WINTERVILLE ITEMS.

Newsp Notes From Our Hustling Neighbor.

Winterville, N. C. Dec. 18.

We wonder, as Christmas approaches, how many homes will be made sad on account of whiskey this Christmas; how many young men will take their first drink and become drunkards, and then fill drunkards' graves; and how many orphans could be cared for if the money spent for whiskey were used to support the orphans.

Rev. Mr. Snow was here Wednesday.

D. S. Rollins spent Thursday night here visiting his sister, Mrs. M. G. Bryan.

Mrs. Novella Bunting Staton, of Bethel, is visiting Miss Vivian Roberson this week.

Miss Belva Dixon was in town Friday.

Zeno Lyon, of Greene county, was here yesterday.

F. V. Johnston, of Greenville, was in town yesterday.

Rev. T. H. King returned from Wadesboro a few days ago, where he attended the Baptist State convention. He reports a fine convention, and a good time in general.

The moving picture show in the W. H. S. auditorium Thursday night was very good.

Services in the Baptist church tomorrow. (3rd Sunday.)

Herod Hooks, of Goldsboro, came in Friday to spend Christmas with relatives here.

O. W. Rollins and Eugene Cannon attended a basket party at Black Jack last night.

Mrs. John Haddock and sister, Miss Alma Cannon, were in town yesterday.

Mrs. B. R. Whitehurst, of Bethel, is visiting her aunt, Mrs. M. G. Bryan, this week.

The lecture made by Miss Elizabeth Moore, last Wednesday night, in the Baptist church was one of the best we have ever heard. If all who are in favor of temperance were as influential as she, it would not be long till we would have a temperance country. Miss Moore made four lectures while in our town, one Tuesday night in the Baptist church, one Wednesday morning at the opening exercise of Winterville High school, one Wednesday afternoon at the Mothers' meeting, and one Wednesday night in the Baptist church. We think the result of those lectures will be the organization of one or more temperance unions in our town.

Rev. T. H. King has lately received two very flattering calls, one from Smithfield and the other from Selma. The churches of both these places are very strong. It is uncertain as yet, whether he will accept the call or not. We hope he will decline and preach for us another year, and even longer. The church here under his excellent ministry has grown wonderfully, both in number and in purity.

Red Cross Stamps.

Thomasville, N. C., Dec. 17.—Every club, every society, every lodge, every school, every official, every teacher, every minister, every doctor and all other interested persons in the "Old North State" are invited to write to Dr. C. A. Julian, of Thomasville, N. C., offering to help sell the Christmas stamps. These are the little stamps which carry a message of Christmas joy, each one of which contributes a cent towards fighting the chief cause of sorrow in all of this State. Every cent paid for a Christmas stamp, helps to fight consumption in North Carolina.

ORPHEAN MUSICAL CLUB.

In the Opera House Wednesday Night, 22nd.

That ever popular male quartette has one of its best representatives in the Orphean Musical Club which, after entertaining large audiences in a number of cities, is coming South for the eight successive season, appearing here on the 22nd under the auspices of the End of the Century Club.

Though there will be a variety of other enjoyable features, the vocal quartette work will be the distinctive part of the fine program to be rendered. The young men composing the club are A. H. Richardson, first tenor, cartoonist and trombone soloist; E. H. Dennis, second tenor, manager, and mellophone; E. W. Crumbaker, baritone, accompanist, impersonator and cornet; and V. F. Henry, basso, musical director, and baritone horn. Each was picked for quality of voice and skill in entertainment, and the group as a whole constitutes one of the most capable quartettes of its kind in the country. Some of the old favorite songs will be rendered and in a manner that will give them a new hold, if they needed one.

In addition there will be cartoon work by a remarkably rapid sketch-artist, impersonations, readings, and instrumental musical selections including a brass quartette, consisting of trombone, cornet, baritone horn, and mellophone. For variety and high class of entertainment the concert will be one of the best ever seen here.

AT THE CHURCHES

Where You Can Worship Tomorrow in Greenville.

An Attractive Window.

About the most attractive show window along the street is at the store of Baker & Hart. Over a handsome display of chafing dishes, etc., is a large ferris wheel decorated in holiday colors. The wheel was made by E. E. Griffin, one of the salesmen in the store, and it is run by the small electric engine made by R. N. Zahnizer. Hundreds of people have stopped to look at it.

LESS THAN A WEEK.

Contest Will Close 24th—Candidates are Busy Getting Votes.

In less than a week somebody is going to be the happiest person in Pitt county over the possession of a beautiful piano as a Christmas gift from The Reflector. This handsome prize will go to the one having the largest number of votes in the popularity contest which closes exactly at noon on Friday, 24th. Interest in the contest is high, and increases every day as the contest draws nearer to the end. Nearly every subscriber to The Reflector who calls at the office to pay is voting for his favorite among the candidates, and the candidates are themselves doing active work securing votes. Some of them are working earnestly and their friends are helping them. There is yet no telling how the contest is going to end or what surprises will develop on the last day. We are not giving a list of the votes today, as there is no material change in the office list since it was published Thursday. Some of the candidates have a large number of votes which they are holding, and we want to caution them against waiting too late to hand them in. No votes will be received after 12 o'clock on the 24th.

The prize piano is on exhibition at the music store of Fineman & White.

Death Under Unusual Circumstances

Ed Brinkley, a colored man who lived near Falkland, died a few days ago under very unusual circumstances. For some time he had been afflicted with organic heart trouble, and his physician had cautioned him about going where there was excitement or leaving home alone. A few days ago Ed got in his buggy and drove to Falkland, did some shopping and called on his physician to pay up his bill. While there he told the doctor how much good had been done him, and said he felt better than for any time in six months. Ed got in his buggy to return home. After going about 50 yards his horse stopped, but those who saw it thought nothing of it at first, as the man was sitting perfectly upright in his buggy. After a while, as the horse kept standing there, parties went to the buggy and found the man dead.

Entertainment at Forbes' School House

On Monday night next, Dec. 20th, there will be an entertainment at the Forbes school house near the O. L. Joyner place, beginning promptly at 8 o'clock. The operetta (in 3 acts) "While Mortals Sleep" will be presented. Admission will be 15 cents and the proceeds are to be applied on payment of a piano which the school has purchased. Those who have attended entertainments at this school house before know what a treat there is in store for them this time. We trust that the people of the community and of Greenville will patronize liberally this entertainment, as it will certainly be enjoyable and the teachers will be able to liquidate the debt on the piano.

What Advertisers Offer.

Attention is called to the ad. of the Bank of Greenville on second page—$2.50 gold pieces for Christmas presents. Also C. E. Bradley—Holiday gifts in jewelry. And J. R. & J. G. Moyer on fourth page—attractive line for holidays.

King Leopold, the aged ruler of Belgium, died Thursday.

Be careful how you order eggs when you pick up a bill of fare. They come on the high class now.

People are already getting pleasure out of the preparation they are making for Christmas.

Some of the papers want to know "when a man is drunk?" With many of them it will be Christmas.

One of the fellows who got off the fake about Dr. Cook hiring him to write his North Pole report, has admitted that he lied.

There are even school teachers (who ought to know better) in Pitt county who send articles for publication in The Reflector, and fail to sign their names. All such communications find their way to the waste basket, as nothing is printed unless we know who sends it.

A Land Without Sunday Undesirable.

There seems to be growing a stronger sentiment against breaking the Sabbath, and while we don't aim to preach, we call attention to the fact the observance of Sunday is a matter of vast importance to any people, because trouble always follows that town, county, State or nation that does not give heed to the Lord's Day. There isn't much Sunday in the United States, and we have heard it said that west of the Mississippi there isn't any at all. It is also claimed that there is more respect for the day in the South than in any other section of the Union. However these things may be, Sunday is Sunday and it ought to be observed. Not by blue laws that rile folks and do little or no good and perhaps much harm, but by proper action on the part of the people. A land without Sunday does not appeal to us as a desirable place to live in. If people do not care for the seventh day and turn it into a day of frolic, they do not care for anything else that is worth while. The movement of which we see evidences here and there having for its object a more profound respect for the Sabbath, has our most cordial support.—Lexington Dispatch.

What About It?

The Wilmington Star very correctly says: "Judge O. H. Allen has stirred Kinston and Lenoir county by charging the lax conditions with respect to the enforcement of the prohibition laws to the police and county officers. As we have before remarked, the enforcement of this law is possible notwithstanding the difficulties in the way of procuring proper evidence. The real reason of non-enforcement, however, is with the people, and, considering the prohibition ma-

Majority the equasion may be further reduced to place the responsibility on the prohibitionists. It is the men who made the prohibition law by their votes who should make it the practice in Kinston and all other communities."

The officials do not hesitate to say that in their efforts to enforce the law they are not backed up by a vigorous public sentiment. In other words, they put it up to us. What are you going to do about it?—Kinston Free Press.

Some people like to wander in the cemetery of their past errors, to re-read the epitaphs, and to spend hours in mourning over the grave of a wrong. This is a new mistake that does not antidote its predecessor. The remorse that paralyzes hope, corrodes purpose, and deadens energy is only a sort of indigestion of the soul which cannot assimilate an act. It is cowardly, selfish to surrender to the dominance of the past.—Merchants Journal.
