RALEIGH NEWSPAPER MAN THRASHED.

SENATOR JONES KNOCKS EDITOR DANIELS DOWN.

The Trouble Grew Out of a Charge Made Against Jones in The News And Observer.

By Wire to The Reflector.

Raleigh, Oct. 1.—Senator W. B. Jones, of Raleigh, thrashed Editor Josephus Daniels, of The News and Observer this morning. Daniels was standing on the sidewalk in front of the post office when Jones walked up and Daniels said: "Hello Buck!" Jones didn't say a word, but struck Daniels in the face, knocking him down, Jones went down on top of him and eye witnesses say gave the editor a good drubbing before he was pulled off. Daniels was bloody and dirty when he got up. Jones was also dirty and had a few scratches on his face. Jones immediately surrendered at police court and was released without bond to appear Monday.

It is understood that the fight is directly the result of publication in the News and Observer this morning that Jones and his father were instigators of the independent Democratic mass meeting held here today. This is vehemently denied by the Joneses.

AUTO RACES DEATH TOLL.

Several Have Been Killed and Injured.

By Wire to The Reflector.

Vanderbilt Cup Race, Oct. 1.—Harry F. Grant in an Alco today for second consecutive time won the Vanderbilt cup race. It was most spectacular and most disastrous ever run on the Long Island course. Four men were killed, three of them on the tracks, two others fatally injured. The second man killed was Chas. Miller, Cheverette's mechanic, when Cheverette's car struck a touring car at side of track. Mechanician Bacon, of Stove's car died later at the hospital.

Vanderbilt Cup Race, Oct. 1.—Two people are already dead as a result of the Vanderbilt cup race, and several have been seriously injured. Shortly after the race started Harold Stone one of the contestants, was ditched and killed and his mechanic fatally injured. The second death was caused when a touring car carrying visitors to the race ran into a telegraph pole. The owner of the car was killed and several members of his party hurt. There have been numerous other accidents and several cars are out of the race. Three hundred thousand people are at the race track.

Vanderbilt Cup Race, Oct. 1.—Harry Stone reported killed, is not dead. He is in a hospital with a leg broken.

SUPERIOR COURT.

Too Frequently Congested by Petty Litigation.

The superior court dockets are being too frequently crowded with small and frivolous cases which should never reach court. The principal time of our superior courts is taken up with cases that should have been settled in the magistrate's court, or, better still, should never have been instituted. These little cases in the superior court pile up immense cost against the people and often the important cases must be postponed and dragged from court to court. This is not only the case in Wilkes, but in most of the other counties. The same condition existing in Caldwell county. There is something wrong somewhere of the court dockets would not be crowded with these frivolous prosecutions. The biggest fault probably lies with justices of the peace. Most of these cases could be settled easily by the right sort of justices of the peace. Very few people are fit to be justices, and under the present system of purchasing political support with offices, even the few fit persons rarely get to be justices. The people should be more careful in selecting their magistrates. It is an important office and should be properly filled regardless of politics.—Wilkesboro Chronicle.

Choir Practice.

There will be a choir practice at the Christian church tonight at 7.15. New members will be cordially welcomed.

WINTERVILLE CORRESPONDENCE.

Items of Interest From our Hustling Neighbor, About Its People.

Winterville, N. C., Oct. 1.—Mrs. M. G. Bryan left Thursday to spend a few days with friends at Whichard.

The A. G. Cox Manufacturing Company are shipping today one solid carload of Pitt county school desks to Rutherford county. This speaks well for the A. G. Cox Manufacturing Company, also for the county they go to. They also made a good shipment of these desks to Virginia last Thursday Messrs. M. G. Bryan and Ernest Cox made a trip to Greenville Thursday.

Messrs. S. J. Everett and E. B. Higgs, of Greenville, were in our town Thursday on business.

We are glad to see the J. B. Carroll factory start up. They will make a specialty of cutting moulding and brackets, also any turned work for houses. They know how to do such work right and will give low prices.

Several of our young men attended church at Ayden Thursday night.

Miss Elizabeth Boushall, a teacher in Winterville High School, went to Shermidine yesterday.

G. A. Kittrell has a good home-raised horse 3 years old at a bargain.

Misses Lula and Clyde Chapman, Miss Lizzie Cox, C. T. Cox and T. E. Cannon went to Ayden last night.

Miss Carrie Brown, of Greenville, who has been visiting friends here, returned home yesterday.

Miss Louise Satterthwaite, a student of Winterville High School, went home yesterday to spend Sunday with her people.

Our meal exchange basis is the most liberal being offered by anybody and is attracting the attention of seed sellers from a distance. Bring along your seed now—Pitt County Oil Company.

The farmers in the vicinity of Winterville will save money by having their cotton ginned at the Pitt County Oil Co., as their charges are only 30c per hundred lbs. of lint cotton. The toll on a 500 pound bale being $1.50. On the 25th dollar basis with cotton at 13c per pound the toll charges would amount to $2.60. On a 20th basis it would amount to $3.25 per bale. Why not save this difference?

If you want a suit of clothes or a pair of pants, you will find them at A. W. Ange & Company's.

Mrs. A. D. Johnson and children, of Kingston, came in yesterday evening.

Miss May Smith, of Ayden, came in yesterday to visit Miss Carrie Smith.

The senior class of W. H. S., met in the auditorium Wednesday afternoon at four o'clock. The class was called to order by the president and a very interesting program was rendered, which consisted of the following: "Jack and Tony's Friendship," by Miss Nancy Dail. Reading, "An Unknown Hero," by Miss Myrtle King. Piano solo, "The Foundation," by Mr. Royal Adams. "Class History," by Miss Helen Adams. "Class Prophecy," by Mr. Spurgeon Carroll.

After the program, Prof. F. C. Nye gave the class a very interesting talk after which they adjourned to meet again Wednesday, October 12, 1910.

THE SHOW GIRL.

Special Excursion Monday to Wilson for Tais Big Musical Fare.

Fifty of the best reserved seats at the Lyceum Theatre, Wilson, are now being held for the advantage of Greenville folks who may wish to attend "The Show Girl" on Monday night. To further insure desirable seats it might be well to communicate with the ticket agent of the Norfolk Southern railroad depot.

To those who have seen the other B. C. Whitney Musical Comedy success "The Isle of Spice," "A Knight for a Day," or "Piff, Paff, Poff," no further recommendation is needed, although it might be added that "The Show Girl" has been selected for one of the big fair nights at Raleigh.

The destruction of our own opera house and the shortage of big musical shows throughout the country, makes this an unusual opportunity for those who like to keep young and who occasionally relieve the strenuousness of business life in the enjoyment of clean, meritorious entertainments which delight the eye and ear.

The Ladies Aid society of the Baptist church will meet Monday afternoon in the church at 4 o'clock.

THE REPUBLICAN COUNTY CONVENTION.

THE ONE COLORED ATTENDANT ASKED TO LEAVE.

Legislative and County Ticket Nominated—Col. Harry Skinner Makes Long Speech.

The Republican county convention to nominate candidates for the legislature and county offices met in the city hall today at noon. It was strictly a white gathering with all townships of the county represented. So white was it, that when the delegates were gathered and one colored man walked in and took a seat, he was approached by one of the leaders and told to get out. The colored man proceeded to obey the order given him without protest.

Col. Harry Skinner was greeted with a round of hand clapping when he walked in the convention hall.

The meeting was called to order by Chairman R. C. Flanagan, of the county executive committee. He said they had met as Republicans because they believed in the principles of the Republican party. There had been a time when men were ashamed to stand up and say they were Republicans, that time is passed and they are now proud to call themselves Republicans. He said he had always been a Republican from boyhood, and recited some of his experiences that led him to espouse the principles of the Republican party.

C. W. Prescott, of Ayden, was appointed moderator and called the roll of townships all answered present.

On motion the temporary organization was made permanent.

It was decided on motion to proceed to make the nominations before there is any speech making.

Colonel Skinner suggested that nominations be made in open convention and not through a committee. E. E. Dail, A. J. Moye and Elder T. H. Barnhill expressed approval of this suggestion.

For the senate Colonel Skinner presented the name of Joel Moore of Swift creek township, and his nomination was made by acclamation.

For the house of representatives A. J. Moye presented the name of J. N. Parker, of Farmville township, and Elder T. H. Barnhill presented the name of D. N. Nobles, of Carolina township. These were nominated by acclamation.

For clerk of superior court H. T. King presented the name of A. J. Moye, of Farmville township. Mr. Moye in turn tried to present the name of Mr. King, but was informed that the latter was their candidate for congress. The nomination of Mr. Moye was made by acclamation.

For register of deeds C. W. Prescott presented the name of Exum Dail, of Contentnea township, who was nominated by acclamation.

For treasurer A. J. Moye presented the name of J. A. Lang, of Greenville township, who was nominated by acclamation.

At this stage one delegate raised the point that the candidates nominated should be present so it may be known if he will accept. The chairman states that every Republican was ready to do his duty.

For sheriff M. G. Bryan presented the name of Marcellus Smith, of Falkland township and William Purser presented the name of Gray Moore, of Swift creek township. This was the first place for which two names were presented, and A. J. Moye said he was glad to see a little contest. The roll was called, Smith receiving 23 1-2 votes and Moore 13 1-2, Smith was declared nominated.

For coroner Joseph Fleming presented the name of Dr. T. G. Basnight, of Carolina township, who was nominated by acclamation.

For surveyor no nomination was made, this position being left with the executive committee.

For county commissioners J. G. Manning presented the name of W. M. King; J. H. Manning presented the name of L. P. Fletcher; Harry Skinner presented the name of Gray Moore; W. J. Manning presented the name of Theophilus Carson; H. T. King presented the name of J. L. G. Manning. King and Manning were nominated by acclamation. The other three were also nominated, no other names being presented.

After the selection of a county executive committee, Col. Harry Skinner addressed the convention, making a long speech.

Now get a hustle for business.

HAPPENINGS THROUGHOUT NORTH CAROLINA.

CREAM OF NEWS GATHERED FROM THE EXCHANGES.

Rev. B. F. Huske in New Bern—Charlotte Man Found Dead in Bed—Son Kills Father.

Rev. B. F. Huske, formerly of Greenville, N. C., who several weeks ago accepted a call to Christ Episcopal church of this city, has arrived in New Bern, and will enter upon the duties of his new charge Sunday morning. The new rector is not a stranger in New Bern. He has many friends who will give him the glad hand of fellowship and wish him much success in his work—New Bern Sun.

Charlotte, Sept. 30.—Dr. Charles Brem, for many years a familiar figure on Charlotte streets and brother of Mr. Walter Brem, also of Charlotte was found dead in his room in the Harty building on North Tryon street. Dr. Brem was found about 12.30 o'clock this afternoon, a waiter at his restaurant having gone to ascertain if he was ill. Looking over the transom, he saw the deceased cold in death.

Asheville, Sept. 30.—A telephone message received here this afternoon states that James Lyda was shot and killed by his son, in the Clear creek section, Henderson county, ten miles from Hendersonville, this morning. According to reports received, as his son walked to the house the old man exclaimed, while holding a gun: "If you have anything to say, say it," and the son, drawing a gun, instantly killed the old man. Family troubles seem involved in the faction, old man Lyda's wife having started a divorce proceeding which renewed hostilities. The old man claimed that the boy was backing his wife. Lyda escaped.

Mr. J. R. Collie has a field of five acres of Cox improved prolific corn that is worth going miles to see. It undoubtedly shows what selected seed thoroughly cultivated and thorough manuring will do. It is planted in four foot rows, and eighteen inches apart in the drill. Every stalk has from two to four large perfect ears. It is the finest field of corn ever raised in Franklin county and probably in the State. Mr. Batts has made more on a single acre, but it is doubtful if any one in North Carolina ever made more than Mr. Collie will make on these five acres. No one who has seen this field of corn has estimated it at less than 20 or 25 barrels per acre. Mr. Collie will select from this field the most perfect ears, which he will reserve for seed.—Laurinburg Times.

ATTEND SUNDAY SCHOOL.

Cordial Invitation Extended to all the People.

All the people of Greenville not members of any Sunday school are most cordially invited to visit the Methodist Sunday school, Sunday morning at 10.30 to hear the singing and witness the closing exercises of the school.

I am sure that very many more of our people would join the Sunday schools if they felt that they could get to the churches in time for the service, but they cannot get off in time for the whole service and so do not attend at all.

To all such this will afford an opportunity to get a part of the service.

I can promise that you will be delighted with the singing of the school.

The music is under the direction of a master tomorrow morning. You can hear nearly three hundred young people sing, without any inconvenience on your part, more than coming to the church one half hour earlier than usual for preaching service. It will not be possible to give you seats in the Sunday school room as that is filled to overflowing, but there will be ushers at all the doors to show you a seat in the main auditorium of the church.

The doors between you and the Sunday school will be thrown open so that you can see and hear perfectly. Come to the north door of the church. We have to use the vestibule at the southeast corner as a class room, so that door remains closed until 10.45.

I am asking the church choir to furnish music for the congregation during the ten minutes between the closing of the Sunday school and the beginning of the morning service.

JOHN H. SHORE, Pastor.

THE MIGHTY HAAG SHOWS.

Will Be in Greenville on Friday, October 7th.

Flaming posters in all colors of the rainbow, throughout this section, give notice to the fact that the Mighty Haag shows are to be seen October 7th, afternoon and night in Greenville. Already the small boy and his elders are happy anticipating the coming of this mighty tented amusement and its countless wonders.

This season the Mighty Haag shows has been enlarged in every department and their greatly augmented list of performers, feature acts and meagerie exhibits made it necessary to add several more railway cars. Today special trains are required to transport the huge tents, ponderous wagons, cages, dens, chariots, camels, horses, ponies, men and women.

In the tripple zoological gardens, combined under one vast spread of canvas, are to be found the finest living specimens of rare, strange and curious animals from every quarter of the globe. Prominent in this collection is a full grown gnu, positively the only one alive in captivity today, captured north of Great Bear Lake, at latitude 61. It was only by exercising the great diplomacy that the Haag agents were able to get the animal out of the country. Having a head like a horse, with the exception of long horns on it and feet like a cow, forming one of the funniest and freakiest combinations in animal life. The beast is regarded as sacred by the natives and not one of them could be induced in its capture. The other exhibits of animal life are equally as rare, making a visit to the Haag show manageries of far greater educational value than ever will be gained by the deepest study of all the books at hand on the subject of natural history.

Inside the vast canvass amphitheater are great rings and many elevated stages, encircled by a monstrous, modern hippodrome track, overlapping all is a vertical maze of trapeze and horizontal bars, flying rings, wires, bars and other aerial rigging

BUILDING DESTROYED. TWENTY PEOPLE KILLED.

LOS ANGELES PRINTING PLANT DYNAMITED.

Besides The Loss of Life, Property Loss Reaches About Half Million Dollars.

By Wire to The Reflector.

Los Angeles, Oct. 1.—An explosion that shocked the city for miles started a fire early this morning, that completely destroyed the building of The Times Publishing Company, and caused the loss of fully a score of lives. In addition to the appalling total of mortality dozens of employes suffered serious burns and injuries. Officers of the publishing company declare the building was dynamited. The manager of the company estimated the loss of life between fifteen and twenty and the property loss at $500,000. One arrest was made, and other men were seen running away from the scene. No statement has been made as to why anyone should wish to dynamite the office.

Los Angeles, Oct. 1.—Estimates grew of the number of possible dead in the explosion of the newspaper plant and it is now thought as many as sixty are possibly dead. Men and boys who stuff Sunday supplements were just going into the building and it is not known how many of these people were in the building when the explosion occurred.

SATURDAY, OCTOBER 1, 1910

The administration is getting much absorbed in the study of economy as the election draws near.

Stimson, the Republican candidate for governor of New York, might be called Roosevelt's man Friday.

Roosevelt came about as near being the whole thing at the New York State Republican convention as it was possible for one man to be.

The big percentage of growth some of the cities are showing in the census returns is accounted for in their taking in the surrounding suburbs since the previous census.

The Republicans of this congressional district nominated Mr. H. T. King, of Greenville, as their candidate for congress. Congressman Small has nothing to fear when voting time comes.

The Raleigh Times wants to know "Why is it that the farmers of Wake county are going to near-by towns to do their trading, instead of coming to Raleigh?" Perhaps it is for the same reason that the farmers of Pitt county go to the near-by towns to do their trading, instead of coming to Greenville, to-wit: The merchants of the county seat make no special commercial effort to bring in the farmers of the surrounding country to do their trading.

Is Business Better.

While one claims that business is booming or in a satisfactory condition there are many who report to us a decided improvement in business.

One Glasgow mill states that they are selling fair sized orders at a very good profit, a mill making tickings say they have a reasonable profit today and a number of yarn mills report orders which we know permit a margin.

Cotton can be purchased in many towns at approximately thirteen cents as against fifteen cents a short time ago and as a general rule there has been some advance in the price of yarns and goods.

One selling agent stated on yesterday that prices are softer and the demand less than two weeks ago, but this is hard to believe in the face of statements that have been made to us by cotton manufacturers.

Even at the best figures named for recent orders there is not a legitimate price for the cotton manufacturer and the policy of continuing the curtailment is certainly wise.—American Textile Manufacturer.

The Golden Text of Advertising.

"The best advertisers and the best merchant are synonymous, and the poorest advertiser is usually the one who finds himself in a court of bankruptcy."

That is what the Hon. Charles W. Fairbanks, former vice president of the United States, said to the advertising clubs of America in his address.

CHILDREN WHO ARE SICKLY

Mothers who value their own comfort and feel the welfare of their children, should never be without a box of Mother Gray's Sweet Powders for children, for use throughout the season. A trial package free to any mother who will address Allen S. Olmsted, LeRoy, N. Y.

admirable address at Omaha recently. it is a good golden text, the wise conclusion of a very successful business man, a man who keeps his wits about him, who does not jump at his judgments, but who takes life as it is and men as they are, reasoning from observation and experience that the most successful men are those who "possess the faculty of bringing their business fairly and favorably before the public." Every man engaged in business should have what Mr. Fairbanks said printed in large type and kept constantly on his desk as a reminder that when times are dull and customers are falling away there is a certain means of bringing them back and making things move.—Richmond Times-Dispatch.

Get Down to Business!

Says the Chicago Journal: "The good roads movement continues to receive the endorsement of everybody and the active support of nobody." This is not exactly true; much work is being done to make better roads, but it is undeniably true that the amount of work done is very small compared with what has been said and written about road improvement. We have learned how we can make good roads, and we have learned that we must pay for them if we ever get them. Let us recognize the fact that it is time to quit talking and get down to business.—Progressive Farmer.

It surely is time to get down to business. That is exactly what the people of Union county are now facing to face with. Everybody believes in good roads and the time has come when we can have them, but if nobody ever makes a start, when will good roads ever come. Never.—Monroe Journal.

The Real Road Problem.

"We hear," says The Laurinburg Exchange, "a great deal said about the delay on the part of our road-builders in building much-needed new roads throughout various sections of the county. There is some merit in these contentions because, if the money is in hand with which to build the roads, it ought to be put to its intended use so that it will be of service to the public. But the thing which, it seems to us, should at this time call forth more serious discussion is the fact that many of the roads which have been constructed at considerable public expense are being permitted to go to ruin for lack of attention. It is a fact that some of the roads of Scotland county which have been considered among our best, have been in so great need of repairs for so long a time that they have become practically lost to the county and before they can be made good roads again it will be necessary to rebuild a great part of them."

We feel that The Exchange is far from exaggerating the importance of this point when it calls it "the real road problem." The best of good roads is, under modern conditions of traveling, by no means an eternal possession unless it is looked after with the greatest diligence. It is of great importance that the people of North Carolina be thoroughly aroused to the necessity of constructing highways in every direction, and we believe the progress which is being made furnishes the soundest basis for gratification. It is of at least equal importance that they should be keenly alert to the necessity of maintaining these highways at the highest standard possible, and the thoroughness with which this phase of the question is understood is a matter of speculation. "If the proceeds from a bond issue," asserts The Exchange, "be used in the building of good roads it will prove in the end a waste of money unless the roads are cared for and not permitted to disintegrate."

The enthusiasm which is so noticeable throughout the State just now should not be allowed to confine itself exclusively to the driving of new routes of communication. The movement is spreading every month and now is emphatically the season for encouraging the people of North Carolina in the habit of looking at the subject of good roads from the broadest standpoint. To this end the doctrine of keeping up to the standard these highways already constructed must be insisted upon until it assumes its proper position with reference to the other phases of the situation.—Charlotte Observer.

The Feminine Pessimist.
The feminine pessimist worries because she is not as young as she once was; the optimist of the same sex rejoices that she is not so old as she will be.—Life.

The Unhumbled Valet.
The Duke of Cambridge was once about to visit Lord Stratford, who had been appointed ambassador to Turkey.
At an early hour on the morning of his expected arrival the ambassador went, in slippers and dressing gown, to see if the rooms were in perfect order. He found that the duke's valet had arrived and was arranging his master's trunks and portmanteaus.
Stratford gave some directions how they should be placed. The man left off working and stared at the intruder.
"I tell you what it is," he said. "I know how his royal highness likes to have his things arranged better than you do. So you just be off, will you, old fellow?"

Lord Stratford left in a towering passion. Calling one of his attaches, he ordered him to go in and tell the man whom he had addressed in such language. The attaché returned with twinkling eyes.
"What did you say?" asked the ambassador.
"I said to him, my lord, that the person he had ventured to address such language to was her majesty's representative to Turkey."
"Ah, quite right. And his answer?"
"He answered, my lord, that he never said you wasn't."—With Lord Stratford in the Crimean War.

Wise Men of Gotham.
A "wise man of Gotham" is a fool,
but the phrase arose through the real wisdom of the people that lived in the English town of Gotham. The story goes that King John of England once visited the town with intention of seeing a castle that he thought of taking for himself. But the Gothamites did not care for the nearness of royalty and the expense they would be put to if the king should have a house
there, and so they cooked up a scheme to drive him away. When the king arrived with his company of followers and rode through the town he saw all the inhabitants of Gotham going through the most foolish of tasks, each person with a silly smite on his face.
The king was disgusted with them.
He would not live among crazy people,
and so he rode on through the town and did not stop for the castle. Then the wise men of Gotham, still smiling, but not in a silly fashion, told one another that there were more fools that passed through Gotham than remain in it.

Not What He Seemed.
Lieutenant General J. M. Grierson tells an amusing story of some maneuvers in which he took part. Only a small body of troops were being actually employed, and "skeleton forces" were the rule—in other words, small bodies of men represented whole divisions. General Grierson with his staff was riding along a lane when he suddenly came upon one of the enemy's pickets sitting calmly by the roadside.
Quickly the general rode up to him and said:
"You are my prisoner; you had better surrender."
The man grinned and pointed to a flag beside him.
"Beg pardon, sir," he said, "but I am a brigade of infantry, so you are all my prisoners."—London Mail.

Christians in Old Rome.
Religious persecution as such was unknown under the Romans. The Christians were regarded as seditious.
In denying the divinity of the Caesars
and the Roman gods they were guilty of high treason in Roman eyes and were accordingly punished. But their punishment had no religious significance whatever. The Christians were persecuted not because they were Christians, but because, in the opinion of the authorities, they were disturbers
of the peace and safety of the state.
Religious persecution was a thought that never entered the Roman mind.
—New York American.

Wounds of the Heart.
In wounds of the heart itself the escape of blood is never in large quantity, and the lethal consequences are due to the fact that the escape of blood from within its cavity or cavities into the surrounding sac of the peri-cardium mechanically interrupts the alternate contraction and expansion by which its pumping action is maintained. Accordingly the results of the wound of the heart are usually identical with those of gradual suffocation.

Cutting.
A Scotch lawyer was well reproved when, seated by a lady fully aware of her own plain looks, having bowed to his hostess in giving the toast, "Honest Men and Bonnie Lasses," she rejoined, raising her own glass, "We may both drink that toast, since it refers to neither of us."

Similar Tastes.
Belle—But do you think you and he
are suited to each other? Nell—Oh, perfectly! Our tastes are quite similar. I don't care very much for him, and he doesn't care very much for me.
—Paris Figaro.

Willing to Pass.
"How do you like the new oatmeal soap?" inquired the barber.
"Seems nourishing," replied the customer, "but I've had my breakfast."
—Washington Herald.

The Long Arm.
Jenny—I consider the fellow was quite impudent. He put his arm round me twice. Rose—Did he? What a long arm he must have!

We should not be too niggardly in our praise, for men will do more to support a character than to raise one.
—Colton.

A WEAK WOMAN AND HER STORY
In Floral, Ark., Lives a Lady Who Feels That Her Strength Was Restored by Cardui.

Floral, Ark.—"I must speak a good word for Cardui," writes Mrs. Viola Baker, of this place.
"About a month ago I was in very bad health. I was so weak and nervous that I was not able to do my housework.
"My husband bought me one bottle of Cardui, the woman's tonic. I took it according to directions and now I am in good health.
"I think Cardui is a fine tonic for weak women."
And you are not the only lady who thinks so, Mrs. Baker.
Thousands, like you, have written to tell of the wonderful benefit Cardui has been to them.
Cardui contains no minerals, or other powerful drugs. It contains no glycerin or other mawkish-tasting ingredients.
It is just a pure, natural extract, of natural vegetable herbs, that have been found to regulate the womanly functions and strengthen the female system.
All druggists sell Cardui.
See yours about it.

Public Speaking Explained.
The Japanese visitor to the city was asked to make an after dinner speech.
He arose and began quaintly.
"I often wonder," he said, "why it is you Americans will hinder your digestion by making these after dinner speeches. We Japanese rest after our meals. It is much better. I know that I traveled with a Japanese legation over the United States, and every where the Americans would make us dine, then ask us for speeches afterward. We would much rather have dined at our hotels and retired afterward to rest for the following day. I asked some one why it was this universal after dinner speechmaking among the American men at public dinners, and he replied that the American man never had a chance to say anything at home and that was why."—New York Press.
