DELIGHTFUL ENTERTAINMENT.

Dance in Honor of Miss Morrill, of Snow Hill.

Reported for The Reflector.

Messrs. Walter, Frank and Willie Wilson, entertained Friday evening in honor of Miss Morrill, of Snow Hill, by giving one of the most enjoyable Germans ever given here. The hall was beautifully decorated in the national colors, and the soft glow from the electric lights, together with the young ladies becomingly attired in evening gowns, made a very beautiful scene. The German began at 9:30 and lasted till 12 led by Walter Wilson, Jr. with Miss Morrill. The Paul Jones figure was danced and considered one of the most enjoyable of the number. The following couples participated:

- Miss Nell Skinner with A. M. Moseley.
 - Miss Helen Forbes with Willard Smith, of New York.

- Music by the local string orchestra.
- In the midst of the German Mr. Hooper, of New York, offered to give a very handsome cut glass bowl to the best waltzing couple on floor. The judges awarded the bowl to Miss Morrill and Mr. Blount, and same was presented by Harry Skinner, Jr. The German was over about 12:30 and the guests departed declaring themselves as having spent a most delightful evening.

STATE NEWS.

Happenings of Interest in North Carolina.

The Journal received a telephone message from Vanceboro yesterday telling of the tragic death of Mr. Samuel Sutton, a well-known white farmer who lived about eight miles from that town. Mr. Sutton, an elderly man, 80 years of age, was assisting in unloading a wagon of fodder, standing on top of the load, when he lost his balance, fell and broke his neck. Death ensued immediately. Much regret is expressed at his sudden and tragic end, as he was a man highly esteemed in his community.—Newbern Journal.

MISS WARD MOORE ENTERTAINS

In Honor of Her Guests, Misses Moore, and Kittrell.

Reported for The Reflector.

On Wednesday evening Miss Ward Moore charmingly entertained her many friends in honor of the Misses Moore, of Greensboro, and Miss Kittrell, of Winterville.

The guests were met at the door by the hostess, and were conducted by her to the punch bowl, which was presided over by Miss Eliza Moore, assisted by Willie Wilson.

At ten thirty o'clock, all assembled in the brilliantly lighted parlor, where various advertisements were pinned upon the back of each gentleman's coat, and he was required to converse upon the article advertised. This furnished merriment until cards were passed around, asking that each guest write a want notice, or an advertisement. Many witty and amusing ones were written, but those of Bascom Wilson and Miss Mary Moore were adjudged the two best, and each was awarded a beautiful prize, which was presented by Tom Dupree. Misses Kittrell and Eliza Moore were allowed to cut for Mr. Wilson's prize, and Miss Kittrell proved to be the lucky one.

The prizes being awarded all repaired to the spacious and artistically decorated dining room, where delicious refreshments were served by Misses Fleming, Lanier and Pittman.

This delightful part of the evening's pleasure being completed, the guests gradually strolled off in small groups. Some betook themselves to rustic seats in secluded spots of the spacious lawn, where no one would interrupt them in their tete-a-tetes with their fair partners; others amused themselves by dancing on the broad and roomy piazza, while still others seated themselves in the sitting room, where sweet music was rendered by various young ladies, and by a quartette of young gentlemen. Thus all enjoyed themselves until the striking of a clock reminded them that time had not delayed while they made merry but had already passed the midnight hour.

With many handshakes and good wishes the guests departed, all declaring that never had an evening been more enjoyably spent than this one at the hospitable home of Miss Moore.

I beg to announce that there is at present a vacancy from the first congressional district at the U. S. Military Academy at West Point. The examination will occur at Fort Slocum, New York, on the second Tuesday in January, 1910.

What a Water Beetle Can Do.

An entomologist of authority writes thus: "I selected a common black water beetle weighing 4.2 grains and found that he was able to carry a load of shot in a small bag, the whole weighing exactly 8 1/4 ounces, or exactly 858 times the weight of the beetle. If a man weighing 150 pounds could carry as much in proportion, he could shoulder a forty-five ton locomotive and then chain a train of railway carriages together and take the whole lot across the country at a five mile an hour gait."

SATURDAY, AUG. 28, 1909.

Just as was predicted, Charlotte entertained the veterans in fine style and gave them the time of their lives.

More people have read The Reflector this week than ever before. On Friday alone five thousand copies of the paper were sent out, and our advertisers get the benefit of this large circulation.

The farmers convention in Raleigh, which adjourned Friday, was a gathering of much interest. A number of prominent speakers were present and subjects of much importance to farmers were discussed. T. W. Blount, of Washington county, was elected president of the association.

Mr. Bryan declares that the next fight of Democracy must be along the lines of Cleveland's victory. He says the time for sham battles on the tariff question are past. The only real victory was when Mr. Cleveland attacked the principal of protection in 1892. No real fight can be made until a distinct line is drawn between the opposing forces on the tariff question.

The Washington Post says "Governor Glenn has a right smart case of liver complaint" But the Post is wrong. Governor Glenn's liver is healthy enough, as is evidenced by the way he is calling attention to the unhealthy evils existing throughout the country, especially in the larger cities. It is well enough to give serious consideration to what he says about these evils.

Another man who thought banks were not good enough to deposit his money in, is now repenting his folly. A Norfolk marketman had the habit of carrying his money in his pocket. This became known and a few nights ago while on his way home he was held up by two negroes and robbed of $678, all that he had. That man does not get as much sympathy in his loss as he might under different circumstances.

To make a prosperous community the people of a community should patronize each other and never go from home for what can be had at home. The business men have to depend upon the people of their community for trade, and they in turn should give their support to home enterprises. When they send off for what they need they have little room to complain if others do likewise. Keep every possible dollar at home and work for the upbuilding of your community.

Our Greenville, yours if you come.

An Act by General Assembly

Supplemental to a bill which has passed the senate and house of representatives, to prohibit conduct within the State or North Carolina which interferes with trade and commerce.

Whereas, an act of the General Assembly has passed the senate and house of representatives entitled as shown in the caption above: and whereas, provision is made in the said act for investigation and prosecution of the offences therein named; and whereas, in said act it is not provided that a person subpoenaed to testify shall be immune from prosecution for and by reason of matters disclosed by his or her testimony; and whereas, it may be difficult, if not impossible, to discover or punish for crime committed by violation of said act if witnesses are permitted to refuse to testify upon the ground that the testimony might tend to incriminate the witness: therefore, The General Assembly of North Carolina do enact:

Section 1. That no person who is subpoenaed and required by the State to testify under the provisions of the act passed at the present session of the General Assembly, entitled "An act to prohibit conduct within the State of North Carolina which interferes with trade," shall be prosecuted or convicted on account of matters disclosed by the testimony of such witness, nor shall the testimony of such witness be received or used in any prosecution against him or her.

Had Not Been Outside of his Yard Since 1863.

Basil Hayden, of Nelson county, Ky., who died the other day, had not stepped outside the picket fence bounding his yard since President Lincoln freed the slaves.

It was not resentment at this act that caused Hayden's seclusion, for neighborhood tradition is that he shut himself in a little room that day in 1863 after his sweetheart died. Thereafter he spoke to no one except an overseer, who took care of his property until a mistake in accounting made by a bank clerk exasperated the hermit.

After that, penuriosus having gripped him, he hid an estate, which will amount to nearly $100,000, about the house.

AN OLD TIME HANGING.

The Dark Day When "Old Jennie" Was Executed in Maryland.

"As dark as the day when old Jennie was hung" is one of the many quaint sayings that for generations has been used on the lower eastern shore of Maryland, but from the accounts that have been given by those who lived in old Jennie's day there never has been a day since that time as dark as the day on which she was executed for wholesale murder in the neighborhood in which she lived.

The old murderess was publicly hanged in 1815 in the old jail yard at Princess Anne, and all those who remembered that particular day have passed into the great beyond long ago. The murderess was a white woman, tall and angular, and it was said that she resembled what was popularly supposed to be a witch far more than she did the up to date woman of that day. In fact, local history records that she practiced witchcraft. No one ever knew where she came from, she having "dropped down" very mysteriously into the neighborhood, where she killed a family of four.

Old Jennie was not hanged on a scaffold. In those days murderers were executed with as little trouble and expense as possible. The wizen faced terror of all Somerset was placed in a cart drawn by two oxen and placed directly under a stout limb of an old oak tree which stood in the jail yard. The rope was fixed in rude fashion around her neck, amid the hurrahs of the crowd and the curses of the doomed woman, and when all was in readiness a bunch of fodder was placed ten paces from the oxen's heads, and they were given the word to start. Obeying the command, they made a bee line for the fodder and left old Jennie dangling at the end of the rope.

That day, it has been told thousands of times, was the darkest ever known in this section. Chickens remained on their roosts throughout the entire day, while candles by the score burned in the houses that the servants might see to do their work. The local scientists of that day were at a loss to account for the strange phenomenon, and the graphic descriptions which they gave of it and which were recorded years ago make interesting reading.

The darkest and most satisfactory of those days naturally thought that the end of time had come. A great many negroes declare today that the ghost of old Jennie may be seen stalking around on the edge of the woods near where she committed her crimes any time on a dark, cloudy night, and they are very careful not to encounter her.—Oriole (Md.) Cor. Chicago Inter Ocean.

WINGS THAT WERE FINS.

Evidence That Penguin's Pinions Were Once Used For Swimming.

Ornithological puzzles are the penguins, with their curiously shaped wings and odd, unbirdlike, upright carriage. The peculiarities of their wings suggest that the penguins are descendants of birds which used their wings rather than legs in the pursuit of prey under water, and as the struggle intensified between the competing individuals the most expert at this sort of swimming would get the most food and onst less successful rivals. The winners gained advantage over their neighbors in proportion as their wings improved as swimming organs and inversely and of necessity became less suited to perform the work of flight.

In all other birds the feathers, though shed annually, are more or less gradually displaced. But in the penguins the new feathers all start into being at the same time and thrust out the old feathers upon their tips so that these come away in great flakes. Whereas in all birds save penguins the new feathers as they thrust their way through the skin end in pencil-like points, formed by investing sheaths, in the penguins these sheaths are open at the tips and attached by their rims to the roots of the old feathers, and hence these are held to their successors until they have attained a sufficient length to insure protection against cold.

The curious device for retaining the warmth afforded by the old feathers until the new generation can fill their places is apparently due to the fact that penguins are natives of the antarctic regions, although some now inhabit tropical seas.—Chicago Tribune.

Short and to the Point

A coal merchant who was a man of few words once wrote to an agent the following brief letter:

Dear Jones—"":

In due time the agent's reply came as follows:

Dear Mr. Sinclair—"":

The coal dealer's letter, translated, said, "See my coal on," which is the semicolon expressed verbally.

The agent informed the dealer that the coal was shipped by saying simply, "Col-on."—Scrap Book.

Unless They Are Heiresses.

"It's hard to lose a beautiful daughter," said the wedding guest sympathetically.

"It's a blame sight harder to lose the homely ones," replied the old man who had several yet to go.—Boston Transcript.

A Case For Sympathy.

Two matrons of a certain western city, whose respective matrimonial ventures did not in the first instance prove altogether satisfactory, met at a woman's club one day, when the first matron remarked:

"Hattie, I met your 'ex,' dear old Tom, the day before yesterday. We talked much of you."

"Is that so?" asked the other matron. "Did he seem sorry when you told him of my second marriage?"

"Indeed he did and said so most frankly."

"Honest?"

"Honest! He said he was extremely sorry, though, he added, he didn't know the man personally."—Lippincott's.

Kidney Troubles Attack Greenville Men and Women, Old and Young.

Kidney ills seize young and old. Come quickly with little warning. Children suffer in their early years—Can't control the kidney secretions. Girls are languid, nervous, suffer pain.

Women worry, can't do daily work. Men have lame and aching backs. The cure for man, woman or child. Is to cure the cause—the kidneys. Doan's Kidney Pills cure sick kidneys—

Cure all forms of kidney suffering. Greenville testimony proves it.

Miss Susan Kalsul, 53 N. Fifth St., Greenville, N. C., says: "I derived great benefit from Doan's Kidney Pills and take pleasure in recommending them. For some time I suffered from dull, nagging backaches and had distressing pains through my loins. My kidneys were very weak and the frequent passages of the secretions caused me great annoyance. My back pained me severely and when first arising in the morning I was so lame and sore that I could scarcely get around. I at length procured Doan's Kidney Pills at Wooten's drug store and through their use I was entirely relieved of these troubles. The fact that my kidneys have given me no trouble since leads me to recommend Doan's Kidney Pills most highly."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.
