DOGWOOD AND PERSIMMON

Use of These Woods in the Manufacture of Shuttles.

Washington, D. C., June 28
Editor Reflector:

Recently a citizen of Hertford county asked me to secure some information from the Forest service relating to the manufacture of shuttles. As these are manufactured almost entirely from dogwood and persimmon, of which there must be a large quantity in North Carolina, and as other citizens may contemplate engaging in their manufacture, I will ask you to publish the appended letter from an official of the Forest service, relating to this product.

Very sincerely,
Jno. H. Small.

Washington, D. C., June 28.
Hon. John H. Small,
House of Representatives,
Washington, D. C.

Dear Sir:

Your letter of June 18th, addressed to the Forester, has been referred to this office for reply.

Available data on the production of shuttles in North Carolina include statistics on spools, bobbins, skewers and picker sticks, though these articles are not all made in the same factories. Dogwood and persimmons are used almost exclusively in the manufacture of shuttles, because of the physical properties of the woods which, when made into shuttles, wear smooth and do not splinter. Dogwood is cut chiefly in Tennessee and North Carolina, while persimmon is cut largely in Arkansas, Louisiana and Alabama. Approximately 600,000 feet B. M. of dogwood, and 150,000 feet, B. M., of persimmon are used annually in the factories in North Carolina. The average cost f. o. b. factory of dogwood averages $18.75, and the average cost of persimmon $20 a thousand feet. The raw material is purchased by the factory in the form of logs, bolts, billets and sawed squares.

The future of the business is undoubtedly assured and will probably increase in volume with the continuous addition to the number of spinning mills, particularly in the south. Of course there must exist always the possibility of improvements in spinning, but it does not appear probable that the shuttle method will be supplanted. The demand for shuttle blocks and shuttles varies with the prosperity in the spinning industry though undoubtedly with good selling connections established before engaging in the business no serious interruptions to the demand should be encountered.

Very truly yours,
Franklin H. Smith,
Acting in Charge of Wood Utilization.

Base Ball Friday.

The Greenville sluggers will meet a foe worthy of their steel when they cross bats with the Kinston nine on Friday, July 1st. The game will be played at Munford's park, and will be called at 4:15 p. m. Come out and help the team. 10 and 25 cents, ladies free.

Don't forget the base ball game Friday between Kinston and Greenville at Munford's park. Greenville will have a strong line-up for this game, and without doubt will put up a fight. The game will be called at 4:15 p. m.

POWELL GETS 30 YEARS.

Compromise Verdict of Second Degree Murder in the Famous Case.

Warrenton, N. C., June 29.—The case of State of North Carolina vs. E. E. Powell, for the killing of Chief of Police Charles W. Dunn, of Scotland Neck on March 4, last, came to an abrupt ending this morning when ex-Governor Charles B. Aycock, of counsel for the defendant, announced that after careful consideration by counsel and consultation with the family of the defendant, the defense had decided to accept a verdict of murder in the second degree and await the judgment of the court. Solicitor John H. Kerr stated that the state was willing to accept this verdict.

Judge G. W. Ward, who is presiding, stated that he approved the action of counsel, saying that it was his opinion that the jury would not take to the plea of insanity advanced by the defense and acquit the prisoner, and that while there was some evidence of premeditation and deliberation, he had no idea that a verdict of murder in the first degree would have been secured. The expense of finishing the trial would in that event be practically unnecessary. The sentence imposed was thirty years in the state prison.

The verdict was received here with a little surprise but as far as can be learned at this time, there is very little expression of disapproval on the part of the people. On account of the sudden illness of a juror yesterday afternoon court adjourned shortly before 4 o'clock until this morning. This it is thought had considerable tendency to bring about the action of today, as it was thought hardly probable that the sick juror would be able to proceed with the trial.

NOTICE.

I desire to announce to my friends and the public, that I will be at the Gum warehouse the coming season. I want to thank my friends for their former patronage and hope to have your support and hearty cooperation in the future, promising you that every pile of your tobacco shall have my personal attention, and every effort made to please you. Come lets make the Gum headquarters for the farmers.

Convenient Schedule for Convention.

Delegates to the congressional convention in Edenton on next Wednesday, July 6th, can leave Greenville on Norfolk Southern at 9:20 a. m., reach Edenton about 2 hours before the convention meets; returning leave Edenton about midnight and get back home at 4:18 Thursday morning. This will be less than a day away from home and yet give ample time for the convention.

Low Rates for July 4th.

Both the Atlantic Coast Line and Norfolk Southern Railroad will sell round trip tickets at low excursion rates for the 4th of July. Tickets will be on sale July 2nd, 3rd and 4th with final return limit July 8th.

Poor Crops at State Farm.

Superintendent J. J. Laughinghouse, of the State prison, was here today and told us that the crops on the State farms will be very poor this year. Much damage was done by the excessive June rains.

THE PUBLIC LIBRARY.

Will be Open on Next Monday, July the 4th.

The library will be opened to the public on Monday afternoon from five until seven, and on Monday's, Wednesday's and Friday's thereafter in the room of the new Winslow building so kindly donated by the Masons for the use of the library.

Friends of the library who have promised books will please send them up to the room as soon as possible, or to the librarian, Mrs. W. A. Bowen, and we trust you will use the same discretion in the selection of the books donated as you would in placing them in the hands of your own boy or girl.

The library committee, aided by the Secretary of the State Library Commission, and Professors Austin, Smith and Ragsdale have tried to expend the money collected as judiciously as possible and we have a good selection of biographies, histories, poems and standard authors. These, together with the fiction we had on hand and recent donations of books from the End of the Century and the San Souci Clubs, have swelled the number of our books to about two hundred. Having no settled source of income we are unable to open as a free library, but the small charge of $1 per year or 15 cents per month put the privileges of the library practically within every one's reach, and if there are any unable to pay that small amount we will gladly extend them the privileges free.

When you realize that one book of fiction costs you $1 at least, and that you may have the right of reading any and all books in the library for the period of one year for that small amount, we feel sure you will help us out by your subscription and feel that it is a wise investment.

It is the design of the library committee to make this a helpful as well as entertaining institution of the town and we ask the kindly, intelligent interest of every citizen to that end.

We have recently had the following donations:
The Civic League $10 00
Mrs. D B. Wesson 5 00
Mrs. Ada Cherry books
Miss Lizzie Jones "
Miss Mae Schultz "
Miss Annie Irwin "
Mrs. M. H. Quinerly,
Miss Hennie Ragsdale,
Mrs. Fred Forbes,
Mrs. W. A. Bowen,
Library Committee.

Fell in River.

Just as the Christian Sunday school excursion got back at the wharf, Wednesday night, and the crowd was coming ashore, Bob Rountree, a little son of Mr. L. H. Rountree, made a misstep and fell in the river. The little boy's uncle, Mr. C. E. Rountree, jumped in and pulled the boy out.

Team Runs Away.

A pair of mules hitched to a wagon loaded with tobacco flues, ran away Wednesday afternoon. The team left Evans street going up Fourth, then turned into Washington where they were stopped. Several children playing in the street narrowly missed being run over.

Notice.

On account of my absence from town the board of education will not meet next Monday. It will meet on the 3rd Monday in July.
W. H. Ragsdale,
Clerk of Board.

WILL MAKE AN EXHIBIT.

North Carolina Will be Represented at the Ohio Valley Exposition.

North Carolina will make an exhibit of her resources at the Ohio Valley Exposition which will be held in Cincinnati during the month of September.

A portion of the exposition will be given to the South Atlantic states and all the big railroads except the Atlantic Coast Line, which traverses these states, have combined to place exhibits at this exposition. The states will prepare the exhibits and the railroads will do the rest. The state board of agriculture has appropriated $500 for the expense of getting the exhibits ready.

This exhibit will be of great value to North Carolina. Fully one-half of the inquiries received by homeseekers come from the Ohio Valley, and when these people see the boundless resources of this state, doubtless many will come here.—Raleigh Times.

President Joyner at Boston

Boston, Mass., June 29—President Joyner, of the National Educational Association, arrived in Boston today and registered with Mrs. Joyner at the Hotel Lenox.

The President has been in Boston several times before on matters and is quite familiar with conditions in this city. It is Mrs. Joyner's first visit to the Hub and she expresses herself as being sure she is going to like the city.

Within half an hour after getting himself settled in his apartments at the hotel, he was out hustling at his work in connection with the coming convention of the National Educational Association.

Judge Allen in Lead.

Raleigh, June 29.—With belated returns making it necessary to estimate the figures from half dozen precincts in the county the Allen-Manning contest for the Supreme court judgeship seems to indicate today a slight majority for Judge Allen, the vote being estimated now at 2,326 for Allen and 2,274 for Manning, giving an Allen majority of 52 votes. This would practically evenly divide the Wake vote in this sensationally close contest, which has unfortunately developed in the nomination to an office that should be above political struggle.

Senator J. W. Daniel Dead.

Lynchburg, Va., June 29.—John W. Daniel, senior senator from Virginia, and for more than 30 years Virginia's favorite son, died at the Lynchburg sanatorium at 10:35 o'clock tonight, his death being due to a recurrence of paralysis. The immediate cause of his death was a cerebral hemorrhage sustained at noon today in the right portion of his brain, involving the right side. This was in addition to the paralysis of the left side, which was sustained last winter while in Florida for his health.

Missionary Society Goes Bareheaded.

Many of the ladies of the Methodist congregation attended church last Sunday, without hats. There was a concerted movement on the part of the Missionary Society ladies not to wear hats in church and their action meets the general approval and commendation. It is hoped that the movement will spread until it embraces all those who wear the big hats.—Lenoir News.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL BRIEFS.

If you are not busy, whose fault is it?

The colors at the prize fight will be white and black.

Yes, it is a fact We get prouder of Greenville every day, and don't care who knows it.

The collapse of a big airship in Germany shows what the thing will do when they tackle a storm.

Some people have such a habit of growling in this life, that they would keep it up hereafter, if they could.

It has been two or three days since we mentioned it, but all the same you want to keep your mind on good roads.

Whether you agree with them or not, you must admit that Joe Daniels and Josiah Bailey have a right to feel good over it.

A Mississippi telephone company has been fined $175,000 for violating the State anti-trust law. Wonder if they will pay it.

If a blind senator could find the corruption in the Republican party, those with good eyes certainly ought to be able to see things.

Now that tax listing time is over, people need not be so poor as they claimed during June, and may find a little money to turn loose.

The telegraph companies announce that they are not going to handle the news of the Jeffries Johnson fight on the 4th. But the newspaper fellows will be on hand and they will give it to the sports.

There are plenty of us down here in Eastern North Carolina who are glad that Mr. Charles Cotton Moore has been nominated for clerk of the Superior court by the Democrats of Mecklenburg county.

We wouldn't go from here to Purple to see the fight, much less to Reno. All the same we want to know how it comes out, and if Johnson licks Jeffries it will be no more than the latter deserves for putting himself on such an equality.

BIBLE STUDIES

PICTURES OF THE KINGDOM
Matthew 13:31-33; 44-52—July 3.

"The Kingdom of God is not meat and drink, but righteousness and peace and joy in the Holy Ghost."—Romans 14:17.

LET us keep in memory that the Master's parables of the Kingdom of Heaven relate to the class of people whom he is calling out of the world of mankind to be associated with him in his Millennial Kingdom soon to be inaugurated. Let us remember that sometimes this class is spoken of as including, nominally, not merely the saints, the wheat class, but also, to some extent, the tares, as shown in our study of last week. These different parable-pictures represent the same subject from different standpoints, just as we take a photograph of a building from the north, the south, the east and the west, internally and externally.

As a mustard seed is very small, yet produces a large bush, so that the fowls of the air may lodge in its branches, so this illustrates how the gospel of the Kingdom would, from a small beginning, attain to a considerable size. The mustard would not be great among the trees, but great among bushes or herbage. Thus the message of Christ received at first only by the poor and the few of Israel, has finally grown to such important dimensions that the fowls like to gather in its branches. But let us remember that the fowls, according to our Lord's interpretation of a previous parable, represent the servants of the Wicked One. So then the teaching of this parable would lead us to conclude that the Church of Christ, at one time, was so unimportant in the world that it was a shame and a dishonor to belong to it, but that ultimately it would become honorable and great and the Adversary's servants would have pleasure in its shade. This development the Scriptures represent as being Babylon, declaring that, as a whole, with the various branches and denominations, the nominal Church of Christ is Babylonish. Hearken to the Lord's words: "She has become the hold of every foul spirit and the cage of every unclean and hateful bird." (Revelation 18:2.) The intimation is that there is a large outward development of the Church which is not to her advantage and glory but contrariwise. Nevertheless, this is, nominally, the Church of Christ. However his spirit may have been misrepresented and there may have been an improper development, ultimately the great Head of the Church will bring order out of chaos and confusion and will glorify and use his "elect."

The parable of the "leaven" (v. 33) illustrates the process by which, as was foretold, the Church would get into the wrong condition. As a woman would take her batch of flour for baking and put leaven (yeast) in it and the result would be that the mass would become leavened, so it would be with the Church of Christ; the food of the entire household would become leavened or corrupted. Every portion would become more or less vitiated with the leaven of false doctrines, which would permeate the entire mass. Thus today nearly every doctrine inculcated by Jesus and his Apostles has become more or less perverted or twisted by the errors of the dark ages.

The desirability of obtaining joint-heirship with Christ in his Millennial Kingdom, is pictured in the parable of "the treasure hidden in the field." The finder, realizing its value, desired it for himself and had such faith in it that he disposed of all of his property in order to buy that field, which he believed to contain the precious treasure. Only those who will appreciate the Gospel message will gain its glorious promises. If we love the present life with its joys and prospects, its hopes and ambitions, then we will labor for these, but if we intelligently hear and, by faith, believe the Gospel offer of this age of a share with Christ in his Millennial Kingdom, then in proportion to our faith and appreciation will be our self-sacrificing zeal to attain that prize. Whoever believes the message of the Kingdom will find his faith an inspiration, indeed a necessary inspiration, to the attainment of the prize, for it will cost all that he has of earthly blessings; and unless he has faith that he will find the prize, he will surely be unwilling to sacrifice all he has for it. The field belongs to God. He has put the treasure there. He offers it for sale to any willing to pay the price. The buyer is the Lord and those who accept his invitation to join with him in the sacrifice of their earthly interests that they may be sharers with him in his heavenly glories—in the work of the Millennial Age, to unearth all that treasure in the blessing of the world of mankind. The hiding of the treasure is necessary; as our Lord said, "Cast not your pearls before swine;" they will not understand you, they will think you foolish, and in their disappointment may do you injury. "Hast thou faith, have it to thyself before God." Make your sacrifice of earthly things to him and he who seeth in secret will reward you openly.

Pearls were much more in vogue in ancient times than now. Pearl buyers traded in these gems and carried them to the market, where they were highly estimated. The parable represents one of these pearl merchants as coming across the finest pearl he had ever seen. He considered it so priceless that he was quite rejoiced to sell or trade all of his other pearls and property, that he might become the owner of that pearl.

This parable represents the Gospel offer of a share with Christ in his Kingdom as being superior to all other propositions in the world. The honors of the world, of name and fame, position and wealth, are indeed desirable; as the Scriptures say, "A good name is rather to be chosen than great riches;" but when our eyes behold "the pearl of great price," the Kingdom offer of joint-heirship with our Lord Jesus in his heavenly glory and the association with him in his work of blessing all the families of the earth, we realize that this is a priceless thing, worth more by far than all the honors and dignities and pleasures of the world. Those worthy to buy this pearl will gladly exchange all earthly things therefor—even their good name, and this will be necessary, as the Master forewarned them, saying, "They shall say all manner of evil against you falsely for my sake; rejoice and be exceeding glad, for great is your reward in heaven, for so persecuted they the prophets who were before you." (Matthew 5:11, 12.) He that is not willing to have the Kingdom at such a cost is not worthy of the Kingdom. The Apostle has said, "Through much tribulation must we enter the Kingdom" (Acts 14:22); and only those who willingly endure such tribulations for righteousness' sake—for the sake of the truth, in obedience to the Heavenly calling—are overcomers. And only to the "overcomers" has the Lord given "the exceeding great and precious promises." "To him that overcometh will I grant to sit with me in my throne."—Rev. 3:21.

Another parable of the Kingdom represents the gospel message as a "net." Only one kind of fish is desired, but the net gathers every kind. Not every kind will inherit the Kingdom as joint-heirs with Christ Jesus, hence the end of this age will be a sifting, separating time, as represented in the parable. The desirable fish will be gathered into vessels; the remainder will be cast back into the sea as unfit for the Kingdom, but not necessarily unfit for any purpose. During Christ's Millennial reign that class unfit for the Kingdom will be dealt with and blessed and, if possible, made useful and fit for eternal life.

Here, as in the parable of the wheat and the tares, the furnace of fire, and the weeping and gnashing of teeth in connection therewith, symbolizes the great time of trouble with which this age will end, giving place to the Millennial Kingdom, the Kingdom for the establishment of which upon the earth the Church has been praying so unceasingly for nineteen centuries. "Thy Kingdom come; thy will be done on earth, as it is done in heaven." "Thy Kingdom that will be! It will be a Kingdom entrusted to a "Little Flock"—"Fear not, little flock, it is your Father's good pleasure to give you the Kingdom"—and it will be fully empowered to establish the rule of heaven among mankind!

Our study closes with the Lord's exhortation that all who are instructed respecting the things pertaining to the Kingdom should set their affairs in order.

VICTOR HUGO.

From "The Story of the Hugos," contributed by "Hugos" by Byrd Orr, we take these examples of Victor Hugo's egotism:
"After he had published the first edition of his novel 'The Man Who Laughs' an English gentleman called upon him and suggested that in subsequent editions the name of an English peer who figures in the book should be changed from Tom Jim-Jack.

"For," said the Englishman,
'Tom Jim-Jack is a name that could not possibly belong to an English nobleman or indeed to any Englishman. The presence of it in your powerful story makes it seem to English readers a little grotesque.'

"Victor Hugo drew himself up with an air of high disdain.
'Who are you?' asked he.
'I am an Englishman,' was the answer, 'and naturally I know what names are possible in English.'

"Hugo drew himself up still higher, and on his face there was a smile of utter contempt.
'Yes,' said he, 'you are an Englishman, but I—I am Victor Hugo.'

"In another book Hugo had spoken of the Scottish bagpipes as 'bugpipes.' This gave some offense to his Scottish admirers. A great many persons told him that the word was 'bagpipes' and not 'bug-pipes.' But he replied with irritable obstinacy:

"I am Victor Hugo, and if I choose to write it 'bugpipes' it is 'bugpipes.' It is anything that I prefer to make it. It is so because I call it so.

"When the German army was besieging Paris, Hugo proposed to fight a duel with the king of Prussia and to have the result of it settle the war, 'for,' said he, 'the king of Prussia is a great king, but I am Victor Hugo, the great poet. We are therefore equal.'

"In spite, however, of his ardent republicanism he was very fond of speaking of his own noble descent.
Again and again he styled himself
'a peer of France,' and he and his family made frequent allusions to the knights and bishops and counsellors of state with whom he claimed an ancestral relation. This was more than inconsistent. It was somewhat ludicrous, because Victor Hugo's ancestry was by no means noble. The Hugos of the fifteenth and sixteenth centuries were not in any way related to the poet's family, which was eminently honest and respectable, but by no means one of distinction. His grandfather was a carpenter. One of his aunts was the wife of a baker, another of a barber, while the third earned her living as a provincial dressmaker."

SPORT IN ENGLAND.

A Pheasant Run is Not a Branch of the Poultry Business.
"A Plain American in England," by Charles T. Whitefield, is a highly amusing diatribe on the genteel art of British entertainment. It appears in the American Magazine, and in the course of some descriptions of English customs the author relates the following incident, which happened at a pheasant run:

"A friend for whom I have a great admiration took me to see a pheasant run. The place looked just like a big chicken yard such as we have at home.
There were hundreds of the birds feeding on scraps and grain thrown to them by the keeper. I had seen strings of these birds hanging up in the markets for sale at low prices, had bought their eggs in the swell restaurants at high prices, and I naturally supposed that this trade was conducted like any other branch of the poultry business.
When you have been in England a short time you realize that you must approach the subject of trade or business with some delicacy, but I longed to know the means operandi of poultry packing among the swells. I wondered if they could teach our Chicago stockyards anything. So I asked the keeper in my broadest English:
'How do you collect and ship these birds?'

"Collect 'em, sir?'
'Yes,' I said, 'how do you kill them and get them to market?'

"We don't kill 'em. We send in beaters and shoot 'em. It's great sport, sir."

"That seemed to me a disgusting proposition—to beat a flock of tame, harmless pets to death and shoot them
besides—and I remonstrated:
'Why don't you simply wring their necks with a quick twist of the wrist, insuring a rapid and painless death,
and then—'

"But my friend grasped me violently by the arm and drew me abruptly away. I felt badly about it, because this good and valuable host said it would be at least twenty years before he could look that gamekeeper in the face with tranquillity."

Notice to Contractors.

The board of county commissioners and building committee of Pitt county, N. C. will entertain sealed proposals for the erection and completion of the new Pitt county court house and jail, in the city of Greenville, in the public square, in accordance with plans and specifications prepared by Milburn, Heister and Co., Architects, Washington, D. C. A set of plans will be on file with the register of deeds and at the architects' office on and after June 10th, 1910.

Bids will be received until 11 o'clock a. m. July 11th. Each bid must be accompanied by a certified check on some well known bank, made payable to J. P. Quinerly, chairman, in the sum of $1,000, as evidence of good faith if their bid is accepted they will enter into contract at once and give an acceptable guarantee company's bond in the sum of fifty per cent of the contract price for the faithful performance of the contract. Should they fail to enter into contract, the check will be forfeited to the county as liquidated damages by reason of delay. Separate bids will be entertained for the court house, the jail, the steel cells, heating apparatus or for the whole. Each bid must be sealed and addressed to the register of deeds of Pitt county and plainly marked "bid for court house and jail." The commissioners reserve the right to reject any and all bids.

J. P. Quinerly,
Chm. Board County Commissioners.

Survival of a Custom. On gateposts you will frequently find a stone ball. Who would ever suppose that the balls on the gateposts were the heads of family enemies? It was once the custom to stick your enemy's gory head as a trophy on the gatepost. On the gates of towns were stuck the heads of traitorous persons. In old London, for instance, the bridge gate and Temple Bar were always decorated with ghastly relics of the kind, and the memory of the custom survives on the gateposts of modern suburban villas.
