WINTERVILLE ITEMS.

Newsy Notes From Our Hustling Neighbor.

Winterville, N. C. Aug. 25, 1909.

Miss Hattie Kittrell left Saturday evening for Gold Point to spend some time with Miss Vivian Roberson.

Miss Lala Chapman spent Sunday in the country at J. Mac, Dixon's.

Miss Beulah Munford, of Ayden, spent Monday here with friends.

Miss Kate Chapman is visiting Misses Sadie and Cora Carroll near Cox's Mill.

Misses Norma McLawhorn Jennie and Carrie Carson were in town a short while Monday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Cox went to Kinston yesterday and returned the same day.

A number of young people of Ayden came over on a hay ride Monday evening. We regret their stay was so short, but sincerely hope they will come again.

Miss Bessie Kittrell and her guest, Miss Hildah Kilpatrick, of La Grange, were in town a short while Monday evening.

C. T. Cox and F. A. Edmundson went to Greenville Sunday.

After spending several days with Miss Janie Kittrell, Miss Lilly Bunting returned to her home at Bethel Saturday evening. Miss Bunting is a charming young lady and has won many lasting friends here.

Misses Mamie and Clyde Chapman returned Sunday from a visit to friends and relatives at Ayden.

Mrs. R. G. Chapman and Mrs. J. H. C. Dixon left today to visit relatives near Vanceboro.

O. W. Askew has moved to Zebulon.

Miss Venie Crawford went to Greenville Sunday.

Rev. J. B. Bridgers filled his regular appointment at the M. E. church here Sunday morning and night.

O. W. and Jessie Rollins, J. B. Kittrell and Ernest Cox, went to Ayden Sunday night.

The men boring the well here have not yet struck an overflow, though they are steadily progressing. They had drilled 280 feet by Tuesday night.

After spending last week at home with his parents near Rountree, Eugene Cannon came in Monday morning.

Misses Jane Kittrell, Olive Butt, Venetia Cox and Mrs. Charlie Aldrige went to Greenville today.

South Winterville is never without the cheery voices of happy young people, but on Saturday afternoon it was the scene of a gay merry-making for other children in the place as well. In response to an invitation from their teachers, the pupils of the Episcopal Sunday school had gathered there to be entertained. A series of lively games in the "park" furnished amusement for the young folks for awhile, and in these many of the grown-ups joined with hearty interest. Immediately after the games, all repaired to the home of Mrs. E. E. Cox, where the following program was carried out:

Opening hymn, "There's a Friend for Children."

Vocal solo Miss Olive Butt

Reading Psalm 103

Short talk by superintendent.

Prayer.

Closing hymn, "Great Shepherd of the Sheep."

The last, and by no means the least important feature of the occasion to the little folks, was

ROCHDALE ITEMS.

Rochdale, N. C., Aug. 24, 1909.

J. S. Fulford and Calvin Joyner went to Greenville Tuesday to sell tobacco.

Mrs. Mills Smith and children went to Poketink Monday to visit her sister, Mrs. R. A. Nichols.

Mr. and Mrs. Ellis McLawhorn and children, of Renston, came Monday to visit his brother, C. E. McLawhorn and returned home this morning.

Rev. S. P. Speigle, of Wilson, will commence a protracted meeting at Smith's school house next Sunday. We hope all who can will attend and make the meeting a blessing to the whole community, and all pray for a pentecostal shower to rain down on all converted souls so that there may be much rejoicing.

Crimson Clover makes an excellent grazing crop during the winter and early spring. Plowed under early in the spring it is equal to an application of stable manure. Puts humus in the land and makes it rich and mellow. Sow seed in July, August and September. See J. R. & J. G. Moye for prices on seed, for the picnic supper in the grove. From big tables under the trees delicious fried chicken, fresh rolls, cake and ice cream were served. St. Luke's Sunday school does nothing by halves and this entertainment measured up to its standard in every particular

W. E. Smith and wife spent Sunday at H. S. Tyson's.

Mrs. Robert Matthews and Mrs. J. A. Forbes spent Sunday afternoon with Mrs. Bettie Mathews.

Gallant Solicitor.

Solicitor Abernethy caused a smile in court Tuesday, and if it had been permissible he might have been applauded. Quite a handsome woman took the witness stand to testify in behalf of her husband who was defendant in a case. After a few questions had been asked her the solicitor said to the court "I will take a verdict of not guilty, your Honor." Then in a stage whisper that was heard throughout the bar he added "When the defense makes such an exhibit as that State is silenced."

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL BRIEFS.

With Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Ricks.

On Tuesday evening at Hollywood, their home in East Greenville, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Ricks entertained a few friends informally in honor of their guests, Mr. and Mrs. Lincoln Lesh, of Muncie, Ind. The verandas and lawn were lighted with Japanese lanterns and decorations of cut flowers added fragrance to the scene.

The hostess met the callers who were served with punch in the hall. Later ice cream and cake were served.

Mrs. Travis Hooker increased the pleasure of the evening with several delightful solos.

Mrs. Lesh was formerly Miss Emma Taft, of Greenville, and has many friends here.

EVILS OF SABBATH DESECRATION

Ex Gov. R. B. Glenn, of North Carolina, delivered an address at Chautauqua, N. Y., on Sunday, and the way he lambasted the big cities for their evil doings put the Gothamites to talking.

But the governor said a lot of good things, just as is his way of doing, and what he said is worth considering. Here are some extracts from his address:

"The great cities of the land are snapping their fingers in the face of the Almighty," he said.

"The sins of Chicago are crying aloud unto the heavens. It is a disgrace to civilization.

"New York is a blot upon the map of our fair country.

"The people of the country are pure, God-fearing and pious, but in the cities the one evil of Sabbath desecration will prove the ruin of the nation unless it is checked. It is Sabbath desecration that is at the base of most of our vice and crime, for the man who will violate the Sabbath is lawless, the man who is lawless is irreverent to the deity, the man who is irreverent to the deity has lost his conscience, the man who has lost his conscience will disregard the rights of his fellows, and mob law, vice and crime will result."

No doubt the elder Mrs. Thaw would like to see her son given his liberty, but since the court has decided that he must stay in the asylum she is doing entirely too much talking. During the murder trial she was one of those who insisted that Harry was insane, and if he was crazy then he is crazy now. The defense put up the plea of insanity to escape the penalty of murder and got what they were working for, and should take the consequences.

A shortage of $82,000 has been disclosed in the accounts of the Western Pennsylvania penitentiary. What more could you expect in Pennsylvania, the greatest State of graft in the union? A remarkable thing about this shortage, however, is that it was discovered by convict bankers who were serving terms in the prison. For once they turned their talents to good use.

The thing that is most needed now to make prohibition effective is a law to prevent the shipment of liquor from one State to another. The agitation of this should grow until congress takes hold and acts upon it. When a State declares for prohibition neighboring States should not be permitted to make shipments into it.

All that riot in Mecklenburg county Saturday night in which one man was killed, several others badly wounded and some landed in jail, started over the killing of a dog. How North Carolina folks do love a sorry dog!

Kidney Troubles Attack Greenville Men and Women, Old and Young.

Kidney ills seize young and old. Come quickly with little warning. Children suffer in their early years—Can't control the kidney secretions. Girls are languid, nervous, suffer pain.

Women worry, can't do daily work. Men have lame and aching backs. The cure for man, woman or child. Is to cure the cause—the kidneys. Doan's Kidney Pills cure sick kidneys—

Cure all forms of kidney suffering. Greenville testimony proves it.

Miss Susan Kai sul, 53 N. Fifth St., Greenville, N. C., says: "I derived great benefit from Doan's Kidney Pills and take pleasure in recommending them. For some time I suffered from dull, nagging backaches and had distressing pains through my joints. My kidneys were very weak and the frequent passages of the secretions caused me great annoyance. My back pained me severely and when first arising in the morning I was so lame and sore that I could scarcely get around. I at length procured Doan's Kidney Pills at Wooten's drug store and through their use I was entirely relieved of these troubles. The fact that my kidneys have given me no trouble since leads me to recommend Doan's Kidney Pills most highly."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States. Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

Some counties do all they can toward building good roads while others seem content to stay in the mud. Pitt comes between the two, as here we have some good roads and some bad, with the bad in the majority. But the good roads sentiment is growing and will some day take in the whole county.

Rats cause trouble in various ways. A New York woman thought she heard one in her room, jumped on a chair, fell out a third story window and was killed.

In an election held there Tuesday, Kinston by a large majority defeated a proposition to issue bonds for street improvements.

When it comes to pie hunting, one crowd does not have much room to say things about another. They all want to get to the counter.

The government is contemplating making currency smaller. The quantity of it is already small enough.

HIS FORETHOUGHT.

A Bit of Zeal That Was Not Appreciated by His Wife.

He was a very busy man, and, like all of his kind, he hated to waste time by unnecessary waiting. That was why in the midst of his correspondence along about 11 o'clock the other morning he paused and, turning to his secretary, requested him to ring up his residence on the phone. "Jemmison," he said, "get my nouse on the wire and ask Mrs. Blank to come to the phone. Just tell them that I wish to speak to her."

The secretary made off, and in a few minutes the required connection was made.

"Is that you, Mary?" said Blank when he got to the phone.

"Yes," was the answer.

"Well, this is John," he said. "I have just rung you up to tell you that Barker was in here this morning with two tickets for the theater tonight. He and Mrs. Barker have been called suddenly out of town, and he thought we might like to use the tickets. How about it?"

"Fine!" replied Mrs. Blank. "I have nothing else to do."

"All right, my dear," continued Blank. "The curtain rises at half past 8."

"Yes; I know," said Mrs. Blank.

"I thought I'd let you know in time so that directly you have had your lunch you can begin to put your hat on," he went on. "Then we can get there before the middle of the first act. By-by, dear."

The only answer was an angry click at the other end of the wire, which seemed to indicate that another receiver was in trouble, but Mr. Blank only laughed as he returned to his work.—Lippincott's Magazine.

Cause For Thanksgiving.

One fine summer night the whole village was disturbed in its slumbers by the deep tones of Nasreddin giving praise and thanks unto Allah: "What hath befallen thee, O Nasreddin," they inquired, "that at this hour of the night thou doth give praise and thanks until Almighty Allah?"

"As I lay half sleeping on my divan," replied the hodja, "I looked up and suddenly beheld a white thing flapping by this window. This must be a ghost or jinn or some other evil spirit sent by Sheitan to torment true believers, methought, so I seized my bow and drove an arrow through it. I forthwith arose, and, behold, it was no jinn, but my own shirt which the arrow had transfixed. Wherefore do ye see me giving just praise.—T. P.'s London Weekly.

Faint Praise.

A little girl taking her first ocean trip was awakened from a sound sleep one morning when the steamer was close to a strip of coast where the mountains tower sheer from the water's edge to a height of thousands of feet, presenting a majestic aspect not to be equaled in many other places. The little girl's father, carrying her to the deck, pointed to the great line of mountains and asked her:

"Well, what do you think of that?" expecting, as was natural, that she would be quite overwhelmed at the sight.

Instead she just rubbed her sleepy eyes.

"They look," she muttered dubiously, "like hills."

Whereupon she went to sleep again.—New York Times.

The Salt In the Sea.

The saline elements of ocean water may be in part derived from geological formations which consisted largely of like matter, but it is generally considered that the saltiness of the sea is sufficiently accounted for by the deposition of soluble salts from the rivers. Salts of various kinds form part of the constituent ingredients of the earth's soil everywhere. They are washed out by springs and rivulets and carried to the sea by large streams, and as the evaporation which feeds the streams carries none of the dissolved matters back again the tendency is for the salts to accumulate in the sea. The principal saline ingredients found in ocean water are chloride of sodium, or common salt, and salts of magnesium and lime.

Easy.

"What can a doctor do when he gets a patient who neither drinks nor smokes?"

"Tell him to stop eating certain things. Everybody eats."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

LITERARY HEROISM.

Great Works Accomplished Under the Most Adverse Circumstances.

Some of the world's most valued literary productions have been accomplished by their authors under circumstances of pain and hardship almost incredible.

Of the blind writers one immediately thinks of Milton and of our own Prescott, who, though not entirely blind, was almost so and performed prodigies in the way of historical composition while handicapped in a way calculated to dishearten the bravest.

Another great historian, John Richard Green, did his work in the midst of a hard battle against disease and pain. In 1869, when he was finally prostrated by the disease that had taken hold many years before, the doctors gave him no hope of living more than six months longer. Nevertheless Green set about the task of writing his "Short History of the English People," a task that he triumphantly carried to a conclusion notwithstanding racking pains.

We are assured on excellent authority that Elizabeth Barrett Browning wrote the greater number of her fine poems confined to a darkened room, to which, by reason of her infirmities, only her own family and most intimate friends could be admitted, while she was in great weakness and almost continuous pain.

Another brave struggle was that of the poet Heine. The last seven years of the German thinker's life were spent on what has been termed his "mattress grave" in such pain and suffering that he was obliged to consume doses of opium in quantity sufficient to have killed several men. Yet Heine not only endured all this with resignation and even cheerfulness, but managed to produce some of his most finished work, among which were "Last Poems and Thoughts" and his "Confessions."

To the list of literary heroes must be added the name of Scott. Sir Walter's manly fight against failing health and financial misfortune during the closing years of his life is too well known to need more than passing mention. When the commercial reverses came that left him staggering under a huge burden of debt, he, shattered in health, laboriously set to work "with wearied eyes and worn brain" to recoup. Painfully he toiled, sometimes as many as fourteen hours a day, until the end came, but nevertheless he succeeded in meeting every cent due by reason of the monumental indebtedness forced upon him.

Grant's memoirs were composed under peculiarly pathetic conditions. Confronted by the dismal prospect of dying from a malignant disease and ruined by reason of unfortunate financial ventures, the doughty general in order to provide for his wife finished under these distressing conditions that work only four days before his death.—New York Tribune.

One of His Father's Ways.

Mr. Jefferson had not been altogether an exemplary husband and father, but he possessed certain engaging qualities which secured him many friends and made his death the cause of sincere mourning to his widow. "Mis' Jefferson, she's done broke up over Eb'nezer's bein' took off from de pneumony," said one of the neighbors.

"She sutt'nly is," said another—"mournin' around de house all de time, she goes. Why, day before yist'day I was thar helpin' her, an' she only stop cryin' once, an' dat was to spank little Eben for takin' m'lasses out'n de jug right into his mouf when her back was turned.

"When she'd spanked him good an' set him down she says to me, 'He make me t'ink ob his pa so much I cyant bear it!' an' bus' right out cryin' ag'in."—Youth's Companion.

It is the little pleasures which make life sweet, as the little displeasures may do more than afflictions can to make it bitter.

Pat's Appreciation:
An artist had finished a landscape. On looking up he beheld an Irish navy gazing at his canvas. "Well," said the artist familiarly, "do you suppose you could make picture like that?" The Irishman mopped his forehead a moment: "Sure, a man c'n do annything if he's druv to ut!" he replied.—London Telegraph.
