their is acute pains, "Bloodine Rheumatic Liniment" should be used with "Bloodine." The Value of Good Digestion

Is easy to figure if you know what your stomach is worth. Kodol keeps the stomach at par value, by insuring good digestion. Kodol cures Dyspepsia.

Kodol insures good digestion by absolutely duplicating Nature's normal process, in perfectly digesting all food taken into the stomach.

While Kodol is doing this, the stomach is resting—and becoming strong and healthy. A strong and healthy stomach guarantees a sound and active brain.

The man with a sound stomach—a stomach that is doing for the body just what Nature intended it to do—is the man who is always prepared for any emergency. He is "there with the goods."

The man with a sick stomach, is a man sick all over. When the stomach is irritated by undigested food, the blood and heart are directly affected. Then dullness, unnatural sleepiness, sick-headaches, vertigo and fainting spells, and even serious brain trouble develop. Kodol will prevent these.

Spurring the stomach and brain to special effort by "tonics" and "stimulants" doesn't cure anything, or accomplish any good. Neither does dieting. Indigestion and the serious ailments which it induces can be averted and corrected only by natural means.

Kodol supplies this natural means. It performs the stomach's work for it—just as the stomach should perform it—while the stomach takes a little rest, "for the stomach's sake."

Our Guarantee

Go to your druggist today and get a dollar bottle. Then after you have used the entire contents of the bottle if you can honestly say, that it has not done you any good, return the bottle to the druggist and he will refund your money without question or delay. We will then pay the druggist for the bottle. Don't hesitate, all druggists know that our guarantee is good. This offer applies to the large bottle only and to but one in a family. The large bottle contains 3/4 times as much as the fifty cent bottle.

Kodol is prepared at the laboratories of E. C. DeWitt & Co., Chicago.

STAKED AN ISLAND.

A Fateful Jack Pot That Was Lost by Pierre Bottineau.

At one of the most interesting games of poker ever played in Minneapolis Nicollet island was put in the jack pot by a man who thought he understood the game, but found there were others who understood it better. In 1846 Pierre Bottineau took up a claim on the spot where St. Paul now stands. A year later he traded it for a horse and cow, which he drove away into the wilderness, never dreaming that the land he had almost given away would in a few years be the site of a great city. For a small sum he purchased a large portion of what is now the business part of Minneapolis and put up a log cabin in a little mound in the center of Nicollet island.

Half a dozen of the old settlers, Bottineau among them, had a little poker club. One evening the stakes kept growing larger and larger until every jack pot contained a small fortune. Mr. Bottineau had been losing heavily, but at last he was dealt a hand upon which he hoped to regain his losses and win something besides. He was given four queens and, drawing one card, secured an ace, leaving four kings as the only hand by which he could be beaten. He thought he saw one of the players discard a king, and he considered his hand invincible and played it accordingly. Soon all but Bottineau and the man opposite him dropped their cards and retired to watch the game. The table was heaped with money and the personal belongings of the two men.

The flickering light of the candle shone dimly on the flushed faces as they watched each other warily out of the corners of their eyes. All of Bottineau's possessions lay on the table, and it was his bet. He looked at his hand carefully and then said that all he had left was Nicollet island, which he would bet against $200. The bet was called, and Bottineau laid down his four queens with a smile of triumph. Amid a dead silence his opponent laid on the table, face up, four kings and a trey. It was so still you could have heard them breathe. Then Bottineau called for writing materials and made out a deed to the island. From that day he never touched a card or countenanced gambling in any form.

After drifting around the country he went to Red Lake Falls and took up a claim and remained there until the time of his death. He was employed as a guide and scout and was one of the principal members of the Sibley expedition. He knew every foot of the northwest country, having traversed it ever since he was ten years old, when he guided Lord Selkirk's colonists from old Fort Garry. When he died the last of the old time Canadian voyagers and guides, who were such an important factor in the up-building of the northwest, passed away.—Exchange.

A Good Enough Excuse.

A memorable instance of presence of mind was the adventure of a certain Desaugiers at the time of a popular uprising in Paris, when the people took possession of the Tuileries. The hero of the incident sagely acted upon the theory that a poor excuse is better than none and sometimes better than a better one would be.

He was an inquisitive person, and, regardless of the danger, he hastened to the Tuileries at midnight to see what was going on. At the gate he was stopped by two revolutionists of ominous appearance. "Why do you not wear a cockade, citizen? Where is your cockade?" they asked.

A mob gathered about him and demanded fiercely, "Citizen, where is your cockade?"

Desaugiers took off his hat, turned it around and around, looked at it on all sides and then said in a tone of mild surprise:

"Citizens, it is strange, very strange! I must have left it on my nightgown."

USE SIGNALS OF INDIANS.

Army Experts Adopt Many Ideas of the Aborigines.

Just as the fighting men of the United States army many years ago took lessons from the Indians and from their methods of warfare devised and perfected the system of extended order or skirmish drills which have proved so effective, so the signal corps of the army has followed to a large extent the red men's methods of conveying information from point to point where there is not time to string telegraph or telephone lines or where wireless telegraph is unavailable.

As the Indians since prehistoric times have used columns of smoke in various combinations to signal the approach of an enemy or to transmit other messages, so the army signalmen have found most effective what are known as smoke bombs or smoke rockets. The former are fired from a small mortar, the latter in the same way as Fourth of July fireworks. Each when reaching a desired height, regulated by a fuse, bursts and liberates a picric acid compound, which ignites and burns colored fires, one after the other, so arranged in the cartridge as to convey a message to those who may be watching for it. These cartridges are made in sections, each containing its own different colored fire, and threaded to screw together in a fraction of a minute.

These military fireworks, as they might aptly be called, are packed in hermetically sealed cans, much in the same manner as tinned meats, with the same sort of thumbscrew attachment for opening them quickly. In this way they keep indefinitely in any climate and have been found particularly effective in the campaigns in the Philippines.

While the navy does not employ so complicated a system of rocket and bomb signaling as does the army, every warship carries a supply of powerful rockets, which liberate on bursting a series of brilliant white stars for the purpose of calling attention to other signals which are transmitted by a system of combinations of colored electric lights strung from a masthead and operated from a switchboard much on the plan of a typewriter, called the Ardois system. But both branches of the service employ an odd sort of pistol, the invention of a naval officer, which shoots from cartridges "stars" similar to those of a roman candle of any color. The combinations which can be made in this manner practically are numberless.—Popular Mechanics.
