

COUNTY CONVENTION.

Selects Delegates to State, Congressional and Judicial Conventions.

The Democratic county convention, to name delegates to the State, congressional and judicial conventions, met today in the city hall. The convention was called to order at noon by Chairman F. C. Harding, of the county executive committee, and the roll of delegates was called by Secretary W. L. Brown.

It was found that all townships were well represented. A. L. Blow was unanimously elected permanent chairman of the convention, and W. L. Brown and D. J. Whichard secretaries.

Upon taking the chair Mr. Blow made a brief speech. H. A. White offered the following resolution which was unanimously adopted amid applause:

"Resolved, That the vote of Pitt county be cast unanimously for Hon. H. W. Whedbee for judge of the third district, at the judicial convention called to meet at Morehead City on the 9th day of July, 1910, and the delegates appointed are so instructed. And to this end, this convention authorizes Hon. H. W. Whedbee to select the quota of delegates to said convention to which Pitt county is entitled under the plan of organization."

Upon motion each township delegation was authorized to select its quota of delegates to the different conventions, and there was a recess for these selections to be made.

[It is too late for us to publish the list of delegates today, but we will print them Monday.—Ed.]

Immediately after reading the list of delegates the convention adjourned.

SCORE SIX TO SIX.

Kinston and Greenville Have Interesting Game.

In a seven inning game which came in with an exciting finish Greenville tied Kinston Friday with the score six to six. In the second inning the home boys scored twice but this lead was quickly overcome; for in the first part of the third Lanier weakened badly and poor support allowed four hits to bring in six tallies for Kinston.

In the next inning Ragsdale took the box and though wild at times proved very effective. He struck out the first three men who faced him and for the remaining innings of the game did not allow a hit. A few of the visitors got to first on balls but they were unable to travel much.

In the sixth and seventh innings Greenville bunched hits scoring two runs in each paragraph. In the seventh inning Forbes, Greenville's heavy hitting left fielder on first with two men out, attempted to steal second and made the base by driving into the Kinston player in a manner that is recalled as a football flying tackle. This steal made possible the run which tied the game.

The game from a yielding standpoint with the exception of a few flagrant errors was much faster than the game with Tarboro last week.

Tie Game.

The game of ball between Greenville and Kinston, Friday, resulted in a tie, both sides getting six runs. Only seven innings were played, it being too near train time to finish the game.

WITH MISS SUSIE MOORE.

She Entertained the Embroidery Club Friday Morning.

The Embroidery club met Friday morning with Miss Susie Moore. The hostess received her guests at the door, and punch was served in the parlor by Misses Ward Moore and Hennie Whichard.

After the members had spent the usual time with their sewing and chatting, there was a doll dressing contest, small dolls being passed to each guest with tissue paper out of which to make the dresses. The doll dressed by Miss Nancye Coward was declared to be the prettiest and she was awarded a pair of embroidery scissors with chain, which she presented to Miss Marie Manning, of Henderson.

Another contest was answering questions with a word describing some part of a dress. Strips of paper cut in the shape of a sleeve pattern had the questions written on them. Mrs. Richard White won the prize for this, a silver thimble, which she presented to Miss Jebbie Whiffield, of LaGrange.

Refreshments were served by Misses Inez Pittman, Bettie Pearl Fleming and Lillie Lanier.

HARRIS-LEWIS.

Surprise Marriage Solemnized Sunday Night.

There was solemnized in Raleigh Sunday night at half past nine o'clock, a marriage, the news of which will come as a surprise to the many friends of the young couple. The contracting parties were Mr. C. Scott Harris and Miss Annie B. Lewis, and the ceremony was performed at the home Mr. Percy B. Fleming, by Rev. R. S. Stephenson.

The young couple are well known and have many friends in Raleigh, all of which wish them much success and happiness. The bride is from Kinston and has for some time held the position as stenographer in the office of the North Carolina Home Insurance Company.

The groom is an energetic young business man of this city and has for a long time held a responsible position in the office of Mr. John C. Drewry.—Raleigh News and Observer.

STATE NEWS.

Newsy Items of Interest Condensed for Busy Readers.

Raleigh, June 30.—Within a few hours after E. E. Powell was committed to the penitentiary this morning to serve his 30 year sentence for the killing of Chief of Police Dunn, of Scotland Neck, he was started out with a squad of seven other convicts to the State farm in Halifax county to do farm work for awhile. Powell, the officials say, made no special demonstration when he came back to the prison to take up what means to him a life-sentence. They declare that he seemed greatly relieved. They are strongly of opinion that he has been playing a part in the insanity defense and intimate that he seems to be throwing off the disguise and assuming his natural personality.

Marshall, June 10.—A serious accident occurred at the works of the North Carolina Electric Power Company, two miles below here, this morning, when two men, a negro and a white man, were killed by a premature blast. The negro was entirely covered with rock and dirt, being killed outright, while the white man lived for a short time.

Swain-Tyson.

Farmville, N. C., June 30.—One of the most beautiful and impressive marriages ever witnessed in Farmville was solemnized in the Christian church last evening when Mr. Wesley Young Swain, of Henderson, led to the altar Miss Ada Louise Tyson, of this city.

The church was most elegantly decorated with cut flowers and ferns—the color scheme being green and white. The bridal party marched through the artistic placed arches and the bride stood beneath a large wedding bell of white flowers and rose leaves.

Miss Mary Moye sang most sweetly and then with Mrs. John Stanley Smith presiding at the organ and to the soft strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march the bridal party filed in. The party entered as follows: Rev. C. Manly Morton, officiating minister, from the study; Prof. H. H. McLean and Mr. A. C. Monk down the center aisle, Mr. J. T. Thorne and Mr. J. M. Young, center aisle; Miss Sallie Keel and Mr. J. H. Harris side aisles; Miss Lucy Moore and Miss Reide Lang, center aisle; Mr. J. F. Carr and Mr. J. Y. Monk, side aisles; Miss Maude Lassiter and Miss Annie Perkins, center aisle; Mr. T. C. Turnage and Mr. J. H. Darden side aisles; Miss Mina Sugg and Miss Rosa Hooks, center aisle; Mr. Hugh Lassiter and Mr. W. J. Beasley, side aisle. Misses Gladys Barrow and Novella Horton, flower girls; Miss Annie Laura Lang ring bearer. Then came the bride with her bridesmaid, Miss Hennie Brown, down the center aisle and was met by the groom on the arm of his best man, Mr. T. J. Young, at the altar.

The gowns all were very elegant and beautiful, carrying out a perfect color scheme. The bride wore a gown of white satin embroidered with pearls and carried a shower bouquet of bride's roses and lillies of the valley.

For Constable.

I hereby announce myself a candidate for Constable for Greenville township, subject to the action of the Democratic primary. G. A. Jackson.

SATURDAY, JULY 2, 1910.

We want to see every man in Pitt county become an advocate of good roads.

Possibly the lawyers for Powell saw that the insanity plea was not going to work.

It took two primaries in Guilford county to settle on the county candidates. One primary is bad enough, but two are a nuisance.

The nation lost an able man in the death of Senator John W. Daniel, of Virginia. He had been United States senator for twenty-five years, and was a man of unusual ability. He had few equals as an orator.

The gratifying announcement was made several days ago that the Atlantic Coast Line will establish an agricultural and immigration department, the special purpose of which will be to induce substantial Northern and Western home-seekers to come into the territory of the road. Wilmington is to be the headquarters of this department, and while it is intended to cover the States of North and South Carolina and Virginia, we take it that the greatest effort of the department will be directed towards inducing these desirable immigrants to come to eastern North Carolina for the reason that we believe greater opportunities are offered here for the thrifty, enterprising and progressive farmers of the North and West—"men of our own stock who only need an invitation to make them come." Other great railroad systems have for years been doing effective work through their immigration departments, and we are glad the Atlantic Coast Line has also decided to engage in this most important work of bringing a desirable class of immigrants into the territory traversed by the road. What eastern North Carolina needs more than anything else now is an influx of farmers possessing a high standard of intelligence and efficiency, and we must naturally look to the Northern and Western States for this class of immigration. Instead of these people going into Canada, with its long hard winters and bitter climate, as thousands of them have been doing for years we are told, they should be brought to the South, the land of greatest promise and opportunity, and it can be done best by just such work as the Atlantic Coast Line is now undertaking.--Mount Olive Tribune.

The Democratic party wants a tariff that will produce all the revenues that are necessary and which will take the burden off the people without doing injustice or injury to any American interest.--Wilmington Star

The Mexican Mosquito.
The finest fly traps are not it with a little Mexican spider named mosquito. Natives gather from oak trees a branch covered with this spider's nests and hang it up in the house. The spiders begin on the flies by whole sale. Mosquito nests are very tidy, pretty and old maidish. A lot of tiny beetles make their home therein with the spiders. The beetles live on the legs, the crumbs and scraps from the mosquito's table, and pay for their board and board by keeping the web house perfectly clean and refined, eating everything and dropping no litter in the Mexican professional gentleman's house. Mrs. Mosquito is a very quiet, orderly lady who never wanders from her own fireside or strays from her own back yard, but when a fly calls round she gets very busy with her spider knives and pins.--New York Press.

Devotion of a Pair of Spaniels to Their Young Master.

The affectionate loyalty of dogs is always pleasant to read about, even when, as in the instance recorded by Mr. Woodgate in the "Reminiscences of an Old Sportsman," their devotion is a little annoying to the master. The story is of a pair of spaniels belonging to Mr. Woodgate's younger brother.

One day the spaniels accompanied Gerald and Austin to bathe in the "New" pool, the only secluded part of the chain of artificial lakes. The younger boy, Austin, put on an old straw hat in the water. It tore to pieces.

After the bath they separated, one going to a friend's house for luncheon, the other going home.

Gerald was dressed first and started, the dogs following him. Presently, observing that Austin was not following, the spaniels raced back to hurry him up.

Meanwhile Austin had completed dressing and had thrown his tattered straw hat into the pool, jumped the mill "lead" where it was narrow and so departed.

The dogs sought for him. The jump over the "lead" apparently foiled the scent. The tattered hat floated visibly in the pool and seemed to tell a tale of disaster. The dogs plunged in. The hat had no one under it. They dived and quested in vain.

Hours passed and forgers observed them there at work, and when forge hours were over rumor reached the village that drags were needed in "New" pool to find the remains of Master Austin Woodgate, whose straw hat was floating there and the rectory spaniels swimming round it.

Gerald went and tried to call the dogs off. They declined to come. In such an emergency it was no longer, in their opinion, a matter of seniors priores. They stuck to their quest.

There was nothing to be done but to send up Austin to fetch them. As soon as they were satisfied that he was no ghost they came home complacently to their supper.

A Remarkable Clock.

Japan possesses a remarkable timepiece. It is contained in a frame three feet wide and five feet long, representing a noontday landscape of great beauty. In the foreground plum and cherry trees and rice plants appear in full bloom. In the rear is seen a hill, gradual in ascent, from which apparently flows a cascade, admirably imitated in crystal. From this point a thread-like stream meanders, encircling rocks and islands in its windings and finally losing itself in a faroff stretch of woodland. In a miniature sky a golden sun turns on a silver wire, striking the hours on silver gongs as it passes. Each hour is marked on the frame by a creeping tortoise, which serves the place of a hand. A bird of exquisite plumage warbles at the close of each hour, and as the song ceases a mouse sallies forth from a neighboring grotto and, scampering over the hill to the garden, is soon lost to view.

The First Porterhouse Steak.

The first porterhouse steak was so named in New York city in the famous old tavern of Martin Morrison at 327 Pearl street. This was a favorite resort of seafaring men. A steak being called for by an old pilot one night, Morrison said that he had no steaks, but would cut and broil for him a thick slice from the sirloin which had just been prepared for roasting the next day. Morrison's place was known as the Porter House in the neighborhood, and its frequenters soon got to talking about the Porter House steaks. Morrison finally told Gibbons, his butcher in the Fly market, to cut up sirloins for him thereafter.

Where He Should Have Been.

The Rev. Mr. W. was remarkable for his ready wit. On one occasion while traveling on a steamboat a well known sharper, who wished to get into the clergyman's good graces, said:

"I should like very much to hear one of your sermons."

"Well," said the clergyman, "you could have heard me last Sunday if you had been where you should have been."

"Where was that, pray?"

"In the county jail," answered the bluff clergyman as he walked away.—London Tit-Bits.

TOO GOOD A SHAVE.

It Lulled Budd to Sleep While the Price of Stocks Tumbled.

One of the anecdotes in Joseph L. King's "History of the San Francisco Stock Exchange Board" is as follows:

While stocks were quite low during a spell in 1873 a discovery of ore was made in Ophir, the stock advancing in price. It was the policy of those in control of a Comstock mine to keep secret any improvement until they could secure for themselves a good quantity of the stock.

Budd heard of this Ophir discovery and bought some stock, and as the price advanced from $16 to $85 the profits on his purchases at low figures enabled him to buy more stocks. Being quite a plunger, he purchased in all 2,500 shares. As the stock still advanced to higher figures he sold about 1,500 shares, leaving him a balance of 1,000 shares when the stock reached $82, which would have given him quite a large profit if all were sold at that figure.

During the recess that day he determined to sell the remainder, which would give him quite a profit. The afternoon session was devoted to the calling of outside stocks, occupying half an hour, after which the members would call up, through the chairman, any of the Comstock shares. Budd, thinking he had time sufficient during that first half hour to get shaved, sat down in a barber's chair and, being quite flush, gave the barber $5, directing him to give him a good shave. It turned out to be too good a shave, as Budd went to sleep, and the barber, being well paid, devoted quite a time in making his customer appear respectable. Budd woke up, looked at his watch and made a rush for the board. He ascertained that Ophir had been called and had broken so badly that when his stock was sold he only obtained $40 a share for it. He always claimed that that shave cost him just $40.00.

THE RIVER NILE.

Egypt Would Be a Wilderness but For This Wonderful Stream.

The Nile is probably the most wonderful river in the world. It has made Egypt possible by turning an arid wilderness into the richest land in the world. It has provided at the same time an admirable commercial highway and made easy the transportation of building materials. The ancient Egyptians were thus enabled to utilize the granite of Assuan for the splendid structures of the hundred gated Thebes and of Memphis and even for those on Tanis, on the Mediterranean coast.

At a time when the people of the British Isles were clad in skins of wild beasts and offered human sacrifices upon the stone altars of the Druids Egypt was the center of a rich and refined civilization. Most of the development of Egypt was due to the Nile, which not only watered and fertilized the soil annually, but was and is one of the best natural highways in the world.

From the beginning of winter to the end of spring—that is, while the Nile is navigable—the north wind blows steadily up the stream with sufficient force to drive sailing boats against the current at a fair pace, while, on the other hand, the current is strong enough to carry a boat without sails down against the wind except when it blows a gale. That is why the ancient Egyptians did not need steam power nor electric motors for the immense commerce that covered the Nile nor for barges carrying building materials for hundreds of miles.

NOTICE.

I desire to announce to my friends and the public, that I will be at the Gum warehouse the coming season. I want to thank my friends for their former patronage and hope to have your support and hearty cooperation in the future, promising you that every pile of your tobacco shall have my personal attention, and every effort made to please you. Come lets make the Gum headquarters for the farmers. Jno. L. Gibson, 6 30 t s 4d 2w

C. L. WILKINSON, Agent, Greenville, N. C.

The Making of Words. Dean Swift protested against "speculations, operations, preliminaries, ambassadors, palliatives, communication, circumvallation, battalions," as new-fangled expressions brought into common use by the war of his day. Today nearly all these are the most orthodox English. In his time "mob" seems commonly to have been written "mobb," and "phizz" also had the doubled consonant. Hence his complaint that "we cram one syllable and cut off the rest, as the owl fattened her mice after she had bit off their legs to prevent them from running away."
