WINTERVILLE ITEMS.

Newsy Notes From Our Hasting Neighbor.

Winterville, N. C. Mar. 23, 1910.

B. F. Manning, of Ayden, was in our town Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Smith spent Sunday at Staton's visiting relatives.

Willie Bullock, of Grifton, was visiting relatives here last Sunday.

J. L. and O. W. Rollins, L. A. Manning and F. A. Edmundson and Miss Venie Crawford attended services at Ayden last Sunday.

Mrs. Hattie Tucker and daughter, Miss Nannie Loy, went to Greenville Tuesday.

R. G. Chapman and M. G. Bryan attended services at Ayden Sunday.

Mrs. J. F. Harrington went to Greenville Tuesday.

Levi Whitehead and daughter, Miss Minnie Mae, of Parmele, spent Sunday here visiting friends.

Henry and Jesse Haddock, of South Carolina, were visiting relatives here last Sunday.

Rev. Mr. Clark, of Raleigh, preached two excellent sermons in the Baptist church last Sunday morning and night.

On next Sunday, which is Easter Sunday, there will be services in the M. E. church at 11 a. m., and in the Episcopal church at 3:30 p. m. On that day we are reminded of the resurrection of Jesus Christ and his victory over the power of Satan and the grave. The day brings a message of pardon, peace and hope; and our mission is to pass it on to others and tell them of the risen Savior.

Rev. E. L. St. Clair, of Edison, Ga., will preach at Reedy Branch the 1st Sunday morning; and in the Free Will Baptist church here that night.

Remember the lecture in the W. H. S. auditorium by Dr. Chas. Brewer Friday night, March 25th. You are cordially invited to be present.

We are glad to announce that Master Harrell Dixon, who has had pneumonia, is out again.

Mr. Beddard's in the merry throng—it's a boy—the same sweet song.

Our boys seem favorably impressed with the beauty that Ayden possesses. They stay late, after going soon; and return by the light of the moon. Ask 'em, if you wish to know how long they stay, and when they go.

The W. H. S. baseball team played a warm game with the Red Springs team last Saturday afternoon. The score stood 7 to 6 in favor of the W. H. S. boys.

Have you seen that nice display showcase in Harrington, Barber & Co.'s store? It's a beauty.

Honor Roll.

Those on the roll of honor of King's Cross roads school for the term ending March 24th, 1910, are as follows:

Irene Smith, Durward Smith, Mattie Smith, Mamie Ruth Smith, Christine Smith, Seba Corbett, Clifton Corbett, Mary Forbes, Anna Forbes, Estelle Little, Martha Little, Alice Keel, Pearl Norman, Ethel Norman, Roland Parker, Robbie Smith, Julius Smith, Claud Pierce, Olivia Flanagan, and Ben. A. Atkinson.

Miss Irene Smith was awarded a prize for faithful practice, and progress in music during the term.

Hilda M. Cox, Teacher.

AYDEN ITEMS.

Newsy Notes From a Hasting Town Briefly Told

Ayden, N. C. Mar. 22.

Miss Rosa Bland returned from a visit to Rocky Mount Sunday.

The protracted meeting at the Methodist church closed Sunday night.

In the absence of the pastor, Rev. C. Manly Morton, E. L. Brown, our popular railroad agent, conducted services for him at Garris's Memorial chapel Sunday afternoon.

Tom Roberson, foreman in the log woods for Ayden Lumber Company, was cutting Monday and his axe came in contact with a limb over head and struck him, inflicting a painful wound on his scalp. Dr. Frizzle dressed it and pronounced it not serious.

A colored woman while engaged in doing house work at Walter L. McLawhon's residence fell dead, while going about her duties Saturday morning.

Raleigh Jackson, of Plymouth, was in town Wednesday.

Carl Jones spent Sunday in Lenoir county with his parents.

The days are getting longer and nights shorter and will soon be the time when our merchants close their stores at six o'clock to give the clerks a little recreation.

Our artesian well men have encountered the third rock and passed through.

Rev. Mr. Clark, of Raleigh, will preach in the Baptist church here Wednesday night.

Mr. Neddie Carman, 92 years old died at his home near Round trees' Tuesday. He leaves a widow and one son, Mr. E. C. Carman.

Guy Taylor has purchased the house and lot from Major James A. Davis in Ghent, and will move as soon as Mr. Davis moves into his beautiful home now about finished.

W. F. Hart is off on a pleasure trip to Pitch Kettle seine. We hear that the catch of fish there this season eclipses any for a long time.

Miss Helen Cox, of Greensboro, and Miss Louise Outlaw, of Goldsboro, are visiting Mrs. Lula Boyd.

The Betterment society will entertain at the graded school building Friday night. All are invited, refreshments will be served.

Our artesian well is now 300 feet deep and still going down.

W. J. Boyd made a business trip to Snow Hill Wednesday.

J. J. Edwards is treating his house with a new coat of paint.

G. J. Cherry, of Charleston, and Mr. Johnson, of Pennsylvania, arrived Tuesday, Mr. Cherry is president of the Ayden Lumber Company, and Mr. Johnson buys lumber for the American Lumber Co.

A New Directory Soon.

We are now getting up our new Telephone directory, and are ready to receive advertising contracts for same. All who wish to reserve the same space as last year will please notify the manager. We will be glad to allot space to any one desiring it. This year's directory will be even a better advertising medium than last year, as we have added about one hundred new subscribers and it will be distributed in Ayden, Winterville, Grimesland, Falkland and throughout Pitt county. Call the manager or leave word with the chief operator. Home Tel. and Tel. Co. 319 d tf.

STATE NEWS.

Newsy Items of Interest Condensed for Busy Readers.

Mr. Jack Jones, aged 82 years, who formerly lived here, is visiting in the city. It is remarkable that at his age he is as active as a young man, with sound teeth, bright eyes, no gray hairs on his head. He is a brick mason by trade, and as industrious as many in the trade who are much younger—Fayetteville Observer.

Raleigh, March 22.—The Wake Forest medical department procured, through the State Anatomical Society, the body of Walter Morris, the Robeson county negro electrocuted here last Friday.

Raleigh, March 22.—Ex-Governor Charles B. Aycock has been retained as counsel for the defense of E. E. Powell, Sr., who shot down on the streets of Scotland Neck State Senator E. L. Travis, Representative Paul Kitchin, and Chief of Police Dunn, the latter having since died. The plea of insanity is to be the mainstay of the defense and the trial to be for the murder of Chief of Police Dunn.

Early Easter and Early Spring.

Easter comes this year almost as early as possible. Those who believe in the effect of the moon on weather and vegetation claim that this fact means an early spring. The full moon comes on Friday, the 25th, putting Easter on the 27th. So Easter could not possibly come more than six days earlier. This will throw the April full moon far to the latter part of that month, thus lessening the danger of fruit and tender vegetables from the usual cold spell which comes with the April full moon, so the moon-worshippers say.—Winston Republican.

Notice to Lyceum Course Subscribers.

The management of the lyceum course of the End of the Century Club for the benefit of the public library, request all subscribers to the course who have not paid the amount agreed, to please pay the same sometime this week, as the committee will report to the club at a meeting to be held next week. For convenience, those who owe can call at Reflector Book Store and pay there. 3 23

Ice Cream for Sunday.

Committee No. 3 of St. Paul's Parochial society, is taking orders for Norfolk ice cream to be delivered for dinner next Sunday. Prices 50 cents per quart of six blocks, or 10 cents per block. Those desiring cream should place their orders with Mrs. R. Williams or Mrs. C. S. Carr by Thursday evening. 3 23

Dr. Hyatt Coming.

Dr. H. O. Hyatt will be in Greenville, at Hotel Bertha, on Friday, April 1st, for the purpose of treating diseases of the eye and fitting glasses. He will also make his regular monthly visit to Greenville on Monday and Tuesday, April 4th and 5th. 3 16 12td 2tw

Easter Plants.

See my Easter display of blooming plants at Ellington's store. Ollen E. Warren, 3 25

Rape Seed.

Just received 300 pounds of Rape seed at F. V. Johnston's, 3 21 4td 2tw

ROCHDALE ITEMS.

Rochdale, March 23—J. S. Smith, of Greenville, came up Sunday morning to visit his sick step-mother at Mills Smith's. He says its the first visit that he has made in seven years.

Mrs. A. J. Flanagan, from near Marlboro, was visiting her mother, Mrs. Pattie F. Smith, last Sunday.

R. E. Willoughby happened to a bad accident Sunday morning. He was riding horse back and his horse stumbled and fell, throwing him off and breaking his collar bone. He is suffering much pain. The strangest thing about the accident is it happened very near the spot that Ivy Smith, C. D. Smith and one or two others, have in time had similar accidents.

Mrs. Pattie F. Smith, who was reported very sick last week, is much better.

Rev. S. W. Summerel, of Grifton, came in last night to help work on the church at Arthur. He will preach at Smiths school house next Sunday morning and night.

Entertainment for Library.

The committee of the Greenville public library will have a silver tea at the music store of Fineman & White on the evening of Easter Monday. Refreshments will be served free of charge, and an interesting musical program will be given. Donations of silver from twenty five cents up, are asked for the purpose of aiding to re-establish a public library in the town of Greenville. About fifty books were saved from the recent fire, and the donations asked for will go towards buying others. Everybody who feels any interest in Greenville's welfare is most cordially invited to attend. The hours are from 8:30 to 11 o'clock.

Shows 10,363,240 Bales Ginned.

Washington, March 21.—The census cotton report shows the crop of 1909 to be 10,363,240 bales, counting round as half bales and including linters, compared with 13,432,131 for 1908.

Cotton estimated by ginneries as remaining to be ginned and included in the statistics for 1909 is 49,488 bales.

The average gross weight for the crop counting round as half bales, and including linters, is 496.5 pounds, compared with 505.8 for 1908.

The number of ginneries operated for 1909 crop was 26,660, compared with 27,538 for 1908.

Close of Shivers' Hill School.

The closing exercises of Shivers' Hill school, at Fountain, taught by Miss Mary Long and Miss Lillian Whitehead, will be held Thursday evening, March 31st. Friends and patrons of the school are cordially invited. Doors open at 8 o'clock.

At the Skating Rink.

Ladies are allowed to skate free every night except Friday night. On Friday night of next week a box of fine candy will be given the one holding the lucky number. Numbers will be given to the skaters every night.

School Invitations.

The Reflector Printing House has a beautiful line of samples for school commencement invitations, and will be glad to quote prices to schools wanting them. The samples cannot be sent out, but may be seen at this office.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL BRIEFS.

The Visitors Here and People Who Travel.

J. G. Watson went to Tarboro Tuesday.

K. W. Cobb went to Washington today.

W. T. Hunter left Tuesday for Bennettsville, S. C.

Mark Williams, of Rocky Mount, was here today.

Miss Rosa Hooker went to Farmville Tuesday evening.

Mrs. J. G. Watson went to Norfolk Tuesday to visit relatives.

Tuesday Chief of Police J. T. Smith carried Mack Mobley to the State hospital for insane at Raleigh.

Miss Mimie Cox, of Winterville, who had been visiting Miss Hennie Ragsdale, returned home Tuesday evening.

Mrs. J. L. Carper and little daughter came in from Williamson, Tuesday evening, to visit her father, E. A. Moye.

Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Timberlake and son, Tom, who had been visiting here, returned to Farmville Tuesday evening.

LOCAL BRIEFS.

The weather was almost warm today.

Encampment meets tonight in Red Men's hall.

There will be prayer meetings in the churches tonight.

The Smith house that was so badly damaged in the late fire is being repaired.

The Greenville Music Club will have a practice meeting in the graded school chapel Thursday night.

A light streak in the western sky Tuesday night made some folks who saw it wonder if it was the comet.

Baby Show.

Committee No. 2, of St. Paul's Prochial society, will hold a baby show, for the benefit of the organ fund, in the city hall, beginning at 3 o'clock on Wednesday afternoon, March 30th. There will be no voting, but prizes will be awarded by a committee. A fee of 25 cents will be charged for each baby entering the contest, and spectators will be charged an admission of 5 cents. Refreshments will be served while the baby show is in progress.

Steamer Aground.

This morning as the steamer Shiloh was about to pass through the courtly bridge, it ran on a sand bar and grounded. A gas boat went to the aid of the steamer and after some time succeeded in floating her. It seems that the current in the river had shifted a sand bar into the arch of the bridge.

Conference for Lodge Building.

The Odd Fellows at their meeting Tuesday night adopted a motion appointing the following, D. W. Hardee, D. L. James, D. C. Moore, W. F. Evans, F. C. Harding, J. C. Tyson and Julius Brown, as a committee to confer with a committee from the Masons regarding erecting a building for lodge purposes on the Forbes' lot, on which the Odd Fellows hold an option. The joint committees are requested to meet in Red Men's hall Friday, March 25th, at 10 o'clock a. m. for conference. Any citizen interested is invited to attend this conference.

WEDNESDAY, MAR. 23, 1910.

It is hard to tell who the laugh is on in congress.

Looks like Baxter Shemwell will have to take his medicine.

Almost everything can advance in price except the subscription to a newspaper.

If the pretty weather holds out through Easter there will be some thankful new hat wearers.

Some of the hats are actually so large that the wearer has to get somebody else to open the door for her.

The man whose "girls are all boys" may get the taunts of the other fellow now and then, but he can turn the laugh on them when it comes time to buy Easter hats.

This year is certainly making a record for great disasters. Several have already occurred that were attended by great loss of life, and the wrecking of a passenger train in Iowa with a death list of forty is another awful addition to the list.

The decreasing number of saloons in large cities where the sale of liquor is permitted, gives an indication of the growing sentiment for prohibition throughout the country. The day is fast coming when there will be no licensed sale of liquor.

The building prospects in Greenville promise to make this a record year for the town. All ready many plans are on the way, and there is much talk about things to be done this year. We would like to see the factory idea get mixed in the other improvements, for there is nothing the town needs more. They must come, and the sooner the better.

The Hope of The South.

The only hope for the permanent upbuilding of our Southern lands is through good rotative farming and the feeding of live stock. We cannot afford to keep on in the old way scratching the soil and dribbling a little poor fertilizer while the soil grows poorer and poorer. We must restore the humus in an economical and businesslike way, and we cannot afford to continue to ignore cattle that are the most effective means towards this humus restoration. The day is fast approaching in the South when a man who has farmed his land for years, and still admits it is poor, will be looked upon as a poor citizen; a man who fails in his duty to God and his country. We have gone fertilizer crazy and need to make our farms sanatoria for our recovery. - Raleigh (N. C.) Progressive Farmer and Gazette.

HUMAN HANDS DO NOT TOUCH IT.

From the time the raw materials reach our factory they are handled entirely by machinery, kept scrupulously clean. No chance for contamination.

Jell-O ICE CREAM Powder

THIS IS CERTAIN

The Proof That Greenville Readers Cannot Deny.

What could furnish stronger evidence of the efficiency of any remedy than the test of time? Thousands of people testify that Doan's Kidney Pills cure permanently.

Home endorsement should prove undoubted the merit of this remedy. Years ago your friends and neighbors testified to the relief they had derived from the use of Doan's Kidney Pills. They now confirm their testimonials. They say time has completed the test.

Mrs. T. S. Norman, 911 E. ans St., Greenville, N. C., says: "I gladly give Doan's Kidney Pills my endorsement, as they have proven of greater benefit to me than any other remedy I have ever used. I suffered severely from a dull ache through the small of my back. There was also a soreness across my kidneys and I was nearly able to get on and on account of sharp, darting pains through my loins. Upon arising in the morning, I felt tired and languid and had but little ambition or energy. Since using Doan's Kidney Pills, procured at Wooten's Drug Store, the backaches and pains have disappeared. I no longer suffer from backaches and that tired, languid feeling has been removed."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's— and take no other.

BRADLEY, The Jeweler

Salvage Fire Extinguisher

Fire Department statistics show that some eighty per cent. of all fires are extinguished by chemical apparatus.

Nearly all fires are discovered at the start and are readily put out if means are at once available.

A stream is thrown to a distance of about fifty feet, carrying a large amount of carbonic acid gas, which excludes the oxygen and prevents combustion.

A fire cannot live if a small per cent. of carbonic acid gas is in the air.

It is forty times as efficient as water and will extinguish fires of oil, naphtha, gasoline, etc., which water only spreads.

Protect your home and property before it is too late.

TRUXTON KING

A Story of ... Graustark

By GEORGE BARR M'GUTCHEON

Copyright, 1909, by George Barr M'GUTCHEON
Copyright, 1909, by Dodd, Mead & Company

SNOPSIS OF PRECEDING CHAPTERS.

Chapter I—Truxton King arrives in Edgewood, capital of Graustark, and meets the beautiful niece of Spantz, a gunmaker. II—King does a favor for Prince Robin, the young ruler of the country, whose guardian is John Tullis, an American. III—Biron Dangloss, minister of police, interviews King and warns him against Olg, the gunmaker's niece. IV—King invades the royal park, meets the prince and is presented to the lady's fasci aunt, Aunt Lorraine. V—The committee of ten, conspirators against the prince, meets in an underground chamber, where the girl Olga is disclosed as one who is to kill Prince Robin with a bomb. VI—John Tullis is on the beautiful Countess Inkomede, who warns him that her hated and notorious old husband, Count Marlanx, is conspiring against the prince. VII, VIII, IX and X—King visits the house of the witch of Ga'look gap and meets the royal household there. He sees an eye gleaming through a crack in a door, and while searching for the person he is overpowered and dragged into a loft. He is comforted by Count Marlanx and then taken to the underground chamber of the committee of ten. Olg defends King before the committee of anarchists who wish to kill him.

CHAPTER XII. A NEW PRISONER ARRIVES.

IT was far past midnight when King was aroused from the doze into which he had fallen. Was it the 23rd? Loud, quick commands came to his ears.

"They are here at last," he heard some one say. "God! This suspense has been awful. But they are here."

"Stand ready, then, with the guns!" cried Peter Brutus. "It may be a trick, after all. Don't open that door down there, Spantz, until you know who is on the outside."

"It's all right," came at last in the relieved, eager voice of Peter Brutus. "Clear the way, comrades. Give them room. By our holy father, this is a brave triumph. Ah!"

Heavy footsteps clogged into the room, accompanied by stertorous breathing and no small amount of grunting from masculine throats. Not one but three or four languages were spoken by the excited, intense occupants of the other room. King could make nothing of what they said. Finally the sharp, incisive voice of William Spantz broke through the babble, commanding silence.

"Still unconscious," he said when some measure of order was secured.

"Yes," grunted one of the men.

"We will have our instructions tomorrow. The count is to inform us before nightfall where she is to be removed to. Next week she is going to go to Schloss Marlanx." Brutus added a cruel, heartless laugh.

A woman, thought Truxton. The countess! They had brought her here from Balak, after all. What a remorseless brute Marlanx must be to maltreat his beautiful wife!

"To my mind she is more beautiful than his own wife," observed Anna Cromer. "She will be a fine morsel for the count, who has even cast longing eyes on so homely a mortal as I."

"All women are alike to him," said Spantz sententiously.

"We must put her in the room with the American for the present. You are sure he will take her away before Saturday? A woman's cries are most distressing." It was Spantz who spoke.

"I'll stop her crying," volunteered Anna Cromer harshly.

"She's regaining her senses!" exclaimed one of the men. "Stand back, every one. Give her air."

Presently the door to King's room was thrown open. He had got to his feet and was standing in the center of the room, his eyes blinking in the glare of light.

"Hello!" cried Peter Brutus. "You up, eh? We've got a fair lady for you, my friend. Get back there, you dog! Keep in your corner."

"You are a fine bunch of human beings!" blurted Truxton.

A man with a lighted candle entered first, holding the light above his head. He was followed by two others, who supported the drooping, tottering figure of a woman.

"Let her sit there against the wall, Drago. Julius, fetch in more candles. She must not be left in the dark. He says she is not to be frightened to death. Women are afraid of the dark and strange dogs. Let there be light," scoffed Peter Brutus, spitting toward King.

"I'll get you for that some day," grated the American, white with anger. "Enough!" commanded William Spantz. "We are not children." Turning to King, he went on, a touch of kindness in his voice: "Cheer her if you can. She is one of your class. Do not let the lights go out."

Raising his hands, he fairly drove the others from the doorway.

For a time King stood in his corner, watching the figure huddled against the opposite wall, suddenly displaced forward, his eyes wide and staring. He had seen that gray riding habit before. Two eager steps he took and then halted halfway.

"Great Jehovah!" he gasped, unbelieving. "You! My God, is it you?"

He dropped to his knees before her, peering into her startled eyes.

A look of abject terror crossed the "MY GOD, IS IT YOU?" tired, tear stained face. She shrank away from him.

"What is it? Where am I?" she moaned. "Oh, let me go! What have I done that you should bring me here? Let me go, Mr. King! You are not so wicked as"—

"I—I bring you here!" he interrupted, aghast. Then he understood. Utter dismay filled his eyes. "You think that I have done this thing to you? God above us! Look! I, too, am a prisoner here. They are going to kill me after tomorrow."

"Oh, Mr. King, what does it all mean? Forgive me! I see now. You are bound; you are suffering; you are years older. What have you done? What have I done?"

"Don't shrink from me," he urged. "Try to calm yourself."

Then, with the utmost gentleness, he persuaded her to rise and walk about the little room with him.

"It will give you courage," he urged. "Poor little girl!"

She looked up into his face, a new light coming into her eyes.

"Don't talk now," he said softly. "Take your time. Hold to my arm, please. There!"

For five or ten minutes he led her back and forth across the room very tenderly. At first she was faint and uncertain; then, as her strength and wits came back to her, courage took the place of despair. She smiled wanly and asked him to sit down with her.

"Where are we? What is it all about?" she asked.

"Not so loud," he cautioned. "I'll be perfectly candid with you. You'll have to be very, very brave. But wait. Perhaps it will be easier for you to tell me what has happened to you, so far as you know. I can throw light on the whole situation, I think."

She became more excited. Her eyes flashed; she spoke rapidly. On the morning of the 23d she had gone for her gallop in the famous Ganlock road, attended by two faithful grooms from the royal stables.

"I was in for a longer ride than usual," she said, with sudden constraint. She looked away from her eager listener. "I was nervous and had not slept the night before. A girl never does, I suppose."

He looked askance. "Yes?" he questioned.

She was blushing, he was sure of it. "I mean a girl is always nervous and distrustful after—after she has promised, don't you see?"

"No; I don't see."

"I had promised Count Vos Engo the night before that I—Oh, but it really has nothing to do with the story. I—"

Truxton was actually glaring at her. "You mean that you had promised to marry Count Vos Engo!" he stammered.

"How very strangely you talk! Are you sure—I mean, do you think it is fever? One suffers so?"

He sighed deeply. "Well, that's over! Whew! It was a dream, by Jove!"

She waited a moment and then, looking down, said very gently, "I'm so sorry for you."

Then she resumed her story.

She had gone six or eight miles down the Ganlock road when she came up with five troopers of the royal guard. One of the troopers came forward and respectfully requested her to turn off into another road until a detachment passed, in charge of a gang of desperadoes taken at the inn of the Hawk and Raven the night before. Unsuspecting, she rode off into the forest lane for several hundred yards.

It was a trap. The men were not troopers, but brigands got up in the uniform of the guard. Once away from the main highway, they made prisoners of her and the two grooms. Then followed a long ride through roads new to her.

When night came they were high in the mountains back of the monastery. Many hours ahead of any pursuit. They became stupidly careless, and the two grooms made a dash for freedom. One of them was killed, but one had escaped.

Some time during the slow, torturing ride through the forest she swooned. When she came to her senses she was in a dimly lighted room, surrounded by men. The gag had been removed from her mouth. She would have shrieked out in her terror had not her gaze rested upon the figure of a man who sat opposite, his elbows on the back of the chair which he straddled, his chin on his arms. He was staring at her steadily, his black eyes catching her gaze and holding it as a snake holds the bird it has charmed.

She recognized the hard, hawklike face. There could be no mistake. She was looking into the face that made the portrait of the Iron Count so abhorrent to her—the leathery head of a cadaver with eyes that lived. She broke down and cried herself into the sleep of exhaustion.

All the next day she sat limp and helpless in the chair they had brought to her. She could neither eat nor drink. Late in the afternoon Marlanx came again. She knew not from whence he came; he stood before her suddenly as if produced by the magic of some fabulous genie, smiling blandly, his hands clasped behind his back, his attitude one of designing calculation.

"He laughed when I demanded that he should restore me to my friends. He chided me when I pleaded and begged for mercy. My questions were never answered. Where am I, Mr. King? Oh, this dreadful place! Why are we here—you and I?"

King's heart throbbed fiercely once more. A vast hunger possessed his soul. In that moment he could have laid down his life for her with a smile of rejoicing.

Then he told her why she was there, why he was there and of the 23rd—the dreadful 23rd!

"God in heaven!" she repeated over and over again in a piteous whisper. The light was going out.

"Quick!" he cried. "The candle! Light a fresh one. My hands are bound."

She crept to the candles and joined the wicks. A new light grew as the old one died. Then she stood erect, looking down upon him.

"You are bound. I forgot."

She started forward, dropping to her knees beside him, an eager gleam in her eyes. "If I can untie the rope—will that help? There must be one little chance for you—for us. Let me try."

"By Jove," he whispered admiringly, his spirits leaping to meet hers, "you've got pluck. You put new life in me. I—I was almost a quitter."

At last, after many despairing tugs, the knot relaxed. "There!" she cried, sinking back exhausted. "Oh, how it must have hurt you! Your wrists are raw!"

His arms were stiff and sore and hung like lead at his sides. She watched him with narrowed eyes while he stood off and tried to work blood and strength back into his muscles.

"Do you think you can—can do anything now, Mr. King?" she asked after a long interval. "We must escape," she said as if it were all settled.

"It cannot be tonight," he gently informed her, a sickness attacking his heart. "Don't you think you'd better try to get some sleep?"

He prevailed upon her to lie down, with his coat for a pillow. In two minutes she was asleep.

For an hour or more he sat there looking sorrowfully at the tired, sweet face, the utmost despair in his soul. At last he stretched himself out on the floor near the door, and as he went to sleep he prayed that Providence might open a way for him to prove that she was not depending on him in vain.
