ROOSEVELT AND WOODRUFF

New York Republican Executive Committee Meeting.

By Wire to The Reflector.
New York, Aug. 16.—As soon as members of the Republican State Executive committee gathered here today the warfare that has been brewing between followers of Theodore Roosevelt and State Chairman Woodruff, came to a climax when it was learned that Woodruff had been urged by the old guard to retain leadership. Meeting was called today to fix the date and place of meeting for the State convention. Opponents of Roosevelt drew up a resolution endorsing Woodruff in his work. Woodruff supporters held caucus and decided to fight efforts to make Roosevelt temporary chairman of convention by presenting the name of James S. Sherman.

15,000 LIVES LOST.

List of Dead From Flood Continues to Grow.

By Cable to The Reflector.
Tokio, Aug. 16.—The death list resulting from floods today continued to climb, and, with the reports coming from remote districts not previously heard from, it is believed the victims will be found to number more than 1500 in all. Thousands of survivors are facing starvation, despite work of government medical authorities. Pestilence is reported from outlying districts. Distribution of food supplies is being pushed by the army.

TENNESSEE REPUBLICANS.

Trying to Swing State From Democratic Column.

By Wire to The Reflector.
Nashville, Tenn., Aug. 16.—Believing now if ever is the time to swing Tennessee from Democratic to Republican column, delegates to the Republican State convention met here today. The party is divided into factions, but great effort is being made for harmony. There are four candidates in the field for Governor. The Republicans hope for a large Democratic support against Patterson.

HOT TIME IN NEBRASKA.

Liquor Question an Issue in State Politics.

By Wire to The Reflector.
Lincoln, Aug. 16.—A record vote is being cast here today in primary being held by both Republican and Democrats. Gubernatorial and Senatorial nominations are the chief prizes at stake but the liquor question is a leading issue in both parties. Leaders of wet faction of Democrats is claiming wet Republican votes and it is probable some dry Democrats will vote Republican ticket.

PRIMARY IN CALIFORNIA.

Rooseveltism and Insurgency Being Put to Test.

By Wire to The Reflector.
San Francisco, Aug. 16.—Insurgency and Rooseveltism are being put to the test in California today in first election under direct primary laws. Big vote is expected. The insurgent's candidate is Hiram W. Johnson. Pinchot made several speeches for Johnson.

TROOPS IN COLUMBUS.

Car Strike Still Serious and They Will Aid Police.

By Wire to The Reflector.
Columbus, Ohio, Aug. 16.—Armed with riot guns, troops are in Columbus today ready to quell disorder in the car strike. They will not take over town, but will aid police whenever called on. There was but little violence during last night.

King's Daughters, Attention!

There will be a call meeting of the King's Daughters Wednesday afternoon, at 5 o'clock, at the home of Mrs. A. L. Blow, president. Every member is urgently requested to be present, as business of importance is to be attended to.

DOWN BY THE SEA.

Social Functions at Morehead—Fishing is Great Attraction.

Atlantic Hotel, Morehead City Aug. 16.—A picnic party, which proved to be one of the most enjoyable of the season, was given Friday at Chadwick's beach. The party reached the beach about eleven o'clock, spending the entire day roaming on the sands and enjoying the surf. A picnic dinner was served in the pavilion. The following composed the party: Mesdames E. P. Morton, William Mahone, H. R. Bush and Barclay; Misses Barclay, Dorothy Barclay, Mahone Bush and Messrs. Leinster, Faison, Sharpe, Mallencrodt, Frank and Joe Morton, and Mark and William Bush.

Mrs. W. L. Kennedy, of Falling Creek, was again hostess at a sailing party Saturday morning. A number of ladies in the hotel were guests of Mrs. Kennedy.

Mackerel fishing is proving very exciting. Mr. R. L. Holt and party, of Burlington, are experiencing wonderful luck. Their report after the first day's sport was that a pair of spy glasses were needed to find them, but after a few hours more of fishing he reports that a club must be used to keep them from swamping the boat. He had proof of this statement for over one hundred mackerel were caught.

REUNION IN NORFOLK.

Delightful Treat is in Store for Old Soldiers.

Raleigh, Aug. 15.—A general order signed by General Julian S. Carr, major general commanding the North Carolina Division United Confederate veterans, directs the attention of the Confederate veterans throughout the state to the fact that the invitation of the Norfolk board of trade for the annual reunion to be held in that city September 6, 7 and 8. The order declares that a most interesting program is being prepared, including side trips to the famous seaside resorts, and that every possible effort is being put forth by the people of Norfolk to make the reunion the grandest and most enjoyable ever held. The order directs those who expect to attend and are unable to defray their own expenses to write to J. A. Hall, secretary, at Norfolk, as to free entertainment which the city will provide in the way of meals and lodging. In conclusion he says: "A delightful trip and treat is in store and it is hoped that there will be a large attendance of our old Tar Heels, all of whom will receive a most hearty and hospitable welcome from our Virginia neighbors. Let our cry be now 'On to Norfolk!'"

A RELIC.

New Bern Newspaper 32 Years Old Found in Rhode Island.

The reporter has just been handed by an old citizen Mr. Alex. McLacklan, who lately returned from Rhode Island, a small four-page newspaper called "The Daily Nut Shell" that was edited and published by Mr. Geo. E. Pittman. The paper bears the date of Monday morning, November 11, 1878, making the age of this incidental copy 32 years old. A couple of years ago Mr. McLacklan and family moved from New Bern to Providence, R. I., and it was while there that they came across this little sheet. Mr. McLacklan one day was visiting a friend, Mr. W. E. Waterman, at Hoesee, R. I., when they discovered the New Bern sheet among a large number of foreign papers. The paper is well preserved and carried a large number of advertisements of New Bern merchants who have long crossed over the river in answer to the call of the Ruler of the universe.—New Bern Sun.

CHILD PASSES AWAY.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Moore Lose Their Infant.

About 9 o'clock Sunday morning Clinton Brooks, seven months old son of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Moore, died at their home on Second street. The little one had always been in ill health and suffered a great deal before its death.

The funeral was conducted at the residence, from which it was taken to Cherry Hill cemetery for burial Monday morning.

AYDEN CORRESPONDENCE.

Newsy Items About the Town and its People—Progressive Community.

Ayden, N. C., Aug. 16, 1910.
Mr. Bryant Hargett and family, of Trenton, Jones county, came up Friday to visit their aunt, Mrs. Cyrena Mumford.

The famous eye specialist will be at J. R. Smith Co.'s store September 5th and 6th, to fit your glasses and correct stigmatism, which causes so much headache.

J. H. MEWBORN, Optician.
Rev. Harris Settle will on the 4th Sunday in August begin a series of meetings at Red Oak church, 4 miles south of Greenville, on the old plank road.

The sad news reaches Ayden that Mrs. Celia Allen died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. J. C. Gardner, at Smithfield, yesterday. She was a sister of our townsman Mr. R. C. Cannon, and mother of Mr. T. R. Allen, of Renston. Her remains will reach here on the 2 o'clock train and will be taken in the country for interment at the old family homestead.

Rev. C. E. Lee arrived Monday night to begin a series of meetings at Rountrees church near Ayden.

The high water has caused the Ayden Lumber Co. to close down a few days until the swamps can dry out a little.

Little Miss Mary Gurkin, who has been visiting her uncle, Mr. Geo. F. Cooper, left Monday for a few days' visit to relatives and friends in Greenville, then she will return to her home in Raleigh.

Mr. F. C. Turnage is giving in artificial luminary at the electric plant. Mr. Swain has resigned.

Our farmers are losing their fodder. Those who have pulled, lost it all, and it still rains. We hear of some curing it in their tobacco barns.

Mr. Sam Hux, who has been gone for a few days, returned Sunday night.

The bell for the F. W. B. church was installed Monday, it has a fine tone and can be heard quite a distance.

A hint to the wise and law abiding is sufficient. Our people have added much to the looks of the highways, sidewalks and by cutting down the weeds.

Mrs. Celia Sullivan is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Geo. Hart, of Hookerton.

We have a nice assortment of ladies' trimmed hats, the latest styles, call and see them.—J. R. Smith Co.

Messrs. J. J. Hines and Elias Turnage left Saturday for Seven Springs, for rest and recreation.

Miss Gussie Lawrence has accepted a position with Mrs. Gertrude Bland at Grifton, and left Monday to enter upon her duties.

Mr. John B. Booth, of Oxford, arrived Monday night. He will represent the American Tobacco Co. on the Ayden market this season.

If you want belting, mill fittings, or any kind of hardware, see us, we have just received a full line of Cattarangus cutlery and Belkenaps guns.—J. R. Smith Co.

Miss Bertha Jones returned Monday from a visit to Chocowinity.

The faithful old hen continues to set under Jenkins & McGlohorn's warehouse with no audible results. She has set all the spring and summer.

Wanted—to buy 100 bushels of good country corn for milling purposes.—J. R. Smith Co.

Mr. G. F. Cooper and family spent Tuesday with relatives in Greenville.

We have never seen a journal improve faster than The Reflector. Hurrah! for good roads, The Daily Reflector, and the Ayden tobacco market. See them all prosper.

PREMIUM LIST OUT.

State Fair Association Offers Many Prizes.

The Reflector has received a complete premium list for the fiftieth annual state fair, just from the presses, and it is the biggest and best the North Carolina Agriculture Society has yet gotten out. The fair is to be October 17, to 22 and will be of an elaborate scale that will celebrate fittingly the semi-centennial. Good progress is being made on the new concrete agricultural and horticultural building at the fair grounds. It will cost about $6,000.

There are few people but think they are selling their wits at a discount.

NORTH CAROLINA NEWS.

Gathered From Our Exchanges Today of Events Just Happened.

Gastonia, Aug. 15.—The socialists of Gastonia county will hold a convention on the 20th to put out a legislative ticket.

A message was received in this city yesterday morning from Alliance which stated that Clarence Allen, a young white boy, living near that place, had been bitten by a highland moccasin and that grave fears were entertained for his recovery. Allen it seems, had gone out into the garden to gather some tomatoes and did not see the reptile until it had sunk its fangs into his left leg. Medical attention was given him as soon as possible but there is slight hope for his recovery.

Wilson, Aug. 15.—Sunday afternoon Zeb Griffin, Calvin Thorn and a number of white men were drinking cider in Old Fields township. Griffin invited Thorn to his home. The invitation was accepted and as soon as both parties entered Griffin's yard, Griffin seized an axe and dealt Thorn a blow over the head, knocking him down. He then plunged a knife into his throat from which Thorn died Monday morning, at five o'clock.

One shot from a 32-calibre Winchester rifle about 1.00 o'clock p. m., yesterday ended the life of Ervin Nicholson, a negro convict about 22 years of age as he made an attempt to escape in the western edge of Raleigh, where a county convict force is working on the roads. It was Guard R. M. Sanders who shot, the bullet striking into the back of the fleeing convict, who toppled over as he ran and fell dead on Hillsboro street opposite the residence of Dr. B. W. Kilgore, a hundred and fifty yards from the guard who shot him.—News and Observer.

ADJUSTING PAYMENT.

Telegraph Operators on Atlantic Coast Line Getting Increase.

Rocky Mount, Aug. 15.—While it was not given out before the meeting it was learned on Sunday afternoon that the superintendent of the first division of the Atlantic Coast Line and representatives from the telegraph operators were in session on Saturday morning for the adjusting of the details concerning a raise in pay that has just been given the knights of the key all over the entire system. All of the superintendents over the first division, the assistant superintendent and the general superintendent met for a several hours' session in the office of the general superintendent here. Recently the officials gave to the operators over the entire system an increase in pay amounting to nine per cent., and the same came effective with the first of the present month. In addition to the adjusting of the details of the distribution of the raise in pay, there were several other items of importance concerning the welfare of the company that were brought up and discussed though there were none of public interest. The officials and operators from over the entire division returned to their respective homes on Saturday afternoon and night.

RETURN FROM CAMP.

Greenville Party Thoroughly Enjoyed Outing.

Messrs. G. E. Harris, W. D. Pruitt, Hugh Ragsdale and Prof. E. W. Knight and L. R. Meadows and Dr. R. L. Carr, have returned from a two weeks' camp on Brown's Island, Core sound. They report a splendid time, the weather being fine and fishing fairly good. They went and returned by water in gasoline launches through Tar and Pamlico rivers and Pamlico and Core sounds, which made the outing all the more pleasant and adventurous. The camp was near Beaufort and the party visited that place several times. Messrs. H. L. Carr, S. T. Hooker and T. A. Duke, were with the party for a week, returning by rail.

Trip Around The World.

The King's Daughters will conduct a trip around the world next Tuesday night, August 23. A great treat is in store for lovers of fun. The starting point will be at the court house square and stations will be established at different points around over town. The fare will be small and the benefits will go to the Patient Circle.

PERSONAL BRIEFS.

The People Who Come and go on Our Trains.

Miss Kate Bunn, of Henderson, is visiting her sister, Mrs. P. M. Johnston.

Mrs. O. E. Warren and children returned Monday evening from a visit to Chester, S. C.

Mr. R. B. Kittrell left yesterday for Rich Square.

Miss Carrie Brown left Monday for a visit to Durham.

Mrs. N. E. Anderson returned Monday evening from Raleigh, where she had been visiting her daughter, Mrs. C. V. York.

Mrs. C. B. West returned from Raleigh Monday evening, where she has been visiting her sister, Mrs. C. V. York.

Miss Lillian Carr returned Monday evening from a visit to LaGrange. Miss Bettie Gray Satton accompanied her home.

Mrs. Harry Skinner and daughter left for Greensboro today.

Mr. J. S. Stump went to Scotland Neck this morning.

Mr. R. Hyman left for Kinston today.

MR. GUILFORD W. COX.

An Honored and Beloved Citizen Passes Away.

At 1 o'clock today Mr. Guilford W. Cox passed away at his home on Sutton's Lane. He had been in feeble health for some time and the end was not unexpected.

Mr. Cox was 84 years of age, having lived a very active and fruitful life in its fullest sense. He was born in Pitt county and always lived in it. Was once its representative in the legislative body of North Carolina, also clerk of the Superior court 1851-53. He was always known for his integrity and strength of character. Was from birth a member of the Protestant Episcopal church with never varying faith in his church and its God. His faith in humanity made him a great benefactor to his fellow beings, having been for many years a member of the Masonic order—a charter member of the old Sharon lodge of Greenville—being one of the oldest Masons in the county at his death.

He moved to Greenville a few years ago from Ayden and had greatly endeared himself to our citizens as a neighbor and friend.

His wife and three children survive him. The children are: Misses Eula and Clyde, and Mr. Eugene Cox, of Ayden.

His remains will be buried in Ayden cemetery tomorrow with Masonic honors. Rev. J. G. Griffith, of Kinston, will conduct the funeral services.

AT THE SEA SHORE.

August is Fine at Virginia Beach and Cape Henry.

Norfolk Va., Aug. 15.—August is considered by many people the big month at Virginia Beach and Cape Henry, and the month is certainly a popular one at both these excellent seashore resorts. It is certain there is a greater number of visitors at the Beach this month than ever before; but the whole season is also a record breaker. At Virginia Beach and Cape Henry is to be found either rest or amusement, and always excellent shore dinners.

That visitors to Norfolk know where to find Virginia Beach and Cape Henry, and how to get there, was demonstrated yesterday when thousands of North Carolina excursionists to the city and others kept right on going until they landed. The day was known as North Carolina day at the two resorts in honor of the large number of Carolinians who visited them. All trains out on the Norfolk Southern Railroad were run in two sections, which means that it required ninety six trains to handle the crowd between Norfolk and the Beach to accommodate the travel.

Virginia Beach is always popular with Carolinians, and this year a number of delightful house parties have been held there, composed almost of visitors from that state.

This week Carolinians will again pour into the city, and as usual, Virginia Beach will be their mecca. Every railroad running into the city from the South will bring thousands by special trains who will enjoy a few days outing in the "City by the Sea."

Mr. Cotten For Senate.

Greenville, N. C., Aug. 16, 1910.

Editor Reflector:

Hon. R. R. Cotten's friends asking him to represent Pitt county in the State Senate are unwilling for him to withdraw from the race. He was a leader in the House of Representatives—chairman of the committee—appointed to investigate and report of the Tarren's Land Register system; a member of the State auditing committee, and is looked upon as an able man. His experience there fits him for the Senate.

Mr. Cotten is progressive. His attitude toward the good roads movement for Pitt county is safe and right, he feeling that the roads should be improved. He opposes a bond issue for that purpose, unless it is submitted to the people and approved and ordered by a majority vote of the people, the voters.

Pitt county could do no better than send such a man to the Senate from Pitt county.

VOTER.

Grimes Wants Legalized Primaries.

Raleigh, Aug. 15.—Col. J. B. Grimes is out in an interview advocating a legalized primary for both parties in the selection of candidates for state and county offices, the state to bear the expense of the primaries. Col. Grimes says: "I think the need of some better method of nominating county and state candidates is admitted everywhere and by everybody. I hope the next general assembly will provide for a legalized primary for Democratic and Republican parties to be held on a common day. Machinery could easily be provided somewhat similar to our present election law that would guarantee absolute fairness and a honest expression of the preference of electors in their respective parties. The state could have primary elections held at a small cost and in the end save a large expense of time and money to the people of the state."

Cabbages in Pledge.

There is one pawnbroking establishment in connection with Covent Garden market that is absolutely without a rival. This pawnbroking license enables the holder to lend money on garden and other produce by special contracts that only hold good for forty-eight hours as the extreme limit. Many a good load of fruit, flowers or vegetables that may arrive late for one market or that may not be instantly salable is pledged. Next morning the stuff can either be redeemed or sold by the broker.—London Graphic.

Dangerous situations often are said to be under control when they are only resting.

TUESDAY, AUGUST 16, 1910.

Ten passenger trains daily is a great thing for Greenville. The recent addition to the passenger service on the Norfolk Southern promises to be a great convenience to the people and we believe it is duly appreciated by our merchants and other business men whom it will help so materially.

At night Greenville sounds like a huge dog kennel.

A Washington Crime.

A successful lawyer who has since become eminent in his profession, once told the writer that good, ordinary, common sense was a most valuable adjunct in the interpretation of the law. He was doubtless right, although many litigants have asserted with warmth that they could see no kinship between the law and common sense.

In Washington one need not be accused of any lack of good judgment; if he sometimes makes a mistake as to what is law of the District, not to say the law of the land. The law occasionally seems to be based on anything but common sense, although if one groped long enough in the dim past to learn why certain laws were passed he might become satisfied that even the most unreasonable laws were in fact based on some reasonable basis and were intended to subserve some sensible end. This may be said of the law recently enacted which requires that all the dogs in the District of Columbia be muzzled for one year. Why muzzle dogs in winter, the dog owners ask? But there have been a good many cases of rabies in Washington, and the law to muzzle the dogs is a wise one. It is doubtful whether all the dogs in Washington are worth one human life, although this proposition is advanced with a certain amount of timidity in view of the attitude taken by the dog advocates.—F. J. Dyer.

Co-operation Among Farmers

The other day the writer saw a farmer selling eggs at 15 cents a dozen. A lunch counter in the same town was selling egg sandwiches (one egg and two thin slices of bread) at ten cents each. The producer of the egg got 1 1/2 cents for his egg. The distributor (middleman) who sold it over the lunch counter, got ten cents, a profit of nearly 300 per cent. Out of a loaf of bread that sells for 5 cents the farmer gets 1 1/2 cents and the "middleman got the other 3 1/2 cents. Any system of business that gives more to agents of distribution, who add not a single dollar to the real producers, is unjust, oppressive and tyrannical. As patriotic people with a sense of justice and right, we ought to have the manhood to demand that economic distribution go hand in hand with economic production. If we will co-operate we can get a square deal. Divided and scattered we are weak and powerless. United and acting together as one man we are strong and invincible. "The best way to co-operate is to co-operate." Whatever business arrangement you make stand loyally to it and let there be no scabbing.

There has never been any reformation accomplished that did not meet with opposition. When farmers set about establishing a more economic system of buying and selling, somebody is going to try to defeat the effort. While it will always be necessary to have five distributing agents where only one is needed, it isn't economy to maintain five distributing agents to do what one could do just as well—and do it with a saving to both buyer and seller. There are thousands of merchants sitting down by stocks of goods in the South who ought to be engaged in productive effort, who should have their money invested in some productive resources and thus keep our money in the South for things which we ought to manufacture at home.—Carolina Union Farmer.

Township Government.

How much further advanced our whole Southland would be if we had township meetings at least once a year, gathering all the people together to discuss roads and schools and taxes, and health matters and public improvements, etc., etc., and everything looking to public progress and public welfare. This is what New England has done for generations, and her material progress is largely due to it; this is what the South has not done, and our backwardness is partly due to our not having done it.

Once a year there is the regular annual "town meeting" in each rural township or civil district in Massachusetts; that is to say, all voters of the town or civil district meet together and all the business of the township or district is arranged for. The township school committee is elected; selectmen (whose duties for the township correspond to those of county commissioners for the county) are chosen; they transact all the general legislative business for township. Assessors are named. Certain other citizens are named as overseers of the poor. Other men are named as road commissioners. Other men compose the board of health, or the duties of this board may be left to the selectmen. Registrars are elected by the same meeting. Numerous other smaller positions are filled so that some man of the township is designated for nearly every public duty; for instance, one man is named as "fence viewer," and instead of two farmers having an expensive law suit about a line fence, this man judges the matter and settles at once for all.

Not only are these officers named for the routine work of the township, but any question bearing upon the public welfare of the community may be brought up and settled. This meeting has entire authority as to what the expenditures and the tax rate of the township shall be; it debates and decides upon the public improvements; it decides upon what improvements shall be made etc., etc. If any new matter comes up, or interest develops in some old subject, a certain percentage of the voters may call another meeting provided the selectmen and regular officers do not handle it satisfactorily.—Clarence Poe, in Raleigh (N. C.) Progressive Farmer and Gazette.

Editor Poe to Circle the Globe

Announcement is made that Editor Clarence Poe of the Raleigh, N. C., Progressive Farmer and Gazette will sail August 23rd for a five month's trip around the world, and will write for his paper every week a series of articles dealing with all the notable and interesting things seen in Japan, China, the Philippines, India, the Holy Land, and Egypt, having his eyes open especially for everything affecting the South, our agricultural manufacturers, race problem and political problems, conservation of resources etc.

What may be expected of Mr. Poe's "Round the World" travel letters may be guessed from the enthusiastic reception of his travel letters from Europe two years ago. So popular as published in the Progressive Farmer and Gazette the letters were later reprinted in book form, and were awarded a golden trophy cup for distinguished literary merit, the presentation being made by Ambassador Bryce, of Great Britain, who joined a great number of American critics in high praise of the book. The Atlanta Constitution remarked editorially the other day that Mr. Poe "by his splendid qualities of intellectual and moral leadership" has become one of the leaders in Southern upbuilding as well as "one of the foremost and soundest thinkers in the South." Progressive Farmer and Gazette subscribers will doubtless follow his letters with interest, and one or two sample copies for examination are offered free to our readers who do not know the paper.

EVADING THE LAW.

The Pictures of Flying Birds in a Mo- hammedan Mosque.

According to one of the tenets of the Mohammedan religion, it is a sin to make a picture of any living thing. The elaborate decorations of the pal- aces and mosques of the east are al- most exclusively made up of ingeniously interlaced geometric designs, arabesques or flowers, intermixed with sentences of the Koran.

There is a belief among Mussulmans that at the day of judgment Allah will demand that the artist who has made the image of a living thing shall endow that image with life and that, failing to do this, the artist will be sent to perdition for his sin.

A gentleman who visited a mosque in Algiers found that the tiles with which the building is decorated, which are very old and very beautiful, are adorned with flights of birds. He ex- pressed surprise at this and asked if the command against such representa- tion were a modern edict.

"Oh, no," answered the pious Alger- ian to whom he addressed the ques- tion. "These are not pictures of liv- ing birds."

"But they are painted as if flying across the tiles," the other said in some astonishment.

"Yes," the Mussulman replied, "but do you not see that about the neck of each there is a fine black line? That is to show that the artist painted only dead birds, and the command of the Koran is not violated."

CASTE IN THE ARMY.

Civilians Find It Difficult to Under- stand Military Discipline.

One thing not commonly understood among civilians is the completeness of the barrier which divides army offi- cers from the soldiers, or, as they are more generally called, the "men." It is always vastly amusing to those fam- ilar with the service to observe the errors in this respect frequently made by the novelist and the playwright.

Personal qualifications have nothing whatever to do with the matter. A soldier may be a gentleman who has enlisted with the purpose of obtaining a commission, yet there can be be- tween him and his officers no social intercourse of any sort, and severe penalties would be inflicted upon the officer who would attempt to disregard the rule.

It might seem that this enforcement of a caste sense would result in much hard feeling on the side of the men. Such, however, is not actually the case. It is taken for granted and recog- nized as conducive to "good order and military discipline." It is a mili- tary regulation like any other and im- plies no disgrace. Directly a soldier's enlistment is out or directly he rises from the ranks the prohibition is re- moved.—Delineator.

Roundabout.

The very budding barrister assumed the approved legal look of indisputable superiority.

"Now, my good lady," he observed, shaking an admonitory forefinger at the woman in the witness box, "you do not appreciate the gravity of the ques- tion. Endeavor to concentrate what brain power nature has endowed you with and answer me. What relation- ship does the defendant bear to you?" "Right-ho" responded the good lady "Is father's cousin was my cousin once removed, and 'is mother, marry- in' me uncle's only brother."

"My good lady," interrupted the bud- despairingly, "I am not here to solve puzzles!" "Well, I'm blowed!" ejaculated the lady. "You was talkin' jest nab as though you'd cornered most o' the brain pahr goin'. If you 'adn't swank- ed quite so much I'd 'a' told yer plain- ly an' simply! 'E'se me brother."—London Answers.

Old Moon Beliefs.

The health, growth and development of children and animals were years ago supposed to be influenced by the moon. If the sign was right at the time of birth they would be well formed and intellectual, but if it was wrong there was no telling what sort of creatures they would become. Every worthless fellow, every dog, rooting hog, fence jumping cow or kicking horse was be- lieved to have been born under an un- favorable phase of the queen of night. Queer people or those who were of hateful disposition were children of the dark moon, with the sign below the heart.

The Capitol Dome.

The capitol dome at Washington is the only considerable dome of iron in the world. It is a vast hollow sphere weighing 8,000,300 pounds. How much is that? More than 4,000 tons, or almost the weight of 70,000 full grown persons, or about equal to 4,000 laden coal cars of one tons each, which, if strung out one behind the other, would occupy a mile and a half of track. On the very top of the dome the allegorical figure "America," weighing 13,985 pounds, lifts its proud head high in the air. The pressure of this dome and figure upon the piers and pillars is 14,477 pounds to the square foot. It would, however, re- quire a pressure of 755,286 pounds to the square foot to crush the supports.

Queer Way to Display a Trouseau.
An Arabian bride is arrayed in all her dresses, one over the other. She is perched on a high stool, so that they all hang down over it, and one by one they are taken off with much display and admiring comment from the guests. The last is, of course, the most beautiful. The bridegroom is hidden in some corner where he can see his future wife's dowry, which, however, he may not touch.

HUMAN SACRIFICE.

It Appears to Be an Ordinary Occur- rence in Liberia.

Of certain aspects of Liberia Cap- tain Brathwaite Wallis writes in the Geographical Journal: "The popula- tion of June is large, almost untouched by the so called civilization on the coast. It is typical of western Africa. The men have fine physiques and very black skins, and most of them plait their hair, which is worn about six inches to eight inches long. They ap- peared to be well armed with rifles, guns, spears and swords. While in this town I saw even slaves, who were held by the leg in wooden stocks. They had been in that position for some months. One of them told me through the interpreter that he had been kept thus for two years. He was a man of poor physique, and a pur- chaser could not therefore be easily found for him.

"That night, while asleep in my little hut in the town, I was awakened by hearing a gentle chorus of wom- en's voices singing some yards away. After a few minutes the chorus ceased and a single voice began, in Bande, an African song. The voice was soft and melodious, and the tune was fas- cinating and weird and harmonized with the wild environment to which it belonged. After a few lines the other singers joined, and the result was most attractive and beautiful, containing as it did such delicate har- mony with excellent taste. During the years I have been in Africa I do not remember having heard anything quite like this singing before, and I shall never forget it. The interpreter told me the next morning that the song was to the good spirits, asking them to guard and protect the white man and his followers on their jour- ney."

Another incident: "A few yards out- side the first stockade I noticed an empty grave, the newly turned earth of which showed it had been recently dug. This grave, it appeared, had been used for the purpose of burying a man alive as a sacrifice, and I was informed in a most matter of fact way and as if the occurrence was quite an ordinary one that the un- fortunate victim's body had lately been exhumed to obtain certain por- tions for the purpose of manufactur- ing fetish medicines."

THE LION'S HEAD.

Origin of Its Use as a Decoration For Fountains.

"The sun glows in the Lion," says Seneca, meaning that when the sun enters the sign of Leo at the summer solstice the highest temperature of the year is experienced. We may say, on the other hand, that the Babylonian astrologers thousands of years ago placed the king of beasts, the fiery and ferocious lion, in that part of the zodiac which the sun enters at the sum- mer solstice.

The constellation which is called Leo bears very little resemblance to the outline of a lion. Probably the name was originally applied only to its prin- cipal star, Regulus. It is to this con- stellation in the zodiac that we owe the countless water spewing lions' heads which are found in ancient and modern fountains, because in the latter part of July, while the sun is still in the sign of Leo, the Nile is at its high- est level.

Furthermore, the lion's head with widely open jaws is in itself very suit- able for the mouth of a fountain or waterspout. This decorative motif was employed universally throughout the Greco-Roman world. Lions' heads are found used in this way at Athens, Eph- esus, Olympia, Agriguntum and count- less other places. It is not quite cer- tain that this employment of the lion's head originated in Egypt. Curtius de- scribes an Assyrian bas-relief from Balran showing water streaming from a ring shaped vessel. A lion stands as if on guard on either side of the foun- tain.

The water clock, which was used in judicial proceedings, had the form of a lion and a name which means the guardian of the stream. Hence the idea of protection may have been the origin of the association of lions with fountains, and this custom may have originated in Asia.—Scientific Ameri- can.

The Rival Roses.

Perhaps the two most famous flow- ers in history are associated with the Temple gardens, for, according to tra- dition, it was in the gardens in 1430 that the two leaders plucked the red and white roses which became the badges of the rival houses of Lancas- ter and York. The gardens were for centuries famous for their roses. Among their floral curiosities one finds in the accounts for 1700 an expendi- ture on two perimic box trees and won- ders what a perimic tree is until one remembers the custom of trimming box trees in a symmetrical or "peri- metric" fashion.—London Chronicle.

Beginning at the Foundation.

The progressive people of the parish were anxious to reconstruct and adorn the ancient church, and the dea- con warden wrote to the bishop about it. "There are but two things to be done in St. Gregory's," wrote the bishop in reply. "Let the sexton keep it clean and the parson keep it full."—Youth's Companion.

BLINDING A SHARK.

A Pearl Diver's Russ by Which He Made Good His Escape.

A successful diver must possess great courage and nerves of steel. Such a man connected with a large wrecking company was visiting some years ago the pearl fisheries in the gulf of California, where sharks abounded. On one of his trips in quest of the pearl oyster he had a narrow escape from a fearful death.

He had been instructed never to stir from the bottom until he had looked up and around. Fortunately he heeded the advice. Having filled his bag, he glanced quickly about and caught sight of a huge shovel nosed shark watch- ing him.

In an emergency men think fast. Near the diver was a large rock. He moved quickly to the other side of it, hoping to dodge the ferocious monster, but the maneuver did not work. The shark watched every movement, chang- ing his position by a slight motion of his powerful tail.

Time was precious, and the diver conceived the idea of blinding the shark by stirring up the mud. Under cover of that he might escape. He worked for dear life and had the wa- ter thick with mud in less than half a minute.

Slipping around the rock again, he rose to the surface, having barely strength enough to reach the side of the boat, and was hauled on board just as the voracious man eater made a rush for him.

Birds' Eggs Too Much For Science.

It is not often that science acknowl- edges herself at fault in an apparently simple matter, but she frankly does so in regard to the color and marking of a large proportion of birds' eggs. A reason there must be for their in- finite diversity; it cannot be an aes- thetic one, and all we can say with any confidence is that the ever per- vading instinct of distrust is probably exhibited in eggshells as in more im- portant things, and the main idea in their scheme of coloration has been the securing of safety from many ene- mies by harmonizing them with their surroundings. But it is a scheme full of perplexing exceptions, which any one can study for himself.—Pall Mall Gazette.

MY DOCTOR MIGHTY FINE

Mrs. Hattie Cain of Carrsville
Thinks all the More of Her
Doctor Since He Advised
Her to Take Cardui.

Carrsville, Ky.—"My doctor," writes Mrs. Hattie Cain, "who advised me to take Cardui, for my troubles, is a mighty fine doctor, and I say God bless Cardui and the people who make it.

"Before I took Cardui, I suffered with female troubles for sixteen years. I would have to send for a doctor every three months, and oh! how dreadfully I suffered!

"I would cramp and have convulsions and it looked like I would die. At last I took Cardui and oh! what a surprise! I found it was the medicine for me!

"From the first bottle, I began to mend and now I am well, can do more work, can walk and go where I please and it don't hurt me, and I owe it all to Cardui."

Cardui helps sick women back to health. It has been doing this for over 50 years. It is not a laxative, or a heart or kidney medicine—it is a woman's medicine.

If you are a woman, try it.

COATED WITH FOX FIRE.

Owls That Show a Phosphorescent Glow in the Dark.

We are told by some students there is a species of owl that has a phosphorescent glow in the dark and that it is a rare bird.

There may be such a bird, but a careful investigation on the part of a number of persons who have made such things a careful study has revealed the fact that certain owls and even bats and other creatures that are known to roost in old hollow trees that are in a certain stage of decay, producing that peculiar phosphorescent condition so often witnessed, and coming in contact with the matter that makes the glow, the feathers or outer coating of the creatures become saturated with the luminous matter and on damp nights give forth a brilliant glow, such as is often seen on old stumps, decaying logs and in some localities on ledges of limestone that protrude from the hillside.

On a number of occasions the writer has known persons to be badly frightened by coming suddenly upon a mass of what is known to many as fox fire. It is more frequently seen during the summer months, during or shortly after a shower. The brilliancy of the glow will depend much on the location, the temperature, and sometimes much is due to the person's imagination.

This same glow is often seen on small animals and a number of insects. The glowworms are quite common in various sections of the world, and in some localities insects have a brilliant glow coming from beneath their wings. The fireflies or lightning bugs are the most common in the United States.

In some countries certain vegetable growths are known to give forth such a glow, and it has been hinted that some of the crops harvested and stored in barns have the same properties and under certain conditions produce not only the glow, but actual flame, resulting in what is known as spontaneous combustion, destroying the barns and contents.—Chicago Record-Herald.

A Welsh Legend.

In Wales there is a legend of Irish smugglers who arrived at Llandona many years ago in a boat without rudder or oars. They were looked upon, according to the Irish custom of sending malefactors to a sea doom in this plight, as outlaws. However, they had been allowed to land, and a spring of water bursting forth in the sand at the place was taken as a sign of their right to a refuge. But they ill repaid the Welsh. The mermaid lived by smuggling, the women by witchcraft. It was not possible to overcome the smugglers in a fray, for each carried about with him a black fly tied in a knot of his kerchief, and the moment the knot was undone the fly flew at the eyes of the opponents and blinded them. If the Llandona witches attended a market and bid for anything not one ventured to bid against them.

A Love Story.

A teacher offered to her class a prize for the best short love story. Here is one of the results: "A poor man fell in love with a lady whose mother was a rich toy dealer. The poor man could not marry the rich lady because he had no money. A villain then offered him £10 if he would become a drunkard. The poor man needed the money to get married with, so he agreed, but when he got to the beer saloon he said, 'No, I will not become a drunkard, even for great riches. On the way home he found a bag of gold. So the young lady married him. It was a splendid wedding. Moral—Virtue is its own reward.'—London Mail.

Two Standards.

One of the strangest illustrations of the ups and downs of fortune comes from Paris. A rich Parisian banker became reduced through unlucky investments to the sum of 10,000 francs. That amount was poverty to him, and, overwhelmed by his loss and the hopelessness of the situation, he committed suicide. The 10,000 francs then fell to his brother, who had been for years a pauper, estranged from his family. But to him such a sum represented incredible riches, and his reason was overthrown. In a moment of delirium he jumped into the Seine and was drowned.

Windmills.

Holland is known to all the world as the land of windmills, but very few people know that the windmill did not belong to Europe in the first place, but originated among the Saracens. There is, it is believed, no instance of a windmill being used in Europe until the time of the crusades. In a typical wind driven flour mill in Asia Minor the planes of the wind wheel are made of a fabric and catch the wind as do the staysails of a sailing ship.

HOW WORDS CHANGE.

A Knave Was Once a Lad and a Villain Only a Peasant.

In the New York panic of 1857 a Frenchman declared that he should lose all his "propriety." It sounds like something to laugh at. Nevertheless "property" and "propriety" have the same French derivation. Words have a knack of shifting not only from their sources, but also out of their own original meanings.

We accept an anecdote as a short diverting story. Etymologically it means something as yet unpublished.

To prevent, which is now to hinder, meant in its Latin original to anticipate.

A girl was anciently a young person of either sex.

Mountebank was the term applied of old to the patent medicine vender who mounted a bench to proclaim his wares. It is from the Italian.

Paradise in oriental tongues meant only a royal ark.

Astonished means literally thunderstruck, coming from "attonare."

A knave was once merely a lad and a villain only a peasant.

To be silly was in its ancient sense to be blessed.

To be officious was to be courteously ready to do kindly office.

If a man was facetious, in the early English, he was but urbane.

An idiot was a private citizen as distinguished from an officeholder.

Frontispiece, if considered from its Latin source, is not a picture in the front of a book, but the front view of something. The Latin word is frontispicium.

Beldam is not an abusive term in its French source, but means a fair lady.

Shamefaced comes from a good Anglo-Saxon term which means not one exhibiting shame, but one protected by shame, being therefore innocent and modest.—New York World.

The Flower Harvests of Grasse.

When Catherine de' Medici sent her skilled physician Patis to Grasse with orders that he was to found a laboratory for the distilling of the perfumes of flowers she could not have chosen a better situation. Grasse and the hamlets that surround it are a paradise for growing flowers, so sunny are they and so well protected from the mistral. Tier upon tier of terraced beds are cut out upon the mountain side. Countless patches of gardens lie in the plains below. They are always full of flowers more or less in bloom. Jasmine, tuberoses, roses, mimosa, jonquils, hyacinths, carnations, orange flowers and many other things are grown in masses not for ornament or pleasure, but solely for their scent. The first harvest of the year is that of violets. Then follow hyacinths and jonquils, roses and orange blossoms, pinks, carnations and mignonette, jasmine and, lastly, cassia and tuberoses.—Wide World Magazine.

Had to Give It Up.

"When can you spare the time for our marriage, Marion?" the betrothed man asked. The woman consulted her engagement book. "Three o'clock next Friday afternoon," she replied.

"Oh, that will be out of the question!" he cried protestingly. "There's a special meeting of the Glitter Gold company that I must attend at that time."

"Well, it's the only time I have," she told him, with an air of easy resignation. "Every other hour for the next two years is filled up."

The man jerked his shoulders irritably. "I guess we'll have to call our little matter off, then," he said. "It seems to be inevitable," she agreed indifferently.

And so they parted.—Chicago

By Wire to The Reflector.

Chicago, Aug. 16.—Entire grain list sold lower. The markets were under pressure. Provisions were better with hogs.

New York, Aug. 16.—Old crops showed an advance of from two to five points today. New positions 3 to 5 points lower. Trading quiet. Opening: August 13.55; September 14.21; October 13.47; November 13.40; January 13.35.

New York, Aug. 16.—With very little change from the closing prices the stock market opened quiet, with little or no trading in first half hour. A strong feature of the opening was consolidated gas which showed a small advance. Amalgamated copper displayed considerable strength while smelting was dull. Pennsylvania, Union Pacific, Southern Pacific and Missouri showed declines.

HIS ONLY TROUBLE.

The Inquisitive Man Persisted and Finally Learned the Secret.

A small, quiet, but sorrowful if not disgusted looking man sat by the side of a medium sized automobile that was drawn out of the road as a large touring car came along, driven by a man with an interrogatory aspect. The man in the touring car had seen that auto every time he passed that day, so he slowed up and leaned over.

"How long have you been here?"

"Several hours."

"Can't you find out what the matter is?"

"No."

"Inlet valve all right?"

"Yes."

"Trouble with spark plug?"

"Think not."

"How are your batteries?"

"O. K."

"Haven't got a short circuit, have you?"

"Oh, no!"

"How's your commutator?"

"Great."

"Perhaps your worm gear is clogged?"

"No; all clear."

"Got any gasoline in your tank?"

"Plenty."

"How about your circulation? Cylinder isn't bound, is it?"

"No, sir."

"Tires seem all right?"

"Never better."

"Well, maybe your vibrator isn't adjusted."

"That's all right."

"Have you looked at your carburetor?"

"Yes."

"How about the cam shaft?"

"Grand."

"Have you tightened your connecting rods, examined your clutches and gone over the differentials?"

"Yes, yes!"

The man in the touring car paused a moment and then, looking at the stranger by the roadside, said at last, "What's the matter with that machine of yours?"

"There isn't anything the matter with this machine, but since noon my wife has been in that house over there kissing her sister's first baby goodby. When she gets through, if you are not more than a thousand miles away and will leave your address, I will telegraph or cable you the glad news."—New York Press.

Some One Ought to Pay For It. "This show cost the producer $30,000." "I am glad of it."—Louisville Courier-Journal.
