

HAPPENINGS THROUGHOUT NORTH CAROLINA.

CREAM OF NEWS GATHERED FROM THE EXCHANGES.

Leave of Absence Granted to Post-Masters—Young Man Drowned Near Wilmington.

Washington, July 29.—Leave of absence has been granted to third and fourth class postmasters in North Carolina to attend the meeting of the North Carolina State League of Postmasters to be held at Winston-Salem September 23 and 24.

Wilmington, July 29.—John J. Carter, Jr., aged 12 years, son of John J. Carter of Brunswick county, was drowned today in Waldon creek, near the plant of the Teachout Lumber Company. He was playing on the logs in the pond when he lost his balance and fell into the stream. The accident occurred this morning about 10 o'clock and the body was recovered late this afternoon.

Raleigh, July 29.—Within the next day or two the state board of examiners will announce the successful applicants for the five year teachers' certificates and the two year high school certificates as a result of the examinations held under the supervision of the county superintendents of schools at each county seat July 14 and 15. The board has been at work on the examination papers for several days. There are 100 applicants for the two year certificates and 75 for the five year certificates. Then there are quite a number of applicants for renewal of the two year certificates just now expiring.

Coolesmeo, July 29.—Smith Lloyd, a young married man, an operative in the Erwin mill here, was drowned in the South Yadkin river, between the dam and Coolesmeo Junction here this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in an effort to swim across the river.

Apex, July 29.—Zeb V. Satterfield, was stabbed several times and dangerously wounded in the side by Chas. Gibson of Clarkton, S. C., this morning between one and two o'clock while curing tobacco for W. A. Williams, a farmer near Apex. They were having a chicken fry and got hold of some hard cider. A dispute arose over a trival misunderstanding.

The largest eagle story comes from Baldwin township. Recently Mr. Battle Burgess, of that township, was at work on his farm near Haw River and was attacked by a large eagle. After a sharp fight with the king of birds Mr. Burgess succeeded in capturing the eagle alive, without injuring it, and imprisoned it in a pen which he built of rails where he now has it. We are informed that the eagle measures 7 feet and 8 inches from tip to tip. This is the first time in many years that a live eagle has been captured in this county.—Pittsboro Record.

OBJECTED TO SOCIAL EQUALITY.

Coney Island Bathers Came Near Lynching Two Negroes.

By Wire to The Reflector.
New York, July 29.—An attempt to lynch two negroes was made today at Coney Island, because the negroes wanted to bath in the ocean with white men and women. They had a narrow escape.

When the negroes appeared on the beach in their bathing suits there were about sixty white bathers in the water. A cry against the presence of the negroes was raised, and one of them was grabbed and pulled into deep water with a view of drowning him. He was a good swimmer and succeeded in getting away. The other negro also made for the shore, and both of them were chased and stoned until they got out of the way. Several extra calls for police were sent out.

Back at Home.

By Wire to The Reflector.
Beverly, Mass., July 29.—President Taft is back here again at his summer home. He greatly enjoyed his sea trip, but expresses himself as glad to be back. From now on through the campaign the political situation will take up a great part of the president's time.

It takes a diversified farmer to raise diversified crops.

A bent rule generally gets broken.

MORE EXPRESSIONS.

Relative to Good Roads, Taken at Random.

Dr. Jennis Morrill, of Falkland, says: "I am delighted to know that at least some organized efforts are to be made for furthering the cause of roads in Pitt county, and I will give my best efforts to the cause."

Mr. L. J. Chapman, of Grifton, says: "Our commissioners have acted wisely in the matter of the court house and jail, now let's ask them to act as wisely in giving us good roads."

Mr. J. R. Davenport, of Pactolus, says: "I am in favor of good roads, as I think it is a great lever to the up-lift of our section of the country. Some of the townships in the county have better roads than others, and to avoid a general bond issue it might be best to levy a small tax for road building and place to the credit of each township."

Mr. J. J. Satterthwhite, of Pactolus, says: "I endorse the action of the chamber of commerce in calling a meeting of the citizens of Pitt county August the 1st, 1910, to further the cause of good roads in Pitt county. I will attend the convention."

Mr. J. T. Thorne, of Farmville, says: "Your efforts are highly commendable and have my hearty endorsement. It is gratifying to see a movement that means so much to our county handled in a manner that must inevitably carry it to success."

Mr. W. G. Stokes, of Stokes, says: "I favor better roads, but am opposed to bonds."

Mr. M. O. Blount, of Bethel, says: "I am heartily in favor of good roads, but favor the township plan."

A THREE CORNERED SCRAP.

Mr. R. J. Cobb and Son Tackle Mr. Cecil Hassell.

Early Thursday night a difficulty occurred between Messrs. R. J. Cobb and Cecil Hassell in front of Coward & Wooten's drug store on Evans street in which Mr. Cobb's son, Cecil, joined, making it a three cornered scrap. Things looked pretty lively for a time and blows were exchanged at a rapid rate, but Hassell was too few for the two of them, and had to give up, losing his shirt and hat in the fight. There were no weapons used, and consequently no damage was done, with the exception of a few bruises sustained by each. We have not learned the cause of the trouble.

COL. GRIMES TO THE FARMERS.

Speaks to the Union and Gives Good Advice.

Commenting on the speech of Col. J. Bryan Grimes, secretary of state, made before the Farmers' Union in Raleigh, the Evening Times says:

"The morning session was given over to speech-making and was open to the public. The speeches were above the ordinary and were filled with rich food for the farmers thought. The principal address was rendered by Col. J. Bryan Grimes, secretary of state, and though he spoke about an hour and a half, he was given the closest attention and was frequently and heartily applauded as he would make some telling point then clinch it. Seldom has a better speech been made in this state. He laid down a platform that would be well for the farmers and all others as well to stand on. His reasoning was sound, and his blows were straight from the shoulder. Col. Grimes spoke without manuscript, using only a few notes, all of which is to be regretted, for that address should have been placed in the hands of all."

TROOPS TO NICARAGUA.

Rumor That They Will be Sent Causes Sensation.

By Wire to The Reflector.

Chattanooga, July 29.—Sensational reports are current here today to the effect that a force of 500 men is to be recruited for the Southern States militia camped here, to be sent to Nicaragua in behalf of Estrado. According to the rumors part of a regiment has already been enlisted through the efforts of former guardsmen who went to Nicaragua to fight.

A BRIGHT LITTLE BOY.

Quick to Catch on to What He Hears.

A little three-year-old boy, who is the pet of the neighborhood in which he lives, had evidently heard some shouting in his perambulations with his nurse, and was quick to show his imitativness. He went to a neighbor's, and as he was going down the hall he heard his prattling voice exclaiming "Praise the Lord! Praise the Lord!" his tiny hands clapping in time with the words.

His exultations were suddenly interrupted by the appearance of his nurse to take him back home, and the instant he saw her he exclaimed, "Oh, Lord, the devil! Go 'way from me!"

SOUTHERN STORIES AND SONGS.

Mrs. Cherry Should be Induced to Give an Entertainment Here.

Mrs. James Burton Cherry recently returned from Rochester and Dansville, N. Y., where she has been spending several months. While in the North Mrs. Cherry appeared in entertainments several times in negro dialect of Southern stories and songs. Her talent and rendition of these Southern scenes and melodies made quite a hit with her northern audience. Since coming back home a few of our people have had the pleasure of hearing her, and were delighted with her recitations and songs. We know that others would be glad of an opportunity to hear Mrs. Cherry, and would appreciate her giving an entertainment here. If she can be induced to give one for the benefit of the public library it would no doubt help the library fund.

TWO MORE SLICK DARKIES.

Try to Get Away With Stolen Goods Which are Dropped in the Chase.

The other day two young colored men, one named Boston Boyd and the other a stranger, planned a ruse to steal goods from the store of Mr. C. H. Forbes. Boyd went in at the front of the store under the pretense of wanting to buy something and thus engaged the attention of Mr. Forbes, while the stranger, who was watching for the chance, slipped in at the back door and took three pairs of pants. Boston then joined the stranger and they went off together with the plunder, though someone else who saw them reported the matter to Mr. Forbes. Mr. Forbes reported it to chief of police Smith, and they went out together to look for the darkies. Hearing that they had passed the A. C. L. depot, the merchant and officer went out that way and came in sight of the thieves but not near enough to catch them. The strange negro, who had the three pairs of pants, threw them down in a house through which he ran, and they were recovered. Both the negroes got away.

WESTINGHOUSE OUSTED.

Another Man Elected President in his Place.

By Wire to The Reflector.

New York, July 29.—At the annual meeting today of the board of directors of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company, W. F. Atkins was elected president of the company to succeed George Westinghouse.

The ousting of Westinghouse came as a surprise. The election of Atkins is only temporary. After urgent request he accepted, but declines to become the permanent head of the firm. He has been a member of the firm of E. Atkins & Co., for years.

Wisdom of a Woman.

A wise woman once said that there were three follies of men which always amused her. The first was climbing trees to shake the fruit down, when, if they would wait long enough, the fruit would fall itself. The second was going to war to kill each other, if they only waited, they would die naturally, and the third was that they should run after women, when, if they did not do so, the women would be sure to run after them.—Acheson Globe.

Trade Report.

By Wire to The Reflector.

Richmond, Va., July 29.—Bradstreet's tomorrow will say for Richmond and vicinity: Trade in most lines continue quiet, however, in a few reasonable lines improvement is noted. Dry goods and notions are at their usual between season dullness except for orders for future shipment. Vacation season is in vogue and absence of a large number of residents from the city has to some extent diversified trade. Shoes and hats continue active. Trunk and bag manufacturers report running to capacity. Drugs and flavoring extracts are in good demand. Groceries and produce are quiet. Tobacco manufacturers report active ordering. Favorable weather for crop growing has existed this week and crops are reported in good condition in most localities. Retail trade is quiet and collections slow.

Track Bulging up.

If the Norfolk Southern railroad does not hurry up and fix the track where it crosses Dickinson avenue, near the depot, there is danger of its bulging until it turns over. It is getting risky for vehicles to pass over it.

REFUSES TO WITHDRAW TROOPS.

Town of Durand, Mich., Under Martial Law.

By Wire to The Reflector.

Detroit, Mich., July 29.—Governor Warner has refused to grant the petition of the people of Durand, which is under martial law on account of riots there, to withdraw troops from the town. The governor says the troops will be kept at Durand until the trouble is over. Durand is a railroad town, and the people there are greatly stirred up over the presence of the troops. No trouble has occurred there today, as the presence of the soldiers seems to have put a quietus on the rioters.

GOOD FOR THE HOME MAN.

What The Manager of Greenville District is Doing.

Mr. H. Bentley Harris, manager of the Greenville district, embracing the counties of Pitt, Greene, Edgecombe and Martin, in the North Carolina agency of the Mutual Life Insurance Company, of New York, is in receipt of a telegram from Mr. E. R. Ferguson, State manager at Charlotte, stating that since January 1st, in six months, the North Carolina agency has written and paid for $1,000,000 of new business. Of this amount $109,250 is credited to Mr. Harris' district. With a district of only four counties, about one-twenty-fifth of the State, he secured more than one-tenth of the State's business. This proves Mr. Harris a good, hustling agent. He certainly knows how to write insurance.

A newspaper head line asks: "What shall we eat in summer?" With most of us it is anything we can get, summer or winter.

An exchange gives the remarkable information that it is hot in New York. Don't have to go there to find out a thing like that.

So many strikes prevailing in the North and West, gives a good idea of what the Payne-Aldrich tariff and Taft politicians are doing for the country.

When the report comes that some bank official has gone short in his accounts, sift the matter and it will likely appear that he has been plunging in stocks or cotton futures.

Of course it is more or less inconvenient to both pedestrians and vehicles, but the work in progress can well be endured in view of the fact that we are to have so much better streets after a while.

Some mean fellow is trying to get the suffragist idea out of the heads of women by declaring that people cannot be in love and politics at the same time. Doubtless he thinks that if the women must give up either, it will be politics.

A good printer is a man of the highest "type." He attends to his own "cases" and makes it a "rule" never to be "out of sorts."—Ex.

Yet the "devil" is always in close touch to him.

A friend of Dr. Cook says that gentleman is going to come forth again in the effort to establish his claim as to finding the North Pole. It strikes us that the public have heard about all they want of the claims of both Cook and Peary, and have them down in the fake class.

They may have figured out all right, but the rest of us do not understand how the Democrats expect to elect two congressmen in the sixth district.—Durham Herald.

The chances are that they will elect neither, but a Republican in congress if both of the Democrats stay in the race until the election.

Some scientist has asserted that man will lose the use of his feet in 1,000 years from now.—Wilmington Star.

By that time most of us will be done kicking and have no further use for feet. So why worry.

This is the time of year when pickling, preserving and fruit canning have full sway. The housekeeper who puts up most will have the best in use next winter. And the home made quality is much better and purer than the outside kind that are shipped in. It is the idea of making everything possible for home use that pays best.

There is not much more that can be said now to induce people to come to the good roads convention in Greenville next Monday. The meeting has been well advertised, and a great number of people are going to be here. It is a matter in which every citizen of the county should be interested, and every one who can should lay aside his work for that day and be present.

Some Things to Paste in Your Hat.

The Monroe Journal says: In his speech here yesterday, Mr. E. E. Millsape, a successful farmer of Fredell county, said:

"If a man has been living on the same farm ten years and it is poor, it is his fault.

"There has never been any system of farming anywhere that has or will permanently be successful without live stock."

Mr. A. L. French, another successful farmer, said: "Go where ever you will and the men who are making big yields are those who are using modern methods and big plows. You can't find a man who has ever grown big yields of corn by the use of a one-horse plow and a turn plow for a cultivator. Isn't it time for men to quit talking about farming in the old way?"

The reports of the 395 State private and savings banks in North Carolina summarized by the Corporation Commission at Raleigh a few days ago, show aggregate resources of $57,851,130 and aggregate deposits of $39,316,099. Evident strength of North Carolina banks is shown by the report and it is a gratifying fact that no greater progress has ever been made in banking in this State since it became a commonwealth. The prosperity and progress of North Carolina along all lines under safe and sane Democratic administrations will make the average North Carolinian decide to pull with the party that offers them no fool experiments like that in 1904 and 1906.—Wilmington Star.

Notwithstanding the supposed overwhelming sentiment in favor of prohibition there are perhaps few towns in the State where violations of the law are not winked at by people who should stand up for law enforcement.—Durham Herald.

Mark Twain's Profanity.

When Mark Twain began to write for the Atlantic Monthly he came willingly under its rules, for with all his willfulness there never was a more biddable man in things you could show him a reason for. He never made the least of that trouble which so abounds for the hapless editor from narrower minded contributors. If you wanted a thing changed, very good, he changed it; if you suggested that a word or a sentence or a paragraph had better be struck out, very good, he struck it out. His proof sheets came back each a veritable "mush of concession," as Emerson says. Now and then he would try a little stronger language than the Atlantic had stomach for, and once when I sent him a proof I made him observe that I had left out the profanity. He wrote back: "Mrs. Clemens opened that proof and lit into the room with danger in her eye. What profanity? You see, when I read the manuscript to her I skipped that." It was part of his joke to pretend a violence in that gentlest creature which all the more amusingly realized the situation to their friends.—W. D. Howells in Harper's Magazine.

Grit.

Grit is the grain of character. It may generally be described as heroism materialized—spirit and will thrust into heart, brain and backbone, so as to form part of the physical substance of the man.—Whitole.

CATARRH CAN QUICKLY BE CURED.

A bottle of Hyomei, a hard rubber pocket inhaler, that will last a lifetime, and simple instructions for curing catarrh make a Hyomei outfit. Into the inhaler you pour a few drops of magical Hyomei (pronounce it High-o-me).

This is absorbed by the antiseptic gauze within and now you are ready to breathe it over the germ infested membrane where it will speedily begin its work of killing catarrh germs. Hyomei is made of Australian eucalyptol combined with other antiseptics and is very pleasant to breathe. It is guaranteed to cure catarrh, bronchitis, sore throat, croup, coughs and colds, or money back. It cleans out a stuffed up head in a few minutes.

Sold by druggists everywhere, and by Coward and Wooten. Complete outfit $1. And remember that extra bottles if afterwards needed cost only 50 cents. Breathe it, that's all. To break up cold in head or chest in a few minutes, pour a teaspoonful of Hyomei into a bowl of boiling water, cover head and bowl with towel and breathe the vapor.

When Men Were Branded.
A curious relic of bygone times, probably the only one in England, still stands at Lancaster castle. It is a strong iron holdfast, into which the prisoner, who in olden time had been sentenced to be branded as a malefactor, had his hand thrust and locked. The branding iron after being made red hot at the end was pressed against the "brawne of the thumb," and on being withdrawn the letter M branded on the unfortunate prisoner's flesh indicated from henceforward that he was a malefactor. The ceremony was performed in the presence of the judge and jury and in open court, and the brander invariably turned to the judge after he had done his work and exclaimed, "A fair mark, my lord!" It is over 100 years since the instrument was last used on two men sentenced to imprisonment for manslaughter.

His Maiden Speech.
It is related that when the Earl of Rochester in the reign of Charles II. rose to make his maiden speech in the house of lords he said: "My lords—my lords, I rise this time for the first time—the very first time. My lords, I divide my speech into four branches." Here there was an embarrassing pause of some seconds. "My lords," the earl then ejaculated, "if ever I rise again in this house you may cut me off, root and branches and all, forever."

The Devil's Sonata.
Tartini, the great violinist, after dining indiscreetly, dreamed that he had made a bargain with the devil for his soul. To prove his powers the evil one seized a violin and played a sonata of exquisite beauty. Tartini awoke with the ringing in his ears, committed the music to paper and published it as "The Devil's Sonata."

The Verdict.
"How did your act take amateur night?"
"Great! When I sang the first verse they yelled 'Fine!' and when I sang the next they yelled 'Imprisonment!'"

Handed It Back.
A clergyman in the neighborhood of Nottingham was complimenting a tailor in his parish on repairs which he had done for him. In the course of conversation he, however, incautiously observed: "When I want a good coat I go to London. They make them there." Before leaving the shop he inquired, "By the bye, do you attend my church?"
"No," was the reply. "When I want to hear a good sermon I go to London. They make them there."—London Tit-Bits.

Captain Bartlett's Three Cheers.

A series of revolutionary scenes were given in a London theater some months after the close of that memorable war. On the one side was the English army in full red coated uniform, with every button in its exact place. Opposite them was the American army, composed, as the theater bill stated, of "artisans, cobblers and tinkers," arrayed in their working dress, with buttons of every size and hue. When the curtain dropped, Captain Bartlett of Plymouth, Mass., the captain of a ship then in port, stood up in his seat in the pit and, in a voice as if given from a quarterdeck in a squall, called, "Three cheers for the artisans, cobblers and tinkers who were too much for King George and his red-coats," and, with a wave of his hat, he gave these with a will. For a short time there was silence in the theater, followed by an enthusiastic John Bull appreciative cheer for the pluck and assurance of the Yankee captain, who became the lion of the city, receiving invitations to clubs and free tickets to theatrical and other entertainments while he remained in port.

Just a Little Too Smart.

A scrubwoman in a Paris theater found a magnificent diamond stomach-acher in a box in sweeping up. The honest old soul determined to restore the stomach-acher to its owner, and the owner, of course, wasn't long in turning up, a young woman splendidly dressed and on the verge of hysteria. "Oh, have you found my stomach-acher?" she cried. "It is a chef d'oeuvre of Lalique of the Place Vendome." "Calm yourself, madame," said the scrubwoman. "Here is your stomach-acher." And she produced it from her pocket. The other took out a fifty dollar bill, pressed it on the honest scrubwoman and departed with her stomach-acher hurriedly. But an hour later another lady called. "Have you found my stomach-acher?" she asked, smiling. "I think I left it in my box." "Why, yes, madame, but if it was your stomach-acher," said the scrubwoman, "a thief has got it. She got it this morning. She gave me $50 reward." "Why, the stomach-acher was imitation," the lady said. "It only cost $5. Your thief is $45 out."

Mr. Gladstone's Catch.

"How many members of this house," asked Mr. Gladstone once in the course of a debate on electoral qualifications, "can divide £1,330 17s. 6d. by £2 13s. 8d.?"

"Six hundred and fifty-eight," shouted one member.

"The thing cannot be done," exclaimed another.

A roar of laughter greeted this last remark. But it was true nevertheless. You cannot multiply or divide money by money. You may repeat a smaller sum of money as many times as it is contained in a larger sum of money, but that is a very different thing. If you repeat 5 shillings as often as there are hairs in a horse's tail you do not multiply 5 shillings by a horse's tail. Perhaps you did not know this before. Never mind; you need not be ashamed of your ignorance, for it was shared, as has been demonstrated, by the entire house of commons (bar one member), including the then chancellor of the exchequer.

The Terms of Exchange.

"We wish to arrange for an exchange of prisoners," announced the South American dictator.

"On what basis?" inquired the leader of the other side.

"The usual basis—eight generals for a good, husky private."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Quick Sprint.

Sandy Pikes—Dat rich guy in de bungalow took quite a fancy to me. He took me around de stable, showed me de $5,000 bulldog he had just bought and asked me if I could beat it. Gritty George—And what did you say? Sandy Pikes—Nuttin'. I just beat it.—Chicago News.

Was Willing.

Smith—You and Jones don't seem to be as friendly as you were. Does he owe you money? Brown—No, not exactly, but he wanted to.

CRYING FOR HELP.

Lots of it in Greenville, But Daily Growing Less.

The kidneys cry for help. Not an organ in the whole body so delicately constructed.

Not one so important to health. The kidneys are the filters of the blood.

When they fail the blood becomes foul and poisonous. There can be no health where there is poisoned blood.

Backache is one of the first indications of kidney trouble.

It is the kidney's cry for help. Heed it.

Doan's Kidney Pills is what is wanted.

Are just what overworked kidneys need.

They strengthen and invigorate the kidneys; help them to do their work; never fail to cure any case of kidney disease.

Mrs. B. Pittman, Walnut street, Tarboro, N. C., says: "For some time I had not been feeling well and thought that my kidneys might be disordered, as my back was very weak and the passages of the kidney secretions were irregular. My husband got me a box of Doan's Kidney Pills and since using them, my back has become stronger and my kidneys have been normal. I am now feeling much better in every way and therefore am willing to recommend Doan's Kidney Pills."

Sir Walter Scott's Debts.
The Ballantyne failure threw upon Sir Walter Scott the responsibility for £130,000, or $650,000, and the grand old man immediately set about the mighty task of paying it; but, notwithstanding the most heroic efforts on his part, he never succeeded in paying it all. He did the best he could, but he had to depend solely upon his writings, and the task was more than mortal man could accomplish. As his powers failed he became possessed of the idea that all his debts were paid and that he was a free man, and in this belief he happily remained till his death.—New York American.

Better Dream On.
"Isn't that a perfect dream of a hat?" she demanded of the man by her side.
"I said," she repeated after some seconds of silence, "Isn't that a dream of a hat?"
Still silence from the man. Then she ventured reproachfully:
"Why don't you say something?"
"My dear, you seemed to enjoy your dream so that I was afraid of waking you up," the man then replied.

The Psalms.
Many years ago a new clergyman was taking Sunday duty in a remote hamlet among the Yorkshire wolds.
After morning service the old clerk came up to him and observed: "So ye calls them 'Sannums,' do ye? No, ye never knew what to make o' that 'ere P'. We allus calls 'em 'Spasms.'"—London Scraps.

Hunter and Hunted.
A nearsighted sportsman strolled into a little hotel on the shores of Loch Carron, and complacently said, "Just seen a seal, shot at it three times and missed it each time."
At dinner an hour later he sat next to a tourist who had a bandage round his head.
"Had an accident?" asked the sportsman.
"Accident!" growled the other. "Attempted murder, you mean. I was having a bath about an hour ago when some lunatic with a gun fired at me three times from the shore and shot part of my ear off. I don't know why such animals are allowed out without a license."
Then silence reigned supreme.—London Telegraph.

Lavishness.
"In days of old luxurious people had cloth of gold placed beneath their feet."
"Yes," replied Mr. Chuggins. "But those times were comparatively economical. Now we want nothing less expensive than rubber tires between us and the earth."—Washington Star.

There Was No Music.

ECCENTRIC PAVING.

Louis XIV. Covered One Courtyard With Silver and Gold.

Many interesting instances of individual eccentricity or extravagance in the selection of material for paving streets and roads may be cited. It is related that when Maximilian Emanuel succeeded to the throne of Bavaria he celebrated the event by causing one of the roads leading to his palace to be paved with plates of burnished copper. This, gleaming in the sunshine, gave all the effect of the more precious metal—gold.

We are told also that Louis XIV. paved one of the courts at Versailles with squares of silver, each of which had recorded upon it some triumph of the French arms. In the center of the court stood a large tablet of gold in representation of the luxurious monarch's favorite emblem, the sun. Members of the time of Louis make mention of a lodge erected to the love of his youth, the fair Louise de la Valliere. The approach was paved with mirrors wherein was painted an allegory setting forth the undying devotion of the king to Louise.

An eccentric nobleman of Milan conceived the idea of paving the courtyard of his palace with slabs of marble, granite and other stone, each from a different land. It is said that Europe, America, Asia, Africa and Australia all contributed materials to make up this quaint mosaic composed of more than 1,000 pieces, every one of which was suitably inscribed with the name of the country or state whence it came.—Harper's Weekly.

WITTY TOASTS.

Humorous Hits That Have Helped to Enliven Banquets.

A publisher once gave the following: "Woman, the fairest work in all creation. The edition is large, and no man should be without a copy."

This is fairly seconded by a youth who, giving his distant sweetheart, said, "Delectable dear, so sweet that honey would blush in her presence and treacle stand appalled."

Further, in regard to the fair sex, we have: "Woman—she needs no eulogy. She speaks for herself." "Woman, the bitter half of man."

In regard to matrimony some bachelor once gave: "Marriage, the gate through which the happy lover leaves his enchanted ground and returns to earth."

At the marriage of a deaf and dumb couple some wit wished them "unspeakable bliss."

At a supper given to a writer of comedies a wag said: "The writer's very good health. May he live to be as old as his jokes."

From a law critic: "The bench and the bar. If it were not for the bar there would be little use for the bench."

A celebrated statesman while dining with a duchess on her eightieth birthday in proposing her health said: "May you live, my lady duchess, until you begin to grow ugly."

"I thank you, sir," she said, "and may you long continue your taste for antiquities."—London Tit-Bits.

George Washington's Sobriquets.

Washington was called by many sobriquets. He was first of all "Father of His Country." "Providence left him childless that his country might call him father." Sigourney calls him "Pater Patriae." Chief Justice Marshall, in the "American Fabius." Lord Byron in his "Ode to Napoleon" calls him "the Cincinnatus of the West." For having a new world on his shoulders he was called the "Atlas of America." The English soldier called him by the sarcastic nickname of "Lovely George." Red Jacket, the Seneca Indian chief, called him the "Flower of the Forest." The Italian poet Vittorio Alfieri called him "Deliverer of America." His bitter opponents sarcastically called him the "Stepfather of His Country" during his presidency.

Partnership.

Once when I was a little boy I slept out in a barn all night, and it was cold, and I shivered and couldn't sleep. But in the next yard there was a little dog, and he was cold, too, and he shivered. And I got him over in the barn, and we lay down together, and he snuggled up to me, and I snuggled up to him. And pretty soon we were both warm, and we both slept. I had warmed him, and he had warmed me. And so if a fellow snuggles a little dog or a little boy or a little desire or a little beauty close up against his ache, why, pretty soon it has warmed him, and he has warmed it. He is stronger and better and the whole world of hope or joy or beauty or desire is stronger and better for it.—Larry Ho in St. Paul Dispatch.

He'll Hear It Later On.

Harold—I know that I'm not worthy of you, my darling. Fair One. Remember that, Harold, and my married life is sure to be happy.—Jewish Ledger.

On Nagging.

My son taught me a lesson on the subject of "nagging" when he was but four years old and one that I have never forgotten. He had been guilty of a small misdemeanor and had tried to wriggle out of it by not telling the exact truth. I gave him a mild spanking and, as has always been my custom, talked the matter over afterward. I began by saying, "Now, Robert, if you had told me the truth I should not have punished you."

He stood before me, scraping one foot along the carpet, and he looked up at me and said, "What would you have done?" And I answered, "I should have only talked to you."

"Well," he drawled, "how long would you have talked?" He is a big boy in high school now, but when times arise requiring a reprimand and I get started I still hear that little voice, "How long would you have talked?" and I go right to the point and say what I have to say on the subject; but, in the boy's own language, I "cut it short" and never refer to it again unless it is absolutely necessary.—Harper's Bazar.

Killing a Bull Without a Weapon.

Cayetano, a famous Spanish toreador, once was strolling across a meadow with a couple of friends when his attention was attracted by an old and infuriated bull which was galloping toward them with lowered head and erect tail. Cayetano had no weapon, not even a cane, but he seized a dust coat which one of his friends was carrying over his arm. As soon as the bull got close to them Cayetano bade his companions make their escape while he engaged the animal's attention. Using the coat as a cape, he drove the bull crazy with fury, stepping aside with the deftest agility at each of the animal's charges. In this manner he caused the bull to turn sharply in the midst of its onward rushes until finally an ominous crack was heard, and the bull fell in a heap, with its backbone broken by the sudden wrench given by the animal's abrupt swerve.

A Lincoln Anecdote.

Jaspar Alban Conant tells the following anecdote of Lincoln in the Metropolitan Magazine:

"One of the comical characters in Washington during the war was jolly old Isaac Newton, the Philadelphia Quaker whom Lincoln appointed commissioner of agriculture—a new office just created by congress. Newton, who tried and at the same time amused the president, had made his reputation on a dairy farm. Beyond this he knew little of agriculture.

"Hearing which, I could not refrain from asking Lincoln why he had appointed such an ignorant man to the office.

"Because I think he's competent enough to attend to all the agriculture we will have till the war is ended," was the answer."

The Long Silence.

"Yes, we are pretty comfortably fixed here," admitted a veteran employee in the reading room of the Congressional library when a visitor envied him his soft berth and comfortable surroundings. "But there's one thing we long for—yes, thirst for with a burning thirst. That's noise—a real, nerve racking, ear splitting noise. The long hours of soft silence, the dead stillness of everything about, grows so oppressive that at times we could shriek out. We get into a sort of sick-room tiptoe and a low tone of voice that finally degenerates into a whisper even at the telephone. Give us an occasional battery of artillery or a roaring lion or a steam calliope. Even a squalling baby would help some."—Washington Star.

Fifty Men and One Elephant.

Interesting tests were recently made in London to determine the respective pulling power of horses, men and elephants. Two horses weighing 1,600 pounds each, together pulled 3,750 pounds, or 550 pounds more than their combined weight. One elephant, pounds each together pulled 3,750 pounds, or 3,250 pounds less than its weight. Fifty men, aggregating 7,500 pounds in weight, pulled 8,750 pounds or just as much as the single elephant, but, like the horses, they pulled more than their own weight. One hundred men pulled 12,000 pounds.—St. Louis Republic.

Difference Defined.

Mrs. Muchwed (reading paper)—Can you tell me the difference between a visit and a visitation? Mr. Muchwed (dryly)—A visitation, my dear, if one may judge by the spelling, is something longer than a visit. For instance, when your mother comes to see us it would be correct to call it a visitation.

Character.

Character is not cut in marble—it is not something solid and unalterable. It is something living and changing and may become diseased as our bodies do.—George Eliot.

Conscience.

In the commission of evil another is but one witness against thee; thou art a thousand against thyself. Another thou mayest avoid—thyself thou canst not.—Quarles.

It is better to suffer wrong than to do it, and happier to be sometimes cheated than not to trust.—Johnson.

Baltimore and Soft Crabs.

The genuine soft crab, or Brachyura baltimoriensis, is the most delicate as it is the most delicious of all victuals. It will no more bear transportation than a zephyr or a daffodil. The moment it is taken from its native deep it begins to lose bounce and flavor, and once it has left the Chesapeake littoral it is no longer eatable. That is why the soft crab is a superb delicatessen in Baltimore and a bitter disappointment everywhere else. So sensitive is it, indeed, to climate and handling that it is impossible to get a decent soft crab anywhere west of the first tollgate on the Frederick road. In Pittsburg, where embalmed soft crabs are offered in the gilded lobster palaces, their flavor is that of glucose. In Chicago the soft crab is a mere curiosity, to be gaped at, but not eaten. Baltimore alone has the genuine article, and it is fortunate for Baltimore that it cannot be transported. If it were possible to ship soft crabs the whole earth would bid for them, running up their price to $1. 55 and perhaps even to $100 a dozen.—Baltimore Sun.

A Teacher in the Making.

She was a popular young normal student who had been to a party the night before, and as a consequence was "not prepared" in the geography class. The woman instructor, true to her method of drawing upon the general knowledge of a student rather than to permit a failure, after eliciting two or three inconsequential "stabs" from her fair but jaded disciple, asked for the products of China.

The victim brightened. "Tea," she asserted, preparing to sit down.

"Yes, and what else?" encouraged the instructor.

The young woman smiled with sweet hopelessness.

"Now you can mention others, I am sure. Just think about it."

"Tea," drawled the fute-like voice of the pretty girl, "and," puckering her forehead with an intellectual four de force, "and laundry work."—Youth's Companion.
