CALL FROM R. L. DAVIS.

Prospects of Bill to Regulate Interstate Shipment of Liquors.

Wilson, N. C., March 19.—While there is a universal cry going on, not only in our State, but in all other dry territory of the nation, against the protection that the Interstate Commerce laws give the liquor traffic, the National Anti-Saloon League and other temperance organizations are hard at work to secure relief. There has already been introduced at the present congress, the "Langley-Curtis Anti-Saloon League Interstate Liquor Shipment Bill," Senate Bill No. 2486 and House No. 5169.

The bill reads as follows: "To Regulate the Interstate Commerce Shipment of Intoxicating Liquors.

"Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled: That any person, firm, corporation, common carrier, or any agency of interstate commerce who shall ship, express, or otherwise transport any distilled, malt, vinous, or intoxicating liquor from any State, foreign country, territory or district of the United States to any other State territory or district of the United States where such shipments or transportation of such liquor cannot legally be made from one point to another within such State, territory or district of the United States to which such liquor is consigned, or to any place in such State, territory or district of the United States to which such shipment or transportation of such liquor cannot legally be made from another point within the same State, territory or district of the United States, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and on conviction therefore shall be fined not less than five hundred dollars nor more than one thousand dollars for the first offense, and for the second offense not less than one thousand dollars nor more than five thousand dollars and imprisonment for a term of not less than six months nor more than two years."

This bill provides for the direct exercise of congressional power by prohibiting transportation of liquor from outside a State to points to which liquor cannot be legally transported from another point within the same State. It is calculated to apply both to prohibition States and prohibition territory in local option States. Its structure, it is believed, not only obviates the constitutional objection, but is manifestly in accord with a sound public policy. This bill was introduced in the house by Hon. John W. Langley, of Kentucky, who in faithful, sincere and zealous advocacy of temperance measures is second to no man in congress, and in the senate by Hon. Charles Curtis, of Kansas, a tried and tested friend of every reasonable temperance movement.

I believe that this bill is the thing for North Carolina and therefore, we desire to give all of our influence to aid its passage. We would advise those who favor such measure, to send personal letters to their congressmen and senators and ask them to use their influence to aid this legislation, giving them the name and number of the bill. We also advise our conferences, conventions, synods and other church gatherings to pass resolutions and reports asking for

GARBAGE AND ANTI-SPITTING

Ordinances Published for Information and Guidance of Citizens.

Two ordinances adopted by the Board of Aldermen, that bear upon the cleanliness of the town, are published below, that citizens may be advised of the existence of such laws and govern themselves accordingly:

GARBAGE ORDINANCE.

All garbage accumulation within the limits of the town shall be placed in a convenient place for removal by the town carts on Monday and Thursday of each week and at no other time. It shall be the duty of each householder, agent, tenant or other person who shall reside or do business in the town to have placed on either of said days, in boxes, barrels, crates or other vessels on the street, in convenient places, so as not to obstruct any of the gutters, all garbage, trash, waste paper and other refuse of every kind, except liquid substance and fetid matter, and same shall be removed by the town carts. Said boxes, barrels, crates or other vessels shall be removed from the street by the occupant of the house as soon as said garbage has been removed by the town carts. Any person who shall violate the provisions of this section shall be fined five dollars for each offense.

ANTI SPITTING ORDINANCE

It is hereby declared to be a nuisance for any person to spit or expectorate upon any of the paved or granolithic sidewalks of the town or to spit or expectorate upon the floor or walks of the market house, fire engine house, mayor's office or on the floors of any building owned or occupied by the town of Greenville or its offices or upon the floors or walks of the post office, court house, waiting rooms of the railroad companies or churches or upon the floors or walks of any other hall or building used for public purposes. Any person violating any of the provisions of this ordinance, shall for each and every offense upon conviction be fined the sum of five dollars.

By order of the Board of Aldermen.

J. C. Tyson, Clerk.

Oxford Orphanage Singing Class.

The singing class of 1910 from the Oxford Orphanage will start on its first or eastern concert tour on Monday, March 28th. The first tour will close before June 24th, the date of the annual Saint John's Day exercises on the grounds of the institution.

Near the last of July the second or western tour will begin.

These annual concerts have reached a really high standard of excellence. The children and those who accompany them represent a cause very near to the hearts of our people. Even if the tour and entertainments were not in the interest of a great work, the character of the concerts would merit large and liberal patronage. An admission fee is, as a rule, charged and for this the children certainly give full value and more.

the passage of this bill. I believe if the forces of righteousness will put forth strenuous efforts for the passage of this bill, that it can be secured through the present congress, and if not in the very near future.

A DAY FOR THE LADIES

Large Numbers of Them Visit the Millinery Openings

This has truly been a day of interest for the ladies of Greenville and vicinity. In keeping with themselves, they naturally like pretty things, hence it was expected that large numbers of them would be out at the millinery openings, especially with the additional attraction of a day of ideal spring weather.

The ladies, well, they spoke for themselves, and it is useless to attempt to comment on that part of the day's attraction. And the millinery openings, it can be well said that Greenville's business people never made finer and more creditable displays. There were four establishments that had opening displays, C. T. Munford, Pulley & Bowen, Mrs. I. F. Lee & Co. and Mrs. L. Griffin. Each of these stores presented a scene of marked beauty in the display of very latest designs in hats, flowers and millinery goods generally. The exhibits gave ample evidence that our millinery dealers are in constant touch with the fashion centres, and have artistic trimmers skilled in preparing the very best hat creations for their customers. All the new styles were in evidence today, even to the famed "Chanticleer," and while a mere man cannot do justice in describing matters of this kind, the reporter knew by the expressions of admiration heard from the ladies that they were delighted. The dealers have cause to feel proud that their displays were so beautiful as to merit such admiration.

Notice to Lyceum Course Subscribers

The management of the lyceum course of the End of the Century Club for the benefit of the public library, request all subscribers to the course who have not paid the amount agreed, to please pay the same sometime this week, as the committee will report to the club at a meeting to be held next week. For convenience, those who owe can call at Reflector Book Store and pay there. 3 23

Ice Cream for Sunday.

Committee No. 3 of St. Paul's Parochial society, is taking orders for Norfolk ice cream to be delivered for dinner next Sunday. Prices 50 cents per quart of six blocks, or 10 cents per block. Those desiring cream should place their orders with Mrs. R. Williams or Mrs. C. S. Carr by Thursday evening. 3 23

He Knows Now.

"Didn't know your town could show so many beautiful women," was a visitor's remark today as he saw them passing in and out the millinery openings. He knows now that Greenville's possession in this particular is unsurpassed.

Dr Alexander to Speak.

Dr. H. Q. Alexander, of Mecklenburg county, president of North Carolina Division Farmers Union, will speak in Greenville, Friday, April 1st, 1910 at the Star Warehouse at 11 a. m. Public cordially invited.

School Invitations.

The Reflector Printing House has a beautiful line of samples for school commencement invitations, and will be glad to quote prices to schools wanting them. The samples cannot be sent out, but may be seen at this office.

CAPTURED A STILL.

Sheriff Tucker and Deputies Made a Haul.

Sheriff Tucker and Deputies Hyman and Jackson went out on a "still" hunt, Monday night, and found the goods. In a piece of woods near Haddock's X Roads they discovered a still of about 50 gallons capacity, all set up ready for work with the exception of the cap. Four barrels of grapes were also found. The officers poured out the grapes and brought the still to town with them. No information was obtained as to who was operating the still, as no one was anywhere around it when it was found.

CHAPEL HILL NOTES.

Chapel Hill, N. C., Mar. 21.—A stronger interest is being evinced in music this spring than has been evinced by the students in the last college generation. The custom of singing after supper is becoming more prevalent. The cheery songs of haphazard groups, gathered at Klutz's store and in front of Eubank's, or wandering about the campus, or lounging about the old well, often cause distant students to respond with quicker step, or deeper breath, or other songs.

The Musical Association has been more effectively organized with R. McNeill, president; W. B. Ellis, vice-president; J. R. Wildman, secretary and treasurer; W. H. Oerman and C. T. Woollen, directors; and J. G. Beard, business manager. The band under the leadership of W. B. Ellis adds to the interest and spirit of the ball games. The Glee Club and orchestra are practicing daily. Twenty-six men have been chosen out of the number of candidates for places in the orchestra and glee club.

The Glee Club and orchestra will give performances in eight towns of the State. Manager Beard has arranged the schedule: Winston Salem, March 26; Chapel Hill, March 31; Wilson, April 4; Tarboro, April 5; Goldsboro, April 6; New Bern, April 7; Wilmington, April 8; and Fayetteville, April 9. The performance in Winston-Salem will be the night of the Carolina-Davidson game in that city. The two teams will occupy opposite boxes that night in the theatre and their songs and cheers in friendly rivalry will complete the collegiate touch.

The baseball season opened last week with the Bingham (of Mebane) game. As the Bingham team was composed of several professionals and semi-professionals the victory of the Carolina amateurs gives promise of another championship record. Bob Howard, Wilmington's star slabsman last summer, was hit rather freely by the Carolina team. Stewart, who was on the firing line for Carolina, struck out eleven and yielded but three hits. Hackney's hitting and fielding was the feature of the game. Carolina's line-up was: Swink and Poole, catchers; Stewart (Capt.) pitcher; Hamilton, first-base; Duncan, second base; Tillett, short stop; Armstrong, third base; Bivens, left field; Hackney, center field; and Rose, right field.

The second game was with Oak Ridge which is also composed of several league players such as Earl Holt and Mayberry, professors in the school and former players of Wilson, Clapp, third baseman for Greensboro. There was no scoring until the tenth inning and Oak Ridge made three in her half and Caro-

Have a little care that Easter eggs are not too ripe.

If the thing keeps going we certainly will be believing that the next congress will be Democratic.

Packages of seeds in the mail this time of year reminds one that congressmen are holding down their jobs.

Since being shorn of his locks, Speaker Cannon may feel very much like Sampson and try to "pull down the house".

We bet that Hunter Roosevelt regrets that he did not get back in time to see the fun when they swatted Uncle Joe.

Since he has discovered that Peary is in the same boat with him, so far far as credibility goes, Dr. Cook is said to be thinking of letting himself be discovered.

On next Tuesday, 29th, the Board of County Commissioners will hold a special meeting to give further consideration to the matter of building a new court house and a new jail. People all over the county are showing much interest and express themselves as favorable to building on such a plan as will be creditable to so large a county as Pitt and meet the public needs for generations to come. From what talking we have done with members of the board, we feel sure this is their purpose. They are men who have the welfare of the county at heart, and they want to do just what is best. Pitt county should certainly have a creditable court house, and that is what she is going to have.

Stand by your town. Not a dollar invested there but some good comes of it. There is no family like one's own family; there is no wife like one's own wife; there should be no town like one's own town, where we live, educate our children, on whose street our babies play, and where we may some day sleep. Let the newspapers stand by the town, and let the business men stand by the newspapers, and let us make our home as famous as possible. - Gaffney, S. C. Ledger.

Last week in a good farming section I passed a farm and saw a row of windows in the stables and a pile of manure under each window, against the stable and under the eaves. I wanted badly to stop and tell that man what a waste he was making, for the ground sloped away from the stable and the manure was not only heating but was leaching down to the branch below. I saw other fields where manure had been hauled out in the fall and forked off the wagon into small piles, and was standing there covered with snow, to make rank and lodging spots when that field comes into wheat. And the farmer was handling that manure three times when he could have handled it but once on a manure spreader and left it on the land in the best shape. And yet they are complaining of the scarcity of labor, while using more than is needed. - W. F. Massey, in Raleigh (N. C.) Progressive Farmer and Gazette.

Fire Department statistics show that some eighty per cent. of all fires are extinguished by chemical apparatus.

Nearly all fires are discovered at the start and are readily put out if means are at once available.

A stream is thrown to a distance of about fifty feet, carrying a large amount of carbonic acid gas, which excludes the oxygen and prevents combustion.

A fire cannot live if a small per cent. of carbonic acid gas is in the air.

It is forty times as efficient as water and will extinguish fires of oil, naphtha, gasoline, etc., which water only spreads.

AN EFFECTIVE FETICH.

The Surprise Stanley Prepared For an African Chief.

Ngalyema was an African and an enterprising trader in ivory and slaves, holding the position of chief of the Stanley Pool district. He had demanded, wrote Sir Henry M. Stanley in his "Autobiography," and also received a goodly sum for granting Stanley the privilege of establishing a station where up river navigation begins. Time passed, and Ngalyema chose to forget this transaction and made an impudent demand for more money. Duly warned, however, Stanley had prepared a surprise for him:

I had hung a great Chinese gong conspicuously near the principal tent. All my men were hidden, some in the steamboat on top of the wagon, and in its shadow was a cool place, where the warriors would gladly rest after a ten mile march. Other of my men lay still as death under tarpaulins, under bundles of grass and in the bush round the camp. By the time the drum taps and horns announced Ngalyema's arrival the camp seemed practically abandoned.

Ngalyema was strangely cold at my hearty greeting and said: "Has not my brother forgotten his road? What does he mean by coming to this country?"

"Nay, it is Ngalyema who has forgotten the blood bond that exists between us. It is Ngalyema who has forgotten the mountains of goods which I paid him. What words are these of my brother?"

Speech and counterspeech followed. Ngalyema had exhausted his arguments, but it was not easy to break faith and be uncivil without plausible excuse. His eyes were reaching round to discover an excuse to fight when they rested on the round, burnished face of the Chinese gong.

"What is that?" he said. "A fetich!—that is a fetich."

"A fetich! A fetich for what?" "It is a war fetich, Ngalyema. The slightest sound of that would fill this empty camp with hundreds of angry warriors. They would drop from above, they would spring up from the ground, from the forest about, from everywhere."

"Sho! Tell that story to the old women and not to a chief like Ngalyema. My boy tells me it is a kind of bell. Strike it and let me hear it."

"O Ngalyema, my brother, the consequences would be too dreadful! Do not think of such a thing."

"Strike it, I say." I struck it hard and fast, and the clangorous roll rang out like thunder in the stillness.

Only for a few seconds, however, for a tempest of human voices was heard bursting into frightful discord, and from above, right upon the heads of the astonished warriors, leaped yelling men, and from tents, the huts, the forest roundabout, they came by sixes, dozens and scores, yelling like madmen and seemingly animated with uncontrollable rage.

The painted warriors became panic-stricken. They forgot their chief and all thoughts of loyalty and fled on the instant, fear lifting their heels high in the air.

But Ngalyema and his son did not fly. They caught the tails of my coat, and we began to dance from side to side, a loving triplet, myself being foremost to ward off the blows savagely aimed at my "brothers" and cheerfully crying out:

"Hold fast to me, my brothers! I will defend you to the last drop of my blood! Come one, come all!"

Presently the order was given, "Fall in!" and quickly the men stood in two long lines in beautiful order. Ngalyema relaxed his hold of my coat tails and crept from behind, breathing more freely.

"Eh, mamma!" he exclaimed. "Where did all these people come from?"

"Ah, Ngalyema," I said, "did I not tell you it was a powerful fetich? Let me strike it again and show you what else it can do."

"No, no!" he shrieked. "I have seen enough."

A Queen's Wit.

In a biography of Leech, the painter, who at one time acted as drawing master to Queen Victoria, the late Mr. W. P. Frith related an amusing story illustrating her majesty's wit.

One day, in the course of a lesson, the queen let her pencil fall to the ground. Both master and pupil stooped at the same moment to pick it up, when, to the horror of Leech, there was a collision, the master's head striking that of his royal pupil. Before he could stammer out an apology, however, the queen smilingly said:

"Well, Mr. Leech, if we bring our heads together in this way I ought to improve rapidly."

AN ECCENTRIC DOG.

His Pet Hobbies Were Birds' Nests and a Cat.

I once knew a very eccentric dog. He was a real old English spaniel, with long body, short legs with great bone, grand head, jaws and teeth like a wolf's almost and long ears that would meet his nose. Poor fellow! His temper was certainly unamiable, but I think this was caused by the state of his health.

He was a very curious animal, never showing much attachment to any one. He would bite his best friends on the least provocation. Nothing, though, offended him so much as being laughed at. That was an insult he never forgave. If you began to laugh at him he would growl in a very ominous manner and if you persisted in it would snap at you and give you such a bite that you would not care to try again.

If you wished to please him you had to get a lot of old birds' nests and give them to him, one by one. He would carry them about for some time, and then he would sit down and tear them to pieces. He was not particularly fond of going for a walk with any one, but if you got some nests and gave him one occasionally he would trot along with you as happy as possible.

Another curious habit of his was that he would never get out of the way for any one. When he was trotting along he never moved from his line if he saw any one coming, but if he saw they did not intend to move would begin to growl and look so savage that people usually made haste out of his way. When he happened to be running down a hill he did not growl, but merely ran against people if they did not clear out, his great weight usually upsetting them, of which he took not the slightest notice.

A great friendship arose between this dog and a fine cat we had, and it was very amusing to see them together. He would walk up to the cat and begin to lick her all over, and then she would rub all around him, purring and seeming to be very fond of him, when all of a sudden she would stop, look up in his face and spit at him, at the same time giving him two or three sharp scratches, the only notice of which he took was to close his eyes so that they might not be hurt.—Bailey's Magazine.

Fully Grown.

The old lady had a son who intended to emigrate to Canada as soon as possible, and as he was temporarily confined to his room she had promised to find out as much as she could from the information office.

Accordingly she entered the building the next morning and was particularly struck by the stuffed head of a Canadian moose that graced one of the walls.

"Young man," she said to the clerk, "what kind of an animal is that—a hippopotamus?"

"No, ma'am," was the answer. "It's a Canadian moose."

The old lady took a step back and raised her hands in wonderment.

"What!" she cried. "You beast a Canadian mouse! Well, that beats anything I ever heard! I wonder what the rats out there is like!"—London Tit-Bits.

Inverted Rainbows.

Not very many persons have ever seen an inverted rainbow, although the phenomenon sometimes appears. At the Italian Geodynamic observatory of Rocca da Papa the director and a party of visitors were fortunate enough to see one. The morning was showery, and as the party looked down from an elevation of 2,300 feet they saw in the Campagna a perfect rainbow, with concave side up. From the Eiffel tower, in Paris, one has also been seen, in this case the rainbow being double and extending above and below the horizon to form two concentric circles nearly complete. Generally the inverted rainbow is to be seen only in the mountains and then very rarely. The phenomenon, of course, is due merely to the position of the observer, which must be above the refracting agent instead of below.

Growth of Postal Service.

In Washington's administration the postmaster general had but one clerk. There were only seventy-five postoffices and 1,875 miles of post roads in the United States. The cost of the mail transportation was $22,081, the total revenue $37,935, the total expenditure $32,140, leaving a surplus of $5,795. It was not till 1838 that the idea of utilizing the railroads in the mail service was thought of, and the present railway mail service was not inaugurated until 1864, when it was begun by Colonel Armstrong.—New York American.
