STATE DEMOCRATIC CONVENTION IN CHARLOTTE

CALLED TO ORDER AT 12.10, BY CHAIRMAN ELLER.

Senator Overman Selected Permanent Chairman and Makes Stirring Speech and Contrasts the Parties.

By Wire to The Reflector.

Charlotte, N. C., July 14.—The State Democratic Convention met here at 12.10 amid scenes of great enthusiasm, with 900 delegates present and every available space in the great auditorium was filled. Chairman Eller called the convention to order, and made a short, but pointed speech, then introduced Senator Overman, the permanent chairman of the convention, who made the speech of the convention. His speech aroused much enthusiasm and was frequently cheered.

In his speech Senator Overman strongly arraigned the Republican party for its short comings, saying, that bad faith, broken promises, violated pledges, higher tariff, high prices, more millionaires, many more paupers, more power at Washington, more office holders, more federal courts, wild, reckless, extravagance shrinkage in values, continued loss of confidence, mills shut down, millions of laborers out of employment, this is the splendid record of the Republican party for the first sixteen months of its administration to which it can point with pride.

He also pointed out that party's favoritism to trusts; its taking away the rights of the people in a centralization of government; its disregard of interstate commerce regulations; its first step toward a central bank in the postal savings bank; and its general extravagance.

Ten in the comparison, Senator Overman said:

"The freedom of the people and the integrity of this great republic lies in the Democratic party, the party of Jefferson, of Jackson, of Tilden, of Cleveland, of Vance. As they taught and lead us so it stands today, the party of all the people, standing for honesty and integrity in public service, for economy in public affairs, encouragement of industry and development of trade equal justice equal opportunity to all the friend of labor, the friend of the corporation doing a legitimate business, believing that the aggregation of capital used in a lawful way, without destroying competition, is necessary for the upbuilding of the country. But it is the bitter, relentless, undying foe of monopolies and corporate greed and oppression. It will fight to death the Republican party, because it believes under its present policies it is a continual menace to individual liberty and equal opportunity in this life, a menace to local self-government and the rights of the state, a menace to the very constitution itself.

Founded upon the principles of eternal truth, righteousness, justice, equity, and equal rights, the Democratic party cannot die. It was not born to die. Its mission is see that the people shall rule and their rights are protected; that our Republican institutions shall not pass away.

The Tree of Neighborliness.

"An effective preservation of friendliness is deference," says Annie Hamilton Donnell in The Designer for August. "I call it one of the cardinal virtues. If half the world had deference to the other half, think what a world—what a world it would be!"

"As for example: I have a friend who began by being nearly a neighbor, and the dividing line between the two relationships,—the boundary-stone—was a Lombardy poplar tree. My friend would beautify his lawn and selected one of those trees that seem always to me to grow upside down. In my soul I groaned, for of all God's beautiful creations, that alone I have much ado to call beautiful. I love trees, but I want them to grow right side up!"

"My neighbor (he was not yet a friend) learned of this prejudice of mine against Lombardy poplars in some way—the Medicine Man delicately suggests that I groaned aloud. But not too aloud, I maintain, since it bore such beautiful fruit—a splendid, straight little cut-leaf birch! For when, keyed up to the pitch of bearing a little Lombardy tree in my view I looked out of my window, lo, the little birch was there instead! My neighbor was my friend, I have always wanted to plant something he likes, or leave unplanted something he doesn't like, in my front yard."

PLEASURES AT MOREHEAD.

Many Delightful Sailing Parties—Another Regiment to go in Camp.

Morehead City, N. C., July 14.—Another delightful sail was given last night by Mr. Courtney Mitchell, of Kinston, N. C. The sailing parties have been most delightful and the moon is shining, sailing will be even more attractive. Mr. Mitchell entertained in honor of Misses McCarthy, Drake and Blades.

Mr. Thompson McClung gave a clam bake to a few of his friends Tuesday night. The party assembled on the "Cathleen M."

A surf party was given Wednesday afternoon by Miss Catherine Wharton and Miss D. Duncan, of Raleigh.

The Third regiment of the N. C. State Guards break camp today. Gen. Royster, Col. Gary, Gen. Macon, and Capt. Osborne will remain in camp until the next regiment comes, which is Tuesday, July 19th.

Last night the Atlantic Hotel had as its guests, Mr. William Dunn and party of six from New Bern.

Mr. Dunn and party left this morning for the Cape where they will cruise for a week on the Spartan.

A CARD OF THANKS.

A widow whose husband recently died, placed the following card in her county paper: "I wish to thank my friends and neighbors, who did so much towards making the death and funeral of my late husband such a grand success. Also the doctor, and The Mutual Life Insurance Agent, who made it possible for me to offer a similar card of thanks in the near future."

For the address of the widow, see H. Bentley Harriss.

TERRIBLE HOLOCAUST IN THE BLACK SEA

TWO STEAMERS COLLIDE AND ONE GOES DOWN IN 15 MINS.

Men, Women and Children Trapped Like Rats and 106 Perish, Only About 20 Escaping

By Cable to The Reflector.

Odessa, July 14.—Trapped on a burning, sinking steamer, 106 men, women and children perished near Kherson, on the Black Sea, according to dispatches received here today.

The passenger steamer Lovki was in collision with another steamer, name as yet unknown, and foundered. The boilers of the Lovki exploded and many of the victims were scalded to death before the vessel went down 15 minutes after being struck.

A few of the passengers, about 20, escaped. Many of the dead were Jewish fugitives.

BEEF TRUST INVESTIGATION.

Many High Up Packers Called Before Grand Jury.

By Wire to The Reflector.

Chicago, July 14.—Judge Landis today convened a special grand jury to hear the testimony in the new beef trust investigation. Immediately after he delivered his charge to the grand jury, some men high up in packing town circles were subpoenaed to hasten before the inquisitors. The list of witnesses is large, and their testimony will give them immunity from prosecution.

STRIKE DEVELOPS A RIOT

Clash Between Strike Sympathizers and Strike Breakers.

By Wire to The Reflector.

New York, July 14.—A crowd of three thousand strike sympathizers, today fought the police and strike breakers, and hurled missiles from the roofs of houses near the Williamsburg Sugar Trust refinery. A score or more on each side were injured, one man seriously. The arrival of a boat of non-union men to break the strike brought on the trouble.

Date Was Wrong.

In the announcement of the approaching Jenkins-Brown marriage, published Wednesday, the date was inadvertently given as the twentieth, when it should have been the twenty-seventh.

IT IS ALREADY JUDGE

HARRY W. WHEDBEE

JUDGE WARD, DEFEATED FOR NOMINATION, RESIGNS.

Governor Kitchen Appointed Mr. Whedbee, who was Nominated by the Recent Judicial Convention.

Hon. H. W. Whedbee, recently nominated for judge of the Superior Court, in this, the third judicial district of North Carolina, has received notice from the governor that the present judge, Hon. D. L. Ward, has resigned, his resignation to take place on Saturday, the 16th inst. The governor also notified Mr. Whedbee, that he had commissioned him as judge and he was expected to qualify on that same date, July 16th.

It is expected that Judge Whedbee will qualify as judge of the district before Hon. D. C. Moore, clerk of the Superior court of Pitt county sometime Saturday, the 16th inst., at which time his friends will have the opportunity of congratulating a real judge. The first court that Judge Whedbee holds will be at Jacksonville, Onslow county, on next Monday July 18th. The following Monday, July 25th, he will hold a two week's term at Wilmington. We predict that Judge Whedbee will make a good impression from the beginning, notwithstanding the call has been given without any notice.

Judge Whedbee is at Charlotte attending the State convention and has been wired of his appointment as judge by the governor.

JULY COTTON STRIKES 16 CENTS

Shorts Try to Cover and the Price Jumps Half a Cent.

By Wire to The Reflector.

New York, July 14.—A spueeze was given the short interests in July options on the cotton exchange today, and the wild efforts of the shorts to cover their outstanding contracts brought the price up to 16 cents, or 50 points above the low price of yesterday. This is equal to an advance of $2.50 in the price of a bale of cotton. August options, which is the next month for delivery, also rose $1.50 per bale, while other options advanced from 25 to 75 cents. The squeeze started by the realization of bear traders in July options that they only had two weeks left in which to cover their outstanding contracts, and the knowledge that the supply of cotton in New York and Liverpool was extremely small. They all started to make purchases, but they could not buy except at advancing prices. When July sold at 16 cents, cotton was offered more freely, and there was a consequent falling off in price.

Mecklenburg Leads in Automobiles.

There are just 1,580 automobiles in North Carolina, with the exception of the machines in New Hanover county which are not registered with the secretary of State owing to a special act exempting New Hanover. The county registering the most machines is Mecklenburg with 174. Others having 100 or more are: Guilford, 135, Buncombe, 108, Forsythe 105, Cabarrus has 32, Rowan 34, Stanly 6.

There are 23 counties that have no automobiles in their borders yet. They are: Alleghany, Ashe, Brunswick, Carteret, Caswell, Clay, Dare, Davie, Gates, Graham, Greene, Haywood, Hyde, Madison, Macon, Mitchell, Montgomery, Onslow, Pender, Stokes, Swain, Tyrrell, Watauga, Yancey.

Jumped From Second-Story Window.

Mrs. D. D. Barrier, of Mt. Pleasant came very near being seriously hurt Thursday night. While in a somnambulist state, dreaming of jumping a rope in play with her sister, she arose from her bed and went to the second story window and jumped to the ground. No bones were broken but she received many bruises and cuts about her face and arms. Her husband discovered her just as she made the jump, and in the moment came near jumping out of the window after her. A quick thought saved him and he ran down stairs and out of the house to the assistance of his wife, whom he found on the ground in a bloody and unconscious state.—Concord Tribune.

NORTHWEST HAS MOST DISASTROUS FIRE IN YEARS

TWO PEOPLE AND TWO HUNDRED HORSES PERISH IN FLAMES.

Ten Acres in Heart of City Burned Over and Property Loss a Million Dollars.

By Wire to The Reflector.

Portland, Ore., July 14.—Two persons killed, property worth more than a million dollars wiped out, and 200 horses destroyed, was the extent of damage done in the worst fire the Northwest has suffered in many years. Several persons were reported missing, but early this morning the police thought all had been accounted for. Ten acres were burned over, and some of the most handsome buildings in the city were destroyed.

Six People Lose Lives.

Portland, Ore., July 14.—Six people lost their lives in a big fire which occurred here early this morning.

BEST OF NEGRO MAMMIES.

Mrs. Charles C. Craig Engaged for the Cast of "The Sins of the Father"

A notable addition to the cast of Thomas Dixon's latest play, "The Sins of the Father," has been made in the engagement of Mrs. Charles C. Craig, who will portray the role of the negro mammy. Mrs. Craig for many years past has been recognized as the most skillful delineator of "Mammy" parts in the country. When David Belasco presented his "Warrens of Virginia," a couple of seasons ago, he selected Mrs. Craig to impersonate the mammy role and her success during the long run of the play in New York is a matter of stage history. So great was the hit she achieved that Mr. Belasco placed her under contract for a long term of years.

A few weeks ago when Mr. Dixon had completed his "The Sins of the Father," he made a personal request to Mr. Belasco to release Mrs. Craig in order that she might appear in the new production and Mr. Belasco kindly consented. Her role in "The Sins of the Father" is said to afford her exceptional opportunities for the display of her unctious qualities as a comedienne. Incidentally, her laugh is claimed to be the most infectious on the stage. No audience, it is said can refrain from joining it.

Mrs. Craig, who is one of the highest salaried women in the profession, is reported to have amassed a fortune by her own individual efforts second only to May Irwin's. She spends her summers with her husband at their handsome residence, "Glen Craig," Grafton, Ontario. As this will be her first visit to the South her appearance is sure to create a great deal of interest.

MRS. GEORGE VANDERBILT THEIR BENEFACTRESS

TRAINING MOUNTAIN PEOPLE TO DO WORLD FAMOUS WORK.

The Remuneration Amazing to Them. Use Money to Buy Luxuries—Goods Sold Throughout World.

At Biltmore, N. C., Mrs. George Vanderbilt has organized some eight hundred workers on the Vanderbilt estate into an industry that is world famous. They not only weave cloth and rugs and bedspreads as for generations, but there have been brought skilled teachers to instruct the young people in embroidery and wood-carving. Designs for all the work Mrs. Vanderbilt herself collects in her travels over the world. Every detail of the weaving she has learned sitting patiently beside a mountain woman. She makes journeys of days' duration over the mountains, often stopping for the night at obscure little inns that she may visit her people to admire their work and occasionally make suggestions for a new pattern here and a better color combination there. Their homespun she uses for her fashionable tailor-made gowns and also sells yards of it to her friends. The first time the Vanderbilt automobile was whirled along the road with all its feminine occupants wearing mountain made cloth, they passed two barefooted girls gathering berries.

"La-now!" one exclaimed in astonishment to another, "well they may all have their homespun that wants hit, but," bitterly, "if they'd had to wear hit like we have, they'd wish they never had to see any more of hit."

The young people have not yet ceased to be surprised and curious that folks should buy old-fashioned stuff. But the older ones are delighted at the vindication of the environment endeared to them through the associations of a lifetime. Besides, for many a sunbonneted woman at the door of her mountain cabin, the outlook has widened because the world wants this that she can do. There are log-cabin families who do not see so large a sum as twenty-five dollars in money in a year's time, and for the woman who has never had a pocketbook of her own there comes a distinct economic uplift when she has felt for the first time the joy of labor that brings financial return. There was one Elspeth Martin, who had just been paid by the mission school-teacher for her first rag rug. "Is it all really mine?" she asked in amazement, dropping the four shiny fifty-cent pieces through her work-hardened fingers onto her lap. That night with her husband and children over the supper of hoe-cake and potatoes she talked of what they would purchase with all this riches.

Necessaries Elspeth put sternly aside. Only luxuries would she consider. A "store" chair, a real earthen wash bowl and pitcher, a book of church hymns,—these were all rejected finally in favor of a lamp with a chimney. When the Martins got it, they sat it in the window of the cabin with great pride that it might be seen by the neighbors who chanced to go by. Lamp chimneys and all glassware in themountains are a luxury. Many people have only a rude sort of lamp with a flaring wick for which there is no protection against the drafts that send the black smoke waving against the walls. And there are some cabins that have not even the glass for a window until a woman's weaving money has purchased it.—The Designer for August.

THURSDAY, JULY 14, 1910.

On with the good roads talk. Keep it up everyday.

It is time to let the prize fight talk and pictures drop completely.

They do not die from heat down this way, but the folks get warm just the same.

Mr. Roosevelt may not find New York politics altogether as exciting as lion hunting in the jungles of Africa.

If Pitt county does not get good roads soon, we are going to be badly fooled.

Government officials have tabooed the ice cream cone as dangerous. Hence beware of the ice cream cone.

We bet you Greenville has a near-park some of these days, that is one near to town.

It is a waste of time to cite the Democratic papers to the story of Ananias.—Greensboro News.

Oh, they don't want to crowd you fellows off the perch.

We are sorry to see the announcement that Mr. J. A. Robinson has severed his connection with the Durham Sun, having sold all his interest. He edited the Sun for twenty-two years, and is too good a newspaper man to stay long out of the harness.

It is costing The Reflector something to make a paper like we are getting out now, and you folks who read it could help the cause greatly by coming along with what you owe on subscription, and not wait to be asked for it. You ought to show that much appreciation for the kind of paper you are getting.

Some of our readers complain of the smaller type now used on The Reflector, as they had been so long accustomed to looking at large print. But just think of the increased amount of reading matter you are getting. Another advantage is that the paper will print from new type every day. You will soon get accustomed to the small clear print, and will then like it all the better. The Reflector now has the appearance of a city paper, even if not so large, and that should make you prouder of it.

A man who has a farm very close to Greenville, says that notwithstanding a number of negroes are seen walking about the streets of the town not one of them can be hired to go out and work on the farm. When asked if any reason could be assigned for this, the suggestion was given that so many of them are running "blind tigers" and making big money out of it that they cannot be induced to go out and do any work. The "blind tiger" operators will make good road hands if they can only be caught up with.

BUILD GOOD ROADS.

One of the very best men of Pitt county, a man who by his own industry and good sense has amassed a considerable fortune since he came home from the Confederate army was asked what in his opinion would be of most benefit to the people of the county as a whole? His instant reply was Good Roads.

Build good roads, and social intercourse will become easier and freer. Good roads increase individual pride and set up a spirit of rivalry among the people. Thrift and progress will take the place of carelessness and indifference. Property values will increase. Money will become easier and cheaper. Better and happier homes and a higher degree of intelligent and enlightened citizenship will follow.

YOU CAN HELP THE REFLECTOR.

Today's news today, is what The Reflector is giving its readers by the addition of its telegraphic service. Several times before this service was added, a number of subscribers approached us with the request for press telegrams, saying they would be willing to pay an increased subscription price for the paper to get the service. It is not always an easy matter to increase the subscription price of a paper, and though The Reflector is an unusually cheap paper at the price, we prefer not to increase it unless forced to do so in order to meet expenses. At the same time adding the telegraphic service, together with the other improvements recently made, has largely increased the expense of getting out the paper, and the present subscription list at the price is not enough to really justify this. But our subscribers can help us overcome this if they will do their part, and we have faith in them to believe that they will. We have never yet made a forward step with the paper in which the people did not stand by us, and they will do so this time.

You can help by paying your own subscription promptly, and by getting as many of your neighbors as possible to become subscribers. This will be necessary if the subscription price of the paper remains what it now is. The Reflector must have more subscribers, and they should pay promptly for it takes much money every week to meet expenses.

The business men can help by giving The Reflector their advertising and job printing orders. Every one lend a helping hand, and we will give you a paper that you will be proud of.

An Abundant Season.

In all probability, it may be years before the good Lord gives us another season of such abundance in field and orchard. It looks as if every blossom of the early spring has been accounted for in a peach, an apple, a pear, or a plum. Certainly, the trees were never before so well loaded, or the fruit of a finer quality. It is a mighty pleasant occupation—these days to sit at a car window and see the peach and apple trees looking like great big polka dots in red and green. The berry crop is equally abundant. On many farms, peach and apple trees are bowed to the ground and the farmers have not been able to gather the fruit. The greatest corn crop in the State is now in process of growing and the stand of cotton is of perfect kind. It is the same way up into the mountains and across the Blue Ridge. The mountain people have more fruit than they can handle and they are going to have the largest crop of corn in years. They have plenty of money, all of them, as they look it, and no lords ever lived a more independent life than they are living. It is a great year, even in the mountains.—Charlotte Chronicle.

Says the Norfolk Landmark: "Next door in North Carolina they have fallen into the fixed habit of re-electing Representative John H. Small, which is a good thing for them and not a bit worse for us. We feel that he is ours too." It is a fact that in his rivers and harbors, canal and general waterways work in North Carolina, Congressman Small has done a great work—more possibly than any of Virginia's Congressmen have done for that city. But then, Norfolk is a North Carolina town, and we are some day going to have it annexed.—Charlotte Chronicle.

MICHIGAN'S QUEER LAKES.

Some Without Inlet or Outlet and Some Apparently Bottomless.

Five thousand lakes of all sizes is the proud total claimed by the state of Michigan. Some of them are mysterious bodies having neither inlet nor outlet nor, so far as can be discovered by sounding, bottom.

Many of the smaller lakes are slowly growing over and have wide margins of tough sod that will support the weight of a man, although merely resting on water or a thin mud of unknown depth.

These margins tremble to the tread and quiver for many feet around when stepped upon. There are instances where a lake has become entirely overgrown and for so long a period that the surface becomes solid and the existence of water underneath is unsuspected.

The Pere Marquette Railroad company when building a branch between Grand Rapids and Lansing returned to the work one morning to find that several rods of roadbed had disappeared during the night and a considerable lake had taken its place. Thousands of feet of timber and many carloads of earth were dumped in before bottom was found and the road had anything like a firm foundation. The pressure of the displaced water heaved the earth and cracked it for some distance around, tilting large forest trees, some of which fell.

Water came up through these crevices, bringing eyeless fish, both bass and bullheads, convincing certain former skeptics that when any organ of sense or locomotion falls into disuse it degenerates and finally is lost. Probably these fish were the descendants of others that had lived in darkness for ages.

A small lake in Bowne township, supposed by the rural folk to be bottomless, swallowed up a full half acre at one gulp a few years ago, and where the slide took place the water is apparently as deep as ever.

In the extreme western edge of Ionia county there is a little lake of about three acres in area. It is without any visible feeders or outlet. It is surrounded by woods on the high land, while its margin is grown up to shrubs and flags and grasses peculiar to the ordinary swamp.

This is another of the mysterious water holes termed bottomless, one party having sounded 150 feet without finding bottom. The water is red and unfit to drink, and millions of minute particles of vegetable matter are held in suspension and are in commotion as if stirred by force of an undercurrent or boiling springs.

The only fish are big mouthed bass and bullheads. For all that the water seems to be so swampy in character it does not detract from the flavor of the fish, probably owing to the fact of its being of better quality in its lower depths.

Nagley's lake, in Kent county, is formed like a great horseshoe and is about seven miles in circumference. It has been sounded in one place and showed a depth of 250 feet. It has but one insignificant feeder, and the natural evaporation must be considerable, and yet it has an outlet which flows water sufficient for power to drive a sawmill and gristmill, proving that it is fed by heavy flowing springs that man has never seen. The water is clear blue and cold, and the bottom is hard marl lime.—Fur News.

The Nightingale in Scotland.

A century ago Sir John Sinclair tried to establish the nightingale in Scotland. He bought in London as many nightingales' eggs as he could get at a shilling each, which were well packed in wool and sent to Scotland. Trustworthy men were engaged to take care of all robins' nests in places where the imported eggs could be hatched in safety. As these arrived from London the robins' eggs were removed and replaced by those of the nightingale, which were in due course sat upon, hatched and reared by their foster mothers. The young nightingales when fully fledged seemed perfectly at home, and in September, the usual period of migration, they departed, but they never returned.

Some College Humor.

A new German professor in a girls' college, wishing to detain one of the students, said, "Oh, Miss —, may I hold you a minute after class?" This advice was given by one of the students to her mates: "Girls, take all the courses you can with the men professors, for the women of the faculty try to find out how much you know and the men try to show off how much they know."

The wife of one of the professors warned him as he went off to officiate at a funeral one rainy day: "Now, John, don't stand with your bare head on the damp ground. You'll surely catch cold."—Life.

MI-O-NA.

Drives Distress from Upset Stomachs in Five Minutes.

MI-o-na stomach tablets not only cure indigestion but build up the entire system and make the weak and frail strong and vigorous.

They cause the glow of health to appear in the cheeks and make the eyes bright and sparkling. They chase out bad blood and cause pimples and sallow skin to disappear.

MI-o-na stomach tablets are such wonderful stomach invigorators and upbuilders that they are sold under an agreement to return your money if they do not cure indigestion or any other trouble arising from an upset stomach such as biliousness, dizziness, sick headache, nervousness, sleeplessness, nightmare, etc.

I had stomach trouble; was weak, bloodless and depressed, but MI-O-NA built up my health and made me strong.—Mrs. J. Newton, Bellevue, Mich.

MI-o-na costs only 50 cents a large box at druggists everywhere, and at Coward & Wooten's drug store.

FOOTPRINTS OF GLACIERS.

They Present a Serious Problem for Future Generations.

The site of New York city was once buried under hundreds, possibly thousands, of feet of ice. Ample proof of this is found in many places on Manhattan Island, the most tangible being the "footprints" of glaciers. Examine the surface of the rocks in Central or Riverside park and you will find numerous peculiar marks.

These peculiar marks, called by geologists "striae," are the "footprints" of glaciers. They were produced by the grinding of pebbles upon the rock surfaces under the glaciers as the latter moved to the sea.

How long ago it was that glaciers flowed over Manhattan Island is a matter of uncertainty. The period has been variously estimated at from 5,000 to 50,000 years. The present trend of opinion is in favor of the smaller estimate. But, knowing as we do that the site of New York city was glaciated at a time remote or comparatively recent, the portentous question arises, Are the glaciers likely to descend on it again? No human means could arrest their irresistible advance. Palatial homes, towering skyscrapers, East river bridges, all the magnificent monuments of human achievement, would be ground into atoms and swept into the ocean.

Striae, or "footprints" of glaciers, are found from the highest northern and southern latitudes to the equator. Was the entire surface of the earth at one time covered with ice? Some geologists have taken that view, but the evidence does not warrant it.

That the earth has changed its axis from time to time and is still changing it is a fact well known to astronomers. It is conceivable, therefore, that in the course of ages, before the earth's crust assumed its present formation, the poles may once have been on the present equatorial line and the equatorial line where the poles now stand. By oscillation of the globe and consequent interchanging of polar and equatorial lines every part of the earth's surface must have been successively glaciated. Such a general lateral movement of the earth furnishes a reasonable explanation of the glacial "footprints" everywhere found.

The north is undoubtedly growing warmer. Some 500 years ago Alaska was still covered with glacial ice. Five hundred years from now there will scarcely be a glacier to be found there except in the highest mountains. "The next generation will find few of them with their fronts still in the sea," says Henry Gannett in Dellenbaugh's "North America of Yesterday." The present trend on the earth's axis is to push the north pole farther north. But the question is, How long will this movement continue in the present direction? It may continue until Greenland shall come again to have a temperate climate, or it may be reversed in the near future to bring the ice back to the destruction of great cities. This is a problem for posterity. The present generation need not lose any sleep over it. But some future generation may find itself confronting a serious condition.—William E. Simmons in New York World.

Aptly Described.

A railroad official tells a story on himself to illustrate the illegibility of his handwriting.

"Some years ago I sent out a circular letter to various station agents on the line of the Southern Pacific giving instructions as to the handling of certain kinds of freight. One of the points on the line was subject to a peculiar situation, and I added some additional instructions to the bottom of the multigraphed sheet in my own handwriting. A few days later I received the following letter from the agent I had addressed in this fashion:

"Yours of the 18th inst., partly in reading and partly in writing, has been received at this office."
—Philadelphia Ledger.

A Court of Law.

Two or three instructors at a Cleveland law school have been laughing themselves sick over the answer made by a student in an examination not long ago. The question was to define a court of law. Blackstone, who was a good deal of a legal authority in his day, gives as his definition "a place where justice is judicially dispensed." The student may have had that definition in mind. But here is what he wrote: "A court is a place where justice is judicially dispensed with."

Haydn's Unhappy Match. Among the unhappiest marriages ever recorded was that of Haydn. His wife was extravagant, a scold and utterly impossible as the spouse of a musician. We are assured that she indulged herself in fits of rage wherein she would destroy the master's written musical scores, using them to make curl papers. Haydn appears to have borne this state of affairs for about thirty-two years when he became exhausted. In London he wrote a friend, "My wife, that infernal woman, has written me such horrible things that I will not return home."

By Wire to The Reflector. New York, July 14.—There was considerable excitement in July cotton at the opening today when the sports bid it up from 12 points to 15.85. Other months followed with advances of 1 to 8 points. Opening: July, 15.80; August, 14.82; September, 14.81; October, 12.80; November, 12.61.

New York, July 14.—The stock market presented a strong tone at the beginning of business. Union Pacific was strong, advancing about 1/2, and gains of about the same amount were made in Reading, New York Central and St. Paul. Pennsylvania declined 1/2. Industrials showed fractional gains at the start, but at the end of 15 minutes the market generally had receded and a steady tone prevailed.

Chicago, July 14.—Wheat opened firm and higher. Corn was 1/4 to 1/2 lower, oats followed wheat, provisions easier. Opening: Wheat, September 102 1/2; corn, 59; oats 383 1/2; pork 22.00.

What Puzzled Louis. Louis Philippe was a wit. What he specially excelled in was the clinching of an argument, such as, for instance, his final remark on the death of Talleyrand. He had paid him a visit the day before. When the news of the prince's death was brought to him he said: "Are you sure he is dead?" "Very sure, sire," was the answer. "Why, did not your majesty himself notice yesterday that he was dying?" "I did, but there is no judging from appearances with Talleyrand, and I have been asking myself for the last four and twenty hours what interest he could possibly have in departing at this particular moment."

A Little Absentminded. The other day Dixon came out of his house, walked to the edge of the pavement, threw his right leg into the air with a vaulting movement and fell to the ground. A friend who came along in time to witness the singular performance said to him: "Why, Dixon, whatever do you mean by such a performance?" Dixon got up, brushed the dirt from his garments and, rubbing his bruises, said: "I thought I was getting on my bicycle. I forgot that I didn't have it with me."—London Scraps.

Where He Failed. "Offenbach," said a musician of wide experience, "once had an unusually good valet. The man could shave, cook, tailor, market, doctor horses—do, in a word, a thousand things. Offenbach nevertheless discharged him. "Why," his friends said, "did you dismiss a servant so apt?" "Oh, because," said Offenbach pettishly, "in beating my clothes outside my door he would never keep in time."

Tearing Down Walls. Dynamiting those portions of the old Masonic temple walls that had been standing since the February fire attracted much attention Wednesday afternoon. The walls were hard to knock down.

The High Water Mark. Mrs. Robinson—And were you up the Rhine? Mrs. De Jones (just returned from a continental trip)—I should think so, right to the very top. What a splendid view there is from the summit!—New York World.

An Unwelcome Discovery. Post—I discovered today that Parker and I have a common ancestor. Mrs. Post (a Colonial Dame)—For goodness' sake don't tell any one!—Brooklyn Life.

In the hands of many wealth is like a harp in the hoofs of an ass.—Martin Luther.
