SAVING THE RURAL SOUTH.

Hope of South is in Having Great Body of Prosperous White Farmers.

Raleigh, N. C., Dec. 1.—The Progressive Farmer, the most largely circulated farm weekly in the South, prints a notable article this week urging ambitious white tenant farmers to buy land now, and declaring that the whole South must stand together to encourage the development of a class of prosperous small white farmers as the backbone of the country. The big plantations, it declares, hold back progress. The article says:

"We hope we have seen about the last of Southern white farmers leaving the farm to take work in cotton mills. We are anxious to see the manufacturing enterprises of the South build up, but we are more anxious to see the farm lands of the South held by prosperous small white farmers, and to see these small white farmers have their part in the great agricultural awakening now going on.

"Someone has wisely said that in all ages and all countries the men of the classes who own the land sooner or later make themselves the aristocracy of that country. We have not come to this condition so rapidly in America as in other countries, because of the abundance of cheap land resulting from the newness of the settlement and the sparseness of population as yet; but in the long run the history of other countries must be repeated here.

"These thoughts came very forcibly to mind as we rode through a cotton mill village the other day and saw its hundreds of white employees—men, women and children—who have left the farm to become the homeless hirelings of the cotton manufacturers. The negroes, finding no place in manufacturing for them, are left on the farm and are becoming land-holders in rapidly increasing numbers. Prof. W. E. DuBois, a prominent Georgia negro educator, has just published a map showing that since 1900 Georgia negroes have increased land-holdings from 850,000 to 1,500,000 acres, and now own within the State of Georgia alone an area larger than the entire State of Delaware.

"Not only this, but the negro children are going to school and developing healthy bodies in the open air and healthy surroundings of country life instead of being shut up in the cotton mill, over-worked, under-educated, and poorly developed physically,—as the tendency must be in all cotton mills so long as the Legislatures of the South are too subservient to the less humane mill owners to enact needed laws of restricting child labor in the mills—the less humane mill owners, we say, because there are many thoughtful and far-seeing mill owners who heartily favor stricter regulations.

"Remember, we have no ill will toward the cotton manufacturers; we have no ill will toward the negro. We do realize very strongly, however, that the safety of the South depends upon the presence of a large white rural population. The drift to the towns and the cotton mills not only affects this directly, but also indirectly, because when once the population of a community becomes predominantly negro, the small number of white people left may be forced to move out in order to find sufficient numbers for a society of their own.

"It was a wise saying of James Oliver's, "Happy is the land that is tilled by the man who owns it," and the great need of the South today is to encourage the holding of small farms by white farmers. We repeat, that we say this in no ill will to the negro—in fact, it should not be necessary for us to say this, because no one else in the South has preached more persistently than we the doctrine that it is the intelligent, prosperous negro who helps, and the ignorant, poverty breeding negro who makes us all poorer,—but we say this for the good of white and black alike because the best interests of both races demand that the rural South maintain its large white population. Unless this is done the negro himself will not progress as rapidly as he will with white guidance, and unless this is done, the cities of the South must also inevitably go backward.

"We urge every white tenant farmer, and especially every white man who for any reason is thinking of becoming somebody's hired man in town instead of owning his home in the country, to buy land. The great plantations of the South, for the good of our section as a whole, must be broken up. We must encourage the spirit of home-owning, with every man sitting under his own vine, and fig tree, and we must especially encourage the development of a great class of small white farmers.

"The saving of the rural South to the white race is one of the most important problems now before the people of the cotton belt.

"In this connection, there is another thing that ought to be mentioned, and that is the problem of immigration. The Farmers' Union and other farmers' organizations are right in protesting against the coming of large numbers of Italians, Russians, Hungarians, Poles, etc. This would only make a bad matter worse, and complicate matters still further. What would help, however, is the coming of a large number of wide awake northern and western farmers, buying small farms among us and making their farms object lessons in stock raising and other lines of diversified agriculture. These northern and western farmers will also set a good example for our southern people in that they are ready to do any and all kinds of work with their own hands, entirely independent of hired labor. As a southerner reared on the farm and a descendant of generations of southern farmers, we must confess the need of our people at this point, and the help that we would get here from an increased number of wide-awake western settlers besides the aid they would render in keeping up the balance of population between the two races in the South and preventing the predominance of a colored farming population, which, we repeat, would be undesirable for both whites and blacks and ruinous to our section as a whole."

Postoffice Receipts Growing.
Postmaster R. C. Flanagan informs us that the receipts of the Greenville postoffice for the month of November were $896.41. For the same month of last year the amount was $663.07, making an increase for last month of $233.34. This increase of postoffice receipts is a good indication of the growth of business of the town, and brings us nearer to the establishment of free city delivery.

A. & M. COLLEGE NOTES.

West Raleigh, Nov. 30, 1909.—Thanksgiving day ended the football season. Our team was defeated by a score 18 to 5 in the game with V. P. I., which was the only defeat of the season. While we had not been confident of victory, the big score was an unpleasant surprise to the three hundred students and thousands of "Tar Heels" who were in Norfolk to witness the game. Already we are planning to defeat the V. P. I. boys next year, when the game will probably be played on North Carolina soil.

The class championship football games will be played this week. Much rivalry exists between the several teams which are practicing every spare moment.

The final examination will begin Dec. 13, the schedule having been already published. The past week was a busy one as the monthly preliminaries were then on. The boys study a great deal in order that they make an average of above ninety thereby getting exempt from examinations at the end of the term. This method is very conducive to more thorough work throughout the session.

Dr. Roberts and Prof. Michels left last week for Chicago. They are members of the agricultural faculty and will attend the great International live stock shows while away. A great need of the South is more and better live stock similar to those found in the fertile sections of the West. The new barns and dormitories are nearing completion. The dormitory is the most beautiful one on the campus and adds much to the general attractiveness of the grounds. Those who are crowded with three in a room have been anxiously awaiting the completion of this building.

The Biological club will give its annual reception to the biological classes of the female colleges of Raleigh Saturday night. The various committees are quite busy with their preparations.

Dr. Hill was away much of last week in the interest of the college. It seems that the people are growing more and more anxious to learn about industrial education. Pitt county schools should arrange to get President Hill as a speaker sometime during the year, if possible.

Thus far there has been no hazing and most probably there will be none. It is a past issue here. No one need fear it at old A. & M.

Many Thanks
Brother Whichard is getting up an anniversary holiday edition of The Greenville Reflector. It will go into many homes and be a fine advertising sheet as well as being filled with choice items setting forth the wonderful advancements made in Pitt county and its several prosperous towns. The people of the county will do well to help make the paper a grand success for old Pitt.—Ayden Baptist.

Too Cold for Standing Out.
A speiler doing rapid calculation and selling arithmetics, held a crowd on Five Points Wednesday night. Some of them may soon be figuring out the cost of getting rid of the cold they caught while standing out in the chilly air.

STATE NEWS.

Happenings of Interest in North Carolina.

Durham, N. C., Dec. 1.—A report reached here this morning shortly before noon declaring that old man J. A. Kimball, who lived alone in his home, had been murdered about fifteen miles from Durham.

Salisbury, Dec. 1.—Millis Watson, a ten-year old son of Mr. William Watson, of Woodleaf, Rowan county, was killed in a runaway accident between Woodleaf and Salisbury last night and Mr. Watson was himself badly injured in the same accident. A team driven by the two took fright at an automobile and dashed off, turning the vehicle over with the occupants.

Greensboro, N. C., Dec. 1.—Without any previous intimation and with no earthly motive other than a slight remonstrance from a member of her family about extravagant indulgences, Ethel Norman, seventeen-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Norman, passed her mother in the hall at 5:30 and went directly to her room and thirty minutes later pressed a revolver to her heart, the bullet passing through the center of her heart and death resulting instantly.

Wadsworth, Dec. 1.—J. A. Dunlap, a prominent citizen of the county, residing at Cedar Hill, was instantly killed by fast freight of the Seaboard Air Line this afternoon. Mr. Dunlap left town to go home and drove on the crossing just ahead of the train and was struck. The buggy was demolished, but the horse was uninjured. He leaves a large family.

Some people do holiday shopping after the same manner of paying their debts—put it off as long as they can.

It has been a remarkably dry fall, and if the old saying that it must even up before winter is through holds good, there will likely be much rain after Christmas.

If the idea of the St. Louis preacher, who said sermons should be two hours long, were to become general, the preachers would have many empty pews to talk to.

Some other markets may get ahead of Greenville in the number of pounds of tobacco sold, but we have yet to see a report of one that comes up to the average price paid here.

A seat on the New York stock exchange has just been sold for $96,000, the highest price ever reached for such a privilege. It costs something to get on the inside of the big gambling ring.

From present indications, when Greenville finishes the work on Evans street from Five Points southward it is going to be another good object lesson of proper grading and sand-clay road building.

That Uncle Sam is mad with the president of Nicaragua can be judged from the fact that Secretary Knox has sent the Nicaraguan minister at Washington his passport, which is a polite way of telling him his presence is no longer desirable.

The sheriff of Harnett county gets the honor of being the first this year to make full settlement with the State treasurer for county taxes due to the State. Wallack on the Stage.
The late Lester Wallack once told a story of his still more famous father, James W., that as either an actor or a manager he could never tolerate the ballet, even where it was seemingly necessary according to custom as part of an entertainment or in the opera. One day there came to him a friend, a man about town, who said, "My dear Wallack, it is very curious that you do not see the beauties of imagination shown by the poses of the ballet." Going on in this strain, the visitor at last wore out the patience of the actor-manager, who replied: "Look here, it is bad enough to stand these absurdities in an opera; but, though I can comprehend people singing their joys, I am hanged if I can their dancing their griefs."

The Judge's Advice.
In sentencing a forger of banknotes to death an English judge said, "I can hold out no hope to you for mercy here, and I must urge you to make preparation for another world, where I hope you may obtain that mercy which a due regard to the credit of our paper currency forbids you to hope for here."

Family Connection a la Mode.
"Well, yes; we are related in a way."
"By marriage?"
"Yes. My first wife's third husband is married to his wife's second husband's fourth partner in matrimony."

AN EVENING SPENT

With the most versatile pianists, could not possibly bring you more enjoyment than you, yourself could derive from either

The Lindeman Player Piano,
The Milton,
The Bjure Bros.
Or Lester Player Pianos,

In fact, with either of these Player Pianos as a companion, you have the advantage of playing the music yourself—the music you best like, and playing it in that rich, full manner, bringing out the delicate beauties of the melody which even many skilled pianists fail to develop, and this, possible with the veriest novice, without your knowing one note from another.

We will take your deaf and dumb piano in exchange.
