Greatest of Race Problem Plays

Without denying the merit of "The Clansman" and Thomas Dixon's other works, careful judges state that "The Sins of the Fathers" is the greatest of all the race problema plays. In a sense, this new work of Mr. Dixon's is even more important than "The Clansman," for the questions it deals with are here and now, not the issues of forty years ago. The peril of mongrelizing Aryan blood by intermixture with inferiors is his theme. Literally, the sins of the father are responsible for the mullato, octoroon, and the "sixteenth blood" negro who passes himself as white. This subject of miscegenation is the biggest one confronting the nation today. Mr. Dixon has attacked it with every whit of his old-time skill and power. His new play will be seen for the first time on Wednesday, Oct. 12, at the Lyceum Theatre, Wilson, N. C. Those who wish to have seats reserved should not delay. Write with remittance to J. J. Privett, Wilson, or see the Norfolk Southern agent at Greenville.

BUYING FARMS BY B. & L. METHOD

The Movement Started at Wadesboro Likely to Spread.

One of the most noted developments in the economic life of this section recently is a movement started a few days ago at the hustling little city of Wadesboro, where a number of capitalists have organized the Dixie Development Company for the purpose of promoting the improvement of home in the rural sections of Anson county. The plan is to apply the building and loan principle to the rural sections and enable men to save money and buy farms by the same process the men of the cities save money, borrow and buy homes. An enthusiastic building and loan man of Charlotte has read of the new movement started at Wadesboro with much interest and he declares that he believes the movement will spread and that many organizations similar to the Dixie Improvement Company will be established in this section.

Charlotte is a good building and loan city. The people here recognize the advantages of the system and more and more each month are beginning to take advantage of the opportunities they offer. The new plan requires more capital to begin with than the building and loan. The plan is to sell small tracts of land to people who ordinarily rent land on shares, a comfortable home being erected for the accommodation of the renter or purchaser. The contract includes provisions requiring the proper cultivation and fertilization of the land for the production of the maximum crop and the rental is paid for a stipulated number of years, the number of years depending upon the shares of the crop required. At the end of the specified number of years, the land is deeded in fee simple to the renter or purchaser.

There is no doubt but that such an organization as is described would be a great benefit to Mecklenburg county and it is not improbable that one may be organized.—Charlotte Chronicle.

NORTH CAROLINA NEWS.

Gathered From Our Exchanges Today of Events Just Happened.

Statesville, Oct. 5.—Henry, the 11-year-old son of Mr. Conrad Foster, a farmer living two miles north of Statesville, is tonight in a dying condition at the Billingsly hospital here as the result of a terrible experience with a cow last evening. The boy went to the field after the cow and either looped the chain over his hand purposely, or in some manner it became fastened about his waist. The cow ran away with him and he was dragged across a rocky field to the house. When assistance reached him, he was covered with dirt and blood and unconscious.

It was the editor's pleasure to spend last Sunday in Greenville, supplying Memorial pulpit morning and evening, visiting the old residence where the Baptist State Convention was organized in 1830, strolling over that thriving city on the banks of the Tar river, calling at the new and elegant East Carolina Teachers' Training school, and enjoying the hospitality of Prof. Claude W. Wilson and his interesting family. Our church here is still pastorless, but we hope it will soon secure the right man to lead in utilizing the splendid opportunities before it.—Biblical Recorder.

The general belief in Lisbon seems to be that the entire royal family has taken refuge at Madra, a few miles from Lisbon. The situation in Spain is reported to be growing alarming hourly. King Alfonso and his advisors are making a desperate effort to forestall the revolutionists' plans. The president of the new republic of Portugal is Theophile Braga, he has a full ministry. Are Married Women Best Teachers?

The theory of the president of Tufts college that all women teachers in girl's colleges should be married runs counter to accept traditions of female education, which in this country at least is mainly in the hands of unmarried women. The discrimination where any has existed, has been against married teachers. The small proportion of the latter is shown by the census of 1910, which gave the number of "unmarried women teachers and college professors" as 191,645, against 9,188 married and 6,776 widows.

The greater number of these, of course, were teachers in the lower grades, whose influence, Dr. Hamilton says, in counteracted by the pupil's home life. But at college the relation of teacher and pupil changes. The girl students removed from home associations live a more academic life. They are passing into womanhood and their outlook should be broader. Dr. Hamilton thinks, than that which "contact with elderly unmarried women" can give. Unmarried teachers, he believes, do not create the right "atmosphere" for girls at the formative period of their lives. They face "problems new to them" and need a "large outlook and broad view point."

Dr. Hamilton's argument is based on reasons which deserve consideration, but the question is a broad one, embracing as it does not only college but convent education. Much depends on the woman, regardless of her matrimonial status. There has been a theory that girls brought up by maiden aunts have been most competently trained.—New York World.

A Rain Trap.

In a time of distressing drought, says a writer in the Yorkshire Post, a harassed amateur agriculturist stepped into a shop to buy a barometer. The shopman was giving a few stereotyped instructions about indications and pressures when the purchaser impatiently interrupted him.

"Yes, yes," said he, "that's all right, but what I want to know is how do you set it when you want it to rain?"

THURSDAY, OCTOBER 6, 1910.

The Supreme court of the United States loses another member, Associate Justice Moody having tendered his resignation.

About the biggest bunch of candidates for any office is the list asking to be made auditor to succeed the late Dr. B. F. Dixon.

A New York man, aged 64, went home drunk and his father, aged 84, wanted to spank the boy so as to make him behave himself. No doubt he needed it.

Registration books for the November election are now open and will be until the 29th. All who have become of age since the last election will have to register.

The would-be-collectors of those fraudulent bonds are helping to swell Republican campaign contributions in North Carolina. The boys will spend the money for them.

Grown-ups and Children.

See a man who stops to pat some little child on the head, whose heart is touched when the tears stream down the little one's face, and you behold a man whose thoughts are tender, whose heart throbs for humanity, who loves his fellowman. In the hurry and hustle of the day there are, of course, tender hearted men who cannot stop to heed the little people of this life, but upon the one who does notice the child can be placed that stamp of approval. Its a safe bet that such a man is frank and honest. Alas, too little attention is paid to children of this life. Of course, not always parents, though there are many such who race or whirl through life to the detriment of childhood—innocent, defenseless childhood. There is sometimes the mother who cares so much for the gay way that she becomes fretful of her child; there are others, fathers and mothers, who appear naturally indifferent, and then the drunken father. Children raised in the atmosphere of either seldom win success. Wealth may supply education and there may be ability for education to be reared upon, but the warm glow in the heart is lacking. The same applies largely to the indifferent parents, and the drunken father not only sets his child a bad example, but he makes the battle of life harder and casts gloom into the heart, which acts as a handicap through life.

Sons of the drunken father sometimes succeed, due to the tender, constant urging, the beautiful teachings of a mother, and they deserve credit, but the chance to reach success this way is slim. On the other hand, what a strong incentive, what a firm rock have the children to stand upon whose parents are attentive and who take an interest in them. This applies to the poorest as well as to the richest. Many of the greatest men of the country came from the ranks of the poorest, but the back of them had a loving mother, who lightened their burdens and urged them on with tender words and with warm kisses from withered lips, perhaps.

dren is large and deep, and, of course, no parents want to be told how they should bring up their own. Still there are some things that can be said that will take root in the mind, if the mind is a fair one, that will touch the heart if the heart has tender cords running through it. There are some, many of the old days, no doubt, who still lean on the proposition of not sparing the rod, but many modern day parents do not believe in this. For instance, in California, the mother and father of nine children have never whipped one of their youngsters. Instead, when the child is naughty it is deprived of some pleasure it like best, and often is kept away from play. They find that the best of punishment, and the entire family is happy. The way of this California couple is well worth thinking about, and we believe that many parents, who may pooh-pooh suggestions, will nevertheless give it consideration.—Wilmington Dispatch.

State Population.

In a study of the census returns so far made, The Philadelphia Press finds that Oklahoma has advanced 109 per cent, reaching a population of 1,651,951. Rhode Island's gain was 26.6 per cent, a healthy prosperous increase, though overshadowed, as all the other States will be, by Oklahoma's precocious and prodigious growth. Michigan gained but 16 per cent., and now comes Missouri with a gain of only 6 per cent. This means an actual gain of 186,670, which is 9,750 less than the increased population in the two cities of St. Louis and Kansas City, so that, outside of her two chief cities, the State of Missouri actually lost in population in the past ten years. In explanation, The Press thinks that a large portion of Missouri's rural population went over in to Oklahoma and has helped to give that state its 109 per cent. increase. Iowa also contributed to Oklahoma and to the Canadian immigration, and has no large cities to make goods its loss. Kansas and Nebraska are under the same influence, and the delay-sus figures will doubtless show this. States that still have virgin land for settlement and States with large and prosperous manufacturing interests have increased their population. What the others have done will be known shortly, but the returns from Missouri and Michigan forbid the hops that the former rate of advance in rural America will be maintained in the census of 1910.—Charlotte Chronicle.

Market Your Own Tobacco.

There is considerable complaint coming from certain sections of the bright belts on account of tobacco being in the country. We have always thought with good reasons, for so thinking that the practice was a bad one, both for the farmer and the buyer. Certainly for the farmer, who generally make a mistake by selling his tobacco at home for some one to come along and buy it. From our general observation the regular buyers on the markets are always disposed to help the farmer by paying the highest possible prices for tobacco and if the farmer will handle his tobacco well and market it in good condition he may at all times feel assured of the best market prices. Right here and now is a good time to again press upon our farmer friends the importance of making preparations for handling their tobacco at home. For such arrangements the investment will be small, and the results always profitable. Why not be your own master and prepare your own storage houses, handle your tobacco well and make it judiciously?—Southern Tobacco Journal

Molasses Making on Large Scale.

The Lutz boys are in the midst of their molasses making season and daily are turning out from 80 to 100 gallons of as fine molasses as is made in North Carolina. Their long experience and skill in the manufacture of sorghum induces the farmers for miles around to bring their cane here. Quantities are being hauled in every day. The crop this year is good. Last fall they made but 1,200 gallons, as compared with 3,000 in 1908. This industry was begun by the grandfather of the Messrs. Lutz, Mr. Reuben Setzer, who started by making sorghum for his own use, perhaps not more than 60 gallons in a fall. He set up one of the first cast mills in this part of the State, directly after the war. The product of the now complete and modern mills sells at 40 cents a gallon right from the boiler and it's fine. The makers charge a third for their work.—Newton News.

And Now the Fall Stove Question

And it is a question, isn't it? You've heard of so many stoves and read so many advertisements that you wonder what to believe. But, we know you want the best stove or range that your money can buy, one that will last you a lifetime and give you the best of service and that's why we want you to call and see our "Buck's"—we know they are best and that is why they are on our floors.

FARMER'S WIFE HAD HEAP TO DO

Mrs. Shepherd Was in Bad Shape When She Could Not Stand on Her Feet.

Durham, N. C.—"I am a farmer's wife," writes Mrs. J. M. Shepherd, of this city, "and have a heap to do."
"Four months ago I could not stand on my feet, to do anything much, but at this time I do the most of my work. I took Cardui and it did me more good than all the doctors.

"You don't know half how I thank you for the Cardui Home Treatment. I wish that all women who suffer from womanly trouble would treat themselves as I have."
Ladies can easily treat themselves at home, with Cardui, the woman's tonic. It is easy to take, and so gentle in its action, that it cannot do anything but good.

Being composed exclusively of vegetable ingredients, Cardui cannot lay up trouble in your system, as mineral drugs often do. Its ingredients having no harsh, medicinal effects, and being non-poisonous and perfectly harmless, Cardui is absolutely safe for young and old.

Ask your druggist. He will tell you to try Cardui.

N. B.—Write to: Ladies' Advisory Dept., Chattanooga Medicine Co., Chattanooga, Tenn., for Special Instructions, and 64-page book, "Home Treatment for Women," sent in plain wrapper, on request.

THE RECKONING HOUR

Matthew 25:14-30—October 9

"His Lord said unto him, Well done, thou good and faithful servant; thou hast been faithful over a few things, I will make thee ruler over many things; enter thou into the joy of thy Lord."

THIS study follows the one of last week. It also illustrates the fact that Messiah at his Second Advent, before appearing to the world in power and great glory and in the time of trouble, will be present amongst his consecrated people and many of them will know of his parousia, or "presence," in this time. He will do amongst them a judging work—deciding their rewards in proportion to their faithfulness. It is well that we keep in memory the difference between the parable of the pounds and the parable of the talents. Both represented money. But a talent is sixty times as valuable as a pound. In the parable of the pound each servant got one pound, but in the parable of the talents the numbers given varied. In some respects all of God's people have one common footing and common privilege of service, as represented by the pound. In another respect their opportunities, privileges and advantages vary, as represented in the present study, the parable of the talents.

This is another parable of the Kingdom. The Great Teacher himself went into the far country, even heaven; but before departing he delivered unto his servants certain blessings, privileges, opportunities—"to each according to his several abilities." The beginning of this parable was in the days of the Apostles when Jesus ascended up on high and at Pentecost shed forth in the Father's name the holy spirit, communicating a blessing upon each one of his followers, as represented in the talents and opportunities of each follower. All through this Gospel Age these servants have been making more or less use of their privileges and more or less wisely exercising themselves to serve the Master. Some traded with their talents, or used them in preaching, teaching, etc. And others hid them in the earth, perhaps under cares and responsibilities. After a long time the Lord of these servants cometh and reckoneth with them. This long time is this Gospel Age, and the presence of the King in the end of the Age to hear the report of his servants and to reward them represents the parousia (or presence) of Messiah and his testing, sifting work in his Church. We should distinctly note that this testing and proving is not of the world, for Christ never recognized any as his servants, except the consecrated. Many Christian people believe that we are now in the time when the servants of the Lord are rendering up their accounts, and when he is saying to some, "Well done, good and faithful servant; enter thou into the joy of thy Lord," and when he is saying to others, "Thou wicked and slothful servant... take ye away, therefore, the talent from him, and give it unto him that hath the ten talents." All of this testing and rewarding of the servants of Christ is manifestly prior to any outward manifestation of the King in his glory, because the worthy ones are to share with the Master in his glorious manifestation and this testing must demonstrate the worthy ones, in advance of the revelation in glory.

TEACHING BIBLE CLASS. ONE WAY TO INCREASE ONE'S TALENTS.

TEACHING HIS FAMILY. ANOTHER WAY TO DOUBLE ONE'S TALENTS.

The one who had received five talents and used them wisely, energetically, faithfully, loyally, doubled them and was invited to share in the Master's joy and glory. His reward would be to sit as a ruler of many. In other words, the service of the present life is but an insignificant one in comparison to the glorious service which awaits the Lord's faithful people in the future—when they shall sit with Messiah in his Throne and, as kings and priests, bless and instruct and uplift and control Israel and all the nations of the world. The approval of the one who was given two talents and who was equally faithful, was in equally kind and benevolent terms. He also was a good and faithful servant over a few things; he also would be set as a ruler over many things; he also might enter into the joy of his Lord. The servant who failed to use his talent was branded as wicked and slothful. He knew in advance that the talent was given him for use and because he had professed to be a faithful servant. His failure to use the talent proved him disloyal, unfaithful. He lost the talent. It is not for us to say that the Lord will have no blessing for that unfaithful servant. He was a servant all the time. He respected the talent. He did not lose it. But he did not use it properly. He seems to represent a very similar class to the one described in our study of a week ago as the foolish virgins. This class will fall to get into the glories of the Kingdom, but will surely get into the time of trouble and its outer darkness, disappointment and chagrin, with which this Age will end and the New Age be ushered in. The Lord grant that this lesson may help some of the Lord's consecrated servants to be more helpful, more careful. In the use of their consecrated talents, that they may glorify the Lord and hear his "Well done" in the end!

One difficulty with many of us in the past has been fear of the Master. We should have gotten better acquainted with him. We should have learned more respecting his real, true character and his purposes. If now the eyes of our understanding are opening, if now we are seeing the beauty of our talents and privileges of service as never before, let us quickly dig the talent out and wash it free from all soil of the earth and use it earnestly, zealously, vigorously, for the praise of our King, redeeming the time, knowing that the days are unfavorable. Even now we may show our Lord that we are getting awake to the great privilege and enjoyment of being his servants and mouthpieces and that we will delight, at any cost, to show forth the praises of "him who has called us out of darkness into his marvelous light."

Good Way to Use Hyomei for Catarrh.

Besides breathing through the inhaler a few times a day, many catarrh sufferers write that they find inhaling HYOMEI (pronounce it High-o-me) from a bowl of steaming water each night before retiring a great aid in curing stubborn cases.

Try it; it's very simple; gives quick relief and makes you breathe easier. Fill a bowl half full of boiling water; pour into the water a teaspoonful of HYOMEI, cover head and bowl with a towel, and breathe through nose and mouth the pleasant, medicated, anti-septic and healing vapor that arises. This method relieves that stiffness at once, and makes your head feel fine. You can get a bottle of HYOMEI at druggists everywhere or at Coward & Wooten's for only 50 cents. Ask for extra bottle HYOMEI Inhaler.

But bear in mind that a HYOMEI outfit which includes Inhaler and bottle of HYOMEI costs $1.00.

But, as stated before, if you already own an Inhaler a bottle of HYOMEI costs but 50 cents.

HYOMEI is guaranteed by Coward & Wooten and druggists everywhere to cure catarrh, sore throat, coughs, colds, asthma and croup, or money back. Try it on that generous basis.

By Wire to The Reflector.

New York, Oct. 6.—Cotton opened strong with prices anywhere from 3 to 11 points above yesterday's close. There was a rush of covering orders at the opening. Opening: October 13.9; December 14.22; January 14.30; March 14.90.

New York, Oct. 6.—Standard railroad's and low priced industrials were strong and active at the opening of the stock market today. Canadian Pacific was the leader of the railroads quoting a gain of over 1 1-2 points on expectations of early and higher dividends. Gains ranging from fractions to a point and over were quoted in almost every stock traded in. There was some covering, but this had little effect.

Chicago, Oct. 6.—Wheat opened with a bulge of 1-4c. There was a reaction, however, of 1-4 to 3-8c below the close of yesterday. Corn and oats were also lower, provisions were higher. Opening: December wheat, 98 3/4; corn 50 1-4; oats 33 1-4; pork May, 17.20.
