STATE NEWS.

Happenings of Interest in North Carolina.

Mr. Joe Fowler, who lives in Polk county, on this side of Green river, was awakened a week or so ago to find that there were two rattlesnakes fighting under his bed. He killed the snakes. One had six and the other seven rattles.

Seldom does a child pass through the experience that befell little Charles, the five-year-old son of Mr. W. B. Long, of Goose Creek township, who fell into a forty-five foot well and came out unhurt. His father heard him fall and quickly climbed to the bottom of the well and rescued him.—Morroe Journal.

Asheville, N. C., Sept. 9.—The squabble over the Biltmore post-office came to an end temporarily today when B. J. Luther, one of Congressman's Grant political henchmen, recommended by that gentleman, received official notification of his appointment to the office. This is a fulfillment of a campaign pledge. Thus Mrs. Fannie J. Reed, a widow, with several children to support, who has held office for one term, is kicked out by the congressman. She had many fine recommendations.

Fayetteville, Sept. 9.—Two carpenters, J. A. Johnson and another named Mitchell, were injured Wednesday in the collapsing of a water tank being built at the Holt Williamson cotton mill on Russell street in this city, Mitchell being so badly hurt that no hope is entertained for his recovery. The men were on a scaffold 80 feet high when one of them pulled a nail from timbers encircling the tank, which immediately collapsed, throwing the workmen out about forty feet to the ground.

The formal reprieve for the delay in execution of William Morrison, the negro rapist from Robeson county, was yesterday signed by Governor Kitchin, and the date of the electrocution set for Friday, the fifteenth of October. The negro was to have been electrocuted today, but the death chamber was not ready it was found impossible to execute him as designated in the law. The electric chair and switchboard, expected some time ago, from New York, has not yet arrived, but it is expected that before the month is over they will be in position at the State's prison.—Raleigh News & Observer, 10th.

Mr. A. Albritton, engineer at the American Tobacco Company's factory in this city, sustained injuries in a terrible accident yesterday afternoon from which he died a few minutes after he was found on the floor of the boiler room. It is not exactly clear as to what manner of accident occurred as Mr. Albritton was alone in the boiler room, but it is generally accepted that the heavy weight regulating the accumulator which controls the hydraulic power crushed him in its downward course. The body was found near the accumulator and the nature of the wounds bear out this theory. The skull was fractured near the base of the brain, his hand mashed and torn and parts of the body crushed.—Kinston Free Press, 9th.

There have been more barns burned around Roxboro this season while curing tobacco than we have known before in one

HEALTH IN THE STATE.

Articles and Statistics in August Bulletin State Board of Health.

The bulletin of the North Carolina Board of Health for August has just been issued, and it contains a number of valuable articles. In an article on "The Antitoxin Law" it is shown that only twenty-one counties and three towns have taken advantage of the act. County commissioners and boards of aldermen who agree to use antitoxin in indigent cases of diphtheria can secure the antitoxin at one-third the regular cost.

In the review of diseases for July, with eighty-eight counties reporting, smallpox is reported in eighteen, measles in nine, whooping cough in thirty-three, diphtheria in twenty-seven, typhoid fever in eighty-one, pneumonia in twenty-three, and two deaths from pellagra in Richmond county. No diseases were reported from Buncombe, Chowan and Wilson and no reports were received from Anson, Clay, Dare, Moore, Orange, Perquimans, Rutherford, Rockingham, Stanly and Stokes.

In the mortuary report for July from an aggregate population of 141,100 white, 91,200 colored, total 232,200, the aggregate deaths reported were 148 white, 169 colored, total 317, a temporary annual death rate per 1,000 of 15.4 white, 22.2 colored, total 16.3. As compared with other diseases consumption caused the most deaths, 20 white and 24 colored, next being diarrheal diseases, 14 white and 27 colored.—News & Observer.

New North Carolina Industries.

For the week ending Sept. 8th the Chattanooga Tradesman reports the following new industries established in North Carolina:

Brevard—$50,000 flume and lumber company.
Charlotte—$25,000 feed and grain company.
Wilmington—$125,000 aeroplane company.
Raleigh—Woodworking plant.
Smithfield—Cotton mill.
Marion—$50,000 realty company.
Concord—$10,000 drug company.
Linden—$50,000 lumber company.
Tarboro—$20,000 drug company.

Dog Followed Him Home.

Mr. H. W. Martin, who lives about seven miles from town and one mile from Staton's mill, was here a few nights ago attending a lodge meeting. When he went home somebody's little black dog followed him and refused to be driven back. Mr. Martin says the owner can find the dog at his home.

Fire in the Country.

A few days ago Quinn Cox, near Haddock's Cross Roads, lost his house and contents by fire. A quantity of tobacco packed in one room of the house was also destroyed.

season. Last week the following people living near town lost one each: Messrs. C. B. Brooks, Jim Lea, John Garrett, and Sam Bailey, colored. Mr. John S. Coleman, of Moriah, was in town last Monday and dropped in to see the editor. He informed us that he had lost two barns this season while curing tobacco.—Roxboro Courier.

Seattle to Panama

A Mexican newspaper clipping forwarded to the Department of Commerce and Labor, by Consul General Arnold Shanklin, tells of the proposed railway which plans to run Pullman cars from Seattle to Panama. It is to be part of the Southern Pacific Railway system, which is now being pushed on to Guadalajara, and a concession has been secured for a line from Acapulco to Salina Cruz, the Pacific port terminal of the Tehuantepec Railway. Mr. Shanklin states that he made inquiries and was advised by the newspaper making the announcement that the report came to them officially. This is but a link in the proposed two-Americas railroad, which was unsuccessfully promoted by the late Hinton Rowan Helper. It was the dream of his life, but the project was on such a stupendous scale that it was difficult to enlist the attention of capitalists. Some day this great railroad line will be completed on the exact plans advocated by Mr. Helper.—Charlotte Chronicle.

Pythian Memorial Service.

Tar River Lodge No. 93, K. of P., will observe annual memorial service of the order next Sunday, 11th. The members will meet in their hall at 10:30 a. m., and proceed in a body to St. Paul's Episcopal church to attend the 11 o'clock service. The memorial sermon will be delivered by Rev. B. F. Huske.

Mr. A. D. Hill Dead.

Mr. A. D. Hill, of Farmville, died Thursday afternoon. He was about 76 years old, and a good citizen. He was for a long time postmaster at Farmville, giving up the position because of poor health.

TODD'S VAUDEVILLE SHOW.

Ideal Arrangement for Convenience of the Audience.

One thing that has not been mentioned about the Todd vaudeville show playing here under tent this week, is the splendid arrangement Mr. Todd has made for the comfort and convenience of his patrons. One feature entirely different from any other tented attraction that has visited Greenville, is that while the tent is large, having seating for a thousand people, there is no centre pole in it. The top of the tent is supported by girders resting on a tier of poles on either side, and by this means there is no obstruction to the view from any portion of the tent. The reserved seats are comfortable folding chairs arranged on elevated platforms one above another, and in front of these next to the arena are several boxes filled with chairs enclosed with rope nets. The arena is oblong, and at one end is a large stage with fine scenery. The entire arrangement is perfect for the performance to be seen from all parts of the tent.

School Children Number 14,000,000.

If the entire school army of students in the United States were to be mustered as an educational display, it would represent probably 14,000,000 persons, of whom about 92 per cent. are white. The exact number, according to the twelfth census June 1, 1900, was 13,367,147. Until the thirteenth census of the United States is issued, in 1910, there can be no definite estimate of the increase in numbers.

The school army of the United States is the juvenile light infantry of internal progress. It does not include the flying squadrons that merge into the active battle of life from the numerous private and State universities, to say nothing of private schools.

The Trick of a Swapper.

Davidson horse traders may find interest in a story told by The Chatham Record, which is thusly: A well-known farmer of Chatham attended the recent term of court, and enduring of his stay swapped his mule for a horse and gave $20 to boot. The canny trader took the mule aside and trimmed him up, furbishing him up, and improved his appearance to such an extent that his late owner did not recognize him. Seeing the mule, he took a fancy to him, and gave the trader $10 boot between the mule and the horse. Thus he paid out $30 in money and carried the same mule back home. Both he and the mule were trimmed.—Lexington Dispatch.

Be Brief, Life is Short

Long visits, long stories, long exhortations and long prayers seldom profit those who have to do with them. Moments are precious. Learn to condense, abridge and intensify. We can endure many an ill if it is soon over, while pleasure grows insipid, and man intolerable, if they are protracted beyond the limits of reason and convenience. Learn to be short. Lop off branches; stick to main facts in your case. If you pray ask what you would receive and get through; if you speak tell your message and hold your peace. Boil down two words into one, and three into two. Always learn to be brief.—King's Mountain Herald.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL BRIEFS.

AT ST. PAUL'S CHURCH.

Archdeacon Webber, of Boston, to Hold Mission in October.

The Ven. Percy C. Webber, of Boston, Mass., better known as Archdeacon Webber, will come to our city shortly to hold a mission in the Episcopal church. Archdeacon Webber has held a great many missions in our State, and so is already widely known in Eastern Carolina. Several years ago he was in Tarboro, and recently he has been to Wilson, Wilmington, Elizabeth City, Scotland Neck and New Bern.

Archdeacon Webber will arrive Thursday, Oct. 1st, on the evening train from Raleigh and will have his first service that night. From then on, he will hold regular services each day and night until Oct. 7th. The last service will be on Thursday morning, after which Archdeacon Webber leaves, to reach Cincinnati for the following Sunday. All people are most cordially invited to all services.

Last of the Season.

There will be an excursion from Walsenberg to Norfolk on Wednesday Sept. 22, returning Sept. 23. Round trip $2.25. It will make connections with A. C. L.

See large circulars for schedule rates.

College Burned.

Columbia S. C., Sept. 9.—Fire at 2:30 o'clock this morning totally destroyed Columbia College, built by popular subscription from Methodists all over this State. The plant was valued at $250,000, and was insured for $75,000 with $10,000 more on equipment.

Robber Captured.

The one-legged negro, John Staton, who helped to rob the express office at Ayden last week, was captured in Petersburg and officers passed through with him today, taking him to Ayden for preliminary trial. By the time this is read he may be in jail with the other two.

FRIDAY, SEP. 10, 1909.

Those ten oil inspectors who were afraid their job was gone, now feel better over it.

The Supreme court has decided that the half million bond issue authorized by the last legislature is valid.

There is so much contention over it, The Reflector will refuse to take the North Pole on subscription account.

It looks like there is going to be such a squabble over the discovery of the North Pole as to disgust the people with the whole thing.

The Wilmington Star calls them "the polar rivals." Polar bears would have been as well, judging from the growling that is going on.

Edward H. Harriman, the greatest railroad magnate the world has ever known, died Thursday afternoon at Arden, N. Y. For some weeks he had been in a serious physical condition, and his death is not a surprise to the country.

Peary weakens his own contention for first honors in discovering the North Pole by his readiness to declare that Cook is a fake. On the other hand Cook accords to Peary all the credit that is due him. Quite a difference in the attitude of the two men, and if either of them is a fake we are inclined to believe his name is Peary.

A New York man has a record for stealing that may be without parallel in criminal courts. He is 73 years old, and in the course of his career has been given eighty-three prison sentences. His last sentence was one year in prison and a fine of $500 for stealing goods from a department store. He greeted the sentence with a cheerful nod of the head. Seemed entirely used to it.

Those who anticipated that everything would stop with the passing of Harriman, were doubtless surprised to find the world going on as usual this morning. The fact is in these times there is no man whom the world misses much when he is gone. There may be a pause long enough to express a regret or cast a flower on the grave, but that is about all. Man is soon forgotten when his days have ended.

Spelling.

In the past week The Chronicle has read the course of study adopted by some of the graded schools in the State. In one of these schools, the Newton graded, Webster's speller is required for the third, fourth, fifth and sixth grades—four out of eight grades. In another school, Prof. Bruce Craven's, spelling is required in every grade. In some of these schools more attention is paid to the classics than to spelling. The pupils are required to read up on such things as Ruskin's King of Golden River, Hiawatha, Legend of Sleepy Hollow, Miles Standish, Enoch Arden and the like, while they cannot correctly spell 75 per cent. of the words in ordinary every day use, to say nothing of words that send good spellers to the dictionary. Spelling should be taught in every grade and taught systematically at that. Prof Craven's idea about it is right and we hope he has prescribed the old Blue Back.

The spelling of some of the modern graded school products would make an old-time pedagogue feel like wearing out a bunch of hickories on the class. Newspaper editors may have observed that as a general thing the correspondence sent them by contributors of mature years are characterized by correct spelling. That coming from the younger generation generally needs doctoring. The art of spelling is too much neglected in the educational system of the present day.—Charlotte Chronicle.

A HARD STRUGGLE.

Many a Greenville Citizen Finds the Struggle Hard.

With a back constantly aching. With distressing urinary disorders. Daily existence is but a struggle. No need to keep it up. Doan's Kidney Pills will cure you. One hundred thousand people endorse this claim. Here is one case:
 Mrs. Joseph Fly, Jr., Rose Street, Rocky Mount, N. C., says: "I am pleased to testify in favor of Doan's Kidney Pills, as the results I obtained from their use proved them to be a remedy of great merit. I suffered considerably from dull, nagging back-aches and sharp pains across my loins. If I stooped, lifted or made a quick movement, the twinges were more noticeable and often it was hard for me to perform my household duties. I always felt tired and languid and was devoid of energy or ambition. Believing that the trouble arose from my kidneys, I started using Doan's Kidney Pills. They helped me at once and further use disposed of the pains in my back, regulated the passages of the kidney secretions and gave me renewed strength. I cannot say too much in favor of Doan's Kidney Pills."
 For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.
 Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

THE TEASEL.

A Queer Plant With Water Traps For Its Insect Victims.

Among common plants there are few more remarkable than the teasel. There is little doubt, says a well informed natural history contributor to the London Chronicle, that the teasel is as much a flesh eating organism as any spider that ever spun a web.

Moreover, its method of securing its victims, though quite as ingenious as that of the spider, is much more comprehensive as well as more efficacious. Not only does this extraordinary plant capture all species of flies and gnats, great or small, but caterpillars, slugs, wood lice and the like are all frequent victims.

How this is brought about forms one of the most wonderful incidents in nature's fascinating story of the year. The spider weaves her net of the finest silk; the teasel makes her snare out of dewdrops. The plant grows up straight as a church spire, throwing out its leaves in pairs at intervals up the juicy green stem. The twin leaves unite at their base to form a deep cup, and the leaves are so contrived that the moisture precipitated on them runs down into this reservoir.

A well developed plant will thus catch and hold in four or five of these water traps a full half pint of liquid, and the heat of the sun appears to evaporate so little of it that the cups will be brimming even at the close of a hot June day. The smooth, steep leaves all lead down into these pits, and their gradient gets sharper as the water is approached.

Thus the teasel's victims are made to "walk the plank" to their death, and once in the water there is no hope of return. They soon drown, and every teasel well has at its bottom a layer of slime formed by their disintegrated bodies.

It is of course difficult to prove that this deposit is absorbed by the plant as nutriment, but careful dissection will show at the base of each cup a ring of apertures—sink holes, in fact—which lead into the substance of the stem and the presence of which affords little room for doubt on the matter.

DRIVING A NAIL.

More to It Than Simply Hammering It Into the Wood.

One who thinks that the driving of a nail consists simply in getting the whole length of it out of sight has little conception of the real nature of the operation, says the Scientific American. A nail driven by an expert will often hold several times as much as one ill driven, while, too, it is often made to draw the parts into place. If you have ever watched a mechanic driving nails you have doubtless noted that he rarely drives one at right angles with the face of the work. There is a reason for this. Suppose that he is nailing the "sheeting" on the frame of a building and desires to draw the board down tightly against the one below it. He points the nail downward, and a few well considered blows at the last produce the desired effect. If the board is bent edgewise, so that much force is required, probably he will start the nail in the upper edge, pointing very sharply downward. Again, two nails driven in a board at different angles will hold it in place much more firmly than the same nails would if they were driven at right angles with the face of the board.

Did you ever notice that in driving a nail in very hard wood one man will do it successfully, while another succeeds only in doubling the nail up before the point has fairly entered the wood? The difference lies in the fact that the expert strikes the nail fairly and not too hard, "coaxing" it in, while the other strikes too hard and with indirection. It may be properly mentioned right here that in driving a nail into very hard wood it is usually profitable to dip the end in oil or grease. This will not sensibly interfere with the holding qualities of the nail, while it will be found to very materially facilitate its driving.

Incompatible.

Towne—Well, well, the idea of his marrying Miss Golden? Why, he's a dyspeptic. Browne—What has that to do with it? She's got plenty of money, and so—Towne—That's just it. She'll never agree with him; she's too rich.—Catholic Standard and Times.

It Had a Charm.

"I do miss Mrs. Jones. She told me all the news of the parish."
"Oh, that was only gossip—no truth in it."
"Well, there, I liked to 'ear it. Truth or lies, 'twas all news to me."
Punch.

"Selected Self Made This Ink."
A Chinese newspaper contains the following advertisement of a local ink manufacturer: "At the shop Tae Shing ('Prosperous in the extreme'), very good ink. Fine! fine! Ancient shop, great grandfather, grandfather, father, very hard; picked with care, selected self made this ink. Fine and hard, with attention. The ink is heavy; so is gold. The eyes of the dragon glitter and dazzle; so does this ink. No one makes like it."—Shanghai Courier.

Went Him One Better.
Several of the scholars had returned to Sunday school after being absent some weeks on account of illness. "I had the mumps," said one. "So did I," said another. The superintendent heard them and, addressing a curly headed boy, said: "Well, Charlie, you were absent too. What did you have?"
Charlie's face flushed. He thought a moment and then sang out in high treble, "I had a little brother!"—Louisville Times.

Very Close.
Warden—How's the campaign going up your way? Sort of a close contest? Sellers (gloomily)—Closest I ever saw. Neither side is giving up a blamed cent.—Buffalo Courier.
