WILL REDISTRIBUTE THE STATE.

Generally Credited Rumor Afloat Among Democrats to This Effect.

It is said to be practically certain that the Democrats will redistrict the state after the census is complete. Effort will be made to arrange the counties in such fashion as to leave the Republicans out in the cold. In fact there is considerable talk to this effect. Several clever Democrats are working with might and main on this redistricting proposition now. A well known politician, whose name is familiar from Murphy to Manteo, declared several days ago that the Democrats should rearrange things so that all the districts would return Democrats. He said that this could be done, leaving fairly equal population in the several districts.

"I would divide the State into districts as follows:

"First districts: Currituck, Camden, Pasquotank, Perquimans, Gates, Hertford, Chowan, Bertie, Northampton, Dare, Tyrrell, Washington, Hyde and Beaufort counties, which, by the last vote for Governor, would give a Democratic majority of 7,366.

"Second: Pitt, Martin, Edgecombe, Nash, Wilson, Greene, Johnston and Harnett; majority, 7,080.

"Third: Pamlico, Carteret, Craven, Jones, Onslow, Pender, Duplin, Lenoir, Wayne and Sampson; majority, 3,969.

"Fourth: Franklin, Wake, Chatham, Durham, Orange and Alamance; majority, 3,813.

"Fifth: Halifax, Warren, Vance, Person, Caswell, Rockingham, Stokes and Surry; majority, 3,997.

"Sixth: Bladen, Cumberland, Moore, Lee, Randolph, Guilford and Forsyth; majority, 2,990.

"Seventh: New Hanover, Brunswick, Columbus, Robeson, Scotland, Richmond, Davidson, Davie, Yadkin and Wilkes; majority, 2,620.

"Eighth: Anson, Stanly, Cabarrus, Rowan, Iredell, Alexander, Caldwell, Watauga, Ashe and Alleghany; majority, 2,092.

"Ninth: Union, Mecklenburg, Gaston, Lincoln, Catawba, Burke, Mitchell, Yancey and Madison; majority, 2,819.

"Tenth: Cleveland, Rutherford, McDowell, Polk, Henderson, Buncombe, Haywood, Transylvania, Jackson, Swain, Macon, Clay, Graham and Cherokee; majority, 633.

"This would work like a top," continued the politician. "The districts would be within the requirements of the constitution, and would look well. There would be one or two long ones, but that would not hurt.

"Let us see how it would be shaped up: Down in the first, Pitt and Martin would be replaced by Bertie and Northampton. The second would be made up of portions of the present first, second, fourth and sixth. The third would fall heir to Lenoir. The fourth would be composed of three counties of the old district and three of the old fifth. The fifth would have counties of the fourth and fifth; the sixth of the fifth. Sixth and seventh, and the seventh of the sixth, seventh and eighth. The only change in the eighth would be the exchange of Wilkes for Anson. Cleveland would be taken from the ninth and added to the tenth, and Union given to the ninth.

"After the shake up it would be found that Pou and Godwin, Kitchin and Morehead, Fage and Cowles, and Grant and Webb

AYDEN ITEMS.

Newsy Notes From a Hustling Town Briefly Told

Ayden, N. C.; April 22. Mrs. J. E. Hart and children, of Kinston, are visiting relatives in town.

Dr. A. K. Hawks, the eye specialist, will be at J. R. Smith Co's store two days only, May 2nd and 3rd. Eyes tested free.

Dr. Furman, of New York, will deliver the annual address at the Baptist seminary May 30th.

Charles Willard, of Microbe, is visiting his daughter, Mrs. Hassie Corbett.

W. W. Ormond and wife spent Wednesday night with Elias Turnage.

J. R. Smith & Bro., made a business trip to Snow Hill and Hookerton Wednesday.

Hon. Eugene Brooks has been invited to deliver the closing address on the 10th of May at the graded school.

Rev. D. W. Arnold will preach a sermon to the I. O. O. F. in Ayden in the near future.

The clock at J. R. Smith Co's store was opened Thursday, time 1:37-53. Mrs. William Manning won the china, her time being 1:41-03. Mrs. Mary Oglesby received the other, her time 1:41-6.

There is a big run of shad and herrings at Pitch Kettle. They catch more than they can sell, so are coming up for fall and winter use.

Smith Co. & Dixon are installing some light meters on their system. This is the sensible thing to do, and then if the patrons wish to burn all their lamps all night they can do so at their own expense and not to the electric company, as the case has been heretofore.

Snow Hill has recently installed an electric plant. They get their power from the old Tommie Moore water mill about two miles from town. The plant belongs to Mr. Frank Faircloth.

We understand the town of Farmville is negotiating with a view of installing an electric plant in the near future.

Our town aldermen are having material placed at the crossing of the ditch on Second and Third streets with a view of building culverts across the streets. This is a much needed improvement and we dare say will guarantee the re-election of the entire board the first Monday in May.

Meeting in Methodist Church.

There is good music and good preaching at the meeting now in progress in the Methodist church. Mr. Parker's sermon Thursday night was from the text, "My Spirit will not always strive with man," coupled with the declaration of Saul "The Spirit of the Lord has departed from me, He will not hear me." The speaker emphasized the danger of postponing seeking salvation until it is too late. At the conclusion of the sermon Mr. Parker sang a beautiful solo.

There was a service at 4 o'clock this afternoon principally for children. The service to-night begins at 7:45. No day service will be held Saturday, but at night the usual service will be held, and on Sunday there will be three services—morning, afternoon and night. The Sunday afternoon service will be for men.

resided in the same districts. The new fourth, sixth, eighth and ninth would have no congressmen.

"This is the best arrangement that can be made, and I am in favor of it, for it means Democratic again."—Charlotte Chronicle.

STATE NEWS.

Newsy Items of Interest Condensed for Busy Readers.

Asheville, April 21.—A deal has practically been consummated by which the holdings of the Sprucemont Lumber company in Haywood country are to pass to Sears, Roebuck & Co., of Chicago. This company, it is said, has already signed a temporary contract. Sears, Roebuck & Co. is the large order house and desire to have a factory in this section to manufacture furniture, they contracting for the entire output. The factory, it is said, will be either located at Waynesville or at Asheville. It will have a large capacity and employ a large number of men.

Sixty eight carloads of strawberries were shipped by the Atlantic Coast Line yesterday, and it is expected that today's shipment will be practically the same. This is very encouraging, as the weather has not been conducive to the ripening of the berries.—Rocky Mount Record.

On yesterday the deal was consummated and the papers passed for purchase of the Pitt and Crute warehouse by the Tobacco Planters Warehouse Co., of this city. It was recently decided by this new tobacco company, which is backed and owned by a large number of the tobacco growers of Edgecombe and Nash counties, that they would build on the vacant lot on north Church street near the intersection of Falls road, however, there is little probability of their building at present since the purchase of yesterday. It is understood that the warehouse company paid sixteen thousand dollars for the property, which is acknowledged to be one of the most valuable warehouse buildings on the local market.—Rocky Mount Record.

Kinston, April 21.—A 12 year-old son Gus Sears, colored, who lives twelve miles from Kinston, yesterday shot his little two-year-old sister to death with a flobert rifle. None of the family was at the house when the shooting took place. The boy is an epileptic and almost an idiot, though he had cunning enough to deny the shooting.

To My Friends and the Public.

Having severed connection with the firm known as Clark & McLemore, I will in the future conduct a pressing club to do business as Clark & Taylor at 326 Evans street, phone 63. Our rates will be $4 per month for club members and regular prices for job work. Any patronage my friends and the public can give will be much appreciated, and we will guarantee entire satisfaction at all times. The club will start May 1st, provided we secure enough members, so see us right away and get a membership card.

Yours very truly,
Ollie F. Clark.

Enumerators for North Side River.

Mr. D. C. James has been appointed enumerator to take the census of that portion of Greenville township lying on the north side of the river. He will begin the work next Monday.

The Tungsten Arch.

The arch of Tungsten lights across Evans street near the post office was lighted Thursday night and every body admired it. We hope to see more of these arches on the streets.

FARMVILLE ITEMS.

Farmville, N. C., April 22.—Congressman Jno. H. Small is to deliver the address for the Farmville graded school May 13th. A treat is in store for those who hear him.

There have been very few days for the past month and a half that we have not seen some moving of some old house in order to make ready for a new building of some kind.

Two were confirmed at the Episcopal church Sunday by Bishop Strange. Mr. Fulford, the Episcopal rector, has closed his work here and at present the church is without a rector.

The new church of the Disciples is about ready for use. They held Sunday school in it last Sunday and expect to hold regular services in it next Sunday.

The Oxford Orphan singing

the opera house last night and received a good sum.

We welcome to our town Mr. G. B. Ford, recently of Selma, who is to be editor The Farmville Enterprise. The press and machinery is all new and clean, every piece of it. We hope it may always be morally clean and that no enemy of our homes, our schools, State or churches shall ever find sympathy in the editor or any of its helpers. We may look for the first issue of The Enterprise next week. As we are to have a paper of our own I shall cease my writing for The Reflector.

[We hope our correspondent will change his mind about ceasing to write for The Reflector and continue to send items.—EJ.]

Business in Politics.

There are fanciful dreamers who still think and act as though there were nothing in politics except sentiment. This sentiment grows out of some great policies of government involving the personal right of citizens, or, stated otherwise, the rights of the person in government. Partisan politics is largely based upon this kind of sentiment. All the great parties that have arisen in American politics were founded upon some great moral question having business as a secondary consideration. When the republic was first established there were Tories as well as patriots. There were those who believed in America and a Republican form of government while there were many others who had no sympathy with Washington, Jefferson, Hamilton and other founders. The fathers differed in some policies relating to business, but business was nevertheless a strong factor, fundamentally in partisan organization. The questions relating to the establishment of government are settled and later political parties were organized still more on sentimental and moral questions, but business was also a consideration. The great moral questions of the day are also settled and the politics of our time is business or should be, and business pure and simple. The partisan who figures nowadays that business cuts no figure in politics is a simon-pure dreamer.—Ex.

LOCAL BRIEFS.

Red Men meet tonight.

Today feels much better than yesterday.

The clouds that held on well through last night saved this section a frost this morning.

The small boys are going to Winterville tomorrow to play a game of ball with the boys there.

The April term of Pitt Superior court to begin next Monday will be held in the city hall on Fifth street.

The ladies of Farmville will give an entertainment there to-night for the benefit of the Presbyterian church in that town.

"You Should Reason With a Mule."

Mr. R. W. Lemmond is limping. The whyforeness of that limp is that yesterday afternoon Mr. Lemmond out of public kindness of heart went out to consolation to a mule which was hitched by the bridge to the rear end of a wagon and was ripping and cavorting because an automobile was passing by. The mule after turning the wagon over and breaking two of its wheels apparently gave heed to the earnest appeals to be quiet and Mr. Lemmond was thinking doubtless that managing mules and juries was his long suit; when the son of a Balaam deliberately put out one of his iron-shod front feet on the top of Mr. Lemmond's left foot and put a pressure thereon at about half a ton, as a lawyer would say, and for a space of time long enough for Mr. Lemmond to have uttered a number of cuss words had he been a cussing man, which same however he is not. Now you know why Mr. Lemmond limps.—Monroe Enquirer.

What Makes a Town.

What makes a town, anyway? Is it the wealth evidenced by the fine homes and splendid store buildings? These may attest the stability and thrift of certain people, but they offer no great inducement to commercial and moral progress. Is it the spirit of good order and law observance? That is a factor only. The sleepest old hamlets that dot the map have this spirit in rank abundance. Is it the schools and churches? May their number ever increase, but they don't make a town—they only culture it. Is it the geographical location, the character of the country surrounding, the shipping facilities, the natural advantages? None of these are essentials. Well, what is it that makes a town, anyway? Just one thing—the unity of the people, the existence of a common bond which causes business and social enemies to put aside all differences when it comes to boosting the town. No town ever made real progress on the way to substantial success without the get-together spirit unanimously adopted. It has rejuvenated old hulks of towns that were yawning their way into endless sleep. It has infused new blood into the heart of commercial life and made thriving cities out of paralytic villages. Natural advantages count for much and prosperity can not be built on shifting sand, but any town with half a chance can be made to grow and expand and thrive when its citizens join with one accord in the boosting program—Aurora (Neb.) Republican.

Richmond Robbers Plead Guilty.

Richmond, Va., April 21.—"Guilty," answer Fred Cunningham, alias Eddy Fay, and Frank Chester, alias "Little Dick" Harris, charged with complicity in the robbery of the Richmond postoffice on the night of March 27th, when $85,000 in stamps was taken from the safe, when they appeared today for trial in Federal court before Judge Edmund Waddill. Each man at once was sentenced to ten years in the Federal prison at Atlanta, five years on each of two counts in the indictment and assessed fines of $6,000 each.

Glad tidings from the Cracker State. The Georgia peach crop is reported safe.

You need not believe any body who tells you he saw the comet. It is not visible.

We want to see Greenville get on to the factory idea. The town needs it for its health.

A permit is hereby issued to the Greenville Reflector to stick to them through the cold spell in May.—Greensboro News.

Thanks, old boy, we shall use the permit.

You see how it makes Greenville look when there is a large gathering of farmers in town. Why not arrange for a fourth of July celebration and invite all of them to come?

If the press dispatches are to be believed, there is a prospect of cheaper food. From New York comes the news that meat has declined two cents, and potatoes have dropped off twenty cents on the bushel.

Because they are not making announcements is no indication that there are no candidates for office in Pitt county. There are from two to six candidates out for every office, and they are out to move.

The Charlotte Observer says about half the people of Mecklenburg county have failed to pay their poll tax for last year. People up that way must have grown tired of voting and take very little interest in politics.

A Brooklyn woman census taker had not been on the job three days before she received two offers of marriage from men she was interrogating. It is not said that she threw up her job to take either of the new ones offered.

There is enough good land in Pitt county that is lying idle to profitably support twice the number of people the county has. And look anywhere you may, and you will not find better nor more productive lands than in Pitt; nor can you find a more conducive climate for work at practically all seasons of the year. The man who is looking for a good investment in farm lands could not do better than come this way.

Several days ago a truck grower in an adjacent county shipped 32 crates of strawberries to New York. They were quoted at 21 cents on the New York market and enroute north the car became too warm and many of the berries were spoiled.

DON'T GET RUN DOWN
Weak and miserable. If you have kidney or bladder trouble, dull head pain, dizziness, nervousness, pain in the back, and feel tired all over, get a package of Mother Gray's Australian Leaf, the pleasant herb cure. It never fails. We have many testimonials from grateful people who have used this wonderful remedy. As a regular it has no equal. Ask for Mother Gray's Australian Leaf at druggist or sent by mail for 50 cents. Sample free. Address, The Mother Gray Co., Le Roy, N. Y.

They were sold to hucksters at an average of 2 cents per quart.—New Bern Journal.

That might have been the explanation of the commission man to the shipper, but it is not improbable the commission man was doing some stealing and making false report of sales. Southern truck shippers are very much at the mercy of the commission sharks in the Northern cities.

Wake county wants to go on the salary basis—that is to say the taxpayers do, not the gentlemen who are holding the offices. This county adopted the plan some years ago and is saving at present about $10,000 a year, though some of the officers, notably the treasurer, is worked to death and gets the least salary of any one in the county's service. His salary is, we believe, $1,250 a year, while he has more responsibility and more work than any of the others. Under the fee system he would probably make at least $5,000. Of course the system needs adjustment and in time it will be equitably arranged.—Greensboro Record.

No man can have a good standing in any capacity in his community if he fails to pay his debts, whether he fails to pay through negligence or a desire to defraud, it is all the same, his neighbors look at him as an unsafe proposition, and his chances for doing business with them are greatly lessened. Neither does it matter as to the size of the accounts he does not pay; in fact a man can quickly get an undesirable reputation for little accounts. Business men soon get to know these who are unsafe to pay, and they grant credit accordingly. If credit is given at all, it is on such terms as will be unprofitable to the buyer.—Durham Sun.

Branchial Tubes all Stuffed Up.

While a resident of Washington, D. C., I suffered continually and intensely with a bronchial trouble that was insupportable to endure. I would have spells that I could hardly breathe, I would choke up, fill up in my throat and bronchial tubes, and the doctor that I did and the remedies used were of no benefit to me whatever. I heard about Bion's Hyomel being so beneficial in cases of bronchial affections and purchased a unit. I received relief from the first use. I continued with it and received a cure. It is about two years since I have suffered at all from my former trouble.—Mrs. R. J. Jones, 401 N. Augusta street, Staunton, Va., March 16, 1909.

FIVE BAD TWENTIES.

The Judge Said He Really Was Not Sure Who Got Them.

A noted lawyer of one of the southern states, famous not only for his brilliant mind and legal ability, but also for his rigid code of honesty, used to tell this story on himself:

"Soon after the civil war the judge was called on to defend a man accused of passing counterfeit money. The old lawyer, after investigating the matter and satisfying himself that the man was innocent of any intent to do wrong and had only paid out money which he had received in good faith, undertook the case. When the case came up for trial the jury was so impressed by Judge —'s plea for his client and his explanation of the circumstances that a verdict of not guilty was rendered without delay.

The acquitted man was very grateful to Judge — and, after thanking him profusely for getting him out of the ugly scrape, said:

"Judge, I'll never forget what you've done for me, and some day I hope to be able to prove my gratitude. But the only thing I can do now is to pay your fee, and I'll pay whatever you ask. How much is it?"

"Well, I think about $1,000 will be fair," replied the judge.

"That's fair enough, sir," agreed the client, "but, judge, the only money I've got is the same kind of money that I have just been prosecuted for spending. Some of that money is good and some of it is the counterfeit that was worked off on me, and I don't know 't'other from which. Now, I will pay you $1,500 in the bills that I have got, and you do the best you can with it."

As there seemed nothing else to do, the judge agreed to this, and the client paid him the $1,500 in bills and left him.

The judge took the $1,500 to his bank and explained the circumstances to the cashier and asked him to take out the bills which he as an expert pronounced good. The cashier did so, and the judge deposited the accepted bills to his credit, and then, taking the package of doubtful money to another bank, he made the same explanation and request of the cashier, the bank receiving on deposit the money which, as experts, they pronounced good.

"And do you know," said the judge, "after I had visited six banks I had got rid of all the money except five twenty-dollar bills, which all the banks had agreed were counterfeit, and my fee in the case, instead of being the $1,000 which I originally charged the man netted me $1,400, and I've always had a suspicion that if there had been a few more experts in the town I would have got rid of those last five twenty-dollar bills."

"What became of the five bad twenties?" some one asked the judge.

"I'm not sure," replied the old lawyer. "My wife asked me for them, and shortly afterward she made a trip to Washington. When she returned she showed me a brand new hundred dollar bill, which she said she had got at the United States treasury. But I never asked her any questions. I knew the treasury department had experts too."—Chicago Record-Herald.

Enlivening the Table.

"You'll be the star of our dinner table tonight," said a materfamilias after an amusing conversation with a friend she had chanced to meet, "for I'll tell the family all the amusing things you've been saying. It's a rule of the house that we must try to remember all interesting happenings, so that they can be served up with our food. I don't suppose the men Fred meets in business are really especially brilliant, but whenever they do display any wit he always tells us, and in this way we have grown to feel such an interest in them that we can enjoy hearing even of quite unimportant events with which they are connected. It's just the same with Ned's and Edith's friends, and you have no idea what a jolly crowd we have at our table sometimes, and it helps our digestion wonderfully."—New York Tribune.

Origin of the Word Sterling.

The origin of the word "sterling" is very curious. Among the early minters of coin in northern Europe were the dwellers of eastern Germany. They were so skillful in their calling that numbers of them were invited to England to manufacture the metal money of the kingdom. The strangers were known as "esterlings." After a time the word became "sterling," and in this abbreviated form it has come to imply what is genuine in money, and of standard.

A RUSSIAN SERF.

He Bought His Liberty With a Barrel of Crimean Oysters.

One of the principal banking houses of St. Petersburg is said to have been founded by a man who for a great part of his life was a serf. Even in his condition of serfdom he was a wealthy banker and, as may readily be imagined, made many attempts to procure his freedom. The story goes that he offered 1,000,000 rubles for his liberty, but that his master, Count Sheremetieff, proud of possessing such a serf, refused to liberate him.

The liberation was, however, finally procured and at a much lower price than that mentioned. The story is a pretty one: This serf, by name Shalounine, returned one day from Odessa to St. Petersburg and, as in duty bound, repaired to the Sheremetieff palace, there to report himself. With him he had brought, as a gift to the count, a small barrel of choice Crimean oysters. This he left outside till he should receive an intimation that the offering would be acceptable to Sheremetieff.

Now, it so chanced that he found his master surrounded by a large number of guests who had been bidden to breakfast. The count was engaged in berating his butler for negligence to provide oysters for the breakfast. The butler contended that there were no oysters in the market.

It was at this juncture that the count caught sight of his banker serf.

"So," he angrily exclaimed, "you, too, are to annoy me! And with your pestering appeal for liberation! Let me tell you that your errand will prove a fruitless one! But stay! I'll release you on one condition—and one only—that you get me some oysters for breakfast!"

Shalounine bowed low and left the room. When he returned he laid the barrel of oysters at his master's feet.

Whereupon the count, true to his word, called for pen and paper and instantly wrote out a declaration of emancipation making the serf a free man. Then the former master, with a most gracious air, added:

"And now, my dear Shalounine, will you be so good as to favor us with your company at breakfast?"—Harper's Weekly.

A Unique Volume.

What is perhaps the most curious book in the world is possessed by the Prince de Ligne. This work is neither printed nor in manuscript, the text being formed of letters cut in vellum and pasted on blue paper. Notwithstanding this extraordinary method of presenting the text the book is as easy of perusal as if printed in the boldest type. All the characters shown are cut with marvellous dexterity and precision.

This unique volume bears the title "The Book of All Passions of Our Lord Jesus Christ, With Characters Not Composed of Any Materials."

It is said that Rudolph II., the Roman emperor, offered no less than 11,000 ducats for this wonderful product of the bookmaker's art, but the offer was refused.

A curious feature of the history of this book is that while the English arms are inscribed on its cover it is confidently held that the volume has never been in England.—New York Times.

A Gentle Complaint.

Two men, next door neighbors, each had a pet diversion. Chickens was the hobby of one; that of the other, flowers. Because of the devastating instincts of the unrestrained fowls the flowers did not flourish. The gardener, however, valued his neighbor's friendship more than he did the flowers and made no remonstrance. The poultry farmer one evening visited his neighbor and by way of introduction made a complimentary remark about the garden. "What a beautiful bed of flowers you have here!" he said glowingly.

"Yes," added the gardener dejectedly, "but it just keeps me a-sweating to keep it from becoming a feather bed."

Might Always Wear It.

"John, do you recognize this hat?"

"No; I can't say that I do. It looks rather dilapidated."

"Yes, I have been keeping it as a dear memento. I was wearing it when you and I first met. That was eleven years ago."

"I hope you'll keep it always. It ought to convince you that you must have been mighty good looking once, seeing that even with that thing on your head you caused me to fall in love with you."—Chicago Record-Herald.

AN EARLY PORTIA.

She Pleaded Her Own Case in the High Court of Babylon.

Among the most interesting treasures of the British museum are the clay tablets of ancient Babylon. These tablets, resembling unglazed tiles, throw quaint lights and shadows on the manners and customs of long ago. Usually the records are fragmentary, but are occasionally fairly complete, as is that of legal proceedings instituted by a "woman of Borsippa," which action is of particular interest as showing that a married woman's property law was in force as early as 550 B. C.

The proceedings to which the "documents" refer were taken by a woman against her brother-in-law to regain possession of property left by her husband. The evidence showed that a man of Babylon had married the woman from Borsippa, and with the money of her dowry he had bought an estate. After a few years, having no children of their own, they adopted a son, and shortly afterward the husband mortgaged the estate. Later he died, leaving the estate mortgaged, and his brother attempted to claim the property.

The widow took the matter before the court at Borsippa, but it was beyond the jurisdiction of this court and was referred to the high court at Babylon. Here the case was duly heard, and the judges rendered a decision to the effect that as the property had been the husband's the widow could have it upon paying off the mortgage and that the brother had no claim. Eventually the estate would be the property of the adopted son. It is expressly stated, as though a matter of some interest, that the woman pleaded her own case in the high court of Babylon without assistance.—St. Louis Republic.

The Fly on the Ceiling.
It is often a matter of wonder how flies get on to the ceiling, because to do so they have to turn a semisomersault in the air, said Mr. Henry Hill in the course of a lecture delivered at the London Institution. A fly, said Mr. Hill, has a backward and forward movement of the wings and can partly turn them round. In addition to the up and down motion of a bird's wings. That enables it to turn in almost any direction. At the end of each one of a fly's feet there is a white pad with about 1,200 hairs on it. Down these hairs are sent small drops of gum, so that the fly is really glued to the ceiling.
