HAPPENINGS THROUGHOUT NORTH CAROLINA.

CREAM OF NEWS GATHERED FROM THE EXCHANGES.

Hero Farmer Killed—Shoots Step-mother at Oxford. High Point Man Has Pelagra—Bonds Disposed of.

Mr. L. D. Matthews, a well known farmer of Harnett county, died in the hospital in this city at 8 o'clock this morning of blood poisoning from the effects of sticking a nail in his foot. The remains were taken to Lillington for burial this afternoon.—Fayetteville Observer.

One of the largest sales of cotton made this year was consummated in this city yesterday, when Mr. Jos. R. Ball purchased from Mr. D. W. Patrick, of this city, one hundred bales of cotton. The product was grown on Mr. Patrick's farm in Greene county. New Bern Journal.

Mr. C. E. Wyse, assistant manager of the Southern Furniture Journal, has a well developed case of pelagra and his condition is quite serious. For some time he has complained of a soreness. For the past month his hands have been afflicted with bad sores and he has been unwell. Saturday he became worse and the physician pronounced it a well advanced case of pelagra.—High Point Review.

Raleigh, July 19.—State Treasurer B. R. Lacy, announced today that he has now taken up all except $184,000 of the $3,430,000 of the state bonds that matured July 1, and that gave so much trouble in the refunding bond issue floated in June through the corporation of citizens, the banks and the American Tobacco company, the latter subscribing for $1,000,000. The indications are that there will be very few of the bonds delayed in presentation for payment.

Statesville, July 19.—To save the life of his son, which was imperiled by a mad team pulling a wagon, Robert L. Mills, a farmer and hero, gave his own Monday afternoon. The father, in his effort to stop the runaways, was caught between a box car and the wagon and a few minutes later his dead and mangled body was taken from the wreckage. The distressing accident occurred near the passenger station, and was witnessed by the son and several bystanders, who were powerless to assist.

Asheville, July 19.—Hon. Kope Elias, one of the most prominent figures in Western North Carolina Democracy died at his home at Governor's Island in Swain county this morning following an illness of several months.

Oxford, July 19.—Following heated words relative to the settlement of the estate of J. S. Brown, the father and husband, Otis Brown, a prominent young society man of this place, fired a revolver point blank at his stepmother, Mrs. J. S. Brown, and with a deliberation and coolness he then turned the barrel of the gun toward himself, ending his existence and cheating justice with a self-inflicted bullet through his brain. The murderer and suicide died instantly, while the panic-stricken relatives and friends lifted Mrs. Brown from a pool of her own blood and summoned medical assistance. She had a bullet just above her heart, it having passed through the left arm and lodged near the heart. Physicians stated last night that she had an even chance for recovery.

Wadesboro, July 19.—Telephonic advices from McFarlar, fifteen miles south, tell of the shooting of Constable J. M. Sing, by Claude Thomas a negro employed on construction force on the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad. Mr. Sing arrested another negro for shooting on the streets and as he started with his prisoner for the jail Thomas came from the shanty with a pistol and fired five shots. Three of the bullets struck Mr. Sing, two going through the abdomen and another the thigh. He is not expected to live. Thomas made his escape, but is being followed by a posse with blood hounds, and they hope to capture him.

Morehead City, July 19.—Prof. Bruce Caraway, of Kinston, while out bathing Saturday evening with a large number of his friends, made one of his famous dives and struck the bottom, driving his head up in the sand and oyster shells. He was recovered by his friends and carried to the Atlantic Hotel pier and there he was revived in a few minutes. Professor Caraway received several scars about the face and neck, and

THE JUDGES.

The List as Confirmed by the Democratic State Convention.

The State convention by a unanimous vote confirmed the nomination of judges made in the various districts, and in advance ratified the nomination to be made in the thirteenth district in August. In that district there was a deadlock between Messrs. F. B. Cline, of Catawba, Edmond Jones of Caldwell, and T. B. Wile, of Wilkes, and the convention adjourned until in August. The nominees in the other districts to elect this year are:

Second district—R. B. Peebles, of North Hampton.

Third district—H. W. Whedbee, of Pine Bluff.

Fourth district—Charles M. Cooke, of Franklin.

Sixth district—Frank A. Daniels, of Wayne.

Tenth district—Benjamin F. Long, of Iredeell.

Eleventh district—H. P. Lane, of Rockingham.

Thirteenth district—Convention nominee in August.

Fourteenth district—M. H. Justice, of Rutherford.

Fifteenth district—Joseph S. Adams, of Buncombe.

Sixteenth district—Garland S. Ferguson, of Haywood.

In the districts not mentioned there are no elections this year.—High Point Enterprise

A FALKLAND FARMER.

Makes a Record on Wheat and Oats Hard to Beat.

Mr. W. M. King came in to tell us that one of his neighbors, Mr. W. S. E. Smith, of Falkland township, came in to see him Monday, and while here Mr. Smith told what he had done in raising wheat and oats this year. His record is a good one, and worth other farmers trying to reach.

Mr. Smith harvested 72 bushels of wheat from 3 acres. On one of these acres he used 200 pounds of cerealite and the yield of that acre was 27 bushels. On the other two acres he used 100 pounds each of Cerealite, with a yield of 22½ bushels per acre. On 1½ acres in oats he threshed 81½ bushels.

ROOSEVELT ENTERS DENIAL.

Says He is Not Dictator of the Republican Party.

By Wire to The Reflector.
New York, July 19.—Ex-President Theodore Roosevelt today repudiated the title of "Dictator" with which some of his political opponents have designated him, and declared that he would make no attempt to interfere with nominations. "I am not a dictator," he exclaimed with a smile. "Some like to call me that, but they are wrong."

Dr. Hyatt Coming.

Dr. H. O. Hyatt will be in Greenville at hotel Bertha, August 1st and 2nd, Monday and Tuesday, for the purpose of treating diseases of the eye and fitting glasses. 7191dw eod breaking in one side of his nose; nothing serious.

Two colored prisoners in Snow Hill jail set fire to it early Sunday morning and the building was considerably damaged before the flames could be extinguished. They claim that it was an accident, but the opinion prevails that they set fire to the jail in an effort to escape.—Kinston Free Press.

In a decomposed state and half eaten by birds of prey, the body of Robert Wood, an aged colored man, who left home about three weeks ago, was located Sunday morning in a skirt of woods, about half a mile from the Experiment station of the A. & M. College. Lying near the body of the deceased were his clothes and the supposition is that he took them off.—Raleigh News and Observer.

Sidney Davis, the fourteen-year-old son of Mr. A. J. Davis, who resides on North Pearson street, was painfully injured Sunday shortly after noon, by falling under a Southern freight. His right leg was crushed to such an extent that it had to be amputated midway between the ankle and the knee.—Raleigh News and Observer.

ILL FATE CONTINUES TO FOLLOW ZEPPELIN.

GAS WORKS AT HIS AIR SHIP PLANT EXPLODES.

Seven Persons Badly Injured and a Score or More Cut and Bruised—Plant Seriously Damaged.

By Cable to The Reflector.

Friedrichshafen, Germany, July 19.—The ill fate that seems to be following Count Zeppelin was exhibited again today when the gas works of his air ship plant blew up, and badly injuring seven persons. The shock was terrific, blowing out the walls of the building, razing nearby cottages, and seriously wrecking the dirigibles and hangers.

When the gasometer blew up flames shot to a height of more than a hundred feet, setting fire to the debris. The report was heard for miles in the surrounding country and crowds of people flocked in to the scene. Besides the seven persons seriously injured, a score or more of others were cut and bruised.

ENGLISH RAILROAD STRIKE.

Three Thousand Men Walk Out Without Warning.

By Cable to The Reflector.
London, July 19.—Without warning 3,000 yardmen and other employees of the Northeastern Railroad struck today. The first walkout was at New Castle, and the spread of the strike was ordered by the leaders. The situation is serious, and a complete tie up of the lines is threatened. Preparations against disorder have been made by the authorities.

CANADIAN WORKMEN IDLE.

Five Thousand Thrown Out by Closing of Railroad Shops.

By Cable to The Reflector.
Toronto, July 19.—Five thousand men were thrown out of work today by the closing of the shops here of the Grand Trunk Railroad. The closing of the shops followed a walk-out of conductors and trainmen, which was completed early this morning. No attempt to handle the traffic was made except the running of mail trains. The shops and yards are strongly guarded.

COXVILLE ITEMS.

Personal and News Notes From a Good Section.

Coxville, N. C., July 19, 1910.

We are having some very warm weather.

Miss Jesse Cannon, who has been visiting relatives in our section, returned to her home near Ayden Friday.

Mrs. Henry Chapman we are glad to say is better.

Remember we have Sunday school every Sunday afternoon at 3.30. Mr. and Mrs. Mack Worthington, from near Vanceboro, spent Saturday night at L. B. Burney's.

Messrs. Tucker and Brooks, from near Greenville, spent Sunday at Mr. W. H. Chapman's.

Several of our young people attended church at Stokes school house Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Stokes spent Sunday with their parents, near Shelburne.

Mr. and Mrs. R. I. Smith spent Sunday near Ayden with their parents.

Messrs. C. L. Stokes, B. F. Stokes, R. I. Smith and N. R. Corey, finished putting in tobacco last week.

We are very glad to see Miss Lydia Chapman out again.

Home Butter Maker.

At 3 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, at the store of C. T. Munford, there will be a demonstration of the Home Butter Maker. Any one who will bring one pound of butter and one pint of sweet milk can have three made into two pounds of butter. You should not miss this demonstration, if interested in butter making. The machines that do this sell for only $2.50.

MUSICAL IN TRAINING SCHOOL. AUDITORIUM MONDAY NIGHT.

UNDER THE DIRECTION OF MISS MAY MUFFLY, OF BALTIMORE.

The Program a Delightful One That Reflected Credit Upon All Taking Part Therein.

Every occasion that gives an insight to the character of work being done at East Carolina Teachers' Training school, is enough to arouse increased pride in that splendid institution. Since the regular term of the school closed a summer school has been in progress that has been attended by more than three hundred public school teachers, and a more earnest and enthusiastic body of teachers has never been brought together in one place. To begin with, the very best instructors were selected to do the teacher training, and their work has been of such character as to inspire the teachers to enthusiasm and arouse in them an ambition and determination to put forth their best efforts.

One of the special instructors for this summer course is Miss May Muffly, of Baltimore, one of the supervisors of music in Baltimore city schools and director of music in the High school. Her work here has been instructing the teachers in music for the public schools, and how well she is accomplishing this was shown in the musical given Monday night, the program of which was as follows:

Chorus—"The Lord is My Shepherd."
..... Smart.
Chorus—"Slumber Boat."
..... Gaynor.
Vocal Solo—"Come Unto Me" Handel.
Miss Helen Chapman.
Chorus—"Merry June"..... Vincent.
Vocal Solo—"If I But Knew" Smith.
Miss Lillian Walters.
Chorus—"Serenade"..... Schubert.
A Round—"Good Night."

There were forty or fifty voices in the choruses, these taken at random from the school, and when it was considered that Miss Muffly had been instructing them only four weeks, and only a part of each day being devoted to music in its regular order among other studies, the excellence of the program was marvelous. The voices blended with such harmony and perfectness of time and expression as would have been creditable after months of practice, instead of only a few weeks.

At the conclusion of the program the audience was asked to join in singing "Carolina," and the auditorium fairly rang with this grand state song.

The musical was planned and given complimentary to the people of Greenville, but only a few of them took the advantage of the opportunity to enjoy it, and but for the presence of those attending the summer school the audience would have been small. Every seat in the auditorium should have been occupied, for those who failed to go certainly missed a feast of good music.

MASONIC OFFICERS.

Miss Ehel Moore, of Falkland, is visiting her aunt, Mrs. C. C. Vines.

HANRAHAN ITEMS.

Tells About Weather, A Trip to Florida and Other Things.

Hanrahan, N. C., July 18.—It seems that whenever the editor goes off that we get left out of your weekly edition. Well, we know that one man cannot look after everything and politics, too.

It has been some time since we mentioned the weather, so we thought we would say in passing that for the past two weeks it has been ideal for the growth and fruitage of all crops, and especially cotton. Sunday night there came a ditch filler and branch raiser which we fear was damaging to crops, in this section at least.

A delegation of our representative men, Messrs. Jack Smith, Jake Mumford and W. L. McLawhorn, went to your city (yes, and their's while there) to go before the board of education and plead with them in behalf of an up to date school building. Our people are much in need of a school house and we hope that ere another term begins we will have a building that will be a credit to this part of the county. There is no reason why we should not.

Those were low rates the A. C. L. gave to Jacksonville and Tampa last week, but with its cheapness there were many of our farmers too busy with tobacco and growing cotton to take the trip. But we ever lookout for those who try, and God always finds a way for those who honestly try. So to any and all who have not been to Florida, we would say that if you will appoint some day and come to Hanrahan we can furnish you a man who did go and who saw more and can come as near telling all that he saw as any other man. Now any time that you chance to meet Pinky Hines just sidetrack him from his scissors and get him to tell you about his trip. W. L. McLawhorn also went, but he is not in it when it comes to telling about it.

Mr. Ennis, wife and children, of East Coast, Fla., are spending some time with his brother, Mr. H. H. Coward. Mr. Ennis carries the mails for thirty miles up the Indian river and can tell something about the trials of navigation.

Picnic Postponed.

The picnic of the Methodist Sunday school has been postponed from Thursday to a later date, on account of the dampness of the ground. Other announcements will be made Sunday morning at the meeting of the Sunday school.

TUESDAY, JULY 19, 1910.

They used to see snakes. Now they see air ships passing.

Some merchants are missing a good opportunity in the advertising they are not doing.

They are all waiting now to see what the fifth congressional district will do when it meets again on the 26th.

We are doing our share of talking, but remember, it is going to take some acting as well to get good roads.

There is one thing above all others our county can do as a whole to advance every phase of our life, social, educational and industrial, that is to build good roads.

The Republicans throughout the State are getting ready to put up tickets just to see them knocked down. But they have to do something to make the government bosses think they are earning their jobs.

Pitt county has placed herself at the head in educational progress by establishing good roads. Will she let those schools fail of their purpose by not building good highways to them?

Bankers throughout the country are attributing much of the tightness of money and hardness of times to the automobile craze. When people will even mortgage their homes just to get in the automobile fad, they may expect times hard.

Mr. Rockefeller says the people are leaving the cities because the cost of living there is so high. It is time they were waking up to the fact that living in the country is much cheaper and more conducive to happiness. There are thousands, however, who seem to prefer living on half rations and staying with the crowd.

We note with pleasure and gratitude that our people have turned their attention to road improvement. A movement in which the chamber of commerce of Greenville has taken the initiative, but which has the support of every spirited citizen of the county has begun. An organized effort in interest of every one in this vitally important matter is being put forth by the county's leaders.

The question of roads is an important one. Good roads are essential to the county's development. They not only make transportation of farm products easier and cheaper, they also enhance property values to such an extent that a good road for that purpose alone is a good investment.

Greenville people some time do some very queer things. For instance, Monday night in the auditorium of East Carolina Teachers' Training School the teachers attending the summer school gave a musical. It was planned primarily as a compliment to the people of Greenville who showed their appreciation by something like twenty-five being present. This was anything but encouraging to the school and faculty, and is not calculated to inspire them to do things for people who show such lack of appreciation. At the same time a ten cent vaudeville show that pitched its tent within sound of the training school had a large audience. If this contrast is an expression of the tastes of the people of Greenville, it is time they were cultivating a different taste.

FORGOTTEN TAR HEEL HISTORY.

The stalwart halo wrapt about "Uncle Joe" and the insurgent depicting of his czar-like nature recalls that he is a son of the Tar Heel State, a native of Guilford county. This thought caused us to make a research for the forgotten parts played in the political history of the nation by those either born in or residents of North Carolina. Joseph G. Cannon is not the only Carolinian who has been the storm centre in the national life. Three of our twenty-seven presidents were born in this State—Jackson, Polk and Johnson. Wm. R. King, who was the thirtieth vice-president of the U. S. was born in that area, once a part of Bladen, now a part of Sampson county, in 1786. He was a citizen of Alabama when he was elected vice-president, however, in 1852; 't was in the same State he died, Dallas county, at the age of 67. His opponent, Wm. A. Graham, was a North Carolinian. W. P. Mangum, a Tar Heel Whig, was the candidate on his party for president in 1836, when Van Buren was elected. In 1796, Jas. Iredell, who was a supreme court justice and S. Johnson, were voted for president, but neither received a very considerable vote. Nathan Macon received 24 votes for vice-president in 1824. This State has had three of her citizens to serve as president protom of the U. S. Senate—Jesse Franklin, 1804; Nathaniel Macon, 1826; and W. P. Mangum in 1842. Mr Macon had been speaker of the house in 1801. Four secretaries of the navy were true North Carolinians—John Branch under Jackson; Geo. E. Badger, under Harrison and Tyler; Wm. C. Graham, under Pierce's administration. Wm. R. Davie was minister to France in 1799 and J. L. Martin filled the same post in 1846. During the same year R. M. Saunders was sent as American minister to Spain. We have had two justices in the U. S. supreme court, Iredell in 1790 and Alfred Moore in 1799. The records above are authentic and the dates given are the dates of beginning service.

Of course these are not the only men of political note who have graced the State, but the above are some of the forgotten names in history. In later days, we doubt if the character Zeb Vance has had, or is to have will have its counterpart ever in years to come.—Elizabethtown News.

Underestimating the Fly.

Mrs. F. S. Stevens, of Statesville, Mo., furnishes the current issue of the Raleigh Progressive Farmer some reading matter which, as she admits, is very disgusting:

A number of counts of disease germs upon a large number of flies examined, showed a range from 550 to 6,600,000 germs, representing typhoid, consumption, dysentery, not to speak of the presence of filth upon their bodies, collected from their visits to every sort of haunt. Not only do flies transit diseases through their capacity to carry disease germs upon their feet, wings and bodies, but often in feeding they take germs into their bodies, many of which in passing through the digestive tract, not only remain alive, but increase in numbers so that fly "specks" have been found to contain a large number of disease-producing germs.

It is disgusting to read of these things, is it not? But it is not more disgusting than to see these same flies after their repast of filth, drown in the milk pitcher, drop their specks on a frosted cake, or clean their feet on the bread. Is it pleasant to see flies that may have been feasting on the sputum from a consumptive or upon the waste from a typhoid patient crawl over the lips of a sleeping baby or gather on the nipple of a nursing bottle? These are daily occurrences in homes unprotected from their visits.

This is the sort of "filthy reading matter" which is necessary to publish and necessary for the people to read. It is better that the eye should be consigned to the earth. As a people, we are not nearly enough in earnest about the danger of the house fly.

THE SPLIT LOG DRAG AND WHAT IT DOES.

D. Ward King will have his name linked with that of McAdam and Telford as a benefactor of the human race. He, even more than those sturdy good pioneers, stands as an apostle of improved highways. His simple, but marvelous, device for working roads has already accomplished wonders and will do infinitely more as the good roads movement progresses.

During the past few years the drag has grown in popular favor as an immediate maker of good roads, and at a ridiculously low expense. Over ten thousand farmers in Missouri are keeping in excellent repair, with the split-log drag, the ordinary country dirt roads leading from their front gate to their neighbor's front gate, toward town. Fifteen thousand are working on the roads of Illinois. The Department of Highways of the State of Illinois has officially adopted this system of maintaining its roads throughout the entire State.

The State of Ohio has taken up this method of road making and foremost among automobile clubs of the nation to become enthusiastic advocates of this method of getting good roads now, to-day, cheap, stand several clubs in Pennsylvania. Among them are the Lancaster, Harrisburg and Pittsburg Automobile Clubs, and the Williamsport Good Roads Association.

The split-log drag is made from an ordinary log, either eight or ten inches in diameter and from seven to nine feet long. The log is split in half, and the halves are spiked thirty inches apart, the spit sides to the front. A team of horses is hitched to the drag by means of a chain, and the latter is dragged along an angle of 45 degrees, moving the dirt to the middle of the road. The dragging process is done after each rain. The farmer stands on the drag, and the moisten earth, as it is moved to the center of the road, fills the ruts and smooths out the uneven places.

About one hour is required for the farmer to drag a mile of road after rain. The effect of the sun and wind, baking the roadway each time it is dragged, results in a smooth, hard surface that withstands the heaviest traffic.

The Iowa Highway Commission, which has had a great deal of experience with the split-log drag, has issued a bulletin containing the following strong endorsement of the benefits of the King split log drag:

The work of the road-maintenance in Iowa is largely confined to the care of earth roads. Within the past two years the methods have undergone a complete change and the use of the split-log drag and other simple contrivances for this purpose has extended into every township and county of this State.

First, last and all the time the timely and liberal use of the road drag will pay bigger returns on the money invested than the use of any other improvement. This assertion, while apparently dogmatic, will appeal to those who know, as a safe rule for the township trustees and road superintendents and street commissioners of the average Iowa town to adopt for 1909 and to put into force immediately. Much more can be accomplished during spring and winter months than during the summer and fall months. The roads on which the drag has been used during the winter are in much better shape to withstand the succeeding wet and thawing weather. When the "frost is coming out" of the roads is a critical time with them. The loose, moist condition, if taken advantage of, will make a wonderful improvement, but, if neglected, becomes a great sponge, ready to catch and retain the spring rains. The use of the drag now will accomplish the results in a greater or less degree, depending on the number of times and the care with which the drag is used:

1. First of all, the water standing in the ruts and depressions or running down the wheel tracks will be thrown out of the traveled way to the side ditches.

2. These ruts and depressions will be filled with moist earth, which in this condition will pack and become a solid part of the roadbed.

3. The shoulders at each side will be built up where the traffic has flattened and sledged them into side ditches.

4. Ridges which the wheels have formed between the center of the road and the sides of the ditches will be smoothed down and the center of the road will be built up, giving the water that falls on the traveled portion of the road an opportunity to get away.

5. By dragging the side ditches with the drag hitched at an angle of more than forty-five degrees the ditches can be cleaned of wash or dirt thrown down by the frost from overhanging banks and the road gradually widened.

6. The seed beds between the center of the road and side ditches waiting to grow into a mass of noxious weeds can, in a large measure, be destroyed now.

7. If the soil is just moist, each time the drag is used a thin layer will be added to the traveled portion of the road, which will pack into and build up a hard surface crust under the traffic; if it is wet, the water will be forced out, drying the road in a much shorter time.

8. Dragging in March, April and May will reduce the dust in June, August and September.

9. The action of the frost has put the soil in such condition now that two horses will do the work of four a little later.

10. The waves and ruts can be taken out of gravel roads now, and the material which has been forced toward the side ditches brought back onto the traveled way. The wheels will do the rolling necessary.

11. By reversing the drags on hills and throwing the earth moved from the center of the road to the side ditches, deep and dangerous ditches at the roadside may be filled and the grade of the whole hill lowered.

The responsibility for having the drag used has been fixed by the Legislature on the town trustees and the road superintendents.

The drainage on steep hillsides, or on flat wet stretches of the road where the ground water stands at a high level will supplement the use of the road drag and prove a splendid investment. Such places, as these will show up as being particularly bad, and will remain wet long after the roads in the vicinity have dried. A six inch file sometimes only a few hundred feet long, down one side of the road, if properly laid, may prove sufficient to drain the road; only extreme cases will require two lines; $65 to $70 per 1,000 feet should lay six-inch tile three feet deep, and ten per cent. to twenty per cent. of the road funds of the average township could well be invested in tile drainage. This would amount to $100 to $200, which at the above figures would lay a considerable amount of tile. It would profit each township to select its road superintendent at once, if this has not already been done, and send him over the principal roads of the township to note the length and number of places that are badly in need of tile drainage, as these places will be particularly apparent during the spring months.

Some Democratic Eligibles.

The nomination of Governor Harmon in Ohio is a step toward perfecting the qualification of an admirable man and Democrat to be a candidate for the Democratic nomination for president. If Governor Harmon can carry Ohio again, his friends will be abundantly warranted in trying to send him to the White House. Whether he carries Ohio again or not, he is a man the Democrats must consider.

We should like to see a group of such candidates under consideration by the Democrats two years from now. Whom will New York offer? A first-class man from this State who can carry the State, would be a man to whom the delegates would pay most careful attention. A Democratic governor of New York of the dimensions and character of Mr. Osborne or Mr. Shepard would belong in the group that will include Governor Harmon. We would like to see in the same group Dr. Woodrow Wilson, representing New Jersey, and perhaps with a demonstrated capacity to carry that State. The group ought to be fairly large, and it will be. Democrats of real quality are undoubtedly coming to the front. Mr. Dix, the new Democratic State chairman in this State looks promising. Mayor Gaynor shows a wise disposition to cleave to his present job and see what he can do at the before considering anything else. There are others; we have spoken mainly of the neighbors hereabouts, but all over the country the Democrats are taking politics seriously again, and heads are rising above the crowd.—(From Harper's Weekly).

Albinos.

Albinism is much more common in some of the lower animals than in man. White rabbits, white cats, white mice and white ferrets are all albinos. The famed white elephant of Siam is another specimen of the same curious condition. Albinism is due to absolute lack of coloring matter in the hair, eyes and other structures, and the reason why the eyes of an albino appear to be pink is simply because the eyeball, being colorless and transparent, permits the blood circulating at the back of it to be plainly visible. It is not generally known that albinism is hereditary in man as in other animals. In Circassia are a number of families nearly every member of which has for generations back been a pure albino.

SALE OF LAND FOR PARTITION.
North Carolina—Pitt County.

In the Superior Court, before D. C. Moore, Clerk.

Willis D. Johnston, F. V. Johnston, J. B. Johnston and Addie Johnston,

To the Court

By virtue of a decree of the Superior Court of Pitt County on the 15th day of July, 1910, in the above entitled cause by D. C. Moore, clerk, the undersigned commissioner will on Tuesday, the 16th day of August, 1910, at 12 o'clock m., before the court house door in Greenville expose to public sale, to the highest bidder for cash the following parcel of land, to wit: lying and being in the county of Pitt, state of North Carolina, beginning on the edge of the northern bank of Tar river at a point where three hollow trees formerly stood, nearly opposite the lower edge of the big rock and runs thence nearly at right angles with the river to the big slough, old Parker's and Perkin's line, thence down said slough to Parker's or Red Banks creek, thence down said creek to the river, thence up the river to the beginning; containing one hundred and five acres, more or less, and being the same tract or parcel of land purchased by Edward C. Yellowly from the administrator of Thomas A. Braswell, deceased, and being the second tract of land described in a deed from E. C. Yellowly to Susan O. Johnston, dated December 28, 1880, and recorded in the Register's office of Pitt county in book Y-3, Page 444.

This sale will be had for the purpose of making a partition among the tenants in common who are parties in this cause.

This the 15th day of July, 1910.

USE FEET AS HANDS.

A Custom Somewhat Common Among the Yellow Races.

A French savant, M. Lannelongue, in a communication to the Paris Academy of Sciences maintains that among the yellow races, the Chinese, the Japanese and the Malays, the foot is used as an organ of prehension, like the hand, to a far greater extent than is generally supposed. He says that while in Tokyo he saw a young man sitting in a theater box grasping the rail with his feet just as though they were hands, ever and anon using his right foot to scratch his left thigh. The fact that the Japanese usually sit on their heels at meals and in the house develops extreme suppleness and mobility in the feet and toes, and the prehensive function is still further encouraged by the fact that the Japanese who adhere to the ancient customs wear forked stockings and dispense with the inflexible and constricting European shoe.

Chinese postmen navigate their boats lying down, steering with their hands and rowing with their feet. The ear is held between the big toe and the others. The natives frequently use their feet to collect and to pick up small objects lying on the ground, and sometimes even catch mice with their toes. M. Lannelongue holds that the yellow races, who are able to use their feet somewhat as the elephant uses his trunk or the monkey his tail, enjoy a very considerable advantage in the everlasting struggle for existence over the less fortunate Caucasians, who are able to employ their feet only for locomotion purposes.—Philadelphia Ledger.

Rebukes.

Hoffman, the German physicist, arrived in Glasgow late one Saturday night and on Sunday morning went to call on Lord Kelvin. The doorbell was answered by a woman servant, whom Hoffman asked if Sir William was at home.

The servant answered, "Sir, he most certainly is not."

Hoffman then asked, "Could you tell me where I could find him?"

"Sir," she answered, "you will find him at church, where you ought to be!"

FARMER'S WIFE

HAD HEAP TO DO

Mrs. Shepherd Was in Bad Shape When She Could Not Stand on Her Feet.

Durham, N. C.—"I am a farmer's wife," writes Mrs. J. M. Shepherd, of this city, "and have a heap to do."

"Four months ago I could not stand on my feet, to do anything much, but at this time I do the most of my work. I took Cardui and it did me more good than all the doctors.

"You don't know how I thank you for the Cardui Home Treatment. I wish that all women who suffer from womanly trouble would treat themselves as I have." Ladies can easily treat themselves at home, with Cardui, the woman's tonic. It is easy to take, and so gentle in its action, that it cannot do anything but good.

Being composed exclusively of vegetable ingredients, Cardui cannot lay up trouble in your system, as mineral drugs often do. Its ingredients having no harsh, medicinal effects, and being non-poisonous and perfectly harmless, Cardui is absolutely safe for young and old.

Ask your druggist. He will tell you to try Cardui.

AUCTION STORIES

Unexpected Prizes That Have Been Won by Bidders.

A GREAT BARGAIN IN EGGS.

How Two Specimens of the Great Auk Species Were Bought For $9 and Sold For $2,000—An Old Picture That Had a Valuable Lining.

"Of course I have met with a good many interesting experiences during my career as an auctioneer," relates Henry Stevens in a London magazine, "but the most striking of them all occurred, I think, in connection with a great auk's egg.

"Some years ago a young fellow rode over to an obscure furniture sale at the country village in the hope of securing a bargain to help in furnishing a home in view of his intended marriage. And a bargain he did get, though not of the kind he originally thought of.

"One of the lots put up for sale was a basketful of shells, eggs and other ornaments which had attracted the attention of an old lady who happened to be present. Just as they were on the point of being knocked down to her the young man was struck by the appearance of two large eggs in the basket, and, thinking he might as well have them as curiosities, he started to bid, with the result that the lot was knocked down to him for $9.

"Upon examining the eggs it occurred to him that he might be able to make a profit on their sale. He accordingly wrapped them up in a handkerchief and brought them to me.

"As soon as they had washed off the grime which covered them I discovered that they were eggs of no less a bird than the great auk, and as a result of their sale a few weeks later I handed the astute young bargain hunter a check for $2,000.

"At another sale which I conducted there was an old picture so covered with dirt and grime that it was almost impossible to see what it was like. This was hung upon the wall in a prominent position, but did not apparently find favor in the eyes of any of the dealers who were present. No reserve price was placed upon this picture, which had been put into the sale by a local pawnbroker to whom it had been pledged and not redeemed.

"In spite of every effort on the part of the auctioneer, it was eventually knocked down to a young man who had looked into the sale quite casually in order to waste half an hour during which he had to wait for a train. Taking a great fancy to the frame, which was of oak, blackened with age, he hazarded a bid of $5, at which price it was knocked down to him without any competition.

"As he did not want the picture, he asked the auctioneer whether he would mind trying to get a bid for it if he cut it out of the frame, and, being answered in the affirmative, he took out his knife and neatly cut through the canvas all round the edge.

"Imagine the astonishment of himself and all present when, hidden behind the canvas, he discovered five bills for $100 each. Evidently the picture had been used to conceal the savings of some previous owner, who had died without disclosing the secret and whose hard won fortune thus came into the hands of a total stranger.

"I should quote as very interesting a sale at Rutland Gate, where there were only the remains of the furniture, a firm having been allowed to take what they chose to their rooms. It was accordingly after the nature of a rummage sale, but in one cupboard which had been overlooked were what the junior clerk described as three silver cups. The auctioneer was sitting in his office when a gentleman drove up in a hansom cab, anxious to speak about these cups, for which he offered no less than $1,500.

"The auctioneer was so much surprised that he thought his visitor must have some reason for this high bid, and he wisely determined not to take the first offer he received. 'Oh, I don't think they will take that,' he said, and with this answer the gentleman had to be content. An expert was called on to examine the so called cups, and he discovered them to be in reality sixteenth century chalices, for which he himself made an offer of $2,100. The three cups were subsequently sold for $5,750, but it was only by the slightest chance that they had not gone for a mere song.

"I shall never forget an incident which occurred in connection with the sale of some valuable shells. The bidding for one large shell in particular was much more brisk than I had anticipated, but the reason for this became apparent when at last it was knocked down to a gentleman in a very excited condition, who directly it was handed to him flung it upon the ground and trampled it to atoms, at the same time shouting out in a loud voice that now that one was destroyed he possessed the only specimen in the world."

THE KING'S WATCH.

A Napoleonic Gift That Embarrassed Jerome Bonaparte.

Previous to his elevation to the sovereignty Jerome Bonaparte had formed a friendship with some young authors at that time in vogue for their wit and reckless gaiety. On the evening after his nomination to the crown of Westphalia he met two of his jovial companions just as he was leaving the theatre. "My dear fellows," said he, "I am delighted to see you. I suppose you know that I have been created king of Westphalia?" "Yes, sire, and permit us to be among the first!"—"Eh, what? You are ceremonious, methinks." That might pass were I surrounded by my court, but at present away with form and let us be off to supper."

Upon this Jerome took his friends to one of the best restaurants in the Palais Royal. The three chatted and laughed and said and did a thousand of those foolish things which when unpremeditated are so delightful. It may be supposed that the conversation was not kept up without drinking. When the wine they had drunk began to take effect, "My good friends," said Jerome, "why should we quit each other? If you approve of my proposal you shall accompany me. You, C, shall be my secretary. As for you, P, who are fond of books, I appoint you my librarian." The arrangement was accepted and ratified over a fresh bottle of champagne.

At length the party began to think of leaving and accordingly called for the bill. Jerome produced his purse, but the king of Westphalia could only find 2 louis, which formed but a small portion of 200 francs, the amount of the bill. The new dignitaries by clubbing their wealth could only muster about 3 francs.

"What was to be done? At 1 o'clock in the morning where could resources be found? They determined to send for the master of the house and acquaint him how matters stood. He seemed to take the frolic in good part and merely requested to know their names. Having told him, the restaurateur set his customers down as sharpers and threatened to send for the commissary of police. This alarmed Jerome, who, seeing that the restaurateur doubted them, handed over his watch in payment. This watch had been a present from Napoleon, and on the back was the emperor's cipher in brilliants.

On examining the watch the restaurateur concluded that it had been stolen and took it to the commissary of police. The latter, recognizing the Imperial cipher, ran with it to the prefect. The prefect flew to the minister of the interior, and he in turn went to the emperor at St. Cloud. Next morning the Minister contained an ordinance in which Jerome was ordered to Westphalia at once and prohibited from conferring any appointments till his arrival at his capital.—T. P.'s London Weekly.

MIND YOUR TEETH.

The Value of Keeping the Mouth and Gums Perfectly Clean.

A man is known by the teeth he keeps. The worst thing that can happen to our teeth is for them not to have enough to do. It is the worst thing that can happen to us also. Spiritualized and cultured as we have become, we still fight the battle of life with our teeth, though we no longer chew our enemies' ears or throats. Bone cored, enamel coated and rock ribbed as the hills, our teeth are more absolutely under our control than almost any other structure of the body. Neglect them and they decay at once. Give them proper attention and they will go on repairing themselves for forty, fifty, sixty years.

Give children plenty of roughening food to chew, and they will get the pearly vigor of the savage tooth with the endurance of the Caucasian's. Above all, the food should be of such a character as to give exercise and massage to the gums. Part of this can be given by plenty of coarse food in addition to real food—not as a substitute for it—and part by intentional and vigorous friction with the toothbrush. To brush the gums well is half the value of brushing the teeth.

Keep the mouth and gums strictly clean, and the teeth will take care of themselves. There are thirty-three distinct named and labeled sorts of baccilli or bugs in our mouths as normal parlor boarders, but they'll behave with perfect propriety unless you give them carriage to get drunk on.—Dr. Woods Hutchinson in Survey.

Bill Lange's Long Hit.

In an article on "Batting" in the American Magazine Hugh S. Fullerton describes as follows the longest hit ever recorded:

"Lange, who was of the middle ages of the game, made a hit in Cincinnati which is regarded by many as the longest hit ever made. The ball cleared the center field fence, which was on top of a high embankment, sailed across Western avenue, went through the window of a saloon and was found behind the bar. The hit made a fortune for the saloon, as big crowds went to see the ball on exhibition."

Domestic Economy.

"My wife threatened if I didn't get her a new hat she'd go home to her mother."

"Why didn't you let her?"

"Her railroad fare would cost more than the hat."—Boston Transcript.

By Wire to The Reflector.

Chicago, July 19.—There was more or less pressure on wheat early today and the price was lower. It was a case of longs selling and lack of buying power. Corn was steady at 1/2 to 3/4 lower, oats 1/2 lower. Provisions were steady with hogs higher.

New York, July 19.—Cotton opened 6 to 14 points lower. While a good deal of long cotton came on the market at the opening there also was some notable buying, especially by several prominent commission houses which have taken a bullish position. The demand absorbed much of the early offerings that prices failed to respond on weak cables. Opening: July 16.20; August 15.60; September 13.87; October 13.06.

New York, July 19.—After irregular price changes at the opening, the prices generally assumed a heavy tone with stocks joining in the downward movement. Canadian Pacific was off 1 1/4. Reading, Great Northern preferred and Northern Pacific all yielded nearly one point.

Sweetness Wasted.

Have you ever looked in the bottom of your cup when you have finished drinking your coffee or tea or in the bottom of your neighbor's cup? If you have you have seen a lot of wasted sugar or sand. The average American is in too great a hurry to wait for sugar or anything else to dissolve. The result is that he puts about twice as much sugar as necessary in his coffee, tea or lemonade. The resulting waste is enormous. It is estimated that Americans throw away millions a year by not stirring.—Charleston News and Courier.
