8. Annual Literary Address
Prof. E. C. Brooks
of Trinity College, Durham, N. C.
9. Presentation of diplomas to the class of 1910.

The essays read by the young ladies were excellent, showing much study and careful preparation; and the musical selections were faultlessly rendered.

The introduction of the speaker of the evening was by Mr. S. J. Everett, and he used the opportunity to pay high tribute to Greenville and Pitt county, as well as to the speaker who is a son of this county.

The address of Prof. Brooks was a gem and showed the masterly scholar and orator that he is. His subject was "Duty of mature minds to lay down rules for the government of youth." He said that old age does not look at life from the same viewpoint as youth. It is the disposition of the old man to say that "schools are not what they were when I was a boy." The speaker quoted several expressions of this kind, some of them dating as far back as twenty-five hundred years, where men prominent in their time had uttered this opinion, and added "if what they said was true, I would like to know what the schools really were before the period of degeneracy began."

Under the divisions "Tendency to labor," "Tendency to associate with one's fellows," "Faith and Hope," Prof. Brooks discussed his subject most entertainingly, showing how in these respects all are alike, all must be doing something, and all are looking to the same end, though different results may be reached.

At the conclusion of the address Mr. F. C. Harding, chairman of the board of trustees, in beautiful words presented diplomas to the graduating class, Misses Allie Estelle Greene, Agnes Spain, Hilda Critcher, Sadie Exum and Nannie Bowling and Alfred M. Schultz; also to the graduates in music, Misses Allie Estelle Greene, Hilda Critcher, Agnes Spain and Lillian Carr. As the presentation of diplomas was concluding the young lady ushers, their arms just loaded with flowers, advanced to the stage and presented these to the graduates as tokens from admiring friends, this scene bringing a round of applause from the audience.

In bringing the exercises to a close Supt. H. B. Smith made a brief statement in reference to

MR. GEORGE W. BAKER

Dies Suddenly at His Home Monday Evening.

The entire community was greatly shocked Monday evening, when the announcement was made that Mr. George W. Baker had died suddenly about 6 o'clock at his home on Fifth street. While Mr. Baker had been in poor health for some years and could get about but little, his end was not supposed to be so near. He was up as usual Monday, and only a short while before his death was out looking at his garden. Suddenly he complained of a very peculiar feeling, went in the house and had a physician summoned. The physician arrived quickly and administered medicine, remarking that he thought the patient would be all right in a short while. As the doctor was about to leave he turned to look again at Mr. Baker and noticed that he was dying, and quickly he passed away while sitting in a chair.

George Washington Baker was about 55 years of age. He was a native of Bertie county and raised on the farm. In his early manhood he engaged in merchandising in Harrelsville and became quite successful in this business. As his business grew he extended his efforts to other towns, later having an interest in stores in Lewiston, Greenville and Rocky Mount, making his home in Lewiston until about four years ago. His business in Greenville was in the firm of Baker & Hart. Mr. Hart coming here from Bertie county in 1896 to establish and manage their hardware store here.

The business here brought Mr. Baker to Greenville occasionally, and he made many friends here. In 1904 he married Miss Lina Sheppard, of this town, continuing to make his home in Lewiston about two years after marriage. When his health broke so that he could not take active part in looking after business, he moved to Greenville and made his home here. He is survived by a wife and one child, two brothers and one sister.

The funeral will take place at 6 o'clock this evening, services conducted by Rev. B. F. Huske. The interment will be in Cherry Hill cemetery, Messrs. C. H. Smith, J. N. Hart, B. W. Moseley, J. F. Davenport, R. O. Jeffress, J. A. Ricks, W. M. Pugh, W. I. Skinner, W. M. King, A. C. Holloman, T. E. Hooker, W. D. Pruett, J. A. Andrews and E. E. Griffin acting as pall bearers.

Free Will Baptist.

The time is fast approaching when Rev. E. L. St. Claire will be with us again. He will on Wednesday night fill his appointment at Delphia Moyer Chapel. He is an able speaker and no doubt but he has an excellent sermon prepared to deliver to the people of Greenville. There is a treat in store for all who can hear him. The public is cordially invited.

the school. He said the enrollment, the past session had reached 460, and while the work of the year had been the most satisfactory he had known there were yet departments that the school needed, and he hoped the people would soon provide the funds for these to be added.

The entire exercises were truly enjoyable and reflected great credit upon the school.

The crops throughout this section are very good considering the cold weather and drouth we have had.

Set to Music.

The ode written by the gifted and beloved Mrs. Robert R. Cotten, of Bruce, has been set to music by Mrs. E. C. Duncan, of Raleigh, and was produced with telling effect at the recent meeting of the North Carolina Federation in Henderson. It has three choruses, one of which follows: "Then come all loyal women, who love the Old North State. Join with us in the effort to make her truly great; To uplift all her people, by nobler thoughts and deeds, For 'tis aspiring effort which onward, upward leads."

That rings like a trumpet. But we don't like the word "federation". It has a masculine sound, as, for example, when Tennyson speaks of "the parliament of man, the federation of the world." Why not change the name to sisteration, or simply to sisters?—Richmond Times-Dispatch.

Gov. Aycock Friday.

The people of this community should appreciate the opportunity of hearing ex-Gov. C. B. Aycock speak at the closing exercises of East Carolina Teachers' Training school at 11 o'clock Friday morning. There is not a finer speaker nor more polished orator in the state than Gov. Aycock.

ACTION ON LIQUOR QUESTION

Baptist Convention Want National Protection for Dry States.

Baltimore, May 16.—In a voluminous report presented by the temperance committee at the Southern Baptist Convention, today President Taft is commended for his example of total abstinence and for his action on insisting on changed regulations governing the issues of the United States special tax receipts of retail liquor dealers whereby the "infamous work of the so called boot leggers and other violators of prohibition laws will be rendered hazardous." This action of the nation's chief executive, the committee reported will render "boot legging" impossible without detection under proper state enactments and enforcements.

The committee recommended that congress enact laws which will protect states from the interstate shipments of liquor into dry territory and remove whatever protection internal revenue tax receipts may give to vendors of liquors in localities where the sale of liquor is prohibited by law.

Election of Bishop Kilgo.

Asheville, May 16.—When it was announced by the tellers today at the general conference of the Methodist Episcopal church South, that Dr. John C. Kilgo, president of Trinity College, Durham, had been elected a bishop by a majority of 26 votes, he receiving 178, there was loud applause from all parts of the house. Hardly had the list of 116 names, who had received votes been read over until the friends of Dr. Kilgo rushed upon him and heartily embraced him. Even Bishop Hoss left the rostrum and hugged him to his arms. It was a dramatic scene, coming to a climax after years of incidents. It will be recalled that four years ago at Birmingham Dr. Kilgo only missed the election by eight votes. Dr. Kilgo was visibly affected by his hearty greeting. He spent the rest of the day at his room at the Battery Park Hotel.

Our Greenville, yours if you come.

ASTRONOMICAL EVENTS.

(From noon today to noon tomorrow.) Sun sets 7:03, rises 4:36; moon sets 2:25 a. m.; Halley's comet lost in passing the sun from west to east; distant from earth about 12,000,000 miles; will not approach much nearer; comet reaches descending node, dropping below the ecliptic and transits the face of the sun if predictions are sufficiently accurate; invisible to this side of globe; visible at Greenwich observatory, England, between 0:31 and 6:45 a. m., which in our eastern time is between 1:31 and 1:45 a. m.; earth and moon now expected to pass through comet's tail.

An Urgent Appeal

I wish to request the people of Greenville who are willing to take boarders during our summer school to furnish me at their earliest convenience the following information: Your name and street number, the number of students you can accommodate and your charges per month of four weeks.

We need your assistance to accommodate those now applying. We already have more applicants than we can furnish room for in the school dormitories. Any assistance you may render will be greatly appreciated. Robt. H. Wright.

Not Many Poll Tax Delinquents.

From Sheriff L. W. Tucker we learn that the number of white voters in Pitt county who failed to pay their poll tax before the first of May this year is 179, and the number of colored voters 385, making a total 564. This is small for a county the size of Pitt compared with reports from some other counties.

Winterville High School.

The closing exercises of Winterville High school begin Wednesday evening with a sermon by Rev. R. A. McFarland, of Scotland Neck. The public is cordially invited to hear him.

The Fairies in Ireland.

There are many sorts of fairies in Ireland. The trooping clans, the friendliest, wear green jackets, and the solitary fairies wear red. According to McAnally, a peasant once witnessed a battle between them, and when the trooping fairies began to win he was so overjoyed "to see the green above the red" that he gave a loud hurrah. Immediately all vanished from view, and he found himself thrown headlong in the ditch. In Mr. Peats' classification the weird but not unkindly merrows, or sea fairies, come next, then the fairy doctors and witches, who inhabit puddings and pots, bewitch butter, steal milk and the like; the banshees, not always harbingers of death; the leprecaun, or fairy shoemakers, "the only industrious persons among them," for they dance their shoes away in a single night; the pookas, first cousins of the Scotch brownies, who for their sins are obliged to help the housewife with nightly elfin labors; the giants, the ghosts and the satanic race of demon cats, and last, the "kings, queens, princesses, earls, and robbers."—Sarah H. Cleghorn in Atlantic.

Between school commencements and comet gazing, folks are getting short on sleep.

Scientists say the comet is not going to harm us when it passes the earth, so you can calm your fears on that score, if you had any.

An earthquake shock that visited Los Angeles Sunday, was enough to frighten the people somewhat, remembering what happened to San Francisco a few years ago.

When people attend school commencements and listen to the literary addresses in this day and time, they hear something worth while. It gives evidence of the great educational progress that has been made.

Injustice to North Carolina Boys

Four North Carolina boys, a little more than 16 years of age, were arrested in Baltimore a few days ago, having followed a circus to that city, and placed in jail for stealing a ride on a Pennsylvania train. A magistrate fined them $2.45 and because they were "broke" he had them locked up. Taking the side of the boys The Baltimore Sun very truthfully says that they should not have been sent to jail. They denied any knowledge of stealing a ride and supposed that they had a right to go as they did. Though technically guilty, the punishment was harsh and unwise. After the jail sentence has expired what will become of these boys? They seem to be respectable, honest and very industrious. And yet they will be turned penniless into the streets of a strange city, where they have neither friends nor acquaintances. Would it not have been better to have detained these boys in some more fitting place than the jail while measures were taken to return them to their homes? There the boys had friends and good employment. This was done by the juvenile court in the case of the other boy, who was under the age of 16 years. It would have been far wiser and more humane to have dealt with all of them after this manner. The boys should be released from jail as soon as possible and measures taken to restore them to their homes. —Charlotte Chronicle.

The price of bad roads is almost incalculable. We talk about the high tariff and other burdens, but two million miles of unimproved roads is a heavier burden on the ultimate consumer than an excessive tariff. Every pound of farm products brought from the farm to the market bears an inflated price (the producer is not benefited) on account of the fact that it is hauled over bad roads and costs too much for transportation. If there ever existed any work calculated to fill the proverbial

When a man contracts the habit of drinking, he should cure it as quickly as possible, but when a business man contracts the habit of insuring his property he should keep it up. Three of the men burned out in that fire at Stokesdale yesterday morning had policies expiring on the 8th of the present month, but concluded not to renew them. Just four days afterwards they lost all they had. Out of a loss of something like $20,000, there was less than $3,000 insurance. Looks like it was not necessary for the State insurance commissioner to nose around that place. —Greensboro Record.

Says the Greenville Reflector: "It is getting close to the time for the press convention at Wrightsville, but so far there has been no intimation that the Wilmington Dispatch has 'passed the hat.'" Not necessary. Wilmington folks are so glad (rightly so) that the convention is coming that it has been an instantaneous and spontaneous free-will offering. —Wilmington Dispatch.

Dr. Kilgo will be made bishop, it is said, but the Lord had to remove two mighty good men in the person of the late Dr. Crawford and the late John R. Webster, before it could be done. Everything comes to him who waits—provided he does not die. —Greensboro Record.

A Dead Stomach, of What Use is it?
Thousands of people throughout America are taking the slow death treatment daily. They are murdering their own stomach, the best friend they have, and in their sublime ignorance they think they are putting aside the laws of nature. This is no sensational statement; it is a startling fact, the truth of which any honorable physician will not deny. These thousands of people are swallowing daily huge quantities of pepsin and other strong digesters, made especially to digest the food in the stomach without any aid at all from the digestive membrane of the stomach. Mi-o-na stomach tablets relieve distressed stomach in five minutes; they do more. Taken regularly for a few weeks they build up the run down stomach and make it strong enough to digest its own food. Then indigestion, belching, sour stomach and headache will go. Mi-o-na stomach tablets are sold by everywhere and by Coward & Wooten, who guarantee them. 50c a box. MARCO POLO'S BOOK.

It Gave Columbus the Idea For His Voyage of Discovery.

Medieval Europe knew but very little of eastern and northeastern Asia. Many of the most learned cosmographers of the time taught that Asia stretched eastward indefinitely, and no one imagined that it had an eastern coast washed by the ocean. It was seriously taught that eastern Asia was a land of vast swamps, inhabited by monster serpents and dragons. This was the opinion that still prevailed up to within 200 years of the time of Columbus.

At this time two Venetian merchants of the name of Polo went on a vast trading expedition to the uttermost parts of Asia. They were gone many years. Upon their return the son of one of them, a young man named Marco Polo, wrote out a full account of their travels, described the empire of the grand khan (the Chinese emperor) and revealed the fact that Asia was bounded on the east by a vast ocean. He described this eastern coast minutely, with all its vast cities and its wealth of precious stones and spices.

It was from reading this book that the imagination of Columbus was fired, and he conceived the bold idea of reaching this eastern coast of Asia by sailing toward the west around the earth.

So when he discovered Cuba he had not a doubt that he had landed upon the coast of Asia and that he looked upon the same scenes that Marco Polo had gazed upon 200 years before.

HEIGHT OF ELEPHANTS.

In the Majority of Cases It is Under Eight Feet.

The average term of an elephant's life, although there is no precise information on the point, is seventy or eighty years. The elephant is not in full vigor and strength till thirty-five. The most ready way of forming an approximate idea of the age is by the amount of turnover of the upper edge of the ear. In young animals, sometimes up to the age of eight or nine years, the edge is quite straight. It, however, then begins to turn over, and by the time the animal is thirty the edges lap over to the extent of an inch, and between this age and sixty this increases to two inches or slightly more.

Extravagant ideas are held as to the height of an elephant. Such a thing as an elephant measuring ten feet at the shoulder does not exist in India or Burma. Sanderson, an admitted authority on the subject, said the largest male he ever met with measured nine feet ten inches and the tallest female eight feet five inches. The majority of elephants, however, are below eight feet, and an animal rarely reaches nine feet, the female being slightly shorter than the male. The carcass of an elephant seven feet four inches tall weighed in portions gave a total weight of 3,000 pounds, so an elephant weighing two tons should be common enough. The skin was about three-fourths of an inch thick.

Kind Words Mean Much.

Cultivate kindness of heart; think well of your fellow men; look with charity upon the shortcomings in their lives. Do a good turn for them as opportunity offers and, finally, don't forget the kind word at the right time. How much a word of kindness, encouragement or appreciation means to others sometimes and how little it costs us to give it. We do not need to wait for some special occasion. When calamity overtakes a friend words of sympathy and encouragement are offered sincerely enough, yet in certain respects as a matter of course. Such an occasion calls for expression on our part, and we naturally respond. But why wait for occasion? Why not speak the kind word when there is no special occasion?

The Roman Senate.

The Roman senate had for many centuries but 300 members, selected from the patricians, or aristocrats. The office of senator was for life. The body was practically supreme in matters of legislation and administration. The majority of votes decided a question, and the order in which the voting took place was invariably determined by rank, beginning with the president and ending with the quaestors. The senators wore on their tunics a broad purple stripe—a badge of distinction, like a modern decoration—and they had the exclusive right of precedence at theaters, the amphitheater and all other public gatherings.

What She Wanted.

"Are you fond of etchings?" asked the young man who had taken the hostess' pretty niece down to supper. "As a general thing, yes," she answered, looking up into his eyes with an engaging frankness that threatened havoc to his heart, "but," she added hastily as he started to say something pretty, "not any tonight, thank you; it is rather late. A small piece of cake will be sufficient."

Prima Facie Evidence.

The late Lord Morris on one occasion gave a characteristic illustration of the meaning of "prima facie evidence." "If," he said to the jury, "you saw a man coming out of a public house wiping his mouth, that would be prima facie evidence that he had been having a drink."

Friendship.

False friendship, like the ivy, decays and ruins the walls it embraces, but true friendship, like the new life and animation to the object it supports.

Warehouse Property

All of this property except the warehouse site will be divided into lots and sold at public auction on the premises on

TUESDAY, MAY 26, 1910

Beginning at 11 O'clock, A. M.

This property is situated between the Atlantic Coast Line and Norfolk Southern depots, and is in the business centre of that part of Greenville known as Tobacco Town. It consists of 6 lots fronting on Dickinson avenue which has concrete sidewalks and paved street; 3 lots on Ninth street which is a sand clay street and the main thoroughfare of Tobacco Town; 6 lots fronting on Tenth street which is the broadest street in Greenville and leads direct to the Atlantic Coast Line depot. A railroad siding can be extended across Tenth street into this property which makes it very valuable for heavy traffic.

To give an idea of the demand for places of business in this locality, Higgs Brothers have recently built a brick block containing five handsome stores just in front of this property and they were occupied as soon as finished, and there is now a demand for more.

This is a rare opportunity to buy a business site, for this property is absolutely a safe and paying investment.

Remember the date of sale, Tuesday, May 24, 1910.

The Antiquity of the Organ.

The organ is the most magnificent and comprehensive of all musical instruments. While the pipes of Pan, aside from that mythical personage, indicate a very ancient use of pipes as a means of producing musical sounds, the "water organ of the ancients" furnishes to the student of organ history the first tangible clew regarding the remote evolution of the instrument. In the second century the magrappa, an organ of ten pipes with a crude keyboard, is said to have existed, but accounts of this instrument are involved in much obscurity. It is averred that an organ, the gift of Constantine, was in the possession of King Pepin of France in 757, but Adhelm, a monk, makes mention of an organ with "gilt pipes" as far back as the year 700.

Punning His Specialty.

"So you have made up your mind to be a specialist—in what line?" was the question put to a struggling doctor by a friend.

"I don't know," was the answer. "I have been considering various advantages in different branches. A chiropodist can generally get a foothold, no matter how bad business is; a manicurist has usually something on hand, and an ear and eye specialist can often get a hearing when there is anything in sight. I haven't dwelt on the possibilities of throat or dental or hair experts because the two former always look down in the mouth and the latter may get but a bald living or be expected to dye for his patients!"

Siberian Camels.

The native camels of Siberia are a source of constant wonder to travelers. On the Mongolian plateaus, for instance, the thermometer often registers a temperature of 40 degrees below zero, but the camels do not mind it at all, walking about as blithely as if the weather were as balmy as spring. On the other hand, the temperature on the Gold desert in summer is sometimes 140 degrees above zero, and the beasts wind that heat just as little as they do the extreme cold.
