PERMENTER ARRAIGNED.

Mob Failed in Attempt to Lynch Him.

By Wire to The Reflector.
Louisville, Miss., Sept. 22.—With the court house surrounded by heavily armed guards, and muttered threats of lynching heard on every side, Swinton Permenter, son of a white planter, was brought from the secret jail in which he has been confined and arraigned today in an hour, charged with brutally attempting and murdering Miss Janie Sharp, a pretty 18-year-old white girl. The mob made several attempts to secure the prisoner, but were driven back. Threats were made that the trial would never be concluded and new deputies have been sworn in to prevent Permenter from being lynched.

BRIBERY INVESTIGATION.

Looking Into the Election of Senator Lorimer.

By Wire to The Reflector.
Chicago, Sept. 22.—The first public hearing in the investigation of Senator Lorimer by the sub-committee of the committee on elections and privileges of the senate started at Congress hotel today. Senator Lorimer, the prosecutor Levy, Mayor and Clifford Barnes were among the most prominent of those who took part. Barnes will be called to the stand to tell what he knows of the alleged bribery of State legislators to vote for Lorimer. No subpoenas have been issued for today's session and no witnesses will be heard. Many politicians of both parties were at the hearing.

KENTUCKY CODE DISRESPECTED.

Man Shot Down While Carrying Child in His Arms.

By Wire to The Reflector.
Albany, Ky., Sept. 22.—The unwritten code of Kentucky mountaineers was broken when "Doc" Mules, carrying a baby in his arms, was shot through the heart by a sharpshooting mountain assassin. It has always been a part of chivalry among mountaineers not to fire on a man when a woman or child might be wounded. Mules had given evidence against moonshiners, and was on his way to court to testify against them. He knew his life was in danger, so he took the child along for protection, but for once the code was not respected.

BURNED IN BUILDING.

Woman Jumps and Her Back is Broken.

By Wire to The Reflector.
Greenwich, Conn., Sept. 22.—One man is dead and a woman dying as a result of fire which destroyed a boarding house here. The dead man is Joseph Christopher Porter, and he is supposed to have started the fire while intoxicated. Sarah Stewart, a cook, weighing 200 pounds, jumped from the second story window and her back was broken.

Mrs. Burruss Dead.

Mrs. Ann Burruss died about 1.30 Wednesday morning at the home of her son, Mr. William McArthur, in Beaver Dam township, and was buried Wednesday evening at the family burying ground.

Mrs. Burruss was twice married. Her first husband, Mr. William McArthur died many years ago and she later married Mr. Isaac Burruss, who died some years ago. She was 75 years old and leaves children by both marriages.

Eight Killed in Michigan.

By Wire to The Reflector.
Siganaw, Mich., Sept. 22.—Eight persons were killed in a wreck on the Michigan Central at St. Charles, according to reports received here today.

Storm Kills Seven.

By Wire to The Reflector.
Eastonville, Cal., Sept. 22.—Seven persons are reported to have been killed during a terrific electric storm that swept over part of this state yesterday.

Get the best of a man if you would see his worst side.

RULES FOR MEASURING CORN.

Information for Boys Who Are in the Corn Contest.

West Raleigh, N. C., Sept. 22, 1910. To all Members of the Boy's Corn Club:
Some of you will begin to harvest soon and several have written me asking how to measure your corn. In order to make it perfectly fair for each one in the contest, we want everyone to use the same method in measuring his corn. Therefore, the following rules must be used as far as possible:

1. Ask your County Superintendent or the one in charge of the work, in your county, to appoint two persons to help you measure your acre and your corn. These two persons must not be related to you. These two should certify to the correctness of your report.

2. The acre should measure 4900 square yards. The measurement should begin at least 18 inches from a row and not just outside the line of stalks. Use a tape line or a measured stick and do not guess at the acre by stepping it off.

3. Measure the shucked ears of corn in a box or barrel, holding not less than three bushels. Use care in getting in as nearly as possible the same amount of corn in each measure. Record the total number of boxes or barrels on the entire acre.

4. Shell the ears from one box or barrel and weigh the shelled corn. Multiply the weight of this shelled corn by the total number of boxes and divide this total weight by 56, which should give the bushels per acre.

If you have no scales at home carry the shelled corn to some store and weigh.

In the case the County Superintendent does not appoint a committee to help you, get two of your neighbors to help you and have them certify to your report.

If you do not understand the rules, please let me know, and I shall try to explain them to you.

Yours very truly,

I. O. SCHAUB,
Special agent in Extension.

NO FAMILY SUICIDE IN THIS.

A Family Group in Which are Fifty-Four Persons.

Mr. H. L. Coward has a picture of which he is very proud, and takes pleasure in showing it to his friends. It is a family group of Mr. Benjamin Carroway, of Greene county, and the picture was taken at a recent family re-union at his home.

Mr. Carroway is 64 years of age and his wife 60, both of them being well preserved. They have ten children eight of whom are married and have families of their own. On the occasion of the family re-union these married children, with their respective husbands and wives were present, as were also the grand children with the exception of two. The total number of persons in the group was 54, all being of three generations—parents, children and grand children—there being as yet no great grand children in the family.

It is a remarkable picture, and looked almost like it might represent a school gathering.

Houses on Wheels.

There are now at the A. C. L. depot several small houses intact, loaded on box cars for shipment. They are a part of the Beaufort County Lumber Company's plant that is being moved from Shelmerdine to Fairmont, Robeson county. The houses are the small ones used for timber hands and are being moved without being torn down. After unloading at their destination, they will be ready for occupation.

Farmers Need Water.

Greenville may be dry and it may sometimes be somewhat damp, but farmers on the warehouse floors looking after their tobacco sales, would be thankful if water, just pure water, could be had a little more freely.

Nice Quarters for Bank.

The Patrick corner on Five Points, under Hotel Bertha, that is being fitted up for the National Bank of Greenville, will soon be ready for the bank to move in. The remodeling of the building has made it an attractive corner.

AYDEN CORRESPONDENCE.

Newsy Items About the Town and Its People—Progressive Community.

Ayden, N. C., Sept. 22, 1910. Mr. Davenport, a half witted man, who lived in Gum Swamp section, died at the home of A. B. Garis last Tuesday.

Mr. George Blount and children, of Marlboro, are visiting at Hotel Blount.

Mr. Tull West, of Falling Creek, has accepted a position with J. J. Edwards & Son as clothing salesman. We are glad to have him back.

Remember our 5 and 10 cents tables—J. R. Cmth Company.

Heber A. Hart & Company, Maple Cypress, Craven county, are headquarters for low prices in dry goods, groceries and farm supplies. We pay 15 cents per pound for chickens and 22 1-2 cents per dozen for eggs. All other country produce bought or taken in exchange for goods at the very highest prices.

School books, tablets and lunch boxes at J. R. Smith Company's.

Notice—To the trade: You are invited to attend our millinery opening Thursday and Friday, September 29th and 30th. A complete stock to select from.—Mrs. N. M. Forrest.

Mr. J. T. Keel, our chief of police and constable-elect was stricken with paralysis some time last Thursday night. Friday morning he failed to come out to his breakfast and about nine o'clock Mr. W. J. Hemby, with whom he boarded, forced an entrance into his room and found him speechless, helpless and unconscious. At this writing he has not shown much signs of improvement.

While coming up the steps at her daughter's, Mrs. Dr. Dixon, Mrs. Annie Coward suffered a stroke of paralysis which has settled in her right side. At this writing she seems to be improving. The entire community hope both Mrs. Coward and Mr. Keel may soon be restored to their families and loved ones.

Mr. Simeon Rouse, while returning from the Ayden tobacco market to his home in Greene county Wednesday evening was thrown from his cart by his mule dodging from a worthless barking dog, striking his head and breaking his neck, which caused death immediately. The sad accident occurred near Mr. Ralph Dixon's. The deceased leaves a wife and ten children. Mr. Rouse was about 50 years old.

Mr. A. D. Williams, while operating a planing machine yesterday had his foot caught by the moving machinery, which badly mangled his toes.

Rev. Mr. Butler, who came here with his family a few weeks ago, moved to Kinston last week.

The graded school opened last Monday morning in all its effulgence, with Professor Koonce superintendent. Miss Lena Dawson teaches grade 1; Miss Margaret Gaddy, 2nd; Miss Lucy Hodges, 3rd; Miss Powell, 4th; Miss Maybelle Richmond, 5th; Miss Moore, 6th and 7th; Prof. Koonce, 8th and 9th.

Mr. John Forlines, a promising young man, has a position at the electric light plant.

Mr. Frank Joyner, of Fort Barnwell has a clerkship with Messrs. J. J. Hines & Company.

Mr. J. W. Moore is still on the sick list.

Cotton and tobacco are man's remedy for the blues.

School at the Seminary is so far, the best in the history of its existence. We predict a bright future for this school under the leadership of Prof. J. E. Sawyer and his able corps of assistants. The campus is now being beautified and will add much to the attractiveness of the school.

We learn that Mr. Alonzo Denton has sold his beautiful home in Greene county for $10,000.00, and expects to move his family to Virginia. Mr. Denton is a noted farmer, having a herd of fine cows and a drove of thoroughbred Berkshire hogs, and recently sold three of them for $96, also a drove of thoroughbred chickens, geese, ducks and pigeons. We wish him much success in the Old Dominion state.

Bring on your cotton, we gin it for the 20th and give you the bagging and ties, and pay you the top notch for seed.—J. R. Smith Company.

Miss Olivia Berry is visiting in Scotland Neck.

Rev. C. B. Mashburn, of A. C. college, Wilson delivered two soul stirring sermons Sunday morning and night here in the Christian church. His subjects were "The Union of Gods

IN MEMORIAM.

Tribute to the Late Mrs. T. C. Bryan by Her Pastor.

Mrs. Alice Anna Bryan, nee Moore, was born Marth 16th, 1862, and died in Goldsboro, N. C., September 13, 1910. She was converted and became a member of the M. E. church, South, when about eleven years of age, and died in the same communion, after having lived an earnest, faithful and helpful Christian life as a daughter, sister, wife and mother. Under many difficulties incident to life in this world, she "did what she could" for all her family circle. She prayed and wrought with head and hand while she had strength, and then in a sweet and quiet resignation committed all to her God and fell on sleep.

She was married twice, first to Sylvester Proctor, on May 16, 1877. Of this union four children were born, viz: Mrs. Clara F. Tucker, of Greenville, N. C.; Mrs. Agnes C. Mason, of Atlanta, Ga.; Mrs. Ella Galloway, of Greenville, N. C.; and John K. Proctor, of Newport News, Va.

Her second marriage was with Thaddeus C. Bryan, January 27, 1886, who survives her. Of this union seven children were born, viz: Mrs. Carrie Elston, deceased; Mrs. Margaret Groves, of Norfolk; William T. Bryan, Fort Terry, N. Y.; Lester Bryan, deceased; Misses Lella, Thelma and Della, of Goldsboro. She leaves also three brothers, a sister and an aged mother.

The prayer of my heart is that all these may so live as to enjoy heaven's eternal family re-union.

D. H. TUTTLE.

CONFERENCE ON MISSIONS.

Meets in Williamston Baptist Church, September 27-29.

The Woman's Missionary Union in conjunction with a conference of mission methods, embracing Tar river, Flat river, Chowan, West Chocoma and Roanoke associations, meets with the Williamston Baptist church September 27th and 29th.

This conference will be conducted by the foremost mission workers of the State. It is earnestly requested that every missionary society send a delegate. Please notify at once Mrs. J. D. Biggs, Williamston, the entertainment may be provided.

Mrs. Gertrude Bland, who went north a few weeks ago, was taken violently sick and we learn she is now able to buy her millinery goods, and will soon return to Ayden Miss Florence Blount is with her in Baltimore.

Read Mrs. W. M. Forrest's notice of opening. Misses Alice Baker, Ella Hart and Clara Forrest, three of our most excellent trimmers, are with her this season, so you can make no mistake.

Mr. John Willis won the Jishes, Mr. B. Worthington won the picture, Mrs. E. T. Phillips won the carving set at J. R. Smith Company's last Thursday. The clock stood at 9:27-27.

The local of E. Turnage & Sons surely is doing the work. They are selling all grades of mowing machines rake and hay presses.

Mr. Heber Mumford and wife have returned from Morehead, where they had been recuperating. Mr. Mumford brought with him a flying fish about 9 inches long, and below his gills on each side was a wing nearly three inches long. He told us the sport was fine; fish bit well, even more than the hook would accommodate; that the loop in his line gilled several, they were so numerous.

Mr. O. Willoughby, of near Tripp's chapel spent Wednesday visiting his aunt, Mrs. J. A. Griffin.

Rev. J. B. Bridgers, assisted by his son, Rev. Luther Bridgers, will begin a series of meeting at the M. E. church here next Sunday.

Notice to Odd Fellows—There will be work in the initiatory degree next Monday night. Come. R. W. Smith, noble grand.

Mr. Elias Hazzleton and wife, of Hugo, came in Tuesday to visit their sister Mrs. Annie Coward.

Mr. Dock Skinner who lives two miles from here suffered a slight attack of paralysis Saturday which settled in one side of his face. He is not serious.

The People Who Come and go on Our Trains.

Mr. Frank Wilson left for Baltimore today.

Mrs. G. E. Harris went to Whitakers this afternoon.

Mr. R. J. Cobb went to Rocky Mount today.

Mr. O. L. Joyner went to Robersonville today.

A Winter Cover Crop.

The farmer who does not try to get all he can out of his land annually and yet leave it in condition to yield more the following season has mistaken his vocation.

One way to do this is to plant cow peas in the corn at the time of the last cultivation; harvest the corn in September and pasture the cow peas in October. Early in November deep break and plant rye, using about one bushel per acre. Our reasons for preferring rye are the following:

1. It is hardy. It will germinate and make a stand when other grains fail. Oats and barley will winter kill when rye will remain practically uninjured by frost. It stands tramping and grazing better than other grains.

It is kind to poor soils is an important factor on most lands.

Where hairy vetch will succeed, the addition of a peck of vetch seed to a bushel of rye is an improvement.

Where there is no boll weevil infestation, rye or rye and vetch may be planted between the rows of cotton in October, and not later than the first of November. It is better to use a narrow drill in planting, but where farmers do not have this the seed may be sown by hand and cultivated or harrowed in.

On lands adapted to it, crimson clover sown in the corn at the last working has given excellent results. About 15 pounds to the acre is generally used and by the first of the following April it furnishes a cutting of 1 1-2 to 2 1-2 tons of cured hay or, turned under, adds a great body of manure to the soil. The territory in which the crimson clover thrives best appears to be from the latitude of the northern portion of the Gulf States to the latitude of the Ohio river.

Oats or barley do well some winters when they succeed they furnish a large amount of winter grazing and considerable humus for plowing under in the spring.

NORTH CAROLINA NEWS.

Gathered From Our Exchanges Today of Events Just Happened.

Col. Mark Austin, the sage of Gourdville, in New Salem, was in town Friday and when talking about the crops, as everybody does these days, gave a little mixed report. "As to corn," said the colonel, "one of my neighbors has ears of corn that the as big as a man's thigh, and look like they will shell half a peck. But as to peas, we can't brag any. Another neighbor of mine says his folks picked three messes of green ones and used up his whole crop."—Monroe Journal.

Mr. A. D. Williams happened to a serious calamity at the mill of Lorenzo McLamborn at Renston, near here, Monday morning. It seems that he was standing on the planning machine and in some way his foot was carried into the machine and one of his great toes mashed to pieces. Fortunately, in some way the machine was stopped at once, and the foot extricated. The doctor was sent for and his wound dressed. Mr. Williams has had several mishaps for the last few years and being a man of a family it seems severe. Our compassion is extended to him and family. Ayden Baptist.

Booker T. Washington, principal of Tuskegee Institute, beginning October 23rd and ending November 3rd, will make an educational pilgrimage through the State of North Carolina and in the same way he has at various times made tours of other Southern states. The trip is undertaken under the guidance and direction of the State Negro Business League of North Carolina.

Don't Fear a Rush.

It makes us feel good when subscribers come in to settle for The Reflector as they are doing fairly promptly these days. We hope every one to whom statements have been sent will do likewise. Don't be afraid of crowding us, or that you will exhaust our supply of receipts.

Dr. Hyatt Coming.

Dr. H. O. Hyatt will be in Greenville at Hotel Bertha, October 3rd, and 4th, Monday and Tuesday, for the purpose of treating diseases of the eye and fitting glasses.

TIME TO CALL A HALT.

There is a condition in Greenville that needs some plain talking about, and the plainer the talk the better. The reputation the town is getting these days is by no means creditable. Reports may be overdrawn, but "where there is so much smoke there is apt to be some fire." It is an undisputed fact that liquor is being sold in Greenville, and if any effort is being made to stop it, the results in that direction are not worth mentioning. This may hit somebody, if so we can't help it, as the thing needs to be talked about plainly. The condition exists because it is allowed to exist. The Reflector spoke its opinion in regard to the use of liquor in the recent primary, and it is going to speak its opinion in regard to this open and flagrant violation of the law.

Some years ago the people of Greenville prayed, worked and voted—and some actually fought—to close the barrooms here and substitute a dispensary therefor, the latter being regarded as the lesser of the two evils. This action at the time was considered a step toward prohibition, that being the ultimate aim of those who took a stand against the barrooms. A few years later under a State wide movement, the question of prohibition was submitted to a vote of the people, and it carried overwhelmingly. This was very clear that a large majority of the people of the State wanted prohibition, and as a result of that election every barroom and dispensary in the State had to close.

Through some misjudgment on the part of the legislature a gap was allowed to slip in the prohibition law that permitted the sale of what is called near-beer, and where a municipality has a governing board without sufficient backbone to stand up for the prohibition law, licenses are granted for the sale of this stuff. And under this license there are in Greenville today perhaps more saloons than there were formerly barrooms. There is not a bigger farce than near-beer, and the places open for the sale of it are selling the real article. And there is plenty of rumor that other liquors are sold at these places.

The people who wanted prohibition and voted for prohibition are getting tired of the lax administration of the law that permits a business of this kind to be carried on. Among the first acts of the next legislature should be one to close every place of this kind in the State.

If it becomes generally known that the Sultan of Sulu supports fourteen wives on $125 a month he will be given a great reception when he reaches the country.—Cleveland Leader.

Yes, there will be plenty of them who are anxious to learn how it is done, for they find it hard to support one wife on that amount. It reminds us of a story about a tramp printer who went to a country print shop to work on the sympathy of the force for a square meal. He was met at the door by the office devil, and informed that personage that he was hungry, having gone six days without a bite of food. The astonished devil hurried in to the presence of the editor exclaiming, "Boss, there's a hungry fellow at the door who says he has not had a bite to eat in six days." "Bring him right in, commanded the editor. "If he can learn us the trick we can keep the paper going another week."

Hoke Smith may be hailed as the common people's candidate, but if he didn't have to spend over seven thousand dollars to land the Wilmington Dispatch.

That is usually the way with "common people's candidates." They pull is pocket coming and going, and he is a lucky man if he is not busted before getting through a campaign. It is a common trick, too, to bleed candidates so heavily.

A Georgia man shooting his physician dead because the latter failed to cure him, and then trying to kill himself, is a new kind of treatment. It would not do for that kind of practice to become general on doctors who failed to make cures.

The Charlotte folks are up a-guessing over a new specimen of fruit which no one seems able to name. The Chronicle calls it a ni-apple-pear.

The advance census news that large gains in population were made in the South, is giving comfort to some of the largest North Carolina boosters.

The Republicans of the fourth district have endorsed RAP Cooley for congress, and he is happy, even if it is a worthless endorsement.

Sometimes a man thinks he is on to his job when he is not. No one man knows it all.

Relations between Bill and Teddy are getting strained.

Motor Cycles for Carriers.

In a very unobtrusive way the rural letter carriers of North Carolina constitute one of the most important agencies now at work in the upbuilding of the Commonwealth. In the days of the old star routes the diffusion of mail matter was associated in the public mind with dilapidated-looking buggies and rather scawny horseflesh, but these conditions have passed forever. The Newton News calls attention to a Catawba county carrier who covers his route on a motorcycle, weather and roads permitting, which inspires The Greenville Reflector to record that one of Pitt carriers has employed such a vehicle for a number of years, while another actually makes his rounds by aid of an automobile.

All of which goes to show that the North Carolina rural letter carrier has measurably come into his own in the case of these individuals at least. The rural fee delivery system rivals the rural telephone in the benefit it has proved as far as the country people are concerned, and the carriers cannot possibly become more efficient without a corresponding benefit falling to the share of their patrons. The influence which the mail men exert, indirectly, as it were, in the direction of universal good roads is by itself more than a sufficient justification of their activities, and we believe that if more of them experiment with motorcycles this wholesome influence would necessarily be considerably enhanced.—Charlotte Observer.

That self-government plank in their platform is assuming something of a Jonah portion for the Republicans. One side twists it one way and the other side distorts it into another shape. There is a hidden bid for the vote of the "morally stunted," though how that will be consistent with the views expressed by some Republican leaders and office seekers down this way is hard to figure out. Still that is, perhaps, but idea, but now comes this brief, but somewhat sharp and decidedly definite editorial from the Randolph Bulletin (Republican):

"The attempt of the Democrats to thrust the liquor question into the campaign is mean and cowardly. We have prohibition in the State and the Republicans don't want to change it and the Democrats dare not change it, so there it will stay."—Wilmington Dispatch.

One nice thing about being rich is that people will listen when you want to talk.

CATARRH GERMS.

Move Out When Hyomei Moves In. No stomach dosing. HYOMEI (pronounce it High-o-me) is made from the highest grade of eucalyptus, taken from the eucalyptus forest of Australia, and combined with the excellent antiseptics employed in the Listerian system.

In inland Australia the atmosphere is so impregnated with balsam thrown out by the eucalyptus trees that germs cannot live, and in consequence catarrh and consumption are unknown. Breathe HYOMEI and get the very same pleasant, healing, germ-killing, air as you would get in the eucalyptus forests and kill the germs. HYOMEI is sold by Coward & Wooten and druggists everywhere, at $1.00 a complete outfit. An outfit consists of a bottle of HYOMEI, a hard rubber pocket inhaler and simple instructions for use. The inhaler will last a lifetime, but bear in mind if you need another bottle of HYOMEI you can get it at druggists for only 50c at any time. Guaranteed to cure catarrh, croup and throat troubles, or money back. Trial sample of Hyomei free to readers of The Reflector. Address Booth's Hyomei Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

If you cannot sometimes forget to count yourself you will never be worth counting.

"BACK TO THE FARM"

VII.—How Some Men Have Succeeded on the Farm.

By C. V. GREGORY.

[Copyright, 1910, by American Press Association.]

THERE are many millionaire farmers, but most of them have made their millions elsewhere and are spending them on rural estates merely to gratify a fancy. There are a number of men, however, who have made millions on the farm. It is not such an easy thing to do, but the success of these men shows some of the possibilities that the farm holds for the man who desires to make money in large amounts. Probably the most notable of the men who have made fortunes on the farm is David Rankin. When David Rankin was married he banded the preacher his last five dollar bill with the remark that now he could start square with the world. He bought land on time and borrowed money to buy cattle. His first purchases were in Illinois. Later he removed to Missouri, attracted by the cheap prairie land that needed only a little drainage to make it yield abundantly. Today David Rankin owns nearly 26,000 acres of this same Missouri land, and it would all sell for $100 an acre. Add to this his cattle and horses and machinery and a few incidentals, such as bank stock and the like, and he has a fortune approximating $4,000,000. This has all been made in farming. Corn has been his specialty, and it has always been marketed in the form of cattle. He has always used the most modern machinery and the best equipment that money can buy. It has been the same with help. His foremen are men who can get results. He furnishes them with automobiles to take them from farm to farm because he has found that it pays in the time saved. He attributes his success to close personal attention and the application of business methods to farming. Another man who has made millions in farming is Colonel James M. Smith of Georgia. Colonel Smith started raising corn and cotton on a rundown quarter section in Oglethorpe county soon after the war. The first year he lost $400. Last year his net profits were $100,000. In the meantime his farm has increased to 23,000 acres. Colonel Smith was one of the first men to build cottonseed oil mills and make a profit from what formerly had been a waste product. His farm was twenty-five miles from the nearest railroad, but he solved the problem by building a railroad of his own. He has always been a personal friend of all his men, white and black alike. He has provided well equipped schools for both the negro and the white children of his employees. Unlike David Rankin, who never had even a common school education, Colonel Smith is a college graduate. He learned to handle men in the army, and he applied the same organization to his farm work with great results.

Colonel Smith's success has demonstrated what can be done on the farm land of the south. One of his 200 acre farms a year ago yielded 4,800 bushels of wheat and 200 bales of cotton. The wheat sold for $1 a bushel and the cotton for $50 a bale, making a total income from the farm of $14,800. After taking out the expenses there was a net profit of $51 an acre. This might well make even a Mississippi valley farmer envious.

The west has been heralded as the land of opportunity. In the early days, when land could be had almost for the asking and the cattle business was at its best, a young man of the name of Henry Miller started out to make a fortune in the ranch business. Today he is worth $20,000,000. He once announced that he hoped some day to own the whole state of California. In this he did not succeed, although his holdings in California amount to 600,000 acres. He also has large tracts of land in Nevada and Oregon.

The ranch business is on the decline in the west, and what was once one man's cattle ranch is now being cut up to make farms for the hundreds of thousands of land hungry settlers who are pouring into what is still "the land of opportunity." About twenty years ago an Iowa farmer sold a half section of land, paid his debts, and, with seven or eight thousand dollars in cash, a wife and four children, started for Arizona. He located in the Salt River valley, bought as much of the cheap land as his money would pay for, and set out to learn irrigation farming. He learned it well and made money. The surplus went to buy more land. He joined the Water Users' association and was influential in getting congress to start the Salt River irrigation project. Government irrigation insured permanent prosperity for the Salt River valley, and today this pioneer farmer who set out to make a fortune in "the great American desert" is worth more than $200,000.

Success in the irrigated districts is not necessarily measured in extensive farms and large bank accounts. A few years ago a locomotive engineer, sixty years old and broken in health, moved from Minneapolis to the state of Washington. He bought an acre of irrigated land, paying $1,400 for it. It contained an apple orchard in poor condition, a house and a few dilapidated outbuildings. The purchase of the land took nearly all the old engineer's savings. He pruned the old apple trees and set out thirty new ones. He sold off a few mongrel chickens that were on the place and bought a pure bred rooster, and three hens. After the first year's expenses were paid he had enough money left to put on many improvements. The next year he put money in the bank, and the year after. So well did the acre produce that at the Lewis and Clark exposition at Portland in 1905 it was awarded the prize for the second most productive and best managed farm in the west.

It is instances like this that really show the possibilities of the farm for the average man. Few men can become great cattle kings, and not many can repeat the success of David Rankin or Colonel Smith. But the success of the old engineer on his one acre of irrigated farm land ought not to be so hard to duplicate.

There are men who say land is so high that there is little chance for the man with small capital to get a start. Notwithstanding this more young men are buying farms every year. A dozen years or so ago a young German who had been working by the day in northern Iowa decided to get married. After the ceremony his chief possessions, in addition to a capable wife, were a horse and buggy and $150 in cash. He rented a farm and bought a grade of German mare. The price he received for his first few colts opened his eyes to the profits of the horse business. He bought some more mares, pure bred this time. He made money from the start and has nearly enough money laid by to buy and pay for the farm he has been working.

Another young farmer in northern Iowa went into the dairy business six or seven years ago. Dairying was rather a new thing in his part of the country then. Most farmers preferred to raise corn, where they could do most of the work by machinery. Much of the land at that time was badly in need of drainage and was better suited to pasture than to corn growing. A few wet seasons reduced the profits of the corn growers almost to the vanishing point. The young fellow who had put his faith in dairy cows jingled milk pails and put money in the bank. After a few years of milking he bought the farm he was working and paid half cash. The mortgage cannot last long in the face of a prospering dairy business.

The average farmer of the middle west doesn't like to think of farming anything less than a quarter section. An eighty or a forty he considers rather "small business." Nevertheless there are many advantages in the smaller farms. The hired help problem is solved, for the owner can do all the work himself. It is much easier for a man with limited capital to buy a small farm, and the cost of stocking and equipping is less.

C. E. Beadle of Nebraska is one of the corn belt farmers who is making a living on forty acres of land. His average net income is $800 a year. He has a very comfortable house. To rent such a house in the city and live as well there as he and his family do on the farm would cost him $1,500 a year. Considered in that light, his little farm is really paying him a salary of $2,300 a year.

In the east the greatest opportunities are in truck farming. Only a few acres are required, and the returns are large. A certain truck farmer in the vicinity of Boston is making a small fortune on ten acres of ground. He has intensive cultivation down to a science. No sooner is one plant taken from the soil than another is ready to take its place. He has part of his truck farm under glass, so that he can grow crops in winter as well as in summer. Last year his net profits were $1,000 per acre.

KEEP THE KIDNEYS WELL.

Health is Worth Saving, and Some Greenville People Know How to Save It.

Many Greenville people take their lives in their hands by neglecting the kidneys when they know these organs need help. Sick kidneys are responsible for a vast amount of suffering and ill health, but there is no need to suffer nor to remain in danger when all diseases and aches and pains due to weak kidneys can be quickly and permanently cured by the use of Doan's Kidney Pills. The following statement leaves no ground for doubt.

Mrs. S. A. Simmons, 504 Heritage St., Kinston, N. C., says: "I found Doan's Kidney Pills to be an effective remedy for kidney trouble and headache. My back pained me for a long time and my kidneys were much disordered. I happened to read about Doan's Kidney Pills, and procuring a box, I began using them. They benefited me in every way and I am now free from backache and am able to rest well; in fact, I feel better in every way. I am glad to give Doan's Kidney Pills my endorsement."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States. Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

The Turkish Doctors Oath.
In Turkey they have a Hippocratic oath, though they do not call it by that name. It is given in Al-Kulliyeh, the magazine published by the Syrian Protestant college in Beirut. To each of the graduates in medicine the oath was administered by the Turkish head of the medical examining board. We cite a few of the pledges:

"That when I am called at the same time by two different patients, the one rich and the other poor, I will accept the call of the poor without taking into consideration the money offered and will do my best for his treatment, and that I will never decline to answer any call, day or night, during the reign of common diseases or of an epidemic or of contagious diseases.

"That I will not ask extra fees from the patients and will not act against my conscience by exaggerating their sickness in order to get the calling fees.

"That in case of a doubt as to the treatment of a patient I will not leave his life in danger through a failure to consult other doctors on account of my pride."

Modern Bookmaking.
A large bindery may have a capacity of 10,000 books a day. The resources of some of these binderies are wonderful. There is an instance on record where a publishing house took an order on Monday for a cloth covered 12mo. volume of 350 pages and actually shipped 2,000 copies of the book on the following Wednesday. The type was set by machinery for the entire 350 pages before work stopped Monday night. Electrotype plates were made so rapidly that on Tuesday morning several printing presses were set in motion. In the meantime covers were made in the bindery, and by Wednesday morning the binders had the book in hand. Two thousand volumes were completed that day, and the edition of 10,000 was entirely out of the way before Saturday night. In modern bookbinding machinery, as in the production of printing presses, America leads the world.—Philadelphia North American.

Women Prisoners in Japan.
The cells in every Japanese prison are practically sleeping dormitories, as the prisoners are engaged in the work sheds all day or attending lectures and lessons in educational subjects, deportment and morality. The small Japanese woman prisoner is even taught how to serve tea properly, because the Japanese have grasped the fundamental truth that whatever raises a woman's self respect helps to eliminate bad habits—in a word, to reform her. The keen zest of the prisoners in Japan contrasts with the hopeless, hunted look of our women prisoners in England. In Japan the women prisoners are learning, learning, learning all the time. They are given prizes and decorative rewards for excellence. They are being encouraged instead of repressed. Everything is done to instill a real desire for permanent reform.—London Express.

He Was Too Enthusiastic.
Hank Dobbs was noted as an "honored" horse trader. He would not lie about a horse. He would merely suppress the truth. Incidentally he always beat the customer who dealt with him. The way he could slur over the defects and buzz about the virtues of an animal amounted to genius.
Once Hank was trying to sell a neighbor a horse that had an eye which was nearly sightless. The neighbor knew Hank would not lie outright to him, so he questioned the horse trader as to the various points of the brute.
"How about his eyesight? Can he see out of both eyes?"
"Sure," said Hank. "He's got good eyes." Here he leaned forward, his eyes fairly scintillating with suppressed honesty. "One eye is particularly good!"
Hank's enthusiasm for the truth had carried him too far. The deal was off.—Tulsa (Okla.) Post.

Hair Monstrosities.
French theater managers in the eighteenth century had worse evils than picture hats to contend against. Marie Antoinette, who was short, even according to French standards, set the fashion of high coiffures and ultra-fashionable women prided themselves on measuring four feet from their chins to the tops of their heads. These structures took about six hours to erect, the hairdresser mounting a ladder in the process. Some coiffures were almost as broad as they were long, with wings sticking out about eight inches on each side of the head. For the "frigate" coiffure the hair was rippled in a huge pile to represent the waves of an angry sea and surmounted by a fully rigged ship. As a consequence of these monstrosities, disturbances in theaters occurred almost daily until an ordinance was issued against the admission of women with high coiffures to the floor of the house.

Three Curious Bells.
There is a curious legend connected with the bells of Messingham church. It is said that a long, long time ago a traveler was passing through Messingham when he noticed three men sitting on a stile in the churchyard and saying, "Come to church, Thompson; come to church, Brown," and so on. Being very much surprised, he asked what it meant and was told that, having no bells, they called folks to church in this way. The traveler remarked that it was a pity so fine a church should be without bells and at the same time asked the men if they could make three for the church, promising to pay for them himself. They undertook to do this. They were respectively a tinker, a carpenter and a shoemaker. When next the traveler passed that way he found the three men ringing three bells which said, "Ting, tong, pluff," being made respectively of tin, wood and leather!—London Tit-Bits.

Calling on Tennyson.
A young American girl, who with her mother had called at Farringford to see the famous poet Tennyson, but was not received, shortly after expressed her regret to Mrs. Cameron, Tennyson's neighbor, who was also his intimate friend and a lady at once charming and masterful.
"Oh, so he wouldn't see you!" cried Mrs. Cameron indignantly. "Come with me!"
She took the reluctant American straight back to Tennyson's house and, without knocking or ringing, went into the room where he sat with his wife.
"Alfred," said she as the two looked up, startled, "these strangers came from a far country to see the lion of Freshwater, and behold—a bear!"
Tennyson burst out laughing and became amiable at once.

Taking a Chance.
The mistress was giving Harriet the benefit of her advice and counsel touching a momentous step the latter contemplated.
"Of course, Harriet," said the lady of the house, "if you intend to get married that's your own business, but you mustn't forget that marriage is a very serious matter."
"Yes, mum," said Harriet; "yes, mum, I know 'tis sometimes, mum. But, mum, maybe I'll have better luck than you did, mum."—Brooklyn Life.

His Nationality.
The little girl had come home from school and was telling the family about a certain stout man that had lectured to them in the morning. When through her father said:
"What nationality was the man, daughter?"
"Broken English," she replied.—Exchange.

By Wire to The Reflector.
New York, Sept. 22.—Cotton opened today steady with prices ranging from unchanged to five points higher, with the exception of September, which was five points off. Prices were firm and a good class of buying absorbed all cotton offered. Opening: September 12 85 bid; October 13.23; December 13.16; January 13.13; March 13.23.

New York, Sept. 22.—The tone of the stock market at the opening today bid fair to follow in the path of the general advances of yesterday. After the first 15 minutes of trading, however, stocks developed a sudden downward movement, many of the prominent issues showing losses. Heavy profit taking later made appearance and tended to further lower prices. Great northern laid in the advances at the opening, but later lost 1-2 point. Union Pacific declined 1-2 and St. Paul 3-4.

Chicago, Sept. 22.—Wheat was up today 1-2 to 5-8c. Trade in oats was not large and the tone of the market was firmer. There was a bulge of 1-2c in corn. Provisions were easy and there was very little support. Opening: wheat Sept., 97; corn 53 1-2; oats 34 3-4; pork, October, $19.32.

REPUBLICAN CONVENTION
To Nominate Candidates for the Legislature and County Offices.
By direction of the Republican executive committee of Pitt county, notice is hereby given that the Republican voters of the several precincts of Pitt county are directed to assemble at their respective precincts at 3 p. m., Saturday, September 24, 1910, for the purpose of selecting delegates and alternates to the county convention, which, by direction of the executive committee is hereby called to meet in the town hall in Greenville, N. C., on Saturday, October 1st, at 12 m.

Regardless of past party affiliations, all voters of Pitt county who believe in local self government in its broadest conception, and who are opposed to issuing county or township bonds to build public roads, and in favor of lower taxes and a more economical State and county government, are invited to join with us to select candidates for county offices to be voted for at the next election.

Come one and all, and hear the issues discussed and the different provisions of the Republican platform explained by speakers of National reputation who have been invited and who are expected to be present.
R. C. FLANAGAN, Chairman,
FERNANDO WARD, Secretary,
Republican Executive Committee.

A Famous Compliment.
Of famous compliments paid to the fair sex the supply is so large and dazzling that it is a matter of no small difficulty to pick out the brightest gems, but if the following was unlooked for it certainly deserves a place among the best: Fontenelle when ninety years old passed before Mme. Helvetius without noticing her.
"Ah," said the lady, "that is your gallantry, then! To pass before me without ever looking at me!"
"If I had looked at you, madam," replied the old beau, "I never could have passed you at all."
