SITUATION SOMEWHAT EMBARRASSING TO ADMIN. DISTRICT ATTORNEY NOT NAMED.

Col. Harry Skinner Likely to be Re-appointed.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 1.—The commission of Harry Skinner to be district attorney in the east expired today, but the president did not name his successor, though he transmitted a number of nominations to the senate. It is stated here on good authority that the president will not name a marshal in the west or a district attorney in the east for some days. The reason for all this delay in making these appointments has not yet been disclosed. The situation with regard to the district attorneyship is embarrassing to the administration. It is said that if the Department of Justice has its way Harry Skinner will be re-appointed. The charges against Logan are no doubt responsible for the delay in naming a marshal in the west.

QUICK SERVICE.

Losses From Fire Two Days Ago Paid.

Dear Sir:

Please accept thanks for the prompt settlement of loss on machinery which was destroyed by fire day before yesterday.

Yours truly,

R. O. Jeffress.

Modern Advertising.

The trend of modern advertising was well illustrated the other day when the Wannamaker store in Philadelphia printed and paid for as an advertisement an article which any newspaper would gladly have accepted and paid for as news matter. The advertisement in question was a cable dispatch from one of the members of the firm giving in a few hundred words the shortest and most condensed report of the great flood situation in Paris. This advertisement illustrates the modern trend in exploitation and shows that a merchant will consider other forms of publicity than the mere statement of a bargain as good advertising.—Charlotte Chronicle.

Pounded to Pieces off Cape Hatteras.

Norfolk, Feb. 1.—With a northwest wind blowing a 52 miles an hour gale and heavy weather prevailing, the three-masted schooner Frances, Captain Combs, from New York to Jacksonville, Fla., was washed ashore on the treacherous Hatteras coast early this morning and was pounded to pieces by the raging sea before lifesavers from the Cape Hatteras and Big Kinnakeet life saving stations could reach the ill-fated vessel's crew of ten men, who are supposed to have been lost in the furious seas. Although none of the bodies have come ashore as yet, the life savers report that there was no possible means of escape for those aboard.

Seed Corn Day.

Next Tuesday, 8th, is the day for the seed corn meeting in Greenville. Farmers should bring from thirty to fifty of their best ears of corn to be inspected with a view of seed selection.

The special sale of China at Ellington's will continue through this week.

WINTERVILLE ITEMS.

Newsy Notes From Our Hustling Neighbor.

Winterville, N. C., Jan. 29, 1910. Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Franks, of Greenville, were visiting relatives here Sunday.

A. D. Cox, who has been having his eyes treated in Baltimore, returned home Sunday evening.

Miss Rosa Jones returned from her home at Bayboro Monday, where she spent the week end holidays.

Mr. and Mrs. B. C. Taylor, of Ayden, were visiting relatives here last Sunday.

Miss Lillian Baker, who has been sick at home at Shelmerdine, came in a few days ago to resume her studies in W. H. S. Levi Cannon, of Fort Barnwell, was in our town Tuesday on business.

The stockholders of the Bank of Winterville held a meeting Tuesday, and declared a 16 per cent dividend.

Now is the time to advertise, before everybody gets ahead of you.

MISS JEANETTE COX ENTERTAINS

The home of Dr. Cox on Church street, South Winterville, was a scene of laughter and fun last Saturday evening, January 29th, when Miss Jeanette Cox entertained her class at a cobweb party. Miss Helen Smith received in the hall and gave class colors to each guest. Miss Jeanette Cox assisted by Miss Louise Satterthwaite received in the parlor.

Each guest was very successful in helping the spiders spin cobwebs, for at the end of each web was found a dainty prize which more than compensated them for their arduous labors.

Many other interesting games formed amusement until 9:30 when light refreshments were served, after which music was rendered by Kenneth Raynor, Misses Louise Satterthwaite and Jeanette Cox.

At 10:30 the guests departed for their respective homes, declaring Cobweb town a most delightful place at which to spend the evening and Miss Cox a charming hostess.

Prof. Ragsdale at Nashville.

County Superintendent W. H. Ragsdale attended a meeting of teachers of Nash county at Nashville on last Saturday. A correspondent of Raleigh and Wilmington papers in speaking of the meeting said:

"The principle speech of the first session was made by Supt. W. H. Ragsdale, of Pitt county. Mr. Ragsdale discussed in an interesting manner the qualifications of a teacher, and in closing spoke of the advantages offered by the Training School at Greenville. Mr. Ragsdale, who is regarded among the best school men in North Carolina, made a splendid impression upon the Nash county teachers, and many of them will go to Greenville to the training school for some weeks this spring."

Our Greenville, yours if you come.

SEED CORN DAY.

The Reflector Offers Two Prizes for Exhibits.

Pitt county is to have a seed day in Greenville on Tuesday, Feb. 8th. At that time farmers are asked to bring some of their best corn for exhibition, and an expert will examine it and show how to make seed selection from it. In this way every farmer who comes will be helped. The Reflector wants to see this seed corn day a great day for Pitt county and great good to come from it. As a small stimulus for exhibits on that day we are going to offer as a premium one year's subscription to The Daily Reflector to the farmer who makes the best all round exhibit of corn that day, and one year's subscription to The Eastern Reflector to the farmer exhibiting the five best ears of corn, the award to be in accordance with the decision of the examiner.

If any others want to offer premiums for exhibits The Reflector will take pleasure in mentioning it.

ROCHDALE ITEMS.

Rochdale, N. C., Feb. 1.—The Free Will Baptists at Mays' chapel have moved their church to Arthur, about one mile from its former location. It is now in a very nice place. The lot was purchased of James Crawford.

B. F. Crawford has donated a lot at Arthur to the Disciple church of Smith's school house, and material is being placed for the building. It is expected to begin work very soon, and the building will be a great credit to the little band of soldiers that worship at Smith's school house. The former pastor, Mr. Crumpler, having resigned, they have secured the services of Rev. S. W. Sumerel as their pastor and preaching will be on 4th unday mornings instead of 3rd Sundays.

Mr. and Mrs. Ivy Smith and T. E. Little attended the F. W. B. union meeting at Marlboro Friday and Saturday and Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Smith attended on Sunday.

Mrs. L. W. Smith, Miss Ellen Smith, E. S. Norman and R. E. Willoughby attended the Hookerton union meeting at Wheat Swamp Saturday and Sunday.

Miss Lou Crawford, who lives at C. D. Smith's, was very sick last week, and is now improving slowly.

Mark Smith is in the race for the prize for the greatest yield of corn on an acre. We hope all the farmers will try to raise more corn than they have been raising.

Several of the farmers in our section have their smoke house in their yards instead of in the West. When a family of five puts in 1500 pounds of meat and 275 pounds of lard, the high price of meat don't hurt them at all. They can live at home and board at the same place.

When Traveling is Bad.

The telephone has an added value, because it affords the one method of communication not affected by road conditions. When snow or rain make walking difficult or impossible a telephone in your residence proves not only a means of social intercourse, but also a means of transacting much of your business that would otherwise be neglected, and five cents a day will put a telephone in your residence.

The Reflector does job work.

NO INTERVENTION IN NORFOLK & SOUTHERN SALE DECISION HANDED DOWN TUES.

In Favor of Reorganization Committee — Meets With Approval in Norfolk

Richmond, Va., Feb. 1.—Judge Waddill, of the United States district court today denied the request of Zell, Van Dyke and others, to file a petition appealing from an earlier decision of the court refusing them permission to intervene in the sale of the Norfolk and Southern railway, which was purchased by a reorganization committee in December, 1909, for $8,500,000.

Norfolk, Va., Feb. 1.—The decision rendered by Judge Waddill today in Richmond, denying the request of Zell, Van Dyke and others to file a petition appealing from an earlier decision of the court refusing them to intervene in the sale of the Norfolk and Southern railway by the reorganization committee, meets with approval here.

The Norfolk and Southern has plans for big development in North Carolina during the next two years.

GRIMESLAND ITEMS.

Grimesland, N. O. Feb. 2.—Mrs. R. M. Elks on closing her hospitable home at Grimesland, N. C. entertained a number of friends on Friday evening, Jan. 28th. The house was decorated with a profusion of evergreens.

Old fashioned games were the principal amusement of the evening and brought forth much mirth.

Delightful refreshments were served and at a late hour the young people bid a reluctant good-night, each declaring that they could not possibly have spent a more enjoyable evening.

New Governor in Old Dominion.

Richmond, Va., Tuesday 1.—Judge William H. Mann, who was elected governor of Virginia last November, and the others chosen to the several State offices at that time were inaugurated today. The installation of the new governor was attended by the pageantry and pomp which are usually made a part of the ceremonies on the occasion of the administration of the formal oath of office to the first magistrate of the Commonwealth. Judge Mann was accompanied to the capitol by Claude A. Swanson, the retiring governor.

S.w His Shadow.

The ground hog could see his shadow any time he chose he came out of his hole today. It was an all-round fair day in this section. According to tradition he goes back into his hole for forty days to let us have winter that much longer. Whatever comes in the way of blizzards from now on can be charged to the ground hog instead of to the comet.

Sacred Concert.

A sacred concert will be given in the Jarvis Memorial Methodist church on the evening of Feb. 7th by Prof. Muilberg of the Atlantic Christian College at Wilson, N. C. This concert is given for the benefit of the Ladies Aid Societies of the Christian and Methodist churches. Prof. Muilberg is a master in his work and comes highly recommended. The public is cordially invited to attend and to bring a silver offering. 1 22 25 28 31, 2 7.

Improving Telegraph Lines.

Construction Foreman A. R. Woody, of Richmond, is here with a crew overhauling and rebuilding the lines of the Western Union Telegraph Co. From the office in Reflector building nearly to Pitt street the old wires will be taken out entirely and a cable line put up instead. This will remove trouble that has existed heretofore by the wires coming in contact with limbs of the shade trees or other wires. The remainder of the distance to the A. O. L. railroad crossing on Third street will also be strung with new wire, and some improvements will be made in the office.

Happenings of Interest in North Carolina.

Fayetteville, Jan. 31.—The general store of C. H. Maness, near the Ashley Bail's silk mills, was destroyed by fire early this morning and the tenement house of John Dunn, colored, was partially burned by the flames from the store. This is the second time within a month that a store kept by Maness has been mysteriously burned.

Wentworth, Jan. 31.—Mrs. Lucy Ellington Wray, one of the inmates of the county home for aged and infirm, while passing before the fire Saturday night had her clothes to ignite and before the flames could be extinguished she was so seriously burned that death resulted in a short time. Deceased was the widow of the late Grant Wray of this county and in earlier life had known prosperity.

Roberson and others are incorporators.—Raleigh Times, 1st.

What is a Gentleman.

What is a real gentleman is defined by an eastern exchange. A man that's clean inside and out; who neither looks up to the rich nor down on the poor, who can lose without squealing and who can win without bragging; who is considerate of women, children and old people, who is too brave to lie, too generous to cheat, and who takes his share of the world and lets other people have theirs.

WEDNESDAY, FEB. 2, 1910.

Get on to the idea of beautifying Greenville and lets have the streets looking like they ought to by the time spring comes.

This is the time that John D. Rockefeller can get the laugh on the other fellow. He can't eat meat, anyhow, so the price does not disturb him.

There has been another dreadful mine disaster, this one occurring in Colorado. More than a hundred miners are believed to have been killed by an explosion.

The girl students of Chicago University have inaugurated another fad by declaring a boycott against wearers of a mustache. We don't like Chicago girls, anyway.

With five candidates already in the field for the Democratic nomination for congress in the tenth district, there will likely be some lively times before the convention names a candidate.

Every farmer of Pitt county should make more corn and better corn his crop motto for this year. Those who have boys large enough should give them a corn patch and start them off in the boys' corn contest.

The Reflector knows one lady in Greenville who wants to see a civic club organized. There ought to be a hundred others of the same mind, and if they would get together with their ideas Greenville would be a better looking town.

North Carolina's Young Men and Women is the name of a monthly magazine just started here by G. O. Hedgepeth. The first number is certainly creditable and contains excellent matter. The subscription price is 5 cents a copy or 50 cents a year. It ought to be given a large circulation.

Say a Good Word About Your Town.

This thing of saying a good word about your town is a habit which the people of this community need to cultivate and they need it badly. You just start out here some bright morning—yes, even on a bright morning when every one ought to feel good—and mention something about any citizen, we don't care who he is, or how pure he is, and you will be surprised to know how many people have out their little hammers and how with their might they will be trying to use them. Now, how much better it would be if we all had a good word to say of our neighbors. What makes your town but the people who live in it? When you hit them don't you know you are striking your town, and when you strike your town don't you know that you are driving blows on your own little head? Say something good or keep your tongue in your mouth. You will feel better yourself and you will be better, too.—Waxhaw Enterprise.

New Bern business men have just completed their organization of a very active chamber of commerce, with more than a hundred and fifty of the leading business men as members. Among the many good projects taken under consideration by the chamber, is the revival of the old New Bern Fair Association, which went out of business ten years ago. A committee has been appointed to investigate for the purpose of reorganizing and starting again this one time very popular fair.—Kinston Free Press.

The Springfield Republican says that Mr. Taft is the most inconsistent president the country has ever known. THROW OUT THE LINE Give the Kidneys Help and Many Greenville People Will be Happier

Doan's Kidney Pills have brought thousands of kidney sufferers back from the verge of despair. Will cure any form of kidney trouble. Mrs. Robert Williams, 317 S. Washington street, Rocky Mount, N. C., says: "I willingly give my name in recommending Doan's Kidney Pills as they benefited me greatly. I suffered for a long time from a dull, nagging backache and rheumatic twinges in my kidneys. I was restless at night and arose in the morning unfit to commence the day's duties. I obtained no relief from the various remedies I used and had about 'dispaired of ever being cured' when Doan's Kidney Pills were recommended to me. I began their use and I could soon see that they were helping me. They soon disposed of the backache and improved my health in every way."
For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.
Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

Terrible Croup

My little boy, who is four years old, has suffered a lot with croup. On several occasions we thought he was gone. After trying all the old time remedies and most of the new, I came home one night at midnight, and my wife said, "The boy has the croup again—suppose you get a bottle of Hyomei." "More junk," I said, "but we will circulate our money so they all will get some."
I hastened to an all night drug store, brought it home. In five minutes he was breathing easier. In fifteen minutes he was sound asleep. It broke the croup so quickly it scared me.
Any one wishing to cure the croup of a child I hope will give Hyomei a trial.
Wishing you the best of success, which you surely deserve, I remain,
Jos. E. Clark 214 6th St. S. E., Washington, D. C., Oct. 7, 1909.
Hyomei is a remarkably effective remedy in case of croup and it should be in every home where there is a croupy child. Full instructions how to cure croup comes with each outfit.
Complete Hyomei outfit including inhaler costs $1 at druggists everywhere and at Coward & Wooten. It is guaranteed to cure catarrh, coughs and colds.

SAVED HIS CAPITAL Professional Cards

"Come in in the morning and the bank will have something for you to do," said the president of a New York bank to a meek looking man whose hair was white and whose eyes were marked by deep crow's feet as he left the office with a bright look of satisfaction on his face that had not been there before.

"Let me tell you a story," said the president as he motioned to me to remain. "I was living in a western city, and three city lots composed the capital that I looked to to give me a start in business. I held on to them for a long time while working for $35 a month in a real estate office until they had advanced in value to $3,000, when I sold them to a St. Louis man.

"It was nearly 3 o'clock, and I hurried to the bank. I made out the deposit slip and laid it, with my gold and bank book, in front of the receiving teller.

"It is closing time now," he said, "and you had better not make your deposit until morning."

"Charley," I said, for I knew him well, "that is ridiculous. It is a half minute before closing time, and I insist that you take my deposit. I don't want to be robbed of all I have on earth before morning."

"I will fix it for you," he said as he gathered up the money and bank book and disappeared in the vault with them. In a minute he was back, and I was astonished at his actions. "I have put it my private box," he continued, "where it will be safe, and in the morning you can make the deposit if you want to."

"Next morning the bank's failure was announced. "I hurried to Charlie's house, which was near by, and asked him about the bank.

"Yes, it has failed and won't pay a cent," he said. "Just five minutes before you came in with your money yesterday the directors decided not to open this morning. I was told to give out no information until business hours today, and that is the reason I didn't tell you. If you had made your deposit the money would have all gone. Now it is safe in my box and you can have it at any moment you please."

"I did get it, and it was the foundation of my fortune. The man who was just here is that Charlie and was the teller who saved my capital for me."

WORTH WEIGHT IN GOLD

Lady Learned About Cardui, The Woman's Tonic and is Now Enthusiastic in its Praise.

Mount Pleasant, Tenn.—"Cardui is all you claim for it, and more," writes Mrs. M. E. Rail, of this place.

"I was a great sufferer for 2 years and was very weak, but I learned about Cardui, and decided to try it. Now I am in perfect health.

"My daughter, when changing into womanhood, got in very bad health. I gave her Cardui and now she enjoys good health.

"Cardui is worth its weight in gold. I recommend it for young and old."

Being composed exclusively of harmless vegetable ingredients, with a mild and gentle medicinal action, Cardui is the best medicine for weak, sick girls and women.

It has no harsh, powerful, near-poisonous action, like some of the strong minerals and drugs, but helps nature to perform a cure in a natural easy way.

Try Cardui.

GREENVILLE, N. C.

TENDER FEET.

Treatment That May Relieve This Painful Affliction.

Evening is a sad time with many persons because of the wretchedly tender condition of the soles of their feet, which burn and tingle and even ache as the day passes and night falls. They get up in the morning perfectly well as regards the feet, but after walking about for a time the soles get hot, itch sometimes and feel raw and tender with every step. The discomfort increases hour by hour until by night it has become almost unbearable.

Inspection of the feet may show absolutely nothing, or they may be red and more or less swollen and perhaps hot to the touch.

This affection is often associated with excessive perspiration of the feet, sometimes so extreme that the stockings are constantly damp or actually wet. Yet it may occur without this unpleasant accompaniment.

It is not necessarily associated with being on the feet, standing or walking for very long periods, although in those predisposed to the affection every minute of standing aggravates it.

It is of nervous origin, the nerves regulating the circulation—the so called vasomotor nerves—being especially concerned in its production.

The cause may be found to be a sinking down of the arch of the foot, the so called flat-foot. It may be in unhygienic foot covering, or it may be undiscoverable, residing in some peculiar susceptibility of the individual.

If there is any visible defect, such as flat foot, it should of course be remedied by a support in the sole of the boot or, better, by building up the sole on one side, so as to throw the weight of the body on the outer side of the foot. Even without a device of this kind the sufferer may obtain much relief by trying to walk on the outer side of the foot, in which attempt he will be helped by walking "pigeon toed," which throws the weight of the body on the outer edge of the sole.

The shoes should be of soft and yielding stuff, kid or canvas, and never patent or enameled leather. Rubbers or "arctics" should be worn only when absolutely necessary and should be removed the instant the wearer goes indoors or into a street car, even if the stay is to be only five minutes.

On returning home from a walk or from business a change should be made to slippers or, what may be equally restful, to another pair of shoes.

A powder of salicylic acid one part, boric acid eight parts and French chalk thirty-two parts, dusted inside the stockings often affords great relief in this condition.

The foot bath should be frequent and should be followed by a few minutes' massage of the feet, with a view to improving the circulation locally.—Youth's Companion.

All Her Fault.

"Oh, Jack!" she cried. "Wait a moment. You—"

"I never saw anything like it!" exclaimed Jack impatiently. "You always forget something. You girls are enough to drive any patient man frantic."

"But, Jack, dear—"

"Oh, go upstairs and get what you want, and don't, for goodness' sake, keep me waiting any longer."

"But I haven't forgotten anything, dear. It's you—"

"Good gracious! What next, I wonder? I've been dressed and ready waiting for you this last half hour."

"Indeed!" she said frigidly. "Then why is it you've got no necktie on?"

"Goodness!" he ejaculated. "Why couldn't you tell me that before, instead of staring at me and saying nothing?"—Exchange.

ASKED AN EXPLANATION.

The Colonel Was Willing and Promptly Gave the Information.

In "Something of Men I Have Known" the author, Adlai E. Stevenson, has this story of a banquet attended by John Allen, member of congress from Mississippi, and the Hon. John R. Fellows: "Near the close Allen said: 'There is one thing I would like to have Colonel Fellows explain. He was captured the first year of the war and never exchanged, but held as a prisoner by the Federals until the war was over. I was taken prisoner five times and always promptly exchanged. I would like Colonel Fellows to explain how it was that he was kept in a place of safety while I was always at the front?' When the applause which followed had subsided Colonel Fellows arose and said:

"I am grateful to my friend from Mississippi for giving me an opportunity to explain that part of my military record which I apprehend has never been sufficiently clear. It is true I was taken prisoner the first year of the war, and the enemy, well knowing the danger of my being at large, persistently refused to release me until peace was restored. Had I been promptly exchanged the result of the war might have been different! But why it was that my friend from Mississippi was so repeatedly and promptly exchanged is a question that until yesterday I had never been able to understand.

"It has given me deep concern. I have pondered over it during the silent watches of the night. Yesterday, however, my mind was completely set at rest upon that question by reading the correspondence—to be found in volume 748, page 421, of the 'Record of the War of the Rebellion'—between President Lincoln and President Davis relating to the exchange of Private John Allen of Company G, Fourteenth Mississippi volunteers. The correspondence covers many pages of this valuable publication, but I will read only the closing communication."

"And while John, with a new supply of terrapin before him, was listening intently Fellows, carefully adjusting his eyeglasses and taking a letter from his pocket, continued: 'The letter I will read from President Lincoln concluded the correspondence and is as follows: "Dear Jeff—With this I return you Private John Allen of Company G, Fourteenth Mississippi. I require no prisoner in exchange. The Lord's truth is, Jeff, I had rather fight John than feed him!"'"

The Bore and the Boarders.

A bore is a person who speaks when you want him to listen, and such a person was Professor Benjamin Praxiteles Brown, autocrat of the Quentin Durward boarding house. Through two whole courses the band of hungry boarders had lent him their unwilling ears as he held forth upon spiritualism and spookism and Julia and her bureaucracy.

"In fact," boomed big Ben, "the study of the occult sciences interests me greatly. I love to explore the dark depths of the mysterious, to delve into the regions of the unknown, to fathom, as it were, the unfathomable and—"

"May I help you to some hash, professor?" interrupted the landlady.

Sea Superstitions.

One of the oldest sea superstitions has been connected with the flying of birds. If the birds flew high, that signified good weather. If they skimmed the water, that meant bad weather. There is gradually spreading among the seamen a superstition that if any animal is aboard the vessel bad weather may be deforced—even if the birds are flying close to the water—if the head of the animal is pointed aft and is held in that direction for some time.

WILD ANIMALS.

Sir Ray Lankester writes of the enormous number of living creatures which man has destroyed since he first appeared on earth: "Even in prehistoric times it is probable that man by hunting the mammoth—the great hairy elephant—assisted in its extinction if he did not actually bring it about. At a remote prehistoric period the horses of various kinds which abounded in North and South America rapidly and suddenly became extinct. It has been suggested, with some show of probability, that a previously unknown epidemic disease, due to a parasitic organism—such as those which we now see ravaging the herds of South Africa—found its way to the American continent. And it is quite possible that this was brought from the other hemisphere by the first men who crossed the Pacific and populated North America.

"To come to matters of certainty and not of speculation, we know that man by clearing the land as well as by actively hunting and killing it made an end of the great wild ox of Europe, the aurochs, or urus, of Caesar, the last of which was killed near Warsaw in 1627. He similarly destroyed the bison, first in Europe and then (in our own days) in North America. A few hundred, carefully guarded, are all that remain in the two continents. He has very nearly made an end of the elk in Europe and will soon do so completely in America. The wolf and the beaver were destroyed in these British islands about 400 years ago. They are rapidly disappearing from France and will soon be exterminated in Scandinavia and Russia and in Canada.

"At a remote prehistoric period the bear was exterminated by man in Britain and the lion driven from the whole of Europe, except Macedonia, where it still flourished in the days of the ancient Greeks. It was common in Asia Minor a few centuries ago. The giraffe and the elephant have departed from South Africa before the encroachments of civilized man. The day is not distant when they will cease to exist in the wild state in any part of Africa. And with them are vanishing many splendid antelope.

"Even our 'nearest and dearest' relatives in the animal world, the gorilla, the chimpanzee and the orang, are doomed. Now that man has learned to defy malaria and other fevers, the tropical forest will be occupied by the greedy civilized horde of humanity, and there will be no room for the most interesting and wonderful of all animals, the man-like apes, unless (as we may hope in their case, at any rate) such living monuments of human history are made sacred and treated with greater care than are our ancient monuments in stone."—Chicago News.

Thackeray on Tennyson.

Here is an offhand comment made on Tennyson by Thackeray in a letter to Mrs. Procter. Thackeray, it will be remembered, knew Tennyson from the early undergraduate days at Cambridge. Indeed Thackeray's verses "Tibuctoo" were written in good natured parody of Tennyson's prize poem. "Alfred Tennyson," wrote Thackeray, "if he can't make you like him will make you admire him. He seems to me to have the cachet of a great man. His conversation is often delightful, I think, full of breadth, manliness and humor. He reads all sorts of things, swallows them and digests them like a great poetical boa constrictor as he is. Perhaps it is Alfred Tennyson's great big yellow face and growling voice that have made an impression on me. Manliness and simplicity go a great way with me, I fancy."—Bookman.

GENERAL MERCHANDISE

A MARK TWAIN STORY

Showing What May Be Achieved by Nerve and Reiteration.

A LESSON IN PERSEVERANCE.

Going to Prove That Repetition Will Work Wonders if a Man Has Only the Necessary Amount of Cheek to Stand Up and Keep on Talking.

Mark Twain once told a reporter that if a man says the same thing often enough people will begin to listen to him.

"Now," said the great humorist, "there was that story about Hank Monk. That was the oldest, staliest, driest, deadiest bit of alleged humor that any man ever heard. It had been circulated around Nevada and California until there wasn't a man left who would even listen to it. I had heard it so many times that I knew it by heart. It told how Hank Monk got Horace Greeley over the Glennbrook grade to Placerville.

"I was about to deliver my second lecture at Platt's hall in San Francisco—the second one I had ever delivered. It occurred to me that I might begin that lecture with the worst story I had ever heard and by telling it often enough start the lecture with a big laugh. I took that story and memorized it so that it would not vary in the telling, and I made it just as pointless and just as dull and just as dry as I could.

"When it came time for me to talk I stood up and with a few introductory remarks began that story. If I remember it went something like this:

"Horace Greeley once went over the Glennbrook grade to Placerville. When he was leaving Carson City he told the driver, Hank Monk, that he had an engagement to lecture at Placerville and was very anxious to go through quick. Hank Monk cracked his whip and started off at an awful pace. The stage bounced up and down in such a terrific way that it jolted the buttons all off Horace's coat and finally shot his head clean through the roof of the stage, and then he yelled to Hank Monk and begged him to go easier—said he warn't in as much of a hurry as he had been awhile ago. But Hank Monk said, 'Keep your seat, Horace, and I'll get you there on time.' And he did, too—what was left of him."

"Now, that was all there was to the story. It was bad enough to begin with, but I made it worse in the telling. I droned it out in a flat, monotonous tone, without a gesture to mar its depressing effect. The people received it in dead silence. I had insulted every man in the audience—I had 'graveled' them with a story that was not only stale and pointless, but one which they had heard at least a thousand times. I waited a few seconds for the laughter, and then I began to hem and haw and shift my feet. I tried to appear just as embarrassed as I could, and after floundering about helplessly for a few sentences I cheered up a little and said that I would tell a funny anecdote which might be new to them. It began:

"Horace Greeley went over the Glennbrook grade to Placerville—"

"I told it in exactly the same miserable, pointless way that I had told it before, and when I got through I waited a longer time for the applause, but there wasn't any applause. I could see that several men in the house were growing quite indignant. They had paid money to hear a humorous lecture. I took a long breath and plunged in a third time, more embarrassed and fustled and worried than ever, and by and by I worked around again to the time when Horace Greeley went over Glennbrook grade to Placerville.

"This time some of the smarter ones began to laugh, and this encouraged me so much that I thanked them and started right in to tell the story over again, never varying the delivery so much as a pause to take breath. The fourth time fetched 'em, and at the end of the story they stood up and whooped and yelled and cheered for some time.

"You see, I thought that if a man had said enough to stand up before an audience and tell the oldest, staliest and most uninteresting story in the world he could make people laugh if he had the nerve to tell the story often enough. The rest of my lecture went very well. They were willing to laugh at my anecdotes the first time I told them. Maybe they were afraid I would tell them a second time.

"I felt so sure that I had discovered a new phase in human character that I tried the same thing in New York years afterward. There was an authors' reading one afternoon, and most of the authors read selections from their works. I sat on the platform beside James Russell Lowell. He asked me what I was going to read. I said that I wasn't going to read anything. I intended to tell an anecdote.

"Is it a funny one?" he asked.

"I said it would be if I lasted long enough."

"I started out without any preamble, and I told the Hank Monk anecdote. There was an awful silence at the end. I took a drink of water, mopped my forehead and told the story again. Same effect. Young man, I told that story five times before I landed 'em. When I sat down at last Mr. Lowell whispered to me:

"You have cost me dear. I have been sitting here and wasting sympathy on you."

"That's the point, young man. Repetition will do anything if a man has the sand to stand up and keep on talking."—New York American.

Easy to Be Calm.

It certainly does make a difference "whose ox is gored." Among the patients in the private ward of a Philadelphia hospital, according to a writer in Lippincott's Magazine, there was once a testy old millionaire of that city, whose case gave his physicians considerable difficulty at first.

"Well," asked the crusty patient one morning, "how do you find me now, eh?"

"You're getting on well," responded the doctor, rubbing his hands with an air of satisfaction. "Your legs are still swollen, but that doesn't trouble me."

"Of course it doesn't!" said the old man. "If your legs were swollen it wouldn't trouble me!"
