STATE NEWS.

Newsp Items of Interest Condensed for Busy Readers.

New Bern, May 30.—The old structure of the St. Cyprian Protestant Episcopal church, which was built over 100 years ago, then being the place of worship for a Baptist congregation but in later years purchased by the Episcopalians, has been torn down. In excavating for the foundation of the new church, which will be the finest negro Episcopal church in Virginia and North Carolina, six human skeletons were found that were supposed to have been buried over a century ago. Their bones were exceedingly large and their teeth were apparently as firm as as they were when the bodies of these pioneers were interred.

Raleigh, N. C., May 30.—The strongest sort of an impression exists here that the governor and council of state will have to assemble the legislature in special session before the state's credit can be saved in connection with the maturity of the $3,480,000 of outstanding bonds due July 1 can be taken care of, in view of the fact that after two separate widely advertised efforts to float the refunding bonds, they have succeeded in selling only $1,218,500. It is pointed out that even if the state should borrow the money there would have to be legislative authority for this since the assembly at its last session provided that the state treasurer should not have authority to borrow money for state purposes, although it did provide that state institutions could borrow money with the consent of the council of state.

Seventeen people already here, seven more expected today to take the Pasteur treatment under Dr. C. A. Shore, and one dead are some of the results of two mad dogs' work at Hope Mills about five weeks ago. Twenty-two were bitten by one dog.—Raleigh Times.

Asheville, May 30.—Shuford Abernethy, 36 years old, a lumber dealer of Bridgewater, near Hickory, this state was instantly killed, and Robert Hodges, 37, also of Bridgewater, was seriously injured by Southern freight train No. 72 while walking on a siding near the latter city tonight at 7.50 o'clock. Abernethy was literally cut to pieces. Hodges suffered a broken ankle and severe internal injuries.

Wilson, N. C., May 31.—Wilson is bowed down in grief occasioned by the sudden death last night of Capt. F. W. Barnes one of our most influential, highly respected, prominent and wealthy citizens. For several days deceased had not been feeling well, but he continued to move around. Last night he visited his daughter, Mrs. Floyd B. Davis, and while engaged in conversation with Mr. Davis, he remarked: "I must be going blind; I can scarcely see"—and immediately fell back in his chair a corpse.

We thought the comet would soon be a thing of the past when it got in the west but it seems to get higher every night and is more visible now than it was last week.

Today is my seventy second birthday. Wonder who will make me a birthday present.

I am requested to announce that Rev. W. F. Waters, of Ayden, will preach the funeral of Mrs. J. B. Rouse Sunday morning at 11 o'clock.

New President Chamber Commerce.

The directors of the chamber of commerce of Greenville met in the office of Dr. D. L. James, Tuesday night, for the purpose of acting on the resignation of Mr. F. M. Wooten as president.

The resignation was read and accepted, and Mr. H. A. White was unanimously elected president of the organization. No secretary was elected at this time, but a subsequent meeting will be held at an early date for that purpose. It is also the purpose to arouse more interest in the chamber and have meetings oftener than during the past year.

KING'S CROSS ROAD ITEMS.

Kings Cross Roads, May 31.—Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Smith and children spent last Saturday night and Sunday with Mrs. Ed Carraway near Fountain. Little Miss Ethel Reid Parker, of Falkland, spent last week with her grand-parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Moore.

Little Miss Nannie Lee Matthews is visiting her aunt, Miss Ora Matthews, this week. The people of this community are taking great interest in the choir practice at Cross Roads. We had a nice little crowd at the last meeting and hope to have more next time.

DEATH OF MRS BETTIE MATTHEWS
Last Wednesday morning at four o'clock Mrs. Matthews was called away. She had been a sufferer for about twelve months with heart dropsy.

Mrs. Matthews was 61 years of age. She leaves seven children to mourn her death. She had been a member of the Primitive Baptist church for several years. Those who knew her best loved her most.

BLACK JACK ITEMS.

Black Jack, N. C., May 31.—Several of our young people attended the Ayden commencement.

A large crowd attended the farmers' union last Friday night. The union seems to grow very fast. We believe if the farmers will come together and discuss different subjects they will do great things in the future.

We are glad to see our friend, C. G. Paramore again. For the last few months he has been in Florida.

We were very much gratified to see such a large crowd out Sunday to attend our Sunday school. We hope to see many more out next Sunday.

Mrs. W. L. Clark is about the same. We truly hope she will be better soon.

The crops are looking much better since the rain. The weather has been somewhat cool for the time of year. Tobacco is looking very well. The insects have commenced to play a part with it. Corn is doing well, cotton is being chopped as fast as the farmers can get to it.

Taft's Durham Visit.

President Taft has written General Julian S. Carr again concerning his Durham trip at the laying of the corner stone of the National Religious Training School and Chataqua for the colored race, and although he cannot promise to come while congress is so uncertain a proposition to him, he has the willing spirit.

"All I can say," President Taft declares as a last sentence, "is that I want to come." The adjournment of congress is probably all that prevents his coming here. It was the same trouble with Senator Bob Taylor. That gentleman would have been here July 5 to make the opening address but for the fact that he doesn't know whether he will be free or not. The letter from President Taft to General Carr was signed by President Taft personally and was very warm in its salutation.—Durham Herald.

New Telephone Directory Out.

We are now delivering our new telephone directory, and we earnestly ask that all users of the telephone will call by number instead of name, as it very greatly expedites the service. It is not for our own good, but the subscribers that we ask this. Owing to our rapid growth it is impossible for the operator to remember all the numbers and have to look them up, thereby greatly reducing the efficiency of the service. In calling by number always call the figures singly, as 17 call, "one" "seven," or as 280-L. call, "two" "eight" "0" "L." Try this and you will like it.
Respectfully,
Home Telephone & Telegraph Co.

A Pig Tail.

A new use has been found for the phonograph. A certain citizen of Spray bought a pig from a farmer near Lawtonville, and went to his get pigship on Sunday, and upon the arrival at the home of the aforesaid farmer, it was found that he was entertaining the preacher that day, and was afraid to deliver the pig, on account of the minister being present, but here is where the phonograph came to the rescue: While the preacher listened to the strains of good old religious hymns, the farmer delivered the pig according to previous engagement.—Rockingham News.

WEDNESDAY, JUNE 1, 1910.

The Greensboro News wants to know how far it is to Wrightsville beach. Less than a week, Bob.

The fellow who flew from Albany to New York, 137 miles, in 2 hours and 32 minutes, was certainly going some.

The fakers seventy-five years from now may have wonderful things to tell about this trip of the comet, and none of us will be here to correct them.

The president says he is going to travel all he pleases, whether congress pays for it or not. No body cares how much he goes when he foots his own bills.

When T. Roosevelt lands in New York about the middle of the month, he will feel himself the biggest man in the country. Won't miss it much, either.

Some people must love their dogs better than they do their children, otherwise we do not see why they keep dogs to endanger their own and their children's lives from hydrophobia.

Those who want to see a return of the sale of liquor in saloons, call it local self government. We expect Halley's comet will be back again before liquor saloons return in North Carolina.

The selection of Mr. H. A. White as president of the chamber of commerce of Greenville means that new life is going to be aroused in the organization. Mr. White is wide awake, especially on the question of good roads and general improvements, and if he does not lead the chamber of commerce to action we shall be surprised.

We do not recall a time when a town election was so near attended by such little interest as to who are to be candidates for aldermen. Yet there never was a time when Greenville needed good aldermen worse than now. There are conditions to be met in the affairs of the town that will require good judgment and a serious mistake can be made in getting the wrong men for aldermen. The people of the different wards owe it to themselves and to the town to select the best men possible. Get out between now and the primaries to be held Friday night and see if you cannot awaken some interest in your ward.

The Columbia State quotes The Edgefield Enquirer as saying: "The Rev. R. G. Shannonhouse (a Charlotte man) is the Burbank of Edgefield. He is not only the earliest and best gardener, but his garden contains plants and vegetables that hitherto have never been grown in Edgefield. It is indeed wonderful how plants respond to his magic touch." And The State adds: "An expert gardener is an educator in a community and, moreover, he is nearly always a teacher of other things. The man who provides an object lesson in gardening contributes to the elevation of his neighbors. Wherever are well-kept and well-tended gardens, the people are progressive. Good gardens and civilization go hand in hand." Very true. And every hotel man ought to have a garden, like Henley, of Wadesboro; or a farm, like Moore, of Charlotte.—Charlotte Chronicle

Hit by Payne Tariff Bill.
The removal of duty on foreign imports of nitrate of soda by the Payne-Aldrich act last summer will cause a decrease of $15,000 in the annual showing of dutiable imports for the Wilmington custom house for the fiscal year ending June 30th, according to Collector of Customs Keith.—Wilmington Star.

The Louisville Courier Journal says one of the richest men in North Carolina died not long ago, and lays special stress on the fact that he was a farmer worth $2,000,000. The man's name is not called, but in Eastern North Carolina there are plenty more lands just like those which put that man in the millionaire class.—Wilmington Star

Many residents of this vicinity endorse them.
M. S. L. Cameron, 117 Payton ave., Kinston, N. C., says: "The great benefit I obtained from Doan's Kidney Pills justifies me in recommending them. A dull, nagging backache, accompanied by sharp twinges through my loins bothered me for a long time. I had but little energy or ambition and was caused additional annoyance by a kidney weakness. Having Doan's Kidney Pills recommended to me, I procured a box. After taking the contents, the pains in my back ceased and difficulty with the kidney secretions was corrected."

A Good Way to Use Hyomei

Besides breathing through the inhaler a few times a day, many catarrh sufferers write that they find inhaling Hyomei from a bowl of steaming water each night before retiring a great aid in curing stubborn cases.
Try it; it's very simple; gives quick relief and makes you breathe easier.
Fill a bowl half full of boiling water; pour into the water a half tea spoonful of Hyomei, cover head and bowl with a towel and breathe through nose and mouth the medicated antiseptic and healing vapor that arises.
This method relieves the stuffiness at once and makes your head feel clear. You can get a bottle of Hyomei at drug stores everywhere and by Coward & Wooten for only 50¢. Ask for extra bottle Hyomei Inhalant.
But bear in mind if you want a Hyomei inhaler you must buy a complete outfit which only costs $1.
But as stated before, if you already own an inhaler a bottle of Hyomei costs but 50¢.
Hyomei is guaranteed by druggists everywhere and by Coward & Wooten to cure catarrh, sore throat, cough, colds, nose fever, asthma and croup, or money back. Try it on that general basis.

A BRAVE GIRL.

Her Terrible Experience While on a Smuggling Expedition.

This tale of heroism displayed by a young woman engaged in smuggling contraband goods over the Swiss-Italian border comes from Geneva. "Mlle. Poretta, aged eighteen, and her brother, aged twenty-three, left Swiss territory to cross the Baldisco pass carrying contraband goods into Italy. On the summit they were overtaken by a violent snowstorm and were soon in deep snow. The Poretts roped themselves, the young man leading. They lost their way, and while attempting to find the path Poretta fell through the snow into a crevasse into which he nearly dragged his sister. The girl, however, planted her ice ax in the snow and withstood the shock.

"Early the next morning several smugglers crossing the pass from Swiss territory into Italian found the young girl near the ordinary route taken by smugglers and recognized her at once, as she belonged to a smuggler's family and lived at Chiavenna. The smugglers at once drew up the brother, but found that he had died during the thirteen hours his sister had held him by the rope. He had received severe injuries in the head, and his body was frozen.

"The smugglers carried down the brave girl, who was almost unconscious, as well as the dead body of her brother, and notified the Poretta family at Chiavenna. On reaching the valley the girl had recovered sufficiently from her terrible experience to explain that she and her brother had spoken for several hours after the accident and at last he had said that he felt nothing and wanted to sleep.

"A warm night followed the snowstorm, or two dead bodies would have been found. Under the great strain the rope had cut through the girl's clothes and her waist was bleeding when she was rescued."—Chicago News.

MISERY AIDING MISERY.

The Helping Hand Among the Beach Combers of Marseilles.

Harry A. Franck in "A Vagabond Journey Around the World" writes of the trying times when he was a beach comber in Marseilles: "Long, hungry days passed, days in which I could scarcely withstand the temptation to carry my kodak to the mont de pieté (pawnshop) just off the sailors' square. Among the beach combers there were daily some who gained a few francs by an odd job, by the sale of an extra garment or by 'grafting' pure and simple. When his hand closed on a bit of money the stranded fellow may have been weak with fasting, yet this first thought was not to gorge himself, but to share his fortune with his companions under hatches. In those bleak November days many a man ranked a 'worthless outcast' by his more fortunate fellow beings toiled all day at the coal wharfs of Marseilles and tramped back, cold and hungry, to the Place Victor Gelu to divide his earnings with other famished miserables whom he had not known a week before.

"More than one man sold the only shirt he owned to feed a new arrival who was an absolute stranger to all. These men won no praise for their benefactions. They expected none and would have opened their eyes in wonder if they had been told that their actions were worthy of praise. The stranded band grew to be a corporate body. By a job here and there I contributed my share to the common fund, and between us we fought off gaunt starvation.

"In a dirty alley just off the place was an inn kept by a Greek in which one could sleep on the floor at 3 sous or in a cot at 6, and every evening a band of ragged mortals might have been seen dividing the earnings of some of them into three sou lots as they made their way toward 'L'Auberge chez le Grec.'

Halley's Achievements.

Edmund Halley was a very great man. He was not only the first to predict correctly the return of a comet, that which is now known by his name, but also—before Newton had announced his results to any one—arrived at the conclusion that the attraction of gravitation probably varied inversely as the square of the distance. While these and other important achievements of his are well known it seems to have been forgotten that Halley devised a method of determining the age of the ocean from chemical denudation.—Dr. G. F. Becker in Science.

Tommy Knaw.

Teacher (addressing class)—A philanthropist is a person who exerts himself to do good to his fellow men. Now, if I were wealthy, children, and gave money freely to all needy and unfortunate who asked my aid I'd be a—
She broke off abruptly to point at a boy in the class.

"What would I be, Tommy?" she asked.

"A cinch!" shouted Tommy.—Exchange.

The Cure.

He—There is a certain young lady deeply interested in me, and while I like her, you know, still I never could love her. I want to put an end to it without breaking the poor girl's heart. Can you suggest any plan?
She—Do you call there often?
He—No, indeed; not any oftener than I can possibly help.

She—Call oftener.

What Did He Mean?

Mrs. Benham—Death is the debt we owe to nature. Benham—Nature does not send out her bills often enough.—New York Press.

QUESTIONS IN COURT

A Series That Moved an Observer to Turn Critic.

SOME GEMS HE PRESERVED.

The Lawyers Didn't Seem to See the Ridiculous Phase of the Inquiry, but It Loomed Large to the Man With an Idea That the Law is Solemn.

A man who spent several days in a courtroom listening to the examination of witnesses was struck with the reflection that some shining legal minds would not be unduly dimmed by the infusion of a few of the principles of logic. The time taken up by attorneys in drawing the conclusion that a juror who lives at a given address makes his home there and then referring the conclusion to the juror for confirmation has not been computed, but any one mathematically inclined may figure it out by multiplying the following examples by any handy large round number:

"What is your occupation?"

"I am a switchman."

"On a railroad?"

The obvious answer which the juror's awe of his surroundings prevents him from making would be, of course,

"No, in an ice cream parlor."

"Judge," said a juror, "I would like to be excused from service. When summoned I was making arrangements for my brother-in-law's funeral."

"Is your brother-in-law dead?" inquired the court.

It developed that he was.

"Now, Mr. Juror," came another question, "what is your age?"

"Forty-four."

"Forty-four years old?"

That is exactly what the juror meant. The lawyer guessed right the very first time.

Here is another flash that came to one of the attorneys. "Where do you live?" he asked.

"At 4416 Blank street."

"You reside there, do you?"

Once in awhile there is a funny answer which isn't to be wondered at considering the power of suggestion.

"Are you married?"

"Yes."

"Any family?"

"Two."

But the balance is well on the lawyers' side. Witness this: The questioner had asked if a juror was related in any way to any of the principals or witnesses in the case.

"I am a brother-in-law of Mr. Blank, one of the witnesses," was the reply.

"You married his sister, then?"

He had.

"Let me ask you now, Mr. Juror, have you formed any opinion about the guilt or innocence of this defendant?"

"I have."

"Is it a fixed opinion or is it one that could be changed by evidence?"

"It could be changed if the evidence were strong enough."

"Then you would not call it a definite opinion?"

"No."

"It is a vague opinion, then?"

"Yes."

"Now, Mr. Juror, follow me closely, if you please. You say your opinion is a vague one and not definitely fixed. Now, then, if that is the case and you went into that jury box and listened to the evidence adduced from that witness stand and heard the law expounded by the judge from that bench, would it not be possible for you to lay aside that opinion and concur in a verdict warranted by the evidence and the instructions of the court?"

"Yes."

The attorney, having received the same answer to his long question as to his short one, is perfectly satisfied and throws a triumphant look at his colleague, which says, "I knew I could get it out of him if I kept at him long enough."

Here is another astonishing deduction: A juror took the stand dressed in a blue uniform with brass buttons. Around his belt was strapped a money changer. The examining attorney looked at him long and searchingly and then said in a tone which admitted of no trifling:

"You are a street car conductor?"

It was the same attorney who forced this confession from another juror:

"What is your occupation?"

"I'm a bookkeeper for Blank & Co."

"You keep books in the office?"

Unmasked, the bookkeeper proke down and made a clean breast of it.

"Now, Mr. Juror, be good enough to state how old you are."

"Fifty-six years."

"How long have you resided in this state?"

"Fifteen years."

"Then you were not born here?"

The trapped man admitted the truth. Here is another:

"Were you born in Missouri?"

"No, sir."

"Oh, I see. Then you moved here from some other state." And then in a "come-come-don't-delay-the-court" tone of voice, "Where did you come from?"

"Chicago."

"Chicago, Ill.?"—Kansas City Times.

Unhappy Man!

"Yes, my old friend, I have been the victim of misfortune in all my love affairs. My first sweetheart died, the second jilted me, and the third became my wife!"

Tears are often the telescope through which men see far into heaven.—Beecher.

Curiosities in Bookbinding.

Extravagance in binding has frequently furnished an opening for the display of fantastic tricks and fads. In an old bookseller's catalogue was seen an advertisement of a Latin copy of Apuleian's "Golden Ass," bound in the skin of a Jerusalem ass, the leather being still unhardened. A book by Jeffery Hudson, the noted dwarf, was bound in the silk waistcoat of Charles I., the dwarf's patron saint. A de luxe edition of Fox's historical works, specially fitted up for Edwards, the philosopher, was bound throughout in foxskin, forty-seven pelts of these little animals being required to complete the job. O'Connell, who so delighted in the possession of a first edition of Bacon's works, had the entire set rebound again in pigskin and always lovingly referred to them as his "Baconrip" books.

The Limit in Boston.

A Boston bank clerk tells this story on his esteemed father:

"One day a long time ago a number of children in our neighborhood were talking about the bad habits of their parents.

"My father smokes fifteen cigars a day," said a little girl boastfully.

"My father swears something awful when supper is late," said another.

"My papa came home tight the other night," remarked a third.

"It was my little sister's turn next.

"You just ought to see my papa read Cicero," she said, and all the other little girls retired in confusion, gladly admitting that sister had won the prize."—Boston Traveler.

At the Pop Concert.

The orchestra was playing the "Moonlight Sonata."

"Sweetheart," he cried passionately, "I have loved you ever since you were a child. I have longed for the sweet companionship of such a woman as you ever since"—

"Shut up, will you?" came a roar from the seats in the rear. "We want to hear the music."

"Shut up yourself!" retorted the young man. "They advertise this as a pop concert, and I'm going to pop or bust!"

Then, turning to the fair maiden at his side, he began again.—Harper's Weekly.

Her Troubles.

Single Man (to himself)—I am sure that darling little angel loves me. She takes me into her confidence and tells me all her troubles.

Same Man (some years later)—I found out all! From morning till night and night till morning when I'm at home I hear nothing but tales about the servants, the butcher, the butler, the baker, the candlestick maker and all the rest of 'em.

A Swimming Record. Not long ago a tramp beat all known records by swimming twenty-seven miles in thirty minutes. The feat was not undertaken voluntarily. The hobo merely tried to steal a ride from St. Louis to Chicago on the rear of a locomotive tender. When the train started he fell over backward through the open manhole into the water tank. The noise of the train drowned his cries for help, and he was obliged to swim until the first stop was reached, at Alton. When taken out he was nearly dead, but the engineer was so unfeeling as to call his attention to the fact that the water was only four feet deep and he might have stood up. The conductor, equally unfeeling, asked him for his ticket, but the hobo replied that he had come not by rail, but by water.—Exchange.

Odd Use For a Piano Stool. "We have requests for all kinds of odd pieces of furniture," said a dealer the other day, "but I was somewhat surprised when a customer asked for an odd piano stool. There was nothing particularly unusual in the request itself, but I was rather surprised to find that neither style, color nor kind of wood seemed to have much influence on the mind of the would be buyer.

"What is your piano like?" I finally asked curiously. "Oh, I haven't any piano!" was the reply. "You see, I have just joined a swimming class, and we all have to have a piano stool to practice the different motions on. There is nothing so good to learn on, our teacher says, unless one can actually go into the water itself every day."—New York Sun.

Common Taters. One morning a popular young minister was presenting his view upon an important subject under discussion and insisting that he held certain things to be true, the commentators notwithstanding. He contended, "I hold this to be true even though the commentators disagree with me, and again I say even though the commentators disagree with me." At this point an old lady was seen to leave the church. On his way home from the service the minister was met by this old lady bearing a basket. She stopped and handed it to him, saying, "Dear brother, I heered you say the common taters disagree with you, so I've brought you a basket of Virginia yams."—National Monthly.

The Filipino Judge.

A former official in the Philippines tells this story of a native judge:

I came home one day just in time to see a thief climbing out the window with the better part of my wardrobe. I gave chase so earnestly that the thief finally dropped the clothes in the street and disappeared. As I gathered up my belongings a native policeman came along and insisted on arresting me. He took me before a Filipino judge, where I told my story very plainly and emphatically.

"When I had finished the judge said, "You are dismissed, but you may leave the clothes here."

"But why?" I insisted agrily.

"Because," said he, with sage deliberation, "how can I tell that you speak the truth? When the thief comes back to identify these clothes as the ones he stole you may have them."—Youth's Companion.

Seaweeds.

"There is much that is wonderful to be told about seaweeds," said a naturalist. "Some of them are giants in size. One species, common in the North sea, frequently grows to the length of thirty or forty feet, developing in the shape of a long cord about the size of a quill, attached at one end to the bottom and the rest supported by the water. This is nothing, however, to the prodigious macrocystis, which attains 1,500 feet in length. Another variety found in the tropics reaches a length of twenty-five or thirty feet, with a trunk as thick as a man's thigh."
