CITY ALDERMEN MEET IN REGULAR SESSION GO THROUGH ROUTINE BUSINESS

No Successor to George Clark Appointed—Needs of Fire Department Stated by F. M. Wooten

The Board of Aldermen met in regular monthly session, Thursday night, with six of the members present, and transacted the following business:

W. H. Allen, on petition, was granted a refund of diay license tax, he having sold out after making application for license and not engaging in the business at all.

J. E. Warren made complaint of insufficient drainage near his property on Dickinson avenue, and the matter was referred to the street committee for investigation.

The street committee reported that the streets of the town were in fair condition, and that the sand-clay work on Evans street between Fifth and Ninth, will soon be completed. Some of the sidewalks along this portion of the street are in bad condition. The committee was instructed to fill in the sidewalk on the west side of this street fronting the Fleming property and that of the Sutton heirs.

The market committee reported that work was progressing satisfactorily on the remodelling of the market house.

The Water & Light Commission was requested to comply with a former communication from the aldermen in regard to making monthly report of any street lights that fail to be lighted and the cause therefor.

The several officers made their reports for the past month which were accepted.

G. A. Clark tendered his resignation as assistant police, he having removed to Farmville, which was accepted. Applications for the position were presented by G. A. Jackson, Jesse L. Whichard, J. W. Rice, J. H. Barnhill, A. J. Whichard and T. F. Christman. The board went into executive session and upon reassembling ordered that all the applications be filed for the present, as no election of assistant police would be made at this time.

Alderman Bowen was instructed to purchase an overcoat for the night police.

F. M. Wooten made a statement of the needs of the fire department in better equipment, and a committee consisting of Aldermen E. G. Flanagan and W. S. Moye was appointed to act in conjunction with the chief of the fire department in investigating the needs of the department and make their recommendation to the board.

The chief of the fire department was instructed to have a dozen hydrant wrenches made and distribute them; among the fire hose stations where needed. A donation of $5 per month was made to the Rest Room.

A communication was read from R. O. Jeffress, manager of the Imperial Tobacco Co., in regard to the charge of $25 against this company for fire protection, a charge that some other companies do not have to pay for similar protection. In this connection Alderman E. B. Higgs, for the committee appointed to confer with the Cabinet Veneer Co., made a report recommending that the Cabinet Veneer Co. be refunded the cost of laying the water line to their property and that the company be required to pay for water as prescribed

ENGINE SETS FIRE TO GRASS.

Passing Train Gives Factory a Close Call.

The 1.08 southbound passenger train on the Atlantic Coast Line, Friday afternoon, came near causing a fire at the plant of the Greenville Lumber & Veneer Co. As the train passed the factory, sparks from the engine set fire to the grass between the railroad track and the basket storage shed on the siding. A little later one of the hands at work in the shed saw smoke coming through the floor, and running out found a considerable space of ground burned over and the flames just getting under the shed. Help was called and the burning grass put out. If the fire had got in the shed and the immense quantity of truck baskets stored there, the loss would have been great.

LAWLESSNESS ON THE WANE IN THE OLD BURG

QUIET RIEGNS IN FARMVILLE.

Chief Clerk is More Than a Match for Disorder—Initiation to Law and Order Somewhat Strenuous

At the last communication the trial occasioned by the arrest and knocking down of Buck Eason, Wednesday, had not yet occurred. On Wednesday night there was some "big" talking about how they were going to fix Chief Clark, but Thursday morning at the call for trial everything was quiet. Evidently those who were for trying the new policeman found that they were "barking up the wrong tree." Mr. Eason was charged with two offenses, one for cursing and boisterous conduct, for which he was fined $15 and cost. The second charge was for resisting the officer. Mr. Clark was the only witness against Mr. Eason. There were six witnesses brought forward by Mr. Eason to prove his innocence. Two or three witnesses admitted that Mr. Eason resisted, two others first said he did not resist but later admitted that he resisted "some," but declared that Eason had his hand up when Clark struck him. One of these witnesses admitted that he himself was half drunk, the other was locked up for disorderly conduct immediately after Eason was taken out of prison. This drunkenness and disorderly conduct on the part of the witnesses greatly weakened their evidence. Eason was bound over to next term of Superior court under bond of $100.

The remainder of the day everything was quiet and the good citizens rejoiced. Thursday night another fellow concluded to "hollow" a little. Clark was near enough by to learn the facts. The young man's father took charge of him in order to save him from a night in prison. Next morning we learned that he submitted and paid $5. Today the "boozers and babblers" have been seeking less expensive amusement, and Chief Clark walks his beat in peace.

N., whose essay was entitled "The Merchant and the Navy." The award carries, besides the medal, $200 in cash and life membership in the institute.

"Honorable mention with $75 in cash and life membership, was won by Lieut. Lyman A. Cotten, whose essay was entitled "Naval Strategy of the Russo-Japanese War." Naval Constructor Roberts is a native of Alabama and was graduated from the academy in 1894. Lieut. Cotten is from North Carolina and was graduated in 1898.—Raleigh News and Observer.

There will be a special meeting of the Carolina Club next Tuesday night at 8:30 o'clock.

Greenville Man Gets Wilmington Bride.

Miss Addie T. Brinkley, attractive daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph B. Brinkley, and Mr. David C. Dudley, a prominent young business man of Greenville, N. C., were happily united in marriage at 6 o'clock last evening, the ceremony being performed at the home of the bride's parents, 437 Chesnut street, Rev. Thos. A. Smoot, pastor of Grace Methodist church officiating. Conforming to the wishes of the bride it was a very quiet affair, only members of the immediately family in Wilmington being present. The bride was becomingly attired in a handsome traveling suit of blue with hat and gloves to match. The announcement of the marriage will come as quite a surprise to many of the friends of the bride. Mr. and Mrs. Dudley left on the 7 o'clock train last evening for Greenville, where they will reside. The bride, by her attractive personality and sweet disposition, has made many warm friends in Wilmington, who will miss her greatly, but take pleasure in the hope that she will return frequently on visits.—Wilmington Star, 4th.

TEACHERS' ASSOCIATION.

To be Held in the Graded School Auditorium Saturday, Feb'y 12th.

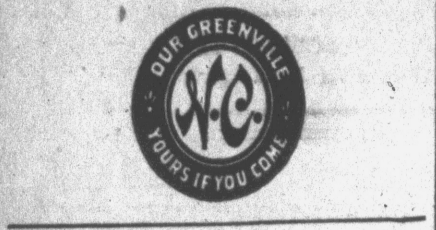

The program is as follows:
10:30 a. m.—Devotional exercises by Rev. B. F. Huske.
10:45 a. m.—Reading of minutes.
10:50 a. m.—Announcements and distribution of bulletins.
11 a. m.—The preparation of the lesson, by Prof. H. E. Austin.
General discussion.
2 p. m.—Drawing, by Miss Kate Lewis.

This will be one of the best meetings we have had. It will be noticed that we have only one subject for the morning. I think I can assure the teachers that this important subject will be so discussed that you will feel that you have been repaid for the sacrifices that I know you have to make to attend these meetings, and I wish also to ask the teachers to make their arrangements to be present at the afternoon session. It is exceedingly gratifying to those who have arranged to give you this work to see how enthusiastically you are entering into it. I feel that I express your sentiment when I say that your absence from either one of these sessions will be your loss. I am looking for a great meeting. Let us come together and make it such. The names of more than thirty boys have come in as contestants in the "Boys' Corn Club." I wish to request all the teachers to explain this contest to their boys between now and this meeting and give to me that day the names of their pupils who will enter. Let us have at least one boy in each school in the county to become a member of this club. W. H. Ragsdale, Co. Supt. Schools.

SATURDAY, FEB. 5, 1910

Turkey and Greece are about to declare war on each other. If they come to a clash there is danger of getting the fat in the fire.

Congressman Morhead, of the fifth district, is telling the president how easy it is for the Republicans to carry North Carolina. How deluded some of them are!

A movement is on foot to revive Carolina Club that recently went out of business. We hope the movement will succeed and that the club will soon be open again.

A New York woman has sued her employer for $25,000 because, she says, he kissed her so hard that it bruised her lips. May be the man in this case can justify the Boston woman who recently said 'kissing is sometime overdone.' At least he "overdone" it when going about it so clumsily as to bruise the lips.

HAS TOO MUCH WORK.
In an editorial comment on the position taken by Senator Ormond, of Lenoir county, relative to the time occupied by North Carolina legislatures spent on trivial local bills, the Winston Salem Sentinel has the following to say:

"Every time the North Carolina general assembly meets we are impressed with the fact that the vast amount of trivial matters considered leaves entirely too little for the proper consideration and disposition of business or more serious import."
The Salisbury Post after endorsing the position of Senator Ormond and The Sentinel makes the following suggestion:
"Many of these local matters could be handed by the secretary of state or the clerks of the respective counties with expedition and at a great saving to the state and relief to the weighty questions that present themselves to the general assembly."
"Senator Ormond, seasoned legislator that he is, should be returned to Raleigh next winter to champion this reform."

There are few men more able to appreciate this situation than the genial editor of The Post and representative of Rowan. Many days has he lounged around the capitol corridors anxious to dispose of the important legislation that was of concern to the people of North Carolina and get home, when hour after hour was spent in passing some local bill that only became a burden on the statute books. There are too many men who go to the legislature and think they are adding glory to their names and serving their constituents by passing a lot of little bills that are not worth a cent to the country. Yet they go back home and point with pride to the number of bills they had passed, and strut around as though they were the whole thing. While he was getting through his bill for draining Mud Pond, ditching John Jones' spring branch, killing fleas in Jaek Smith's barn-yard, or prohibiting Bill Brown's rooster from crowing at 4 o'clock p. m., public bills involving thousands of dollars are left on the calendar for lack of time. It is high time that some remedy for these conditions be applied. Of the two thousand bills passed biennially the state would be better off if some fifteen hundred were never introduced. It would be well to add to Editor Julian's suggestion that Senator Ormond be returned, that the able representative from Rowan also come back and help the senator in this reform.—Raleigh Times.

In this day of syndicated editorials and paid-for paragraphs one is in a quandary as to whom credit should be given in reproducing the same. Don't sail under false colors, brethren. Acting a falsehood is no less despicable than uttering one. It is all well enough to make the pages of your paper brighter and more readable by printing such matter, but do not frame it as original matter in the editorial columns or local department. It is not honest with yourself or your readers—even if it is "business."—Henderson Gold Leaf.

A Lady Who Lives in Goldsboro Joins in the Chorus of Praise for Cardui, The Woman's Tonic.
Goldsboro, N. C.—"A physician treated me for many distressing symptoms," writes Mrs. Etta A. Smith, "but gave me no relief.
"I suffered with neuralgia around the heart and was troubled at times with my head. I had pain in my left side, bowels, left thigh, shoulders and arms.
"After taking Cardui, I am now well and can recommend it to other suffering women."
Just such doubtful symptoms, as those from which Mrs. Smith suffered, are the ones for which it will pay you to take Cardui, the woman's tonic.
It is at such times, when there is nothing to show, for certain, the real cause of the trouble, that you need a tonic, to give the body strength to throw off the illness that evidently threatens.
Take Cardui, when you are ill, with the ailments of your sex. Take Cardui as a tonic, to prevent illness, when you feel it coming.
Your druggist keeps it.

TWO SECRETS.

Eben Hid His From His Wife, and She Cherished Her Own.

"How's business, Eben?" The old man was washing at the sink after his day's work.

"Fine, Marthy; fine!" "Does the store look just the same, with the red geranium in the window? Land, how I'd like to see it with the sun shining in! How does it look, Eben?"

Eben did not answer for a moment. When he did his voice shook a bit.

"The store's never been the same since you left, Marthy." A faint little flush came into Marthy's withered cheek. Is a wife ever too old to be moved by her husband's flattery?

For years Eben and Marthy had kept a tiny notion store. Then Marthy fell sick and was taken to the hospital. That was months ago. She was out now, but she would never be strong again—never be partner in their happy little trade again.

"I can't get over a hankering for a sight of the store," thought Marthy one forenoon. "If I take it real careful I can get down there. 'Tisn't so far. Eben 'll scold, but he'll be tickled most to death."

It took a long time for her to drag herself downtown, but at last she stood at the head of the little street where the store was. All of a sudden she stopped. Ahead, on the pavement, stood Eben. A tray hung from his neck, on which were arranged a few cards of collar studs, some papers of pins and shoe laces. Two or three holders were in his shaking old hand, and as he stood he called his wares.

Martha clutched at the wall of the building. She looked over the way at the little store. Its windows were filled with fruit, and an Italian name fluttered on the awning. Then Marthy understood. The store had gone to pay her expenses. She turned and hurried away as fast as her trembling limbs would take her.

"It will hurt him so to have me find out," she thought, and the tears trickled down her face.

"He's kept a secret from me, and I'll keep one from him," she said to herself. "He shan't know that I know."

That night when Eben came in, chilled and weary, Marthy asked cheerfully the old question:

"How's business?" "Better'n ever, Marthy," answered Eben.—Youth's Companion.

How Painter Lawrence Got His Start.

Sir Thomas Lawrence was one of the great portrait painters in England. His parents were poor, his father being a country innkeeper. One day Lord Shaftesbury's father and mother stopped at the inn, having their young son, the future lord, with them. In conversation the innkeeper spoke of the genius of his boy in drawing and wished them to test it by a picture of their son. They assented, thinking to gratify a father's pride, but not looking for any evidence of superior talent.

The boy came in modestly with chalk and paper and in a few minutes had drawn a picture of their son, on which the parents looked with wonder. They recognized the genius and promise of future greatness and befriended the young artist, giving him the help needed to develop his wonderful gift.

The Fishing Otter.

The otter used by Scottish poachers is one of the most deadly fishing instruments known. In some waters it is far more effective than a net. It may be described as a water kite, which serves to take out over the water a line bearing fifty or more flies. The otter itself is a floating piece of board leaded along one side to keep it upright. The poacher walks along the side of the loch or river, letting out the fly decorated line as he goes, the otter board gradually working out toward the center. An enormous area of water is fished at one time and numbers of fish are killed.

BOUND FOR THE FRONT.

An Incident Showing the Military Courage of the Montenegrin.

In military courage the Montenegrin probably stands at the head of European races. The best wish for a baby boy is, "May you not die in your bed," and to face death is to man or boy only a joyous game. Says W. J. Stillman in his "Autobiography."

I have seen a man under a heavy Turkish fire deliberately leave the trenches and climb the breastwork, only to expose himself from sheer bravado.

While lying at headquarters at Oreabuk, awaiting the opening of the campaign in 1877, I was walking one day with the prince when a boy of sixteen or eighteen approached us, cap in hand.

"Now," said the prince, "I'll show you an interesting thing. This boy is the last of a good family. His father and brothers were all killed in the last battle, and I ordered him to go home and stay with his mother and sisters that the family might not become extinct."

The boy drew near and stopped before us, his head down, his cap in hand.

"What do you want?" asked the prince.

"I want to go back to my battalion."

"But," said the prince, "you are the last of your line, and I cannot allow a good family to be lost. You must go home and take care of your mother."

The boy began to cry bitterly.

"Will you go home quietly and stay there," said the prince, "or will you take a flogging and be allowed to fight?"

The boy thought for a moment. A flogging, he knew well, is the deepest disgrace that can befall a Montenegrin.

"Well," he broke out, "since it isn't for stealing, I'll be flogged."

"No," said the prince, "you must go home."

Then the boy broke down utterly.

"But," he cried, "I want to avenge my father and brothers!"

He went away still crying, and the prince said, "In spite of all this he will be in the next battle."

Artful Parisian Beggars.

Parisian beggars have been known to go far beyond a sham fight with a dog in the gutter for a crust. Maxime du Camp has recorded how, on an August Sunday in 1887, at an hour when the quays were crowded, a shabby man uttered a cry of despair and threw himself into the Seine near the Pont de l'Alma. He had sunk twice when a man in workmen's clothes plunged in, swam after him and effected an apparently difficult rescue. As the crowd surrounded the two on the bank the rescuer one slowly came to, reproached the rescuer for saving a hopeless, workless man, who had not eaten for three days, and tried to rush off again, crying, "Let me die!" The rescuer pulled out half a franc, saying: "Take this. I shall only have to go without dinner today." And of course the crowd liberally followed suit. But the skeptical police shadowed the two, saw them count up the spoils in a tavern and presently arrested the two convicts, dead again.

GENERAL MERCHANDISE

THE WEIGHT OF MONEY

Do You Think You Could Lift a Fortune in Silver Coins?

IF YOU DO YOU ARE MISTAKEN

Two Hundred Pounds of Quarters Would Give You Only $3,657, While the Same Weight of Gold Would Give $54,050—Weight of Paper Money

"I wish I had all the money I could lift!" How many of the thousands who make this get-rich-quick wish have any idea of the amount they would have if the wish should be granted. Few name the denomination of the money on which they desire to test their strength, perhaps believing that their lifting powers would make them wealthy no matter what kind of money they lifted.

If they were asked how much they could lift in silver or small bills the majority probably would name some fabulous sum which investigation would show several men could not budge. In gold or in paper money of large denominations the ordinary individual would be able to lift a fair sized fortune, but to win a million by lifting it in anything less than twenty dollar bills would need the strength of a veritable Sandow.

An official of the treasury who is interested in odd statistics in his department was asked how much money the average man could lift in the various denominations of gold, silver and paper.

"Well," he replied, "a man could make money on that proposition if he could get hold of paper money of large denominations, but on the smaller bills, silver and gold he would not be a millionaire by any means."

"The weight of money is very deceptive. For instance, a young man, a friend of mine, came in to see me one day with his fiancée. I was showing them through my department and asked my friend if he thought the young woman was worth her weight in gold. He did think so, most emphatically, and after ascertaining that her weight was one 107 pounds we figured that she would be worth in gold coin exactly $28,047. Her fiancée thought that would be pretty cheap."

"Perhaps more people are deceived on the weight of paper money than on the metals. Now, how many one dollar bills do you think would be necessary to weigh as much as a five dollar gold piece?"

Fifty was ventured as a guess, and the statistician laughed.

"I have had guesses on that all the way from 50 to 500," he said, "and some of them from men who have handled money for years. As a matter of fact, with a five dollar gold piece in one scale you would have to put about six and a half bills in the other to balance it."

He produced figures to prove that a five dollar gold piece weighed two hundred and ninety-six thousandths of an ounce avoirdupois. An employee who makes the new bills up in packages of 100 each said that a hundred bills weighed four and one-half ounces. That would make one bill weigh forty-five thousandths of an ounce, and between six and seven would balance the gold piece.

Figures on the lifting proposition were furnished from the department where the money is weighed in bags as standards. The standard amount for gold coin, $5,000, weighs eighteen and a half pounds. Five hundred silver dollars weigh thirty-five and a half pounds, and $200 in half dollars, or 400 coins, weighs eleven pounds. Taking 200 pounds as a good lift for an average man, these results were obtained:

METAL MONEY.
 Gold coins (all of standard weight) $54,050.00
 Silver dollars 2,617.00
 Half dollars 3,636.00
 Quarters 3,657.00
 Dimes 3,615.59
 Nickels 917.00
 Cents 236.61

PAPER MONEY.
 One dollar bills $71,111
 Two dollar bills 142,222
 Five dollar bills 35,555
 Ten dollar bills 71,111
 Twenty dollar bills 14,222
 Fifty dollar bills 3,657
 One hundred dollar bills 711.11
 Five hundred dollar bills 142.22
 Thousand dollar bills 71.11

Two hundred pounds of $10,000 gold certificates, the largest denomination issued by the United States government, would amount to enough to finance a full grown trust—$711,111,000. If the young woman who was worth $28,047 in gold coin had been worth her weight in these $10,000 certificates she would have been valued at $380,444,385.—F. T. Pope in Chicago Record-Herald.

Appreciated.
 Tubb—Old boy, I want to congratulate you on your speech at the banquet last night. O'Sudds (after waiting a moment)—I know you do, pard, and you're awfully sorry you can't do it truthfully. I appreciate the effort. Just the same. Nasty weather, isn't it?—Chicago Tribune.

A Misunderstanding.
 "The management of one of the big opera houses in New York has to pay $2,000 a week for conductors."
 "Does it pay the same rate for motormen?"—Judge.

Clean Living.
 James—A bath tub and two sponge cakes, please. Waitress—Two sponges and a bath for this gentleman, please!—London Opinion.
