HAPPENINGS WITHIN THE OLD NORTH STATE GATHERED FROM OUR EXCHANGES TODAY

Newsp Items of Interest Condensed for Busy Readers.

For nearly two weeks Mr. Bryce Rushing, son of Mr. A. E. Rushing of Lanes Creek township, has been very ill from from blood poisoning. The trouble came from a scratch made by a mule's tooth while Mr. Rushing was trying to give medicine to the animal, which had pneumonia. The mule died, and in a day or two the scratch on Mr. Rushing began to get so bad that a doctor was called in. He saw it to be a serious matter and went to work. Mr. Rushing is now improving but for ten days he was confined to his bed, a very sick man.—Monroe Journal.

Henderson, Feb. 16—In the early hours of last night there occurred at the oil mill a singular accident which resulted in the instant death of a faithful employe of the plant, Geo. Wortham, colored. While engaged in removing suds from a large bulk, he was overwhelmed by an avalanche of suds and before he could be rescued life was extinct, having been smothered.

A distressing and fatal accident, in which two men lost their lives by drowning, occurred at Palmyra Sunday. Mr. Edward Boswell, of Virginia, a horse-trader, with a drove of horses and his camping outfit, went to Hill's Ferry, at Palmyra, and loaded his horses on the flat, or boat, for the purpose of transferring them to the other side of the river. Mr. Octavius Hyman, a citizen of that section, happened to be present and decided that he would go across the river with the crowd and return with the boat. Before the boat had gotten very far from the shore Mr. Hyman fell overboard, but was rescued in a smaller boat. He seemed to be terribly frightened, and soon this boat capsized, throwing him cut in very deep water, and he lost his life. During this excitement a colored man, working for Mr. Boswell, fell in the water and was drowned before assistance reached him.—Scotland Neck Commonwealth.

Charlotte, Feb. 16.—Mr. Richard B. Russell died suddenly on the street this afternoon at four o'clock of apoplexy. Mr. Russell was a brother of clerk of the court J. A. Russell, and while a native of this city, had been engaged as a cotton buyer at Cheraw, S. C., for Sprunt & Sons. The deceased was unmarried and about fifty years of age, popular and highly esteemed by those who knew him.

Wilmington, Feb. 16.—News has been received here of the accidental drowning of George M. Pinner, a native of Southport, from a tug boat at Norfolk, Va., last Thursday night. Mr. Pinner was about 35 years old, and resided here until about a year ago. He has many relatives here and at Southport.

News reached the city today that on last Thursday night in 71st township, four or five miles east of Raeford, Jerry Willis, a negro, cut his wife's throat, and as her mother, Annie Jones came into the room he drew his pistol and shot her in the breast, from the effects of which she died last night. Annie Jones was the wife of Abram Jones, a well-

FROM THE CAMPUS.

Notes From East Carolina Teacher's Training School.

Pres. Wright is delighted with a recent visit to the schools of Elizabeth City.

Miss Mary V. Jones, of Eufala, Ala., has arrived and taken up her work as matron.

Pres. Wright attended the meeting in Goldsboro of the S. E. Division of County Superintendents. He reports a fine, enthusiastic meeting.

The students recently had a jolly oyster roast on Tar River.

On the evening of February 7th, the school attended an organ recital, given by Prof. Mulberger of Atlantic College, at the Jarvis Memorial Church.

Prof. H. E. Austin conducted the meeting of Pitt County Teachers' Association Saturday, February 12th. He gave the first of a series of three lectures on the recitation.

Pres. Wright and Prof. Wilson attended the State Association of City School Superintendents in Durham. Mr. Wilson was re-elected secretary for the fourth time.

At the invitation of the county superintendents Pres. Wright and Professors Wilson and Ragsdale have addressed a number of teachers' meetings. Pres. Wright spoke to the teachers of Sampson county at Clinton, February 5th. Prof. Ragsdale addressed those of Nash county at Nashville, January 28th; of Vance county at Henderson, January 29th; of Wilson county at Wilson, February 5th. Prof. Wilson met those of Chowan at Edenton, February 5th. Prof. Ragsdale will be at Weldon, Halifax county, February 18th; and at Rich Square, Northampton county, February 19th. Mr. Wilson will go to Tranton, Jones county, February 18th.

known colored man in that section.—Fayetteville Observer.

Raleigh, Feb. 16.—H. N. Reece institutional clerk in the state treasury, is desperately ill with pneumonia at his home in this city. There is very little hope for his recovery.

Winston-Salem, Feb. 16.—State Chairman A. H. Eller today gave the printer the manuscript of the revised plan of the Democratic organization in this State, the same being the report of the committee which met in Raleigh last week, it being composed of Chairman Eller and Hons T. J. Jarvis, J. S. Henderson, W. T. Crawford, E. L. Travis and Jas. A. Bell. Copies will be forwarded to the members of the State executive, central and advisory committees when printed and these will meet early in March to fix the date and place for holding the next Democratic State convention.

Mr. Quincy Fletcher, a respected citizen of Wilkes county, was given a preliminary hearing before Justice King yesterday afternoon on a charge of aiding a prisoner to escape from the chain gang, and was placed under a $500 bond for his appearance at Superior court. He gave bond promptly. The prisoner whom Fletcher is alleged to have aided in making his escape was his brother, Marshall Fletcher, who was sent to the Iredell gang from Wilkes last summer to serve a four-year term for violation of the liquor laws, but escaped from the gang in November and has since been at large.—Statesville Landmark.

THE SITUATION.

Smallpox at Thomasville Orphanage Under Good Control.

Thank God, our trouble seems to be over. The conditions here are entirely favorable. No new case of smallpox has appeared for ten days or more. We hope we shall have no further trouble on that score.

The children under treatment are doing beautifully. The cases were for the most part extremely light. Miss Olive and a couple of the little ones are badly broken out but they are over the worst now, and with all the rest, are on the high road to health.

We are grateful that we can make this announcement. We are thankful to the Great Physician that he has stayed the scourge. To be sure we have a long wait ahead and a thorough fumigation, which in an institution like this is no laughing matter, but we can go about our task with light hearts since the heavy apprehension and nameless dread have disappeared.

Shining down upon us through the darkness there were many bright stars. Friends sent letters and messages breathing prayers. A man cannot live at the orphanage and not believe in the power of prayer. And the newspapers of the State—how they did help to lift the burden rather than add to its crushing weight. The editors of North Carolina are among the true nobility of the State.

Once more the Orphanage emerges from a night of sorrow with the favor of the Lord resting upon it. Stricken in the dark as it was, the loathsome pestilence is stopped where it first appears and not a scar remains.—Charity and Children.

Morton Pulls Out.

A decided surprise in affairs political transpired this morning when it was learned that Hon. Geo. L. Morton, representative of New Hanover county in the legislatures for several terms during recent years, had announced that he would not stand for re-election in the approaching primary, and the election subsequent thereto. This information came in the form of a personal letter to a friend in the city and also in a card to The Dispatch from Mr. Morton. The card was written at Jacksonville, Fla., where Mr. Morton has been on a business trip. In the communication he announces his reasons for not being in the race this year. The announcement will come as a distinct surprise to Mr. Morton's political friends. It was generally understood that he would stand for re-election. However, he has found that business matters will serve to prevent his candidacy in the primary.—Wilmington Dispatch.

New Farmville Firm.

The half page advertisement of Holmes & Overby, hardware dealers of Farmville, will attract the attention of every reader of The Reflector. These gentlemen recently moved to Farmville from another section of the State, because they believe Pitt is one of the best counties in North Carolina, and they have opened an entirely new stock of hardware and farm implements that is complete in every particulars. They are also showing their enterprise by a liberal use of advertising space in the county paper, and through this invite the people to call and get acquainted with them and see the splendid stock they are offering.

AMERICAN HUSBAND HENPECKED

Their Wives Look at Them only as Good Providers. Says a Woman Writer.

I was traveling with the usual American husband and wife. He, the man of affairs, absorbed somewhat melancholy and silent, writes Mrs. Wilson Woodrow in The Delineator for March. She, restless, hard, ambitious, feverishly pursuing some, to her, important social campaign with a thousand side interests. It seemed a sadly typical case. At last, one day, when my sympathy flowed to this lonely, neglected man, he opened his soul.

"Isn't Emma a wonder?" he chucklingly remarked. "I'll tell you, there's one of the most remarkable women on earth. She's got a head for anything. Never saw such a head. I get all the fun in the world watching her to see what she'll do next. And she always gets there." The ineffable pride of his tone!

The explanation of the whole thing flashed upon me in an instant. The bubble burst with the report of a motor tire. The bond between the American husband and wife which enables each to go his own way with perfect satisfaction is—the game—the pursuit, interest, enthusiasm, what ever it may be, which completely absorbs one's faculties. It is that respect for each other's game which creates the unseen, often unsuspected, tie between the American husband and wife.

No matter what his achievement in art, science, letters, war they do not interest her. He can win from her but one commendation. "A good provider."

The phrase is typically American, tinged strongly with New-Englandism. It represents perfectly the ideal of the American woman, the standard which she demands a husband must live up to. As he measures to the phrase, so he is judged. By this he stands or falls.

Rip Van Winkle.

The impersonation of Rip Van Winkle by Herbert Sprague, assisted by Mr. Sprague, in the opera house Wednesday night, was truly a pleasing entertainment. Mr. Sprague is certainly an artist, and the work of Mrs. Sprague showed equal excellence. These two persons represented the different characters necessary to presenting the drama, and the changes from one character to another were made so quickly as to be almost marvelous. It is remarkable that only two people can give an entertainment of such merit. The audience was very large and all were pleased with the entertainment.

McKeel-Edwards.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Speight invite you to be present at the marriage of their sister Margaret Edwards to Mr. Walter Odus McKeel on Wednesday March the second nineteen hundred and ten at three o'clock at their home near Macclesfield, North Carolina.

Notice to Cut Owners.

All owners of "dead" cuts at The Reflector office will take notice that on March 1st we will sell all such cuts for old metal if they are unclaimed at that time. We are compelled to do so in order to make room, as we have no place for keeping old and out of date cuts, etc. Please notify us if you want yours sent to you. This does not apply to cuts good for further service. The Reflector.

LOCAL BRIEFS.

Knights of Pythias meet tonight.

Robins are giving much sport to the hunters.

The frogs will certainly sing if we get many days like this.

Shad ought to be coming along up the river in this mild weather.

Spring like today, but the weather prophet promises something else tomorrow.

Remember the meeting of Carolina Club tonight. Every member should be present.

The new jewelry store of W. L. Best is an attractive place, his fixtures and stock being very handsome.

This will likely be a good building year for Greenville, and the prospective settler will find it the best time to get real estate.

The Musical Club will meet tonight with Miss Lillie Bennett at the home of Mrs. Charles Skinner. Members urged to be present by 8 o'clock.

Not much cotton is seen on the market these days, and tobacco sales are very light at the warehouses, indicating that both these crops are practically sold.

First Fashions for Spring.

Frank Wilson, the King Clothier, has just returned from New York and the beautiful spring fashions of men's and boys clothing, shoes, hats and furnishing goods are arriving daily. Come in for a look.

Possibilities of Local Co-Operation.

We believe in local co-operation among farmers as a practical business proposition. Here are some practical ways in which you can co-operate with your neighbors: In the purchase of improved implements which will answer neighborhood needs—a pea thresher, for example, a corn harvester, a shredder, a silo-filling outfit, a power spraying outfit, etc.; in the purchase of pure bred sires—stallions, jacks, bulls; in the marketing of truck or produce—put up a good grade, in uniform packages with your mark on them, sell to consumer direct or through one reliable dealer; and get better prices; in the purchase of staple family supplies in large quantities; in drainage propositions, and roads and schools.

Yes, there are a thousand ways in which co-operation will help the farmers. And we believe the co-operation that is most likely to bring immediate profits and to prepare for general co-operative effort, is that among the men who live in one community and can keep in close touch with each other.—Raleigh (N. C.) Progressive Farmer and Gazette.

Tillman Taken Suddenly Ill.

Washington, Feb. 16.—Senator Tillman, of South Carolina, was taken suddenly ill on the steps of capitol today, and had to be carried into his room by two capitol employes. Later he was removed to his home, where he is now under the care of a physician. This attack today is said to have been due to a recurrence of the senator's old trouble, hardening of the arteries. Dr. Pickford said that he did not regard this attack as serious. Late in the day at Senator Tillman's home it was said that the senator was feeling much better.

Drug Company Incorporated.

The drug business which J. L. Wooten has conducted here for many years, has been incorporated under the firm name of John L. Wooten Drug Company, J. L. Wooten, Mrs. J. L. Wooten and B. S. Warren being the incorporators. Mr. Warren will manage the drug store, Mr. Wooten looking largely after his other interests.

WHY NOT HAVE A LAUNDRY.

The question of washerwomen and their families wearing the clothes that they take out to laundry, is being discussed in many towns. But the trouble goes on just the same, and it is a common custom. The washerwomen take out the clothes on Monday morning, and it is rare that the baskets get back to the owner before Saturday evening. In the meantime such articles as can be brought into service are given two or three days wear by the family of the washer woman. Housekeepers sometime wonder and complain that articles of clothing are worn out so soon, but the cause of this is due more to the extra wear they get rather than to the washing. You can just make up your mind when your laundry goes out that you are helping to clothe the washerwoman's family. And there is no remedy for it short of a steam laundry, which every town of any consequence ought to have.

"The Girl from Rectors," a semi-lascivious opera which is playing the Klaw & Erlanger circuit, are certainly getting a lot of free advertising through the papers. It is a kind of show that takes well, pity to say—one that people want to see, but will not own it. They say, "Oh! I only want to see it in a study of theatrical conditions," or some such weak excuse, and consequently packed houses of critics witness it wherever played. The newspapers are doing the trick by their juicy criticisms. Very few ladies see it because their sweethearts or husbands will not take them, but the men go themselves as "critics." In the writer's opinion, a show too weak morally for the ladies to see is too bad for the gentlemen to see even in the capacity of critics, and the mayor of Raleigh was right in holding up the show.

Now if Raleigh would show as much determination to "close the doors" against some other bad things as was displayed in keeping out "The Girl from Rectors," the reputation of the city would be further improved.

Atlanta is going some more. The city council has passed an ordinance prohibiting women wearing their hats in moving picture shows under penalty of a fine of $5.

The superintendent of the Gaffney, S. C., graded school had occasion to brush some boys a few days ago and the mother of one of the youngsters had a warrant issued for the superintendent. The case was tried before a magistrate and a jury, in a court room filled with interested spectators. The teacher offered no evidence, but after hearing the testimony and the argument of counsel the jury promptly returned a verdict of not guilty, which verdict was loudly applauded. The Palmetto folks have many shortcomings, as have their brethren on this side of the line, but it is gratifying to note that the fool sentiment which does not permit children to be controlled either at home or in school, has little support in Gaffney.—Statesville Lankmark,

The public assault on a minister on the streets of Farmville, Pitt county, by two druggists, was not a pleasant spectacle, and was far from being a creditable performance. The druggists would have gained more in public estimation had they laughed off the preacher's charge, which was that they were using the drug business as a mask for whiskey selling, instead of having gone about getting satisfaction by pounding it out of him.—Charlotte Chronicle.

Stomach Dead, Man Still Lives

People who suffer from sour stomach, fermentation of food, distress after eating and indigestion, and seek relief in large chunks of artificial digestors, are killing their stomachs by inaction just as surely as the victim of morphine is deadening and injuring beyond repair every nerve in his body. What the stomach of every sufferer from indigestion needs is a good prescription that will build up his stomach, put strength, energy and elasticity into it, and make it sturdy enough to digest a hearty meal without artificial aid. The best prescription for indigestion ever written is sold by druggists everywhere and by Cox and Wooten, and is rigidly guaranteed to build up the stomach and cure indigestion, or money back. This prescription is named Mi-o-na, and is sold in small tablet form in large boxes, for only 50 cents. Remember the name, Mi-o-na stomach tablets. They never fail. Booth's Pills, best for liver, bowels and constipation, 25c.

SMASHED BY THE SEA

The Story of a Shipwreck in the English Channel.

FIERCE FURY OF THE STORM.

Wind and Wave Battered the Ship Till Only a Shattered Hulk Remained—A Battle Against the Elements That Ended in Defeat.

We had weathered the western islands and entered latitudes where the prudent mariner shortens sail and keeps a wary eye on the barometer, for the seafarer may talk lightly of mountainous seas off the Horn, but not of a winter gale in the mouth of the English channel when the coast is strewn with wreckage from the Lizard to Beachy and his imagination, accustomed to vast expanses of lonely sea, pictures all sorts of craft jostling one another in dangerous proximity.

A favoring gale from the northwest, not more vicious than the ordinary north Atlantic gale, had kept the ship lively all day and set all hands figuring on pay day. It was not until the afternoon watch that the weather outlook became really threatening. Mountainous walls of green water swung out of the darkness and buffeted her as they passed. Fierce squalls smote her in rapid succession, enveloping her in a smother of spray, heeling her until the yardarms dipped in the crests of the waves.

At eight bells the wind lulled and hauled a point to the westward, then hurled itself against the ship with accumulated fury. There was a sudden confusion of flying cordage, overwhelming seas hammering upon the decks and the cannonade of canvas stripped from the spars and blown like thistledown to leeward.

Believed of her top hamper, she staggered erect, dripping like a half tide rock and shaken with the shock of the seas pounding her sides. Halfway on the upward oscillation she poised, checked by the renewed onslaught of the gale as if by the impact of a material obstacle. Rags of canvas streamed from her empty yards. Every wire of her rigging twanged and stretched under the strain.

The deck round the mainmast heaved and was starred with white fissures running along its well oiled planks. The heavy steel spar dimpled on one side, then buckled and crashed overboard in a tangle of wreckage.

The ends of severed wire whipped the air, and twisted shrouds sawed to and fro along the ruined bulwarks and struck showers of sparks from the tormented hatch covers.

were stripped from their coverings, boats smashed to firewood and all the intricate superstructure of the vessel swept and broken. Shouted orders were blown back, inaudible to the men cowering under the break of the poop, and useless if audible.

What seamanship could contrive was done. Men worked for their lives, finding a foothold on the sea swept deck, hacking the jagged ends of iron wire. But the day of cutting wreckage adrift is gone with wooden spars and hemp-cordage. Although the plates gaped and rivets started, the heavy spar held fast alongside, pounding against the iron hull as she rolled in that trough of the sea.

A couple of spare spars were fashed together and launched with infinite danger through the gap in the broken bulwarks. But no improvised sea anchor could hold her to windward amid the tumult of such a sea. She was no longer a ship, but a ruined fabric, crushed and sagging to leeward under the weight of the elements.

Morning brought an abatement of the fury of the gale. Standing on the poop, surveying her shattered bulk, her skipper turned quietly to his mate and asked, "Is the port lifeboat seaworthy?"

"Carpenter reports that it is, sir," replied his subordinate.

The skipper stood for awhile in silence, noting the sluggish life of the deck under his feet. "Suppose we've got to leave her," he said. "What d'ye think?"

It is the sole occasion where the master mariner will deign to consult and be advised by his inferior officer. "She can't float much longer, sir," replied the other sympathetically. It might be that in his time he, too, would require to seek similar advice. "Ah," said the skipper heavily, "and I saw her launched." He crossed over to the tank life rail and laid his hand on it, fondling it affectionately. "All right, mister," he said at last. "We're right in the track of shipping. Pass the word along to put a bag of biscuit aboard and fill the breakers with water."—Pall Mall Gazette.

Short and to the Point.
One of the shortest speeches recorded in forensic annals is that of Taunton, afterward a judge. Charles Phillips, an Irish orator, had made a flowery speech in an assault case.

Taunton, who was for the defendant, said in reply, "My friend's eloquent complaint amounts, in plain English, to this—that his client has received a good, sound horsewhipping—and my defense is as short—that he richly deserved it."

The Boy and the Bear.
"Have you ever heard the story of Algy and the bear?" asked a boy of his father. "It's very short. 'Algy met a bear; the bear was bulky; the bulp was Algy.'"—London News

A FAMOUS HIGHWAY.

The "Old Turtle Trace" That Led From the Colonies to the West.

One of the most famous highways in America is the "Old Turtle Trace" through the valleys and the hills of the lower Appalachians, over which the early pioneers made their way from the colonies to the wilds of Tennessee, Kentucky and the great west. Its usefulness long since having ceased, it has been abandoned with a ruthlessness that causes something akin to pain in the hearts of people who love old things of a historical nature. It is doubtful if at this late day the course of the "Old Turtle Trace" can be accurately defined. I have frequently heard it remarked in east Tennessee, and twice in northern Alabama has an old roadbed been pointed out to me as the course of that historic highway. Presumably it passed over the Cumberland plateau, and a few miles from Tracy City, Tenn., it is most plainly marked. Its course can be followed easily, though the roadbed is now filled with the accumulation of years and the way barred by giant trees that have fallen crosswise or young trees that have taken root and flourished in the path of the rocking chaise of a century ago.

Obviously the name "Turtle Trace" was bestowed by the Indians. Local tradition says that the predecessors of the stage were the Indians of the Turtle clan, who led their war parties to the westward over this trail. Another and quite as well founded tradition is that a turtle's shell was the symbol of the stage line that traversed the route in the early days, a rather humorous play on the speed with which the line used to deliver its fares to the western terminal. At any rate, the "Old Turtle Trace" played no small part in the early development of our west and is to be considered one of the really historic roads of America. It is a very slight test of the imagination to stand by the side of the deep scar in the beautiful face of the Cumberland plateau and see the old chaise rocking along through the afternoon shadows. One can almost see Jefferson, Johnson, Webster and other notables of their time step therefrom, stretch their legs, cramped from travel, and take a refreshing pinch from their gold snuff-boxes. Not a man is now alive who remembers the old days of travel on the Turtle Trace, but doubtless most of the men of the early part of the last century who figured in our country's formative period bowed back and forth over this road on their mission of history making.—National Monthly.

Long Distance Horseback Riding.

One of the most remarkable accomplishments in long distance horseback riding was in the early part of the last century when Squire Obaldistone, at Newmarket, England, on a wager of $5,000, was to ride 200 miles within ten hours. The horses were changed at the end of the four mile circuit, some of them being ridden two or three times, and one, Franby, was brought out for a fourth mount. The squire had to mount and remount each horse from the ground, not using a mounting block, so losing time and taking more strain. In spite of this and the ground not being in good condition, the 200 miles were covered in eight hours and thirty-nine minutes. About thirty horses were ridden.

ON THE WITNESS STAND. The Right of a Witness to Qualify His Answers.

Like Stevenson's child, as a rule, the witness should speak only when he is spoken to. He should not volunteer anything except that when he is asked a question which with apparent innocence could really be answered "Yes" or "No" he has a right to qualify a plain "Yes" or "No." This of course happens most often in the case of experts. The "Yes, but I will explain," and "No, but I will explain," of one of the distinguished expert witnesses for the commonwealth in the case of commonwealth versus Quay, which was tried before Judge Biddle in the court of quarter sessions of Philadelphia county several years ago still linger in the writer's memory.

It is a mistaken notion that a witness is bound to answer "Yes" or "No." It is surprising that such should have ever been the received theory, but then the hunting down of witches and the expounding of the doctrine of witchcraft were regarded as proper judicial functions only a century or two ago. The theory as to categorical reply was completely exploded by the gentleman who propounded the question, "When are you going to stop beating your wife?" and demanded a categorical answer. If the lawyer attempts to tell you that you must answer "Yes" or "No" you have the right to say that the question is one which is not susceptible of a categorical answer. This should floor counsel for the moment.

Mannerly behavior on the part of witnesses includes keeping one's temper under almost all provocations. Cross examination for the purpose of testing your memory is not intended to be and should not be regarded as insulting. It should therefore not be resented. If the cross examination transcends all bounds and your patience is exhausted a sharp retort will not necessarily injure your testimony with the jury. The jury sympathizes with the witness more than with the lawyer, and, while mere smartness for the sake of being smart or because of a too expansive personality is to be deplored, you will be sure of a sympathetic audience if you are in the right and counsel in the wrong.—Ira Jewell Williams in Green Bag.

Sure. Mrs. Church—Are your children being brought up to help themselves? Mrs. Gotham.—Oh, yes; I never lock the cookie jar!—Yonkers Statesman.
