TO OUST CLARK?

Is There a Deal On In the Manning Allen Fight?

About the hottest political talk that has been circulated in many moons is now traveling around, and it says that at the next Democratic convention Justice Walker will be nominated for chief justice and both Manning and Allen are to be nominated for associate justices, thereby leaving Clark out in the cold.

Now, whether there is any truth in this or not is not for us to say, but it is being freely talked, and there is certainly a lot of smoke.

It is generally understood that Governor Kitchin and his followers will support Manning, while Senator Simmons and his men will be for Allen. It is also generally believed that the greatest fight ever waged in the State will come off in 1913, this being the contest between Simmons and Kitchin for the United States senate.

All political moves look towards that contest, and neither faction is anxious to show its hand before that eventful period. Unless something is done the two forces will be drawn into the conflict this summer in the Manning-Allen fight, so to avoid this and stave off the battle between these giants until 1912-13, the proposition is to get both Manning and Allen on the bench this year, and the only way they think this can be done will be to decapitate the chief justice.

This program is so full of political possibilities as to almost take one's breath. This deal, if it is one, is calculated to create the greatest stir of the century in Democratic ranks. The disfranchisement of the negroes and the prohibition act are mere political pigmies compared with this.

This proposition is being discussed, but whether an effort to carry it out will be made is another matter. Anyhow it furnishes abundant food for thought.—Raleigh Times.

A. M. COLLEGE NOTES

West Raleigh, N. C., March 30.—Easter Monday is always a "big" day at A. & M. Especially was this true this year, for in addition to the annual baseball game with Wake Forest, we also had a track meet with the team of Guilford. It being a holiday, the boys practically all attended these events and cheered the wearers of "red and white" onto great victories. The track meet was held at the State fair grounds where a goodly number saw A. & M. trim Guilford to the tune of 94 to 92 points, only allowing them first place in two out of the fourteen events—broad jump and pole vault—since the athletic committee gives the track team no financial or coaching support, Capt. Sherman deserves much credit for putting out such a winning team.

With all available seats taken and much of the standing space filled, 2000 loyal A. & M. and Wake Forest "fans" saw the 1910 Easter ball game fought on the local diamond. The Peace, St. Mary's and Meredith girls were here in large numbers, armed with their favorites' colors. Yes, a larger, more enthusiastic crowd never witnessed a similar contest, nor could have the weather been more ideal. Again, did A. & M. drag her old rivals in the dust. The score was eight to two.

Many of the "old" boys were on the hill during the Easter season, among them was Mr. D. H. Hill, Jr., son of Pres. Hill, who is a student at Princeton University.

Probably the most successful Easter dance ever given at A. & M. was that of Monday, last. Pullen hall was gorgeously decorated with flags, bunting, pot-plants and the various fraternity colors. It was a scene rivaling the late inaugural dance which was given here at Gov. Kitchin's inauguration.

Since Christmas there has been quite an epidemic of mumps and measles in the college. The hospital proving inadequate, temporary quarters were provided and quarantined in the main building, extra nurses were placed in charge and all the "unfortunates" cared for there. For several weeks no new measles cases have been reported, but still there are continued new cases of mumps.

It is reported that the annual inspection of the military department will be held early in April, when a U. S. Army officer will be here. Since the college gets so much support from the government, it is quite natural that a good appearance should be sought. After that date there will be no further drill this year.

This beautiful spring weather of March is giving the farm superintendent ideal opportunities for work. The boys are preparing to plant the crop, turning under the rich growth of winter cover crops which add fertility to the soil. How much it would add to the empire of Pitt's wealth if her farmers only practiced some of these improved methods of farming!

Much interest is being aroused in the approaching inter-society contests, which will take place within the next month. Three medals are given, one each for debate, declaration and oratory, to the contestants who will represent the Pullen and Leazer societies.

The base-ball team will leave in a few days on its Southern trip, where it will meet the team of the University of S. C., Davidson

HOG GETS LOOSE IN CAR

Destroys a Lot of Meal and Groceries En Route From Farmville.

Wednesday a live hog was shipped by freight from Farmville to Greenville. Enroute the hog broke out of the box in which he was shipped, and helped himself to a lot of meal and palatable groceries, that were in the same car. When the door of the car was opened at destination, the havoc the hog had made among the meal sacks and groceries was disclosed. The hog being loose made a dash for the door and got out, giving the depot and train crew a lively run before he was captured. The man to whom the hog was shipped fears the animal may contract pellagra from eating so much meal.

Probably a Greenville Barber.

Portsmouth, Va., March 30.—John Parker and William Smith, two murderers, awaiting transfer to the penitentiary at Richmond for electrocution, through the bars of the murderers cage in the Norfolk county jail this morning broke through the roof and let themselves down three stories with a rope made of pieced blankets. Bloodhounds are now on the trail, but the men are believed to have gotten away on a freight train. A third felon escaped with them.

Shortly after the jail delivery James H. Smith, a barber, was found stabbed to death. The three are suspected of the crime.

This may be a former Greenville barber, as one by that name left here some years ago and went to Norfolk.

THE BABY SHOW.

Twins Win the First Prize—A Gold Ring.

The baby show held in the city hall, Wednesday afternoon, by the ladies of the Episcopal church, proved a very interesting event as well as a financial success. There were about twenty-five babies on exhibition and a large number of visitors to admire them.

The first prize for the prettiest baby, a gold ring, was awarded to Mattie Vines and Elizabeth Mayo, twin daughters of Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Mayo. In the contest for the handsomest and most attractive baby there was a tie between Charles Carr and Haywood Dail, little sons of Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Carr and Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Dail, Jr. The prize, a gold ring, was drawn for and Charles Carr won it.

Mrs. J. T. Smith Dead.

On Friday, March 25th, at her home in Middlesex, N. C., the spirit of Mrs. Emily Smith, the beloved wife of Mr. J. T. Smith, took its flight to the eternal world. Mrs. Smith was sick one week with that fatal disease, pneumonia. Her remains were brought to Ayden and laid to rest in the town cemetery on Saturday, March 26th.

Mrs. Smith leaves two sons and three daughters: J. T. Smith, Jr., of Ayden, Mr. J. C. Smith, of Robersonville, Mrs. W. T. Mason, of Stokes, Mrs. W. O. Bilbro, of Middlesex, and Miss Delia Smith, of Middlesex. Deceased was a daughter of John Tyson of Pitt county, and leaves four brothers and one sister. Mrs. Smith was a noble consecrated woman, was a member of the Primitive Baptist church at Great Swamp many years previous to her death, and died in the full triumphs of a living faith. As neighbor, wife, mother and sister her life was a model one. Her life was one of devotion and her chief joy consisted in making others happy. May the good Lord in his abundant mercy comfort the bereft husband and children.—Ayden Baptist.

STATE NEWS.

News Items of Interest Condensed for Busy Readers.

Salisbury, March 30.—Stricken five weeks ago with blood poison, following the embalming of a body, Robert M. Davis, a well known undertaker of Salisbury, died at a hospital here today from the dread disease. The poison set in soon after infection from the corpse and he was at once taken to the hospital and one arm amputated. His condition grew worse, and last night death followed.

Governor Kitchin yesterday commuted the sentence of Baxter Shemwell, who was to have served a term of five months in jail for an assault with a deadly weapon, to five days in jail and a fine of five hundred dollars, Shemwell being required to pay all the costs in the case.

Clinton, March 30.—News reached Clinton this morning of a homicide late yesterday near the Johnston county line. Hosea Maynor and Nehere Denning got into a dispute over a road, Maynor hit Denning over the head with an axe and killed him. Maynor has made his escape.

Methodist Baccas Elect New Officers.

On Sunday morning last, it being the regular semi-annual date for electing officers for the Methodist Baraca class, the following men were chosen:

J. B. James president, E. D. Dadd vice president, A. C. Holloman treasurer, Chas. Haskett secretary, Rev. J. H. Shore and Mr. H. E. Austin were unanimously chosen for teacher and assistant teacher respectively.

In the passing of Mr. S. T. Hooker from the president's chair goes a faithful and ardent leader. He is recognized as a man of excellent ability, and his go forward spirit has led the class from its beginning till the expiration of the last term. Though he refused being re-elected again, his work for the advancement of the class will continue on.

The record made by G. R. Lanier, secretary of the class, will never be excelled. He made a splendid officer, and for fourteen months was found at his post, without missing one Sunday.

The class made a wise choice in making Mr. James president. He is a young man full of vigor, and a born leader. In his short speech to the class after taking the chair was a synopsis of his ability to push the class to a high standard.

Mr. Holloman, who has been a tried and true officer in the Sunday school for a number of years, and Mr. Dodd, a hustling young man, can be expected to lend strong arms toward making the ensuing term the most successful in the history of the class.

It is needless to attempt to foretell the part Mr. Shore and Mr. Austin will take in the future. Their excellent work in the past is a warrant for the future. Both are splendid teachers and their Sunday morning talks are inspiring and educating.

Skating Rink.

The skating rink will close Friday night with a big time-greasy pig chase. Also a box of candy will be given to the one holding the lucky duplicate number. Don't forget, and come out and enjoy the fun.

The office in the Proctor building occupied by F. G. James & Son, attorneys, which was badly damaged in the recent fire, is undergoing repairs and a new front is being put in.

ONE WAY TO HINDER PROGRESS.

One thing that operates against the progress of a town, is for people who have property that may be desired to further an enterprise, especially if it be of a public or corporate nature, to ask a great deal more for it than it is worth. People who have property to sell naturally want as much as they can get for it, but they should not want more than a fair price. Enterprises are often blocked, or stopped altogether, because a spirit like this is met when property is wanted on which to locate them. As soon as the owner of the property finds out it is wanted, he puts up the price of it to an unreasonably high figure. Right now we have in mind incidents where property wanted for public or corporate use was held at such a price that the prospective purchasers refused to be held up in any such way, and the same property would afterward be sold to private individuals at less than half of what had previously been demanded for it. This kind of spirit is wrong and hinders progress wherever it is practiced. A fair and reasonable price is all that should be charged for property.

There is a lively investigation going on in the Mississippi legislature over some bribe passing in connection with the recent election of a United States senator.

Mr. Carmack's Tribute.

We quite agree with the Winston Sentinel that with all that is said and written about the resurrection, nothing can excel the following from the pen of the lamented Carmack: "I dispute no man's freedom of opinion, though why any man should be willing to believe that man has no pre-eminence over a beast I do not know. You say that you cannot believe the miracle of the resurrection. Let me tell you the story of a greater miracle than that. It is the story of a poor peasant, a member of a despised and subject race, himself despised, the place of his birth despised by his own countrymen. In a little while he lies a felon's death, and all those above him forget he ever lived. Yet somehow his words lived on. Philosophy with all its terrors, kings wielding the iron power of all the world, but over armies, over dying dynasties and crumbling thrones, rivers of blood and seas of fire, that swept on and on until it has made conquest of the earth, until every king on every throne bows down in adoration to the dead peasant of Galilee, and the very instrument of his felon's death has become a symbol of salvation to all mankind. Do you believe that story? It is the story of a greater miracle than that a man died and rose from the dead. Young gentlemen, be not among those who scoff at religion which is the last hope of the world, whose consolation you yourself will need in the time of affliction and the hour of death."

The investigation before the New York legislature proved up the bribe taking on Senator Allis all right. There are others, and Governor Hughes declares the matter must be pushed to a finish.

A Lady of Pizarro Tells Story of Awful Suffering That Cardui Finally Relieved.

Pizarro, Va.—"I suffered for several years," writes Mrs. Dorna A. Smith, "with that awful backache and the bearing down sensations, so fully described in your book.

"I tried doctors and other medicines and found little relief, until I was induced to try Wine of Cardui, when I found instant relief and today I can heartily recommend Cardui to all suffering women and think there is no other as good."

In some instances, Cardui gives instant relief; in others, it may take a little time. But in all cases of female trouble Cardui can be depended on to be of benefit, as it is a specific remedy for women and acts in a curative way on the "womanly organs."

As a general tonic for women, to build up your strength, improve your appetite, bring back rosy cheeks and make you look and feel young and happy, nothing you can find will do so much for you as Cardui.
Your druggist has it.

Fire Department statistics show that some eighty per cent. of all fires are extinguished by chemical apparatus.

Nearly all fires are discovered at the start and are readily put out if means are at once available.

A stream is thrown to a distance of about fifty feet, carrying a large amount of carbonic acid gas, which excludes the oxygen and prevents combustion.

A fire cannot live if a small per cent. of carbonic acid gas is in the air.

It is forty times as efficient as water and will extinguish fires of oil, naphtha, gasoline, etc., which water only spreads.

BOTH SATISFIED.

Two Widely Different Views of a Shopping Incident.

When Mrs. Hobbs and Mrs. Cobbett returned to their respective homes at the close of "stockholders' day" they were both obviously satisfied with the result of the day's shopping in the city. One little incident had given each of them, after her own fashion, a large measure of content.

"You know I always say that Ellen Ann dresses a mite too much for traveling off for the day," said Mrs. Hobbs to her husband as he sat patiently listening to her account of small happenings. "Well, today 'twas borne out by what I saw at Ransom & Klein's."

"We were both looking for dress goods for the children—she for a plaid, green and blue, for her Sophie and I for a dark red for Mattie."

"We both wanted to see what the ones we'd half chosen looked like by daylight, and it so happened that we started for the place where you can stand under the skylight at the same time. Being two counters apart, we hadn't kept watch of each other, and 'twas just a happen."

"Well, the man that was showing me the goods looked at me kind of searching, and then he handed the piece of goods over the counter to me, and he said, 'You can take it right over to the skylight yourself, madam,' and turned to straighten out some other goods."

"When I got to the skylight, if there didn't come Ellen Ann, meek as you please, with a little cashgirl carrying her piece of goods, and that child never let go her hold of it once, and it come over me that Ellen Ann's flashy hat and her plush bag with gilt trimmings had made them think she wasn't to be trusted."

"I'm afraid they took her for one of those light fingered folks—shoplifters. I felt real sorry for her, and I hurried off so's not to shame her."

While Mr. Hobbs was digesting this piece of news Mr. Cobbett was listening to his wife's version.

"The clerk looked at me," she said, "and then he beckoned one of the cashgirls and said to her real sharp, 'Take this to the skylight and let the lady look at it.'"

"And I followed after her empty handed to find poor Mary Jane there, with a great piece of red stuff she'd lugged in her own arms from the counter."

"It just proves what I've always told you. When Mary Jane goes among strangers those plain, homely clothes of hers give them the idea she's a hardworking woman that's always had to do for herself and doesn't expect to be done for by anybody."

"But there! I like Mary Jane and always have, and I let her slink off with that piece of goods just's if I hadn't really sensed who 'twas."—Youth's Companion.

By Easy Stages.

Justice McEwen once sat on a cow case—that is, a case involving money due one man for boarding the cow of another. The wrangle was as to what the board was worth. One attorney called three or four liverymen and got their testimony on the cost of boarding a horse. Of course the opposing counsel objected and declared such testimony to be incompetent on the ground that the cost of boarding a horse is not the same as the cost of boarding a cow. This the other attorney conceded, but he explained that he was going to follow up the testimony of the liveryman with expert testimony to show how much less, if any, it costs to keep a cow than a horse.

"Oh, if you're going to work on that plan," put in McEwen in judicial tones, "you might as well start in with elephants and work down to cows by gradual stages."—Cleveland Leader.

The Discovery of Florida.

Juan Ponce de Leon, sailing from Porto Rico in search of new land, discovered Florida on March 27, 1512. He landed near St. Augustine, planted the cross and took possession in the name of the Spanish monarch. In 1763 a treaty ceding east and west Florida to Great Britain in exchange for Havana and the western part of Cuba was ratified. In 1781 part of Florida was ceded to Spain, and in 1783 Great Britain ceded east and west Florida to Spain. On Feb. 23, 1819, east and west Florida were ceded to the United States by treaty and purchase; Spain receiving $5,000,000.

An Artful Dodger.

"How is your boy getting along at school?"
 "Splendidly, splendidly! I tell you, my friend, this boy of mine will make his way in the world, don't you fear. During the time he's been going to school they have had thirty-two examinations, and he's managed to dodge every one of them."—Glasgow Times.

A MUSICAL FIASCO.

The First Night of Rossini's Opera "The Barber of Seville."

"The eventful first night arrived at last, and throughout my artistic career I have never experienced a more stormy evening. It was not the hostile party alone, but a whole series of mishaps, which contributed to the great fiasco of my opera. The overture was completely drowned, as well as the first chorus, by the hissing and whistling of the public. At this act of injustice Garcia, beside himself with anger, grew so excited that he broke several strings of his guitar while accompanying the serenade. This caused such a disturbance that nothing more of the music could be heard. Poor Basilio, a debutant, became so alarmed at the uproar that he trod on his long cloak and fell flat on the stage. When he got up his nose was bleeding so profusely that it was some minutes before he was able to sing. The noise then grew terrific. Finally, just as the public was quieting down, a cat suddenly appeared on the stage and was only driven off again with much trouble and loss of time. Thus was the unfortunate evening brought to a climax. The curtain fell and the performance was stopped."

"Although it was a failure, I was none the less calm and satisfied, for I had the conviction that I had worked conscientiously, and I recognized the injustice of an audience which, in its blind prejudice, had not listened to a single bar of my music. It is the custom in Italy for every composer to conduct his opera for the first three nights, but the next morning I begged the manager to release me from this obligation, and he very gladly granted my request."

"Soon after this unfortunate performance, however, a reaction set in among the frequenters of the opera, some praising the overture, others remembering the melody of the first finale, others again thinking the air of Figaro original, and so forth. This was sufficient to induce the greater part of the public to give some attention to the second performance. This time I remained at home alone, trying to write and to read, but could not collect my thoughts. I then took my watch in my hand and mentally sang the overture and right through the first act. Suddenly I was seized with an uncontrollable curiosity. I wanted to know what reception my music was meeting with on this second hearing and resolved to go to the theater, when an extraordinary noise called me to the window. There I saw thousands of people, with torches in their hands, coming toward my house, and before I had realized what was happening I was being carried in triumph to the theater, amid the enthusiastic cries of 'E viva Rossini!' I had had no time to exchange my dressing gown for a coat, and thus was obliged to conduct the 'Barbieri' from the beginning of the second act. The audience that had been so antagonistic on the previous occasion now became wildly enthusiastic and at the end of the performance carried me home in triumph. Such was the baptism of my 'Barbieri.'—'Marchesi and Music.'"

Unconvinced.

A preacher tells this story on himself:

"It was Sunday morning, and I had started for church. The family were preparing to follow when the youngest, a five-year-old, protested, 'I do not want to go to church.'"

"I don't feel much like it myself, Fred, this morning," replied his mother, "but we must go. Father has to go—has gone already, and he has to preach."

"Yes," said Fred, unconvinced, "but we have to listen, and that's worse."

Adam's Staff.

The Talmudic writers tell us that "the blessed God gave to the first man in paradise a staff which had been created between the stars. Adam gave it to Enoch, Enoch to Noah, Noah to Shem, Shem to Abraham, Abraham to Isaac, Isaac to Jacob. Jacob carried it into Egypt and gave it to his son Joseph. When Joseph died his household goods were taken to the house of Pharaoh. Pharaoh took the staff of Adam, which had descended to Joseph from the first man, and put it among his special treasures."

The Trouble With Rose.

A grocer whose store was near home was in the habit of rising at 6 o'clock, going up to his place of business and returning at 7:30 for his breakfast. One morning Ella, his little daughter of five years, was sent to tell her father to come an hour later than usual. "Why, what is the matter, daughter?" "Oh, nothing," she replied, "but Rose (the girl) slept over herself."—De Lineator.

THE EYE OF AN ARTIST.

A Case Where It Was More Reliable Than a Sailor's Optic.

Mr. N. Chevalier, the well known artist who accompanied the late Duke of Edinburgh on many of his travels, was once going from Dunedin to Lyttelton, New Zealand, by steamer. Anxious to catch the earliest glimpse of the coast, he went on deck at dawn and was alarmed to see that the vessel was heading straight on to the land. Calling the officer's attention to the fact, he was told that it was only a fog bank. The artist maintained his point, but the second officer looked and confirmed his mate.

The artist then said, "Well, gentlemen, I will back my artist's eye against your sailor's eye, and I say that what you mistake for a fog bank is a low range of hills, and there is a range of mountains appearing above them."

But he was only laughed at until the captain, coming on deck, found in the growing light that the artist was right and the seamen wrong. The vessel was out of its course, and there was only just time to avert disaster. The helmsman was dismissed in disgrace and the course given to a new steersman, but the vessel's head still pointed landward—the compass was all wrong.

The cause was discovered later. A commercial traveler had brought a box of magnets on board and deposited them in a stern cabin, causing what might have been a fatal deflection of the compass.

To return to the question of interpretation, the artist was dealing with the appearances which his eye was trained to see and his mind to interpret. A speck on the horizon might have remained a mere speck to him long after the sailors had interpreted the speck into a vessel of definite rig. There can be little doubt that the trained eye is accompanied by a sort of mental seeing—an instinct outrunning optics.

A Light Enter.

"Look here!" exclaimed the landlady, who had agreed to board and lodge a man at reduced rates. "You told me you were a light enter."

"So I am, ma'am," replied the boarder. "I'm the 'human salamander' at the local music hall. You ought to see me swallow burning torches!"—London Scraps.
