ANTI-TRUST LAW OF N. C.

An Act Prohibiting Conduct Which Interferes With Trade and Commerce. The General Assembly of North Carolina do enact:

Section 1. That it shall be unlawful for any person or corporation to directly or indirectly be guilty of any of the acts and things specified in any of the subsections of this section. (a) For any person, firm, corporation or association to make a sale or sales of any goods, wares, merchandise, articles or things of value whatsoever in North Carolina, whether directly or indirectly, or through any agent or employee, upon the condition that the purchaser thereof shall not deal in the goods, wares, merchandise, articles or things of value of a competitor or rival in the business of the person, firm, corporation or association making said sales. (b) For any person, firm, corporation or association to directly or indirectly wilfully destroy or injure, or undertake to destroy or injure, the business of any opponent or business rival in the State of North Carolina with the purpose or intention of attempting to fix the price of any thing of value when the competition is removed. (c) For any person, firm, corporation or association which directly buys or sells within the State, through himself or itself, or through any agent of any kind or as agent or principal, or together with or through any allied, subsidiary or dependent person, firm, corporation or association, as much as fifty per centum in quantity of any article or thing of value which is sold or bought in the State to injure or destroy or undertake to injure or destroy the business of any rival or opponent, by lowering the price of any article or thing of value sold, so low, or by raising the price of any article or thing of value bought so high as to leave an unreasonable or inadequate profit for a time and with the purpose of increasing the profit on the business when such rival or opponent is driven out of business, or his, their or its business is injured. (d) For any person, firm, corporation or association dealing in any thing of value within the State of North Carolina to give away or sell, at a place where there is competition, such thing of value at a price lower than is charged by such person, firm, corporation or association, for the same thing at another place, where there is not sufficient reason for charging less at the one place than at the other, with the view of injuring the business of another. (e) For any person, firm, corporation or association engaged in buying or selling any thing of value in North Carolina to make or have any agreement or understanding, express or implied, with any other person, firm, corporation or association, not to buy or sell said things of value within certain territorial limits within the State, with intention of preventing competition in selling or to fix the price or prevent competition in buying of said things of value within these limits: Provided, nothing here-in shall be construed to prevent an agent from representing more than one principal. But nothing in this proviso shall be construed to authorize two or more principals to employ as common agent for the purpose of suppressing competition or lowering prices. (f) For any person, firm, corporation or association to conspire with any other person, firm, corporation or association to put down or keep down the price of any article produced in this State by the labor of others, which said article the said person, firm, corporation or association intends to buy.

Sec. 2. That any corporation, either as agent or principal, violating any of the provisions of this act, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, such corporation shall upon conviction be fined not less than one thousand dollars for each and every offense, and any person violating any of the provisions of this act shall be fined not less than five hundred dollars or imprisoned, within the discretion of the Court.

Sec. 3. That any person being either within or without the State, who encourages or willfully allows or permits any agent or associates in business in this State to violate any of the provisions of this act, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction shall be punished as provided in section two hereof.

Sec. 4. That where the things prohibited in section one of this act are continuous, then in such event after the first violation of any of the provisions hereof, each week that the violation of such provision shall continue shall be a separate offense.

Sec. 5. That the provisions of this act shall not be construed so as to repeal or restrict the common-law doctrine preventing unlawful combination in trade and commerce, which are hereby re-enacted and declared to be in full force in this State, except as may be inconsistent with the other provisions of this act.

Sec. 6. That if it shall be made to appear to the Attorney-General by satisfactory affidavit (which affidavit may be made upon information and belief, and when so made shall state the ground thereof) within the State, it shall be the duty of the Attorney-General to apply to a judge of the Superior Court for an order to cause such corporation, its officers and agents, or any of them, to appear before such judge at a time and place to be named by him, which time shall not be less than five days from the service of such order, to show cause why such corporation, its officers and agents, or any of them, should not produce before such judge, at a time and place to be named, all the papers, books and records of such corporation; and if the judge shall be satisfied that such books, papers and records should be so produced he shall make an order requiring such corporation, its officers and agents, or any of them, to produce all or any of its papers, books and records, to be examined by the Attorney-General in the presence of such judge. If any corporation, its officers or agents shall fail to produce such papers, books or records as may be required, it or he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and it shall be the duty of the Attorney-General to cause such corporation or person to be prosecuted therefor. When it shall be made to appear that the papers, books or records of any such corporation, or any of them, are without the limit of the State or that they cannot conveniently be produced before the judge for examination, as hereinbefore provided, such judge may issue a commission for the examination of such papers, books and records before a commissioner to be named by him.

STATE NEWS.

Happenings of Interest in North Carolina.

There is a case pending for settlement in this county in which two children are heirs to their part of $505. But the share of each is only one-half of one-ninth of one-fourth of one-seventh of the total $505. Figure that out and see how much more than one dollar each will get.—Monroe Journal.

On the very eve of the gathering of his comrades, to meet whom he had journeyed here, Mr. J. L. Wiggins, a Confederate veteran from Whiteville, dropped dead last night at 8 o'clock. He was on the front porch of the home of his son, Mr. J. L. Wiggins, Jr., on the corner of Pine and Seventh streets. The family had had supper and he was playing with the children when his death came to him without warning.—Charlotte Observer.

Captain T. F. Smith, keeper of the lighthouse at Ocracoke, N. C., is a Washington visitor today. Captain Smith has been in the lighthouse service for 31 years, and with the exception of Captain Peter Gallop, custodian of the United States buoy yard in this city, he holds the record for service. He was at one time one of the keepers of the lighthouse at Hatteras, the highest on the coast. Captain Gallop, the buoy yard keeper, has asked the government to remove him to another point, and if this is done, Captain Smith will succeed him as he is the next in line for promotion.—Washington News.

Esq. W. D. Webb is visiting his oldest sister, Mrs. Jas. Leonard, who lives in Lanes Creek township, Union county. Mr. and Mrs. Leonard are an interesting couple. He is 89 years of age and hale and hearty. She is 84 but cannot get about because of a slight stroke of paralysis which she suffered a few years ago. They were married December, 1842, therefore if they live to see that month this year they will have lived together as husband and wife 67 years.—Wadesboro Messenger and Intelligencer.

It will be remembered that a few months ago Mrs. E. E. Fitzgerald was attacked and seriously hurt by a family horse that she had in the lot. The horse attacked her without cause and her life was endangered. After recovering Mrs. Fitzgerald gave the horse to Mrs. S. G. Howie of the Wesley Chapel neighborhood. One day last week the horse kicked Capt. Howie's grandson aged twelve years, and came near killing him. The little fellow, who is a son of Mr. Jeff Howie, of Charlotte, was visiting his grandparents. He had gathered some green stuff and went into the lot to feed the horse, when it kicked him in the face from pure viciousness. The child's jawbone was broken and nearly all the upper teeth knocked out. He was taken to a hospital in Charlotte for treatment.—Monroe Journal.

Crimson Clover makes an excellent grazing crop during the winter and early spring. Plowed under early in the spring it is equal to an application of stable manure. LONGFELLOW BIGAMY TRIAL

Motion to Quash Indictment Overruled.

The Longfellow bigamy case was called this afternoon at the August term of the Lenoir county superior court, Judge W. G. Ward presiding. The defense immediately made a motion to quash on account of the court's lack of jurisdiction. The motion was made and argument advanced by Former Solicitor L. I. Moore.

Answer to ex-Solicitor Moore was made by ex-Governor Aycock in the cause of which he cited many authorities in support of his contention that this court has jurisdiction. Mr. Moore in reply said that the prosecution has a remedy but not the one sought.

The court overruled motion to quash the indictment. The defense then commenced an attack upon several counts.

Trial set for Thursday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.—Kinston Free Press.

THURSDAY, AUG. 26, 1909.

The government is to take a hand in the strike at Pittsburg, so the trouble may be soon brought to a close.

In the death of Editor J. A. Thomas, of the Louisburg Times, which occurred Tuesday night, North Carolina loses a valuable man, and the press of the State one of its best members. It was our pleasure to know "Dolly" Thomas for many years, and he was the truest type of a man.

Cities Must Get in Touch for Business.

We know of one town in eastern North Carolina that did not want a good road connecting it with any other town. The business sense of the people of that town are in strange contrast with the progressive idea prevailing at Durham and other cities which are anxious to be linked together by modern highways. They know that it will make business and means progress for all.

The Durham Herald remarks upon this subject.

"If Durham can arrive at an understanding with the surrounding towns whereby it can connect with them with good roads it does not care whether it gets an automobile highway or not."

The enlightened Herald looks far enough ahead to see the advantages of good roads that will furnish a class of interurban traffic that cannot be handled in any other way except over the country roads.

Each town on a modern highway of any kind gets its share of the logical business that its location commands, just the same as do the cities and towns on the railway lines. What would be thought of a town which would want a railroad running out of it but touching at no other point? It would be a railroad without business, and it would be a dried up town, as can be readily conceived by any man with enough brains to make a frying noise in a skillet.—Wilmington Star.

Home merchants who do not make a business of advertising, and thereby endeavoring to keep trade at home, have no right to complain of the business that is gradually being gathered in from the towns and county by the mail order houses of the cities. The mail order business is rapidly increasing and will increase faster if home merchants do not offset it by convincing the people that it is to their advantage to trade at home. The city houses know the value of advertising, and every mail is flooded with their announcements and they are drawing more and more trade away from the home merchants every year. People are going to trade where they think it is to their advantage, and the home merchant who hasn't got confidence enough in his own business to lay its advantages regularly and systematically before the people, need not be surprised if they are induced by others to buy from them. Advertising has become just as much a part of the business of every enterprise as bookkeeping, salesmanship or stock-taking, and the merchants who can't write advertisements are either

Sentiment Won't Run Paper.

A newspaper, if it has any brains, conscience and muscle back of it, must continually decide between doing its duty and injuring its pocket. In any position but that of editor the public is able to separate the individual home from the collective citizen. But if an editor does not please them it at his pockets they aim. Thus it is the newspapers learn who their friends are. The man who reads a newspaper and admires it all the year around, yet gives his business support to some other concern, is not a friend to the former newspaper. There are too many men who expect an editor to slave in defense of their pet notions and hobbies, advocate their views against the strongest opposition and coolly withhold their business support, by which alone a country newspaper can live.

Talk about a paper having a public duty to perform and an editor having to work for his principle is cheap when others stand back and extend a lukewarm neutrality.—Washington News.

Charlotte is acting just like a village. The grand jury last week condemned the jail and ordered the county commissioners to build a new one. In this county the commissioners built a new one before the grand jury could act and even then there was almost a riot among some of the tax-payers who declared the county was wasting the money. But the work was all completed and paid for without raising taxes a cent.—Greensboro Record.

We are no advocate of "cussing," but you have our unreserved permission to get mad as Old Tucker and employ a strenuous variety of villifying epithets when you are trying to go some where on a devilish mean road. Sick 'em, Tig!—Wilmington Star.

Surprising, What Kodol Will Do

For you, when you need it. But the longer you neglect indigestion, the more you will suffer before Kodol can restore Good Digestion.

And, of course, indigestion if neglected long enough, brings on serious diseases in which Kodol cannot benefit you. Some of these there is no help for at all. There are, in fact, very few ailments which cannot be traced directly to impure blood. And impure blood is always due to a disordered stomach. Use Kodol and prevent Nervous Dyspepsia. Kodol will effectually assist Nature to secure a complete restoration of good digestion. It does this by at once digesting all food in the stomach and keeping it digested, until the stomach is rested and can resume its own work. Kodol removes the cause—and the effect quickly removes itself. When it is recalled that Apoplexy, Heart Disease, Cancer—and even Consumption—are due to poor digestion and poisons thus transmitted to the blood, and throughout the system—the importance of maintaining good digestion is at once realized. We knew what Kodol would do before ever the first bottle was sold. If we did not know just what it will do, we would not guarantee it the way we do. It is easy for you to prove Kodol—the next (or the first) time you have an attack of indigestion. And you will certainly be surprised at the results. It is perfectly harmless. There can be no harm in trying something that may do you a great deal of good—when it costs you nothing if it doesn't.

Our Guarantee
 Go to your druggist today and get a dollar bottle. Then after you have used the entire contents of the bottle if you can honestly say, that it has not done you any good, return the bottle to the druggist and he will refund your money without question or delay. We will then pay the druggist for the bottle. Don't hesitate, all druggists know that our guarantee is good. This offer applies to the large bottle only and to but one in a family. The large bottle contains 2 1/2 times as much as the fifty cent bottle. Kodol is prepared at the laboratories of E. C. DeWitt & Co., Chicago.

EASINESS OF DEATH.

The Last Moments Rarely Witness Real Physical Suffering.

It is as natural to die as it is to live—and as easy. Practically all the distress witnessed as taking place in the act of dying is the automatic tissue struggle against dissolution and is not recognized by the individual who seems to be acutely suffering. Occasionally in the delirium of fever, in uraemia and other intoxications, in certain of the brain degenerations witnessed in old age, there is an exhilaration or happy, peaceful calm that pervades the final scene.

I remember one dear lady, a Swedenborgian, who believed that after death one would follow the occupation that had been most congenial in the present life. This lady was especially fond of babies, fondling them and giving them personal care. When she came to die of a lingering, most painful illness, at the final moment a beatific smile pervaded her countenance, she beamed in gentle ecstasy and murmured: "Now I see the heavenly light. I see a baby."

Yet nature is not often so lavish with her kindness. Usually everything is dulled, blunted, so that at the border line between life and death it is often difficult, even impossible for a certain time, to say whether the soul has fled or not. It was long debated in medical circles whether or not there was a reliable test for death. Indeed, the tissues always survive the departure of the vital spark for a longer or shorter time. A muscle will contract to the electric current for a considerable time after the eye is dull, the intellect a closed book, the soul on its way. The hair grows palpably after death.

Of course there are some exceptions, and once in awhile—so I read and so I am told—some one dies really in conscious terror and protest, but I have not seen such a taking off, and I can state candidly that of the many scores of deaths that I have witnessed, in hospital and out, among the very poor and very wealthy, the young and the old, the pious and the blasphemous, some of which have been very painful to behold, in nearly all of them the major actor at the last moment was not conscious of what was going on. The occasional examples of conscious cheerfulness are the exception and still more so instances of terminal torture.—E. L. Keyes, M. D., in Harper's Magazine.

Five Stages of the Sword.

It may be said that the evolution of the sword has passed through five distinct stages. First came the epoch of pure carnage, when men seemed to hew and hack each other for the mere pleasure it gave them; next the era of legend, when stupendous and impossible feats of arms were said to have been accomplished. Then followed the feudal time, a curious mixture of bloodshed and religion, when the piety of the crusaders was proved by their ability to slash the equally bloodthirsty Saracens. Succeeding this period sprang the noble season of skillful fence as the sword, no longer a weapon of pure attack, became a mixed arm of offense and defense combined. Finally we see its fall, being today a mere military accoutrement, after attaining a glory that no one dreamed of during the days of its first rude and barbarous use.—Exchange.

Convincing.

The landed proprietor purchased a carriage horse to match one he already possessed. A day or two later he asked his groom what he thought of the new arrival.

"Weel, sir," said Sandy, "he's certainly a gran' lookin' horse, but he's a wee bit touchy i' the temper."

"What makes you say that, Sandy?"

"Weel, he disna seem to tak' kindly to onybody, sir. In fact, he disna like me to gang intae his box to feed him even."

think there's anything wrong with his temper."

"I didna either at first, sir," remarked Sandy, "but he kicked me clean out o' the box twice, an' when ye come to think about it that's sort o' convincin'!"

"Poor John."

A Philadelphian who was formerly a resident of a town in the north of Pennsylvania recently revisited his old home.

"What became of the Hoover family?" he asked an old friend.

"Oh," answered the latter, "Tom Hoover did very well—got to be an actor out west. Bill, the other brother, is something of an artist in New York, and Mary, the sister, is doing literary work. But John never amounted to much. It took all he could lay his hands on to support the others."—Lippincott's.

A Crack in a Piece of Metal.

A crack in a piece of metal is prevented from extending farther by the well known means of drilling a hole where the rent ends. But when the hole is not bored on just that spot the crack is apt to continue beyond the hole. A scientific journal recommends moistening the cracked surface with petroleum, then wiping it and then immediately rubbing it with chalk. The oil that has penetrated into the crack exudes and thus indicates with precision where the crack stops.
