GOV. VANCE'S MANUSCRIPTS

Are Being Collected by the N. C. Historical Society.

To the People of North Carolina: The North Carolina Historical Commission is making a collection of the letters and papers of Gov. Z. B. Vance, with a view to their preservation and publication. Through the co-operation of Mrs. Vance several thousands of such documents have been secured, making one of the most important manuscript collections ever made by the State. The publication of these papers will do more to establish the State's Confederate history beyond dispute than any other collection in existence.

But, unfortunately, this collection contains but few of Governor Vance's own letters, most of those in the collection being letters received by him. It is most important that the publication should contain as many of his own letters as possible.

The Historical Commission, therefore, takes this means of requesting those who possess letters of Governor Vance to turn them over to the Commission, either for permanent preservation or for copying. No letter or paper is so unimportant or trivial but that it may have its place in such a collection; and, we think, the presence of the Historical Commission is sufficient guarantee that no improper use will be made of any letter or paper. The publication has the sanction of Mrs. Vance.

Not is the publication a private enterprise undertaken for the purpose of making money. It will be issued by the State as other State printing, and its purpose is to perpetuate the fame of North Carolina's best beloved son, to extend the reputation of the State, and to make available for the historian the material for studying her history during its greatest epoch.

Any person, therefore, who possesses a letter or other document of Governor Vance will render a service to his memory and to the good name of the State by co-operating with the Historical Commission in this work. Due credit will be given to all who help to forward this work. All communications should be directed to the secretary at Raleigh.

The North Carolina Historical Commission.

J. Bryan Grimes, Chairman.
R. D. W. Connor, Secretary.

Telephone Service Restored.

People who had become accustomed to the use of telephones seriously felt their loss during the few days service was cut off by the fire. It really seemed that they were almost out of the world for the time being. It can be imagined that the jingling of bells and familiar "hello" that announced the restoration of service this morning were most welcome sounds. Since the morning after the fire the crew have been working day and night, not even stopping Sunday, to get the service restored, and considering the extent of damage done to the cables and wires they have restored the service in a remarkably short time.

General Superintendent Toepelman came back from Henderson Sunday evening, to see how the work was progressing, and was much gratified to find the exchange getting back to normal condition. The workmen have made over 6,000 connections since Thursday morning.

WINTERVILLE ITEMS.

Newly Notes From Our Hurling Neighbor.

Winterville, N. C. Feb., 26 1910. We tender our sympathy to Greenville in its great loss by fire.

Misses Hattie Kittrell and Vivian Roberson spent Sunday in Bethel visiting Mrs. Novella Staton.

Jesse Whichard, of House, was here yesterday visiting his sister, Mrs. J. H. Smith.

Joe Buck, of Morehead City, came in last night to spend a while visiting relatives.

J. R. Smith, of Ayden, was in town yesterday on business.

H. E. Ellis came in yesterday from Kinston, where he has been visiting his brother, Mark Ellis.

William Moye, who lived near Greenville, was buried near here, at the old burying ground yesterday.

We are glad to learn that S. G. Nine, who has been sick, is out again.

Judging from the way the farmers are hauling fertilizers, we are inclined to believe that there will be plenty to eat, and plenty eat with it, made this year.

In response to a telegram, stating that his brother was very sick, J. D. Cox came in from Fairmont Wednesday.

It is with sadness that we learn of the death of Mr. N. T. Cox near Shelmerdine. He died Thursday and will be buried today, at Hancock church, near here. He leaves eight children, a wife, three brothers, and three sisters, many friends and relatives, to mourn his death. Mr. Cox was a good neighbor, an excellent member of the Board of county commissioners, a devoted husband and father, and a loyal member of the Primitive Baptist church at Hancock. We tender our deepest sympathy to the bereaved relatives. R. H. Hunzucker carried the casket to the home of the deceased last night, and will bring the corpse to Hancock today.

Backed Up to the Fountain.

There are some amusing incidents that take place even in the midst of a thing so alarming as a fire, and the last one proved no exception. Foreman C. W. Hearne, of The Reflector, with two buckets ran to the fountain on the court house square to get water to put out the burning windows of The Reflector building. As he was drawing the water a sudden burst of flames from the court house threw such intense heat upon him that he involuntarily turned around, almost dazed, held out both his buckets towards the fire and backed against the fountain. By the time the spigot had sent a stream of water down his back and filled his shoes he was fully awakened to the humor of his situation, and scooted back across the street with his two buckets of water.

Prisoners Escape From Guard House.

During the fire Thursday morning four colored prisoners, three men and one woman, were removed from the burning jail and placed in the town guard house. Sometime during Saturday night the three men made their escape by drawing the staple that held the lock. One of the men has since returned and surrendered himself. All of the prisoners were held for minor offenses.

A PUZZLED TRAVELING MAN.

But He Obeys Orders and Gets One of the Twins at the Right Place.

There is not a man in town prouder of his twins than Mr. J. G. Moye. During the recent fire when his home was in so much danger, the first thought of himself and friends was to send the children to places of safety. In the midst of the excitement Mrs. Alfred Forbes came to the door of the Moye home with one of the children in her arms. A traveling man, many of whom were around the fire offering to render any assistance possible, ran up to the door and asked: "Madam, can I be of any service to you?"

"Yes, thank you, take this baby and carry it to my house quick," was the grateful reply.

"Madam, where is your house?" the salesman inquired. "At Mrs. Alfred Forbes," he was told hurriedly.

"Where does Mrs. Forbes live?" he next asked.

"Right across the street from Mr. Munford's" he was told.

"And, Madam, where does Mr. Munford live?" once more asked the puzzled salesman, wanting to be sure of his mission.

"Man, don't ask so many questions, but take this baby and go quick as I have told you," was the eager command.

He took the precious bundle of humanity and went as directed, inquiring his way diligently until he reached Mrs. Forbes' home. After leaving the child and returning to the scene of the fire, some one asked him if he got to the right place with the child. "Guess I did, as I found another one there just like it," was the proud response.

The New Form.

"Hanged by the neck until you are dead, dead, dead, and may God have mercy on yours soul," will not be heard again by a North Carolina criminal sentenced to death by the court. The new form in this electric age, as given by Judge E. B. Jones in Charlotte last Tuesday when he sentenced Cobb Withers to death for murder is: "It is ordered and directed by the court that on the 21st day of April, 1910, between the hours of 10 a. m. and 3 p. m. that the warden of the State prison be and he is hereby ordered and directed in the manner prescribed by law to electrocute or put to death by means of electricity in the manner prescribed by law the prisoner, Cobb Withers. And may God have mercy on his soul.—Monroe Journal.

Newsy Items of Interest Condensed for Busy Readers.

Raleigh, Feb. 26.—A reward of $200 is offered by Governor Kitchin for the recapture of Solomon Shepard, the convicted negro murderer of Engineer Holt, of Durham, who escaped from the penitentiary authorities within a week after he was committed to their custody to serve his 30 years sentence. It was on Tuesday that Shepard made the successful leap for liberty from a work train as it was moving slowly through a swamp on the return to the camp for the night. The negro quickly "lost himself" in the swamp and escaped injury from a number of shots fired after him. His convict clothes have since been found in the vicinity. The prison authorities are especially exasperated by the escape and the guards on duty at this camp came in for their share of insistence that the number of escapes must be materially reduced.

Should be Restored to Owners.

During the fire Thursday morning, in the hurried moving of the contents of buildings that could be gotten cut, numerous articles were scattered about at various places. All of the articles thus saved have not yet been restored to the owners, and some are being looked for. If persons having such articles, or knowing their whereabouts, will let it be known at The Reflector office, we will endeavor to get the information to the owners. We will make no charge for advertising any articles lost during the fire, as we desire as far as possible to help all who suffered by the disaster. Do your part now and let us get such articles as were saved restored to their owners.

Changes From Law to Ministry.

Mr. Fred T. Collins, a native of Robeson county and student at Wake Forest College, occupied the pulpit of Memorial Baptist church here Sunday morning and night, and preached sermons that made a favorable impression on his hearers. Mr. Collins was preparing himself at Wake Forest to be a lawyer, but about a month ago decided that he would go into the ministry. His visit here was the third time he has been sent out from the college to preach. He gives evidence that he possesses the qualities to make an able minister of the Gospel.

THE BETTER INTELLIGENCE.

Great Mistake to Take Country People for Greenhorns.

The Charlotte Chronicle than which there is no better paper in North Carolina, freely confesses its confusion over a discovery it has recently made—that country people are generally more intelligent and better informed than city people. We are not surprised that so wide-awake newspaper as The Chronicle would make such a discovery, although somewhat tardy in doing so. One great mistake that many city people make is that they generally take country people for greenhorns and treat them as such. Of course all country people are not Solomons by any means. But upon the whole we believe that for genuine intelligence the country will bear favorable comparison with the city any day. The Chronicle's very thoughtful editorial on the subject may cause a great many people to sit up and take notice.—Waxhaw Enterprise.

PUBLIC LOSS.

The recent fire was one that affects everybody more than ordinarily in such disasters, therefore can well be termed a public loss. The court house and jail had the joint interest of every tax payer in the county and the loss of these is distributed among all of them. The Masonic Temple while built by the Masons, was also the home of the Old Fellows and Pythians, and each member of these fraternities has suffered a loss. The opera house in the same building affects the entire community, for it was there that all gathered for amusement. The public library and rest room also held the interest of the public and the loss of these is felt by many. Taken all together it does not look like a fire could have occurred that at once caused a loss to so large a number.

The Reflector certainly appreciates the esteem in which it is held by the brethren of the Press of the State. So many have extended congratulations, some even expressing themselves in words of joy, at our escape from the fire, that it has touched us greatly. We hoped to preserve these expressions and print them for the home people to read, but in the days of confusion and strain following the fire we lost some of them. We send this greeting to the brethren to let them know we appreciate their kind feelings more than can be expressed in words. The Reflector hopes to always merit their good wishes.

President Taft does not like the way some of the newspapers criticize his administration, and in a recent speech took occasion to denounce them. He could hardly adopt a surer road to political death. The papers have the ear of the people and they know the acts of the president deserve criticism. The White House has not had a more ready tool of the trusts than now occupies it, for while he pretends with one hand to be prosecuting them, he is patting them on the back with the other.

When disasters come upon a community, there should be a spirit of helpfulness in every heart. Especially should it be a time for men to fulfill any obligations they have. It may be that you owe an account to some one who suffered by the fire. If this is true, hasten to pay it. Be ready to do your part to help other people along. The spirit of all standing together and working together will help to surmount any disaster.

President Taft is turning things upside down in his North Carolina appointments. The recommendations of Chairman Duncan seem to have the right of way, this being a bid for the North Carolina delegation to the next national Republican convention. While the appointments may suit the machine, they are giving very little satisfaction to the people.

We believe that laborers should have their rights, organize if they want to, and quit work if they had rather do that than keep on their jobs. But this thing of inciting strikes and riots to prevent others working should not be tolerated a moment. If need be the United States army should be called out to suppress such lawlessness.

Does the lecturer, who says that money does not go as far as it used to, mean that the world is smaller than formerly?—Greensboro News.

Hardly that, but we guess he means that so many are out to intercept its going that it is gobbled up before it gets half way.

Guess some of the figure head hangers on to naval positions will not like the president's idea that more young men should be promoted in rank. If efficiency is wanted that is the step to take.

The man who thinks everything depends upon himself, needs to be awakened.

DO IT NOW

Greenville People Should Not Wait Until It is Too Late.

The appalling death rate from kidney disease is due in most cases to the fact that the little kidney troubles are usually neglected until they become serious. The slight symptoms give place to chronic disorders and the sufferer goes gradually into the grasp of diabetes, dropsy, Bright's disease, gravel or some other serious form of kidney complaint.

If you suffer from backache, headaches, dizzy spells; if the kidney secretions are irregular of passage and unnatural in appearance, do not delay. Help the kidneys at once.

Doan's Kidney Pills are especially for kidney disorders—they cure where others fail. Over one hundred thousand people have recommended them.

Here is one of many cases in this vicinity.

Romulus S. Butler, 219 Harvey St., Washington, N. C. says: "I am well pleased with the results that followed the use of Doan's Kidney Pills in my case and can highly recommend them to other kidney sufferers. I was subject to dull pains in my back, accompanied by sharp twinges through my loins for some time. Doan's Kidney Pills removed my trouble and benefited me in every way."

TRICK ANIMALS.

Sometimes the Trainer Has to Do His Work Quickly.

"You wouldn't believe how fast you have to work to train an animal," said the man who has broken everything from elephants to geese the other day. "Why, I can tell just how many hours it is going to take to break in any kind of animal you might mention."

"A woman came to me the other day and said: 'I want a trained goose for my magic act. How much will you charge me to break one?'" "Sixty dollars," said I.

"Well, how do you figure that out?" she asked.

"Why, it's very simple," I said. "It's $1 an hour, and it will take me just sixty hours."

"Yes, sir; I can train a goose—that is, to follow me around and do some simple tricks—in sixty hours, a pig in thirty hours, and so on. But as for a peafowl and a guinea hen—they can't be trained in a hundred years."

"Now, you take a troupe of trained dogs. That doesn't take half as long to do as people suppose. No, sir; a man with an animal show has got to work fast. Why, maybe the boss comes around on a Monday morning and says: 'Here—here's a bunch of six dogs. Now make an act out of it for next Monday's show.'"

"There are six green dogs to make into a troupe in a week. Can't be done, you say? Sure, it can! One dog—one trick—one day. That's the principle, and you can do it too. Each dog will learn a trick each day all right. One will learn a back somersault, one a front somersault, one to walk on his hind legs, one on his front legs, one to roll over, and so on. Then by the end of the week you've got a nice little act, and all the people are acclaiming about your years of patience and that sort of stuff. Patience is a good thing, of course, but the secret is just 'know how,' that's all." —New York Post.

Telling Eggs.

The problem of telling eggs is not an easy one by any means. Very few of us know how to do it properly. On the other hand, there are those who think they should not be told at all, but that is old fashioned nonsense. It is safe to say that eggs should be told at as early an age as possible, consistent with their temperament. It is allowed to go too far, but it is a danger that should be avoided, and when a egg is full of bad eggs which have been saved if they are told in time.—Lippin cott's
