AYDEN ITEMS.

Newsp Notes from a Hustling Town Briefly Told

Ayden, N. C., April 19. The Orphan concert given in the Methodist church Monday night was fine, and we must say that it was the best entertainment they ever gave here. The receipts were satisfactory—some over $72.

Dr. A. A. Hawks, the eye specialist of Atlanta, will be at the store of J. R. Smith Co. May 2nd and 3rd. Your eyes will be examined and glasses fitted free. Remember two days only.

The Methodist conference meets here, on the 26th. We are expecting a large delegation from this state and some from Virginia.

J. A. L. Templeton, who has been book-keeper for the Ayden Lumber Co., left Monday for Kinston hospital, accompanied by Mr. Harry G. Burton. Mr. Templeton has been in ill health for some time.

R. L. Griffin returned Saturday from a trip to Dr. Ivys, he is suffering with a wart on his face below his temple.

Sunday morning early Barkoo's carnival train pulled out for Rocky Mount. The crowd here Saturday evening and night were estimated at 5000 people, it reminded us of the time when an old farmer maturated his corn with herrings and the dogs scratched them up. When asked whose they were he said, they were my dogs, your dogs, all the neighbor dogs, and five hundred dogs I never saw before, but there was lots of strangers to be seen.

Miss Velma Harrington, of Kinston, spent Saturday here.

Mr. Stancel Hodges wife and son, spent Sunday in Washington.

A. L. Blow, of Greenville, was in our town Monday on business.

Messrs. Cox, Dudley and McGlohn, three prospective sheriffs, were all in town Monday.

Mr. Drapis, of Norfolk, is visiting his parents here this week.

Remember Dr. Hawks, the celebrated oculist, will be in Ayden only two days, May 2nd and 3rd, at J. R. Smith Co's store.

J. Carl Jones spent Sunday with his parents, near Graingers.

Mayor Barwick's laundry was running on short time Monday smoothing out Saturday night's work. Still considering the immense crowd we never saw behavior better than we had here during the carnival week.

Wells Browne, of Greenville is a wall paper man of proven experience. He is reliable, keeps a good line, and if he has not got what you want in stock he can get it for you in a few days and hang it for you. When you want it done let him know what you want. He can please you.

Wednesday Night the Time.

Come to hear the singing class from the Oxford Orphanage. You will spend a delightful evening. Your heart will be made warmer, your sympathies will be broadened. It will do you good to go and you will help an enterprise most worthy of assistance.

Hand-Badly Hurt.

Stephen Davis, a colored man who works at the plant of the Greenville Lumber & Veneer Co. Monday got his hand caught in a machine, and several fingers were badly mangled.

FOR LINE TO NEW BERN, N. C.

A Steamboat Connection With Baltimore is Urged

The Thursday's issue of the Baltimore Sun carried the following of interest to Eastern Carolina. The article:

"The merchants of New Bern, N. C., are making every possible effort to have a steamboat line established between Baltimore, Norfolk and New Bern. They believe they could supply freight enough to support such a line, and have written to the Merchants and Manufacturers' Association asking where they could buy a steamer with a capacity of 300 or 400 tons for that purpose.

The letter, which was sent by Capt. H. H. Dowdy, of New Bern, is in part, as follows:

"I have seen all of the business men of our town. They believe the new line would pay, since they could ship all of their goods by it. Will you please send me a list of any Baltimore companies that have boats which would be available for our use? The steamer must carry 300 and 400 tons, and not draw over 10 feet of water.

There is considerable business between Baltimore and New Bern and section of country in the vicinity of that town. All of the goods sent to that territory now is either sent to Norfolk by a steamer and then reshipped by rail, or sent direct by sailing vessels. Every year several of the larger merchants in that territory charter schooners to carry their goods direct to them from Baltimore."

KINGS CROSS ROADS ITEMS.

King's Cross Roads, April 18.—Elder Hathaway filled his regular appointment at King's X Roads last Third Sunday. He preached a very good sermon.

Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Randolph spent last Sunday and Sunday night with Mrs. W. S. E. Smith.

Mrs. Hardy Johnston, of Fountain, were visiting at W. S. E. Smith's last Friday.

Walter Worthington and his sister, Mrs. Robert Matthews, spent Saturday night and Sunday over in Greene county.

Mrs. Marcellus Smith and little daughter, Hulda, spent last week with their people below Greenville.

Little Miss Christine Smith spent a portion of last week with her aunt, Mrs. Addie Corbett.

Misses Lydia Tyson and Mildred McArthur, from near Greenville, were visiting in this neighborhood last week.

Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Fountain, of Asheville, passed through this vicinity last Thursday en route to Mrs. John King's, near Falkland.

Miss Irene Smith spent a portion of last week in Fountain. She was accompanied home Sunday by Miss Minnie Smith.

Farmers Consolidated Meeting

The stockholders of the Farmers' Consolidated Tobacco Co., will hold their annual meeting here tomorrow in the Star warehouse. After the business session hearing reports of officers for the past year and receiving dividend checks, a picnic dinner will be served. As the company has many stockholders the attendance will be large.

Greenville Lost.

The Training school boys lost out in the game played at Washington yesterday with the High school boys, the score being 12 to 8 in favor of Washington.

VIOLATED FEED LAW.

Warrants Issued Against President J. D. McNeill, of Fayetteville

Commissioner of Agriculture W. A. Graham went to Fayetteville Saturday and had warrants issued against the McNeill Milling Company, charging it with violating the North Carolina Food Law. Capt. J. McNeill is president of the company, also is president of the North Carolina Millers' Association, which is now in dispute with the department of agriculture about bleach flour, feedstuff tax, etc.

There are four charges against the company: For refusing to register, refusing to pay license tax, failure to put analysis tags on bags of feedstuff, and selling goods which the inspector had ordered withdrawn from the market.

The cases will go right into the courts and the contentions of the disputants will be settled by judicial decree.—Raleigh Times.

"Take a Roll With Me." Says Ships

All sailors soon will be leaving port with skates if prophesy may be made from the rapid spread of the skating craze on shipboard.

The Kaiserin Auguste Victoria, departed on Saturday with sixty pairs of roller skates among her stewards. The men will roll around on them in their spare time. Adolph Schiedler, a steward, went to a skating rink while the ship lay here. He won a pair of roller skates on a lucky number, carried them back to the ship, and the craze spread rapidly. The stewards practised on the Hamburg-American line pier, tumbling and rolling out and in among barrels and cases until they had found their skating legs.

The fad spread to other ships, and almost all the roller skates in the Hoboken shops were bought up on Saturday. Stewards of the White Star liner Celtic carried many pairs when she sailed for the Mediterranean.—New York World.

Methodist Meeting Notes.

Rev. A. J. Parker preached two excellent sermons Monday and the meeting is rapidly growing in interest. The attendance is good. Prof. Austin is in charge of the music and the singing is a feature. Rev. Mr. Parker is also a good singer. His solos are much appreciated by the congregation. Those who are not attending the meetings are missing a great deal. Services every afternoon and evening, 3:30 and 7:45.

Orphans Concert Wednesday Night.

To the parent the cause of the homeless child most strongly appeals. Soon the representatives of the first orphanage established in North Carolina and one of the first in all the Southern states will visit our community. They come to give one of their delightful concerts. Encourage your children to be active in helping to make the occasion a success and a blessing.

Land Sale Near Greenville.

105 acres or more—wood land lying within 100 yards of the corporate limits of the town of Greenville, for sale Monday, April 25, 1910, being known as the lands of the late Frank Johnston, deceased.

F. C. Harding, Commissioner.

STATE NEWS.

Newsp Items of Interest Condensed for Busy Readers.

Wilmington, April 18.—There is a movement on foot to exterminate the mosquitoes in Wilmington during the next few weeks. Through the instrumentality of Dr. Edward J. Wood, ten gallons of a new kind of oil has been received and being applied as a test. The main breeding place of the mosquito has been discovered and it is thought that extermination will not be a difficult matter. It is stated that $500 will defray all the expense of the work of exterminating the gerrycarrying pest.

Wilmington, April 18.—During a thunder storm, which raged a few miles north of Lumberton, this state yesterday afternoon, the wind assumed the proportions of a cyclone, resulting in the death of one person, the injury of several others and the destruction of considerable property. Farm houses of William and Murdock Stone were completely wrecked and in the latter the aged mother of the family was caught between falling timbers and killed. Mrs. Valler Stone, a visitor, was badly injured and was sent to the Lumberton hospital.

Winston-Salem, April 18.—Jennie Webster, colored, was shot and killed late last night at her home on Walnut street by Charles Snipes, the 19-year-old son of one of the leading butchers here.

Governor Harmon, of Ohio, will not be able to accept the invitation that has been extended to him to come to this city and deliver an address on the occasion of the industrial celebration which is being planned. The inability of Ohio's chief executive to come to Charlotte was conveyed in letters to Senator Overman and Representative Webb in Washington. In his communication the governor stated that rush of business and other matters rendered it impossible for him to accept the invitation, although he regretted very much his inability to come.—Charlotte Chronicle.

Garland, N. C., April 16.—Yesterday afternoon a fire, the smoke of which could be seen for miles around, destroyed part of the plant of the Cherokee Lumber Company, which is near this place. The planning mill, the oil house and the lumber sheds were destroyed. The loss to the company is estimated at between thirty and forty thousand dollars.

Preparing for Reunion.

Arrangements for the meeting of the association of medical officers of the army and navy of Confederacy, which will be held at Mobile during the reunion are rapidly nearing completion and the programme is expected to be an interesting and entertaining one. At the opening Dr. W. H. Sanders will deliver the address of welcome. There will be three sessions. With the opening of next week, the work of placing 5,000 cots in buildings and halls that have been secured will start and by the following Sunday the lodging committee will be ready to take care of all comers.—Concord Tribune.

Dissolve Co-partnership.

Clark & McMore, merchant tailors, corner of Washington and Fourth streets, have dissolved co-partnership, Mr. B. F. McMore taking over the business. He will continue at the same place.

THE PARLOR DOLL.

Mother Works to Death for "Love's Young Dream"

A wise Gotham judge last week delivered a scathing lecture to a girl in her teens who ran away because her mother made her wash the dishes when her "young man was waiting to see her in the parlor." The girl will doubtless remember her court experience, but it is doubtful if she will learn anything from it.

The army of "parlor beauties" is, unfortunately, growing at a rapid rate, especially in the working and middle classes, since the marriage mart has become overstocked with femininity. And while this increase takes place, there is an army of aged mothers, worn and weary, starting down the hill toward the sunset.

While you sit and listen to the sweet nothings which fall ever anon from the parlor doll, you hear the footfall of mother drudging around somewhere in the back. That is one reason why housekeeping is becoming a lost art with many young women today. Mother does it all.

This old world is full of mothers who are laboring and loving unto death. Every day some household martyr folds her nerveless hands for the last long sleep; every day pilgrim shoes are loosened from tired feet that have given out to make "love's young dream" possible. The shadows are gathering in many homes today where the lights in the front room are turned low.—Asheville Citizen.

Only One Message.

The lady of the house, where they use a "party line" told the new maid to repeat to her any message. Then the lady went shopping. When she returned she summoned the maid.

"Did you receive any message for me, Jane?" she inquired.

"Only one, ma'am, I thought I heard th' bell ring, ma'am, an' I took down th' receiver, ma'am, an' just then a voice said, 'Listening again, are you, you old snoot?'"—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

The Old Mill.

Tourist in Holland—I suppose, my good man, that mill has ground out your living for a good many years? Gentleman at Market—Bless you, no! The old shank hasn't run for twenty years. I make a better living renting it as a model to American artists.—Jawon.

TUESDAY, APR. 19, 1910

T. Roosevelt is doing Hungary now, and the folks are hungry to see him.

The president and the suffragists have made up, and the hissing incident is closed.

If Robin Cooper's lawyer is on to his job, he will be sure to have the case tried again before Governor Patterson goes out of office.

The Charlotte News says Patterson should resign. He is not going to do so, but the folks of Tennessee will be likely to put him out the very first chance they get.

It will only stop some of the attempted bright, but hackneyed, remarks about it, let everybody take 'em off at once!—Greensboro News.

Excuse us please, until the "r" drops out of the calendar. In fact we are going to stick to 'em through the "cold spell in May."

Thus reads a press dispatch: Senator Aldrich, of Rhode Island authorized the "announcement tonight that he will not be a candidate for re-election to the senate and that he will positively retire at the expiration of his present term on March 3, 1911.

We shall breathe a little easier now, and hope to live a little easier after March, 1911. Aldrich is the biggest bug-bear the United States ever had.

Farmers in some of the counties of this State are asking the city fathers of their county seats through the farmers union to provide hitching posts in a public lot for their use. This is a good idea and will prove a great convenience to the farmers who do not want to put their teams up at the feed stables, if they secure the posts, and is only one of many that could be secured through the union when the farmers pull together.

Spring is Here.

The hens they are clucking, the colts are a bucking, the zephyrs are joyously murmuring tunes; the peacock is haughty, the goslings are dotty, the farmers are laboring, sowing their prunes. The lambkins are jumping, the windmill is pumping a lot of wet water to fill up the tank, the hired girl, so drowsy, is milking old Bossie, who knocks over the pail with one off of the shank. The hired man is fussing with harness and cursing whoever invented a slabsided mule; the old hen is squawking; she thinks it is shocking that ducks will go swimming around in a pool. O, spring, you're a dandy! My harp isn't handy, or I would emba!nu you in measures that charm! I think it is a pity that folks in the city can't all, at this season, be out on a farm! I would that town legions, in green rural regions might gambol and monkey, chortle and sing, and, far from skyscrapers and fierce daily papers, get down to the grass roots, and know what is Spring.

—Walt Mason.

In these days, when we look for the annual "mid season dullness," patrons of the catalogue houses and mail order shops could help business along by swearing their habits and patronizing the home merchant. It is a false economy which prompts one to pay high prices and express rates for articles which can be purchased in our own community at the same, and in many cases lower prices than those asked by the catalogue sharks. If you are "bitten" you have no redress. The home merchant, however, stands back of his sales and will right any apparent wrong. The profits made by your own dealer circulate at home; those you send away never come back. Ever thought of that?—Asheville Citizen.

Claiming that he hypnotized her so she couldn't talk a mother in law has had her son-in-law arrested, in Wilkes Barre, Pa. The jurors should certainly not let him go until they find out how he did the glorious trick.—Wilmington Dispatch.

Stomach Misery for Over Six Years.

Read what Mr. Hoffman, landlord of the Webster Hotel, writes: "I suffered misery and intense pains from stomach trouble for over six years, and all the doctoring that I did or medicines I used were of no avail until about two years ago when I used a treatment of Mi-o-na. The first few days' treatment helped me greatly and upon using it a while I was made entirely free from many stomach troubles or complaint whatever. Since the cure by Mi-o-na I have regained my weight, I eat and sleep well, am never nervous; and my entire general health is much better."—Max M. Hoffman, Webster, N. Y., Aug. 2, 1909.
Mi-o-na stomach tablets relieve distress in five minutes. They act like magic. They are guaranteed to cure sour stomach, gas eruptions, heartburn, dizziness, biliousness and nervousness, or money back. For sale by druggists everywhere and by Jno. L. Wooten for 10c a large box. —plenty of it, and be extremely careful how you spend your piano money.
Terms amount to very little—glittering promises cover a multitude of faults—you can get satisfactory terms anywhere, but a satisfactory piano at a precious few places.
We have 8 makes under grades and classification as follows: highest medium and low. Each grade is characterized by the price we ask for it. Whatever price you are willing to pay for a piano, if bought from us, you will be getting legitimate value, as you won't be deceived in the grade you are getting. We have several self-player Pianos at bargain prices.

A Cold Storage
In Your Home
You can not be too careful in buying a refrigerator, as much of the illness in some families can be traced directly to using insanitary refrigerators. We have carefully investigated all the many makes of refrigerators, and have selected a line which we can positively guarantee to be the cleanest and most sanitary refrigerators made. No germs are possible with the smooth, seamless surface, and they can be kept spotless and germless for years to come. One of these refrigerators will soon pay for itself in saving of ice bills. Before you buy let us show you our complete line of perfectly constructed refrigerators. They cost no more than the ordinary kind.

OLD ENGLISH HUMOR

The Brand of Laugh Extractors Used Two Centuries Ago.

IN "JOE MILLER'S JEST BOOK"

A Selection of Specimen Jokes From the Venerable Volume That Mark Twain Was Moved to Call the Alpha and Omega of Dejected Humor.

The "Joe Miller Jest Book"—It is famous. Mark Twain mentions it as the alpha and omega of dejected humor. It is unrivaled, incomparable, apart. Further, it is English—very English.

Possibly the latter phenomenon is responsible for the difficulty a searcher had in finding an unrivaled copy. After an afternoon of search a second-hand but scarcely worn copy finally was discovered, in a little bookstore. The bookseller eyed the buyer curiously, but with some awe, and seemed very glad to get the book.

"Twenty-five cents! How instantly reminiscent of one of the Joe Miller jokes—beg pardon, jests!"

THE LIGHT SUBJECT.

The government, having threatened to proceed rigorously against those who refused to pay assessed taxes, offered to them a remission of one-fourth. "This at least," said one sufferer, "may be called a light subject."

You can get that off in your very next after dinner speech. You can put a little accent on one-fourth and quarter and get quite a laugh.

Second specimen (it must be remembered that the jest book was compiled in the early part of the eighteenth century, when there were literarians; therefore the jests that aren't blamed on lords are mostly charged to writers):

A DIFFERENCE.

Whose name was Leitch, who explained that he was not the popular Aristocrat John Leech. "I'm aware of that," said Jerrold. "You're the Scotchman with the i-t-e-h in your name."

There! Just think of the triumph with which Mr. Jerrold later related that quip to his friends.

SPECIMEN.

THE CONNOISSEUR.

A person to whom the curiosities, buildings, etc., in Oxford were shown one very hot day was asked by his companion if he would see the remainder of the university. "My dear sir," replied the connoisseur, "I am stone blind already."

Whether the friend expired in spasms of mirth or subsequently was hanged for mayhem the jest book doesn't say.

THE WIT OF THE IRISH IS CALLED IN TOO.

A SPRIG OF SHILLALAH.

A fellow on the quay, thinking to quit a poor Irishman, asked him, "How do the potatoes eat now, Pat?" The Irish lad, who happened to have a shillalah in his hand, answered cleverly: "Oh, they eat very well, my jewel! Would you like to taste the stalk?" And, knocking the inquirer down, he coolly walked off.

Probably it was a good thing he knocked him down first.

Turning to the middle of the book—there are 400 pages—Joe breaks into verse:

ON THE LATIN GERUNDS.

When Dido mourned, Aeneas would not come. She wept in silence and was Di-Do-Dumb. Classic?

A BAD END.

It was told of Jekyll that one of his friends, a brewer, had been drowned in his own vat. "Ah," he exclaimed, "floating in his own watery bier!"

RIGHT OFF THE BAT THAT.

There's little Johnny also. He drops in during jest:

THE SEASON-INGS.

"Come here, Johnny, and tell me what the four seasons are."

Young Freddy—Pepper, salt, mustard and vinegar.

Here's a little shot at politics and the peer system:

EPIGRAM.

(On Alderman Woods being afraid to pledge himself to even the principles he has always professed.)

Sure in the house he'll do but little good Who lets "I dare not" wait upon "I, Wood" (I would).

Oh, listen! Talk about your originality:

A SHORT JOURNEY.

"Zounds, fellow!" exclaimed a choleric old gentleman to a very phlegmatic matter of fact person. "I shall go out of my wit!"

"Well, you won't have far to go," said the phlegmatic man.

Yes, and here's a small ebullition from a dramatist:

OLD FRIENDS.

Coleman, the dramatist, was asked if he knew Theodore Hook. "Yes," replied the wit. "Hook and eye are old associates."

Hook was not present at the time.

The courts also come through with a few gems:

NEW RELATIONSHIP.

A stranger to law courts, hearing a judge call a sergeant "brother," expressed his surprise. "Oh," said one of the bystanders, "they are brothers—brothers in law."

And speaking of repartee:

A SHUFFLING ANSWER.

Two Oxonians dined together, one of them noticed a grease spot on the neckcloth of his companion and said, "I see you are a Grecian."

"Pooh!" said the other. "That is far-fetched."

"No, indeed," said the wit; "I made it on the spot."

Right back at him, you observe.

Of course there are some better ones, but there are also some that are worse.

Taken as a whole, they don't add any laurels to the English reputation for humor nor detract any from the opinion of Mark Twain—Kansas City Times.

Emperors and cobblers are alike, and the same reason that makes us wrangle with a neighbor causes a war between princes.—Montaigne.

A TENDERFOOT AT POKER.

He Knew How to Play a Good Hand When He Got It.

"Pat Sheedy," said a sporting editor, "used to entertain me when I visited his art shop with gambling tales."

"There was one tale about a sandwich that I rather liked. It seems, according to this tale, that a barkeeper in some mining town, connived with three sharpers, and dear help any tenderfoot that ever ventured to sit in a little poker game among that crew."

"One night the tenderest tenderfoot imaginable, after a half dozen drinks in the saloon, agreed to take a hand in a dollar limit game."

"Things went along in the usual way for awhile. Then an amazing series of nods and winks began to pass about. The bartender had signalled that the tenderfoot held four kings on the draw. There were more nods and winks, and betting began."

"In the midst of the betting a waiter brought sandwiches and whisky in order to distract the tenderfoot, and while the poor dupe was tossing off his drink the sharper next him slipped very glad to get the book."

"Twenty-five cents! How instantly reminiscent of one of the Joe Miller jokes—beg pardon, jests!"

THE COCOANUT TREE.

It Has an Irresistible Craving For Salt Water.

"In the tropics, where the cocoanut is wanted for planting, the nuts are picked up when they fall from the tree where they have hung for about fourteen months in ripening. It is a fact not generally known," says the Bakers' Weekly, "that a majority of the nuts drop at night, which probably accounts for the small loss of life by cocoanuts falling upon the heads of the natives."

"The action of the heavy dew at night loosens the seal with which nature has provided the nut and allows it to fall. The nuts wanted for planting are either gathered into heaps or placed under sheds, where they are allowed to sprout before planting, in order that good, healthy sprout nuts may be selected, thus avoiding the possibility of planting 'blind' nuts that would not sprout, in which case much time would be lost in starting the 'cocoanut walks,' as the orchards are called. When holes are dug about three feet deep and twenty feet apart the nut is carefully placed in the hole and covered with about one foot of soil. The hole is filled as the sprout grows until it reaches the surface, when it is left to itself, requiring no further attention. Should the place where the cocoanut is planted be any great distance from the seashore a quantity of salt is placed in the hole. It will grow in luxuriance, however, but a short distance from the shore, nearness to salt water being absolutely essential to its welfare."

"An interesting story is told by a gentleman who resided for some years in the tropics. He planted a cocoanut tree behind a board fence some distance from the sea. The tree grew perfectly straight until it reached the top of the fence, when it began to grow toward the ocean, leaning a foot or more. Then a shed was built quite near the fence, but several feet higher, and the tree again grew straight, until when it again leaned toward the sea forming a very curious and odd looking tree."

"The irregular growth was wholly attributed to the influence of the salt air. No magnet is truer to the pole than the root of the cocoanut tree to the ocean, for when the root breaks through its husk it points directly toward the sea, no matter what the position of the nut when placed in the ground."

PAID IN PELTS.

When Tennessee Was Known as the State of Franklin.

Probably few people know that the original name of the state of Tennessee was Franklin or that in 1788 the salaries of the officers of the commonwealth were paid in pelts, but the following is a correct copy of the law:

"Be it enacted by the state of Franklin, and it is hereby enacted by authority of the same, that from and after the 1st day of January, 1788, the salaries of this commonwealth be as follows—to wit:

"His excellency the governor per annum, 100 deerskins.

"His honor the chief justice, 500 deerskins.

"The secretary to his excellency the governor, 500 raccoon skins.

"County clerk, 300 beaver skins.

"Clerk of the house of commons, 200 raccoon skins.

"Justice's fee for serving a warrant, one hunkskin."

"At that time the state of Franklin extended to the east bank of the Mississippi river, and on the west bank was that great unknown forest region of Louisiana. It was then a terra incognita, save a few canoe landings and Indian trading posts on the river banks. It was known as the district of Louisiana and in 1805 was made the territory of Louisiana.

"The state of Franklin, which became Tennessee in 1796, was almost as little known. The now great city of Memphis was a mere trading post and was not laid out as a village until 1820.

"Pelts were as plentiful in those days as pennies and much better distributed for purposes of currency and barter."

The Doctrine of Election.

When the late Senator Vance was running for congress he called on an old colored man who had in early life served the Vance family. Asked after his health, the former servant replied, "Mighty po'ly in this worl', but it's all right over yander."

"Do you believe in the doctrine of election?" asked Vance with great solemnity.

"It's the doctrine of the Bible," answered the old man.

"Uncle Ephraim, do you think I've been elected?" asked Vance again.

"Massa Zeb, I'd a feeble ruler, you wouldn't draw that question, I'm too near de grave to fell a lie, but de fac' am I beeb yet knowed nor hear tell o' no man beeb elected what wa'n't a candidate."—Exchange.

The Origin of It.

"Senator," said the interviewer, "it is rumored that you intend to retire from politics."

"Well, well," replied the senator, "it's queer how rumors start. I suppose this one grew out of the fact that I attended church with my wife last Sunday."—Catholic Standard and Times.

BURIED HIS OPPONENT.

"Sunset" Cox Pronounced the Eulogy and Wrote the Epitaph.

Adlai Stevenson in his reminiscences tells some stories of the witty New York congressman, "Sunset" Cox. One relates how Cox got even with a new member who tried to crush him, and another gives Cox's return to Samuel J. Tilden's effort to win the dried in the wool Republican state of Vermont in 1874.

A new member from a sparsely settled district entered the house. His avoirdupois was in keeping with the vast territorial area he represented. As a wit he was without a rival in his section. The admiration of his constituents over the marvelous attainments of the new member scarcely exceeded his own. Only the opportunity was wanting when the star of the gentleman from New York should go down and his own be in the ascendant. The opportunity at length came. In the great speech made by the new member Mr. Cox was the victim of the hour, the recipient of many compliments much more fervid than kind. The seven vials of wrath were opened upon him. A vast storehouse of wit, ancient and modern, was literally exhausted for the occasion. Even the diminutive size of the New York member was mentioned in terms of disparagement.

The speech caused much merriment in the house during its delivery, and its author, with an air of self-satisfaction rarely witnessed even in that body, resumed his seat. Mr. Cox at once took the floor. No attempt will be made to do justice to his speech. The manner, the tone of voice, which caused an uproar upon the floor and in the galleries, can never find their way to print. Referring to the ill-mannered allusion to his size, he said "that his constituents preferred a representative with brains rather than one whose only claims to distinction consisted in an abnormal abdominal development." In tragic tones he then pronounced a funeral eulogy over his assailant and suggested as a fitting inscription for his tombstone the pathetic words of Byron:

"'Tis Greece, but living Greece no more."

Soon after the nomination of Tilden for president Mr. Cox was invited to attend a political meeting at the state capital and address the Democracy of Vermont. When the sanctity of Democrats in the Green Mountain State is taken into account the significance of Mr. Cox's reply will readily appear. His telegram was to the effect that pressing engagements prevented his attending, but "if the Democracy of Vermont will drop into my library any afternoon about 4 o'clock I will address them with great pleasure."

A Great Favor.

"So you are the noble youth who plunged into the raging flood and rescued my daughter from a dreadful death?"

"Yes, sir."

"And you have come to ask me for a great favor?"

"Yes, sir."

"You have come to ask me to let you marry my child?"

"No, sir. I've come to ask you to let me have $7 until next Saturday night."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

THE CRASH OF WORLDS.

A Scientific Theory Concerning the End of Our Planet.

Credulous individuals who are always fearful that some of the ends of the world predicted by sensational prophets may prove to be true will find considerable comfort in the assertion of Professor Lowell that there is good scientific evidence for the belief that mankind will have many years' warning of the great catastrophe that is destined to put an end to all things on this planet.

According to Professor Lowell's statements, there is somewhere within the remote confines of space a great mass of matter—once a world, but now dead—that is hurling itself toward our sun. In time it is certain to reach the goal to which it is tending, and when the two come together the globe on which we live is destined to cease to exist.

Fortunately for our peace of mind, there is at the present moment no such dead world within dangerous proximity, and yet any day it may appear. Any day the morning papers may announce that one of these dark bodies has come within the reach of the telescope—that it may readily be seen by the light of the sun reflected upon it.

While it would then be certain that the end of the world was in sight, there would still be ample time in which to prepare for the inevitable. If the first view of the intruder was caught at the eleventh magnitude—it could scarcely come much nearer without being detected—it would not be until twenty-seven years later that it would become visible to the naked eye, and three years more would elapse before it appeared to us as equal in size to a first magnitude star. In two years and three months more it would have come as near to us as Jupiter, and by that time it would be far the brightest star in the sky. In fact, its effect upon the world would already be felt. Our seasons would change, and the days would grow longer. Finally, just 145 days later, those who were still alive would witness the beginning of the end. The stranger would not strike the earth, but would pass so close in its dash to the sun that the earth would turn and follow until together they would drop silently into the sun.—Brooklyn Eagle.

A Man's Pay For Her.
Mrs. Kelly—Are ye takin' much stock in this attempt that a lot of the wimmen are makin' to get a vote for us, Mrs. Rafferty? Mrs. Rafferty—I ain't botherin' me head about such things. I'm satisfied to let Dinny and the boys do 'all the votin' for my family. But I do think that a woman should get man's pay. Mrs. Kelly—Well, I can assure you, Mrs. Rafferty, that I get one man's pay or know the reason why every Saturday night.
