RAILROAD STRIKE IN FRANCE.

Fears That All Traffic in Paris Will be Tied Up.

By Cable to The Reflector.
Paris, Oct. 11.—Fearing that the strike on Great Northern railroad will spread to the State railways and completely paralyze traffic all over France a meeting of the cabinet was called today to deal with the situation. Strike leaders openly boasted today that they had secured promises from employees of the state railroads to strike tonight. If this is brought about all means of passenger and freight rail traffic will be tied up. Paris is crowded with tourists and many of them tried to get away, fearing the city would be isolated for an indefinite period.

TEN BODIES RECOVERED.

Starkville Mine Gives up Some of the Dead.

By Wire to The Reflector.
Starkville, Col., Oct. 11.—Ten bodies of the fifty or more coal miners, who were killed in the Starkville mine Saturday night, was recovered shortly before 4 o'clock this morning. The bodies were recognized, and from the positions in which they were found it is supposed they died instantly. They were turned over to the coroner. Large quantities of deadly after-damp are still being encountered by the rescue gangs, and during the night several workmen were overcome.

THE CRIPPEN CASE

Grand Jury find a True Bill Against Him.

By Wire to The Reflector.
London, Oct. 11.—That Dr. Crippen will be indicted for murder of his wife and that Ethel Le Neve will be indicted as accessory after the crime will be handed down, was made evident in Judge Fulton's charge to the grand jury at the opening of court today. The Crippen case is a feature of the calendar for this term. Old Bailey court judge declared there was abundant evidence to warrant a true bill against Crippen and he thought sufficient to indict Miss Le Neve.

Soldiers Guarding Court House.

By Wire to The Reflector.
Fayetteville, W. Va., Oct. 11.—Three companies of national guards with loaded machine guns under the command of the adjutant general were drawn around the court house here today before the trial of Thomas Raymond, a negro, charged with criminally attacking and murdering Mrs. John Alliff was started. Hundreds of the mountaineers, all armed, crowded into town and feeling at bitter enmity towards soldiers is manifested.

Showing the Missourians.

By Wire to The Reflector.
St. Louis, Oct. 11.—Col. Roosevelt arrived in St. Louis at 7 o'clock this morning and was met by a committee and taken direct to the hotel for breakfast with six hundred members of business men's league present. He will make several speeches during the day and leaves here tomorrow morning for Springfield, Ills.

Supreme Court Gets to Work.

By Wire to The Reflector.
Washington, Oct. 11.—The Supreme court met at noon today with only seven justices on the bench. This high tribunal today commenced in earnest its fall term. The docket is a long and varied one, and the session is regarded as one most important in the history of the court.

A Rapid Robber.

By Wire to The Reflector.
Memphis, Oct. 11.—A lone bandit held up a saloon and backed out with $75, then robbed a man with whom he collided and made his escape in the space of three minutes.

Charlotte 34,014 People.

By Wire to The Reflector.
Washington, Oct. 11.—The census bureau today gave out the population of Charlotte at 34,014.

Broad hints are wasted on narrow-minded people.

E. C. T. S. NOTES

First Anniversary—New Teachers' Arrival—Y. W. C. A. Organized

On the morning of October 5th, the first anniversary of the opening of the school, appropriate exercises were held in the assembly hall. Prof. W. H. Ragsdale, who was influential in establishing the school, spoke on "The Growth of Education in Eastern North Carolina," comparing the schools of Pitt county of ten years ago, with those of today. The "Father of East Carolina Teachers' Training School," ex-Gov. T. J. Jarvis, gave a history of the establishment of the school. In little more than two years after the ground was broken, six buildings had been erected and a years successful work completed.

Miss May Mully, until recently one of the supervisors of public school music in the Baltimore schools, has accepted the position of director of public school music. She has studied for several years in Peabody conservatory.

Miss Orpah Dabney has arrived to take charge of primary methods. She is a graduate of Columbia University and has had experience in teaching in both rural and city schools. She comes to us from Petersburg, Va.

Miss Elizabeth Pugh, takes Mrs. Ogden's place as teacher of household economics. Miss Pugh is a graduate of Stout Institute, Menomonee, Wis., a training school for domestic science and manual training of teachers. She has been teaching in the Louisiana industrial school, at Ruston, La.

We sincerely regret to lose Mrs. Ogden. Her work has been of a high order. She will return to her home in Delaware.

The Y. W. C. A. opened with bright prospects. Many of the old members are back and are bending every effort to get every new student to join the association. On the evening of Oct. 3rd, an impressive installation service was held. Forty-five new members were installed. Excellent talks were made by President Wright and Mrs. Beckwith. The Y. W. C. A. is doing good work in furthering the social uplift of the school. Two receptions have been given on Saturday evenings.

OUR NATIONAL HABIT OF WASTE.

While Personal Extravagance Prevails There is Chance for Reforms.

A great many of us are exercised and justly, over the nation's drink bill—about fifty dollars a year for each family, when the average earnings of an American family are less than six hundred dollars a year, says David Graham Phillips in Delineator. Then there is the tobacco bill. Then there is the huge bill for rotten politics—monopolistic prices for the necessities of life. The total is appalling. But it does not approach in size or in mischief the bill for stupid luxury, including household waste on food and clothing. And I have a suspicion that, until we get men and women informed enough and sensible enough to look after the ordinary daily routine of expenditure on food and on clothing, we shall not get men and women informed enough and sensible enough to look after politics and such outrages as the stuffs sold at high prices as liquors and tobaccos.

Cotton Crop Smaller.

The cotton crop in Orangeburg county will not be as large this year as last year. According to the figures given out Monday by the Public Cotton Weighers Grumbling and Kennerly, the total number of bales that were weighed at the platform up to October 4, 1909, was 5,670. The total number weighed up to October 4, 1910 was 3,500. These figures show a marked falling off in the receipts for this year as compared with last year. About the same falling off is shown in all cotton states.—Times-Democrat.

Schedules for State Fair.

During the state fair in Raleigh next week, 17th to 22nd, the night express trains, Nos. 5 and 6, of the Norfolk Southern road, will stop at all stations on the Raleigh division. On the same dates train No. 18, due to leave Raleigh at 3 p. m., daily except Sunday, will leave there at 4:30 p. m. This will make convenient schedules for people along this road to attend the fair.

NOTES FROM THE UNIVERSITY.

Local Self-Government Organized Among the Student Body.

Chapel Hill, N. C., Oct. 10.—The different classes of the University have elected their presidents and the University council, the student organ of self-government, will soon inaugurate itself for the years work.

The student body of the University is probably more nearly absolutely self-governing than that of any other institution in the country. The University council has legal existence delegated it by the board of trustees last commencement. Student self-government began here with the literary societies in the olden time when membership was compulsory and the laws governing the society men reached the entire body of students. The literary societies lost their grip on the college with the removal of the membership requirement and the faculty had to take up the work of ruling the boys. Gradually the Democratic spirit in North Carolina manifested itself in the evolution of student self-government in Chapel Hill. The chief instrument in this development was the honor system. The sentiment of the college first took unto itself the right to deal with cheating on examination. The students forced a man to leave first for cheating and gradually added other offenses to the list with which it dealt on its own authority. By last spring the student council was expelling men found guilty of the charge of gambling, cheating, hazing, drinking. A complication arose when a man expelled by the council was re-instated by the faculty. A committee of students asked the trustees for official recognition of the council. This the trustees gave and the student body of the University of North Carolina is now a self-governing democracy, just as real and just and as sound as any community government in the state.

The officers of the council this year are Archie Dees, president of the senior class, ex-officio chairman; G. W. Thompson, representative from the senior class; A. B. Folger, president of the junior class; R. W. Scott, president of the sophomore class; C. B. Ruffin, representative from the law class; F. J. Hunnicut, president of the second year pharmacy class; and G. A. Wheeler, president of the second year medical class.

Roosevelt and Taft.

Colonel Roosevelt is not so big that he cannot be made to get down on his hands and knees and eat a little crow. Fearing that he would be unable to win in his New York convention fight, it comes out that he went to see Mr. Taft and implored his help. Then it was that the big man made him eat crow; he told him he would aid him if he would endorse the Aldrich tariff bill and Roosevelt had to do it, or go down in defeat, and this is what made the Western insurgents hop on the colonel, accusing him of selling out, etc. Of all the arrant humbugs and impostors in the country, Roosevelt heads the list. When he was president and had the power, he stood in with the regulars in every case and this after he had threatened them. It will be recalled that he threatened to do Joe Cannon, but the old man went to see him and Roosevelt was as meek as a lamb ever afterwards. He entertained the same ideas when he was in power, but the moment his party in congress read the riot act to him he wilted. And he will do the same thing again if placed in the same position. The only thing he is after is notoriety, which he believes will again make him president.—Greensboro Record.

Farming Not a Profession.

Not many years ago the farmer took poverty as one of his inheritances. He did not object to scanty yields. He was not looked down on if he failed to keep pace with modern development. To-day the farmer who does not raise his bale of cotton or his thirty-five bushels of corn to the acre is ashamed of himself. His neighbors look down on him. In other words, a spirit of emulation, of pride, an esprit de corps, as it were, has arisen among the agriculturists. They are getting to be the most enterprising and capable people of the world. Science has converted farming into a profession.—Charleston News and Courier.

Those who live on hope are seldom troubled with obesity.

NORTH CAROLINA NEWS.

Gathered From Our Exchanges Today of Events Just Happened.

One of the boldest and most thrilling highway robberies that has occurred in Mecklenburg county in recent years took place last Friday night on the Statesville road, about 30 o'clock. Two young ladies with escorts, were returning to the city from the home of a friend, who lives about 3 miles from Charlotte, when they were held up and robbed just a few feet from the bridge over Irvin's creek. The four people were driving in a surry and were moving along towards the city in high spirits. Just before crossing the Irvin creek bridge an automobile with two occupants passed. They noticed it and raised their hands, waving a salutation. The autoists responded to the greeting and passed on. It was within three minutes after the passing of the large touring car that the carriage was approached by two ruffians, the horse stopped and two pistols drawn with the words "money or life" Every penny in the possession of the young men was handed over and the jewelry of the young ladies taken. The two highwaymen then departed, advising the occupants to drive ahead at a fast gait.—Charlotte Chronicle.

La Grange, Oct. 10.—The cremated remains of Mr. Noe Palmer, of New York, were brought to La Grange Sunday and taken to the Rouse farm and interred.

Raleigh, Oct. 10.—Adj. Gen. J. F. Armfield is still detained at his home in Statesville on account of illness. He has been confined to his bed for some time, but is improving now. It is probable that he will be some time yet before he is able to resume his duties in the North Carolina national guard headquarters.

Mr. Thomas H. Blount, an aged citizen of Washington, died Sunday evening.

Raleigh, Oct. 10.—Governor Kitchin today commissioned Dr. D. E. Everitt and Col. W. P. Wood as directors of the North Carolina soldiers' home, to succeed the late Col. A. B. Stronach and the late Maj. B. F. Dixon. Col. Wood is the Democratic nominee for state auditor, and he takes the place of Major Dixon, late auditor, on the board. Major Dixon was secretary of the board of directors and it is expected that Col. Wood will assume the duties of the secretaryship when he enters upon his directorship.

Wilson, Oct. 10.—A young white man by the name of Junius Potter, who it is said broke jail in Goldsboro under the charge of horse stealing, was arrested in Wilson this morning while trying to sell a horse and buggy. Whose property it is the fellow was trying to dispose of here the police know not, but if anyone has lost a horse and buggy it will do well to call at headquarters and look them over. In a phone message from Goldsboro authorities here are informed that the theft occurred near LaGrange.

Raleigh, Oct. 10.—A habes corpus proceeding with multiplying complications that had a climax today in the swooning of a woman who is a prominent witness in the Supreme courtroom, while Chief Justice Walter Clark was hearing a prose of it is the case of Mrs. C. L. Petty vs. Mrs. D. M. Smith, in which the custody of the six-year-old daughter of Mrs. Petty is involved. Mrs. Petty lives in Raleigh, and Mrs. Smith at Kelly, Bladen county. Mrs. Kelly has the child, claiming that it had been committed to her to raise. On the other hand, the mother insisted that the child had only gone to Mrs. Smith for a visit.

Greensboro has been selected as the location for the home for aged and infirm Masons which the fraternity of the State will build.

Notice to Members.

Miss Lois Simmons, of Columbia, N. C., a student of the East Carolina Teachers' Training School, was elected organist of the Christian Sunday school, Sunday. All the members of the Sunday school are requested to be at the church promptly at 9:20 for choir practice.

J. G. LATHAM, Supt.

Daughters of Confederacy.

The State convention of the Daughters of the Confederacy meets in Rocky Mount tomorrow. The G. B. Singletary chapter, of Greenville, will be represented by Mesdames T. J. Jarvis, R. R. Cotten and T. A. Person.

PERSONAL BRIEFS.

The People Who Come and go on Our Trains.

Mr. J. J. Brabble, of Washington, was here today.

Prof. H. E. Austin has moved from one of the McGowan buildings, corner Ninth and Reade streets, to the Parker house on Evans street.

Miss Helen Gaston, of Syracuse N. Y., arrived Saturday evening to visit her sister, Miss Olive Gaston. She will take charge of a school in this county.

It has a drag.
What is it for?
To drag the streets.
Do they drag the streets?
They do not drag the streets.
Why do they not drag the streets?
Because they need it.

Building Improvements.

Mr. C. W. Harvey is having a handsome residence built on his lot on Fifth street, near Pitt.

Dr. E. A. Moye has commenced extensive improvements to his residence on Evans street.

W. P. Norcott, colored, has erected a small brick store near the end of the river bridge on Pitt street.

Laying brick has commenced on the new court house and one of the side walls is climbing up from the foundation.

Mr. W. H. Dall's new brick stables on Ninth street is nearing completion.

MEN'S LIVES NARROWER.

Concentration Prevents the Fullest Enjoyment.

Sometimes I think men have very much less capacity for large living than women, says Erman J. Ridgway, in the Delineator for November. Men concentrate better, perhaps, but the effect is not all desirable.

Men live one at a time. In early manhood they live in the future—a life of dreams, visions, hopes, sentiment. In middle age they live in the present. Concentrating on their life work. Making a record. Cashing in, only dreams. Little time for sentiment. In old age they live mostly in the past. Timid, in their waning power, they essay no mighty deeds, but dream over the dreams and fight over the fights of their splendid days. Is it not so?

How different from a woman's life—or it seems to me. If I have observed truly, women live their lives from young womanhood to the beautiful finish. Every day is all-round, complete and lived to the limit. No day passes without its troll thro' the past.

So sad, so sweet,
The days that are no more.

No day passes without its dreams for other days to be. And each passing day, however, active in the tasks of every day—nay, every hour of every passing day—in a woman's life it seems to me, the heart life, the life of sentiment, keeps step with the mind life and the body life.

What a pity men cannot live this threefold life! What a pity for the men! But especially, what a pity for the women! How often must women be hurt by the apparent hardness or indifference or forgetful mates!

Many times I have seen the pain in the eyes of uncared-for women in the presence of the rare and rarely-cared-for women. And how a man robs himself when he no longer shows how much he really cares! For men do care. No man would barter his wife for honor and riches is compelled to choose. He believes he can have her and them. He believes she will enjoy them too. He feels that she is part of him, that they are one. Of course they are not if he is going to take it for granted.

Let Us Hear From You.

Unless some were overlooked, statements have been mailed to every subscriber to The Reflector, both daily and weekly, who owe the paper as much as a dollar. Some have been very prompt in responding with a remittance or calling at the office to pay up. We hope all will do this and not wait for another statement to be sent. ## LOCAL BRIEFS.

Little Items too Short for a Head, but Interesting.

It was almost cold enough for frost this morning.

Several citizens of Farmville section were here today in a meeting looking after the drainage of lands along Contentnea creek.

Odd Fellows meet to-night.

The chrysanthemum is on the way. Keep your eye open and see if there is not frost before this week is out.

October is whizzing along, the cold weather is coming, and yet there are a number of business men who are not doing the advertising they ought to.

There will be a meeting of the Kings Daughters Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the home of Mrs. A. L. Blow.

Get ready to go to Wilson tomorrow to see Thomas Dixon's new play "The Sins of the Fathers." The railroad fare is only 75 cents for the round trip.

Give Us a New Kind of Text-Books.

In his new book on "Rural Life Problem in the United States," Sir Horace Plunkett, who has done such magnificent work for the rural regeneration in Ireland, has this to say of our American public school system:

"At present country children are educated as if for the purpose of driving them into the towns. To the pleasure which the cultured city man feels in the country—because he has been taught to feel it—the country child is insensible. The country offers continued interest to the mind which has been trained to be thoughtful and observant; the town offers continued distraction to the vacant eye and brain. Yet the education given to the country children has been invented for them in the town, and it not only bears no relation to the life they are to lead, but actually attracts them to a town career."

The remedy must be found in a new sort of text books; and the best educational work that the Farmers' Union can do is to insist upon having text books in harmony with rural life put in use in rural schools—not merely books that have an artificial or sentimental smattering of agricultural interest, but books that are in heart and marrow genuinely suited to the farmer's need, written by men with first-hand knowledge not only of country life, but of the problems of agricultural education.—Raleigh (N. C.) Progressive Farmer and Gazette.

Talk is cheap. Maybe that is why some politicians give out so much of it.

The oil stove is taking off the morning and evening chill until the furnace and heater come into requisition.

Since Mr. Hearst could get neither of the old parties in New York to take side with him, he has started a new party of his own.

Registration books for the November election are now open, and if you want to vote you should see that your name is written there.

Along with the immigrants comes the cholera. Two cases have developed on a steamer held at the New York quarantine station.

The thing that haunts the Republicans most is their past records. They have nothing to bring before the people on which to base a claim for support.

The Republican claim of prosperity is not backed up by so many mills running on short time. Men forced to be idle a third of their time are unable to see the prosperity.

Up in Poughkeepsie, N. Y., Cyrus Crum has been county clerk for 54 years. In spite of his advanced age of 86 he is again a candidate and will stump his county for re-election.

Two Ways of Thinking.

Two farmers met the other day. Said Farmer No. 1: "No, I am not going to the institute. I went two years ago and they told me to cultivate my corn shallow, and I tried it and didn't make half a crop." "On the other hand," replied Farmer No. 2, "I have been cultivating my corn shallow and I can show you on my farm ridge-furrow corn that won't make twenty bushels to the acre while level cultured will make sixty." Farmer No. 1 was one who jumps at conclusions regardless of peculiar circumstances that may or may not make a first test a success, while Farmer No. 2 tries out a thing and learns to do it in the right way.—Raleigh (N. C.) Progressive Farmer and Gazette.

Mr. Helton, the Republican candidate for solicitor, talks about the saving to the people if school books are furnished free, as is proposed. It is just as well to remember in this connection that these so-called free school books would have to be paid for out of the public treasury and the taxes to pay for them would be collected out of the people.—Statesville Landmark.

It's folly to be good unless you are good for something. The man who is entirely satisfied with himself is a freak.

Ask for Mother Gray's Australian Leaf at drug stores or sent by mail for 50 cents. Sample free. Address, The Mother Gray Co., LeRoy, N. Y.

The Negro in Politics.

There is a chapter in the Republican campaign text-book, published by the congressional campaign committee, entitled "Our Colored Citizens" which can only be described as disgusting in its appeal for the negro vote. It is certain North Carolina Republicans will not ask for the circulation of his campaign book in the State, for a perusal of this particular chapter would cause many well meaning Republicans to either stow away from the polls or to vote the Democratic ticket.

Here is one gem culled from the chapter entitled "Our Colored Citizens" that is typical of many in the book on which the Republican party is making its fight for control of the next congress:

"The platform adopted by the Republican party at Chicago, in 1908, contains a plank which stands squarely and unequivocally for all the civil and political rights of the Afro-American people.

"There is to be no question in the mind of any honorable, thinking, sane Afro-American as to which party he should support in this campaign. No truer sentiment has ever been uttered than that of the great Douglas, when he said:

"The Republican party is the ship; all else the sea."

One of the proud boasts of the Republican campaign beeg is that there are 14,397 negroes in the employ of the Federal government, and that they receive in salaries each year the sum of $8,557,621. Of course, credit for the appointment of the negroes to office is claimed by the campaign book for the Republican party.

North Carolina Republicans can never say anything about "raising the nigger issue" after this. About the only thing that Chairman McKinlay, Mr. Moehead, and the other members of the Republican campaign committee overlooked is the victory of Jack Johnson, at Reno.—Concord Tribune.

Rotation in Office.

The principle of rotation in office was one very earnestly advocated by Thomas Jefferson, and it is interesting to see that his opinions on the subject are now being quoted with approval in many parts of our territory. There is no doubt that the principle of rotation is wise and healthful, but there are one or two modifying facts which our voters should keep in mind.

In the first place, a very sharp distinction should be made between the offices in which merely routine work is done, such as those of sheriff, treasurer, register of deeds, auditor, secretary of state, etc., etc., on one hand and, on the other hand, offices requiring a high degree of constructive ability and technical skill such as commissioner of agriculture, superintendent of education, supervisor of roads, health commissioner, etc., etc. Formerly most officers of this class it is certainly important that a distinction be made between the two types. Of course, no inefficient man ought to be kept in any office because he is supposed to have experience in it, but we hope our Progressive Farmer readers will see to it that the wise principle of rotation is not carried to unwise extremes. Dr. S. C. Mitchell, of the University of South Carolina, declared the other day that while it was originally said that there were three departments of government, legislative, executive, and judicial, we now recognize four—legislative executive, judicial, and educational. In the executive offices, the mere execution of political and financial machinery, it is well to have rotation, but when a really able man has been found for the management of the schools, the roads, public health work, or agricultural development, there is no more reason for making frequent changes than there is for changing the professors in the State University.

In short, let us have as much rotation as the people wish in the executive offices, but less in legislative offices where influence comes with experience; still less in judicial offices, and least of all, perhaps, in the educational offices—provided in each case that the officer be a really able man who is doing his work well.—Raleigh (N. C.) Progressive Farmer and Gazette.

Did you ever hear a calliope shriek as it came at the end of the circus parade and notice the great crowd that followed it? This being so, think of Roosevelt's action just at present.—Wilmington Star.

And Now the Fall Stove Question

And it is a question, isn't it? You've heard of so many stoves and read so many advertisements that you wonder what to believe. We don't want to try and tell you here about our splendid line of "Buck's"—we couldn't if we would; space would not permit. But, we know you want the best stove or range that your money can buy, one that will last you a lifetime and give you the best of service and that's why we want you to call and see our "Buck's"—we know they are best and that is why they are on our floors.

A Lenoir Lady, After Two Weeks Grinding Labor, Feels Better Than Ever.

Lenoir, N. C.—"I am not tired at all, and am stouter than I have ever been," writes Mrs. Kate Waters, of Lenoir, N. C., "although I have just finished a two weeks' wash. I lay my strength to Cardui, the woman's tonic. I have taken a lot of it and I can never praise it enough for what it has done for me. I can never thank you enough for the advice you gave me, to take Cardui, for since taking it I look so well and am stout as a mule."

You are urged to take Cardui, that gentle, vegetable tonic, for weak women. Its use will strengthen and build up your system, relieve or prevent headache, backache and the ailments of weak women. It will surely help you, as it has helped thousands of others, in the past 50 years.

Where the Weather is Hot.
Bahrien, on the Persian gulf, is said to be one of the hottest places on earth. For six consecutive weeks there the thermometer has been known to stay above 100 in the shade. It varies the monotony, however, by occasional climbs to 125 degrees or so. There is no rainfall, and no wells exist, for attempts to reach water even at a depth of 500 feet have failed. However, in the bed of the ocean, a mile from shore, copious springs of fresh water gush out. This water is caught and brought to land in goatskin bags by native divers, who sell their merchandise at good prices. These submarine springs are said to be supplied from a mountain 900 miles away.

TAR AND FEATHERS.

A Coat of These Means Excruciating Torture to the Victim.

People who read of tarring and feathering know that the punishment is a very unpleasant one, but few imagine how terribly painful and dangerous it is. Hardened tar is very hard to remove from the skin, and when feathers are added it forms a kind of cement that sticks closer than a brother. As soon as the tar sets the victim's suffering begins. It contracts as it cools, and every one of the little veins on the body is pulled, causing the most exquisite agony. The perspiration is entirely stopped, and unless the tar is removed death is certain to ensue.

But the removal is no easy task and requires several days. The tar cannot be softened by the application of heat and must be peeled off bit by bit, sweet oil being used to make the process less painful. The irritation to the skin is very great, as the hairs cannot be disengaged, but must be pulled out or cut off. No man can be cleaned of tar in a single day, as the pain of the operation would be too excruciating for endurance, and until this is done he has to suffer from a pain like that of 10,000 pin pricks. Numbers of men have died under the torture, and none who have gone through it regard tar and feathering as anything but a most fearful infliction.

TOBACCO IN THE ARCTIC.

Resource of Miners When They Can Neither Chew Nor Smoke.

"When the wind is blowing thirty miles an hour and the temperature is 40 below it is some cold," said a man from Alaska. "If a man used tobacco in the ordinary way out of doors during such weather and got his lips wet through smoking a pipe or chewing he would be apt to get into trouble. First thing he knew he'd have his lips cracked, and they would be raw all winter long."

"The regulars stationed at the military posts up in Alaska found that if they tied a tobacco leaf in their armpit previous to undesired duty they would become very sick and could pass the post surgeon for hospital, getting rid of detail work they wanted to avoid."

"The miners up there learned something of this and found that the tobacco craving could be satisfied by binding a quantity of the leaf either in the armpit or against the solar plexus.
This avoided broken and bleeding lips during the winter, and they weren't prevented from smoking indoors as well if they wanted to. It was the outdoor smoking or chewing that made all the trouble."—New York Sun.

Way to Treat Venison.

The sportsman was explaining to a few of his uninitiated friends.
"If you don't like venison," he said, "it is because it has not been prepared properly. I think I know the kind you have tried to eat, and I agree with you it is not fit. After the deer has been shot the carcass probably has been allowed to lie around until the blood has discolored the meat and really has almost tainted it. Few hunters dress their game carefully enough. As soon as a deer is killed the carcass should be thoroughly bled, skinned, the entrails removed and the meat hung up in the dry air for some hours. Thorough and prompt bleeding is of the utmost importance. Venison prepared in this way is comparatively light in color—that is, it is a clear, bright red, and the fat is white and clean. There is no strong, rank taste."
—New York Press.

Revenge.

"Stop!" The brakes of the motor were suddenly applied, a pandemonium of whirling wheels ensued, and the motorist came face to face with Constable Copepp, who had been hiding in the hedge.

"Excuse me, sir," said the portly policeman, taking out his notebook and pencil, "but you exceeded the speed limit by two miles over a measured piece of road."

"I have done nothing of the kind," retorted the motorist, "and, besides—"
"Well, if you don't believe me I'll call the sergeant, bein' as it was 'im as took the time. He's in the pigsty yonder."

"Don't trouble, Robert," the other hastened to reply. "I would sooner pay fifty fines than disturb the sergeant at his meals!"—London Answers.

Faithful Woman.

I tell you that women, as a rule, are more faithful than men—ten times more faithful. I never saw a man pursue his wife into the very ditch and dust of degradation and take her in his arms. I never saw a man stand at the shore where she was wrecked, waiting for the waves to bring back her corpse to his arms, but I have seen a woman with her white arms lift a man from the mire of degradation and hold him to her bosom as if he were an angel.—Ingersoll.

His Way of Doing.

"Could the cashier of that company explain the muddle in the books?"
"He said he would clear it all up."
"Did he?"
"No, he didn't clear it up. He cleared out."—Baltimore American.

Ungallant.

Henderson—Ever met with any serious accident while traveling? Hen-peck—Did I? I met my wife while traveling abroad.

Trouble springs from idleness and grievous toll from needless esse-—Franklin.

A DEED OF DARING.

Twenty-seven Lives Saved by One Man in a Shipwreck.

A historic case of daring and endurance rarely equaled in life saving annals was that of the rescue of twenty-seven souls by one man in 1877. The fishing schooner Sea Clipper was driven by the tempest against a reef near the "Spotted Islands" on that coast and speedily went to pieces. Captain William Jackman, in charge of a fishing crew at these islands, had wandered in a direction he had never been before as if by inspiration and suddenly saw the whole tragedy enacted before his eyes. Hurrying his one companion back to the fishing station to summon help, he plunged into the howling swirl himself and eleven times swam to the ship. Each time he took back a human being to safety, battling splendidly against wind and tide.

Then help arrived, but no means was available of communicating with the vessel, so Jackman fastened a rope around his waist and made fifteen more trips, returning with a castaway on each occasion. It was then discovered that a woman had been overlooked and left on board, and the belief was expressed that she was dead, but he declared that he would not leave her there, living or dead. Accordingly he plunged into the surf again and soon bore the hapless creature to the shore, where, divesting himself of his flannels, he wrapped her round her, as she was almost at death's door. She expired a few hours later, but lived long enough to thank her preserver for his noble efforts in her behalf.— Wide World Magazine.

BROUGHT UP HOT WATER.

The Friction of the Boat Made the Ocean Almost Boil.

The steamship was speeding over seas with a record breaking list of passengers when one of the gay, young and inquiring girls who are found on every trip skipped up to the captain and asked:

"Captain, are we really going fast?
It seems as if we were just crawling."

"Fast," answered the captain gruffly, "of course we're going fast. With nothing to see but water and sky you can't judge our speed, but, my dear young lady, the friction of the boat is so great it makes the water hot af."

"I don't believe it," giggled the girl, and the captain, with a great show of indignation, called for a rope and bucket to prove his words. These brought, he swung the pail down aft of the vessel directly under the drainpipe of the galley, where hot water runs all day, and brought it up smoking, to the astonishment of the awestruck girl.

A long, lean Yankee who had been watching the performance then came forward and drawled, "Say, cap, that must make you change your course mighty often."

"Change my course?" blustered the captain. "What would I change my course for?"

"Well," said the Yankee slowly, "so damn much friction as that must wear the ocean out mighty quick."—Philadelphia Times.

Sugar.

Our word "sugar" is said to be derived from the Arabic "sukkar," the article itself having got into Europe through the Arabian Mohammedans, who overran a great part of the world in the seventh, eighth and ninth centuries. According to Dr. Van Lippman, a Dutch writer, as a result of the Arab invasion of Persia sugar found its way into Arabia, whence again its culture was carried to Cyprus, Rhodes, Sicily and Egypt. In the last named country the preparation of sugar was greatly improved, and the Egyptian product became widely famous. From Egypt the industry spread along the northern coasts of Africa and so entered Spain, where, about the year 1150, some fourteen refineries were in operation. Columbus introduced sugar cane into the new world.—Argonaut.

His Bad Dream.

Truly oriental was the defense put forward by a prisoner at Allpore. Charged with stealing a Hindu idol with its ornaments, he stated that the goddess told him in a dream the night before that, as she was not properly worshiped by the Hindu priest, she would be better taken care of by him, a Mohammedan, and that unless he took charge of her worship she would in her wrath destroy his whole family.
The magistrate, however, was not satisfied with the story and sentenced the accused to two months' rigorous imprisonment and to pay a fine.—Bombay Gazette.

When the Loss Was Felt.

Wife (on returning home after a long visit)—Have you noticed that my husband missed me much while I was away, Mary? Maid—Well, mum, I didn't notice that he felt your absence much at first, but this last day or two he has certainly seemed very downhearted, mum.

He Promised.

Sutton—No, can't spare the money very well, but I'll lend it to you if you promise not to keep it too long. Gay-boy—I'll undertake to spend every penny of it before tomorrow.—Washing-tonian.

Feeding the Fish.

Disgusted Fisherman (emptying his bait into the stream)—Hanged if I'll wait on you any longer! Here, help yourselves.—Life.

Sorrow is an evil with many feet.—
Simonides.

CYCLONE FORMATION.

The Mechanical Laws Are the Same as in a Whirlpool.

Any one can make the exact counterpart of a cyclone if he so desires. Of course a cyclone is caused by the air over a big area getting warm and light with small pressure. This air consequently tries to rise almost in a body and leaves a partial vacuum behind, but the outside cold air rushes in from all sides. Now, it is a scientific and mechanical truth that when a fluid runs in from all sides toward a central point it causes a whirlpool or rotation of the fluid. The exact analogy of a cyclone, then, although with the fluid water instead of air, is seen when the stopper is pulled out of the bottom of a basin full of water. An almost perfect vacuum, as far as the water is concerned, is caused by the water immediately over the stopper running out. The rest of the water rushes in from all directions, and a whirlpool is the result. There is one difference here from the air cyclone.
In the air the force with which it rushes toward the center greatly compresses the air whirling at that point and makes it very dense—so dense, in fact, that a straw carried in the central whirl can be driven into a big block of wood without bending. Of course in a whirlpool the water is not compressed, remaining practically the same in density all the time. That is one highly important property of water: it is practically incompressible.
Nevertheless it is very interesting to see the whirl form in a basin and know that the mechanical laws are the same as in the formation of a cyclone many miles wide.—Harper's Weekly.

NEW JERSEY TEA.

Red Root, That Did Good Service in Revolutionary Days.

You housekeepers of today whose favorite brands of Orange Pekoe, English Breakfast, India and Ceylon, etc., diffuse their fragrance over your tea table would hardly suppose that tea, or, rather, a fairly good substitute for it, was once made from the leaves of one of our prettiest New Jersey wild flowers. Yet so it was in the old turbulent days of the American Revolution, when they had so much trouble over the imported article and used various beverages as substitutes for that to which they had become accustomed.

New Jersey tea, or red root, as it is also called, is a low growing shrub with many branches, seldom over three feet high, and is found from Canada to Florida, growing usually in dry wooded sections. It is very abundant in New Jersey, for which it is named. It blooms profusely in July and is so showy, with its many pan-cled white blossoms, as to be quite worth a place in the gardens as an ornamental shrub. It has a dark red root, with leaves downy beneath and very much veined, by which it is easily distinguished from the pure tea. An infusion of the leaves prepared in the same manner as the genuine article has somewhat the taste of ordinary grades of the tea of the orient, but is not supposed to possess any of its stimulating properties.—Exchange.

Bulwer Lytton and His Chorus.

The Princess von Racowitsa met Bulwer Lytton in the Riviera toward the end of the fifties. He was then, she says in her autobiography, "past his first youth; his fame was at its zenith. He seemed to me antediluvian, with his long dyed curls and his old fashioned dress. He dressed exactly in the fashion of the twenties, with long coats reaching to the ankles, knee breeches and long colored waistcoats.
Also he appeared always with a young lady who adored him and who was followed by a manservant carrying a harp. She sat at his feet and appeared, as he did, in the costume of 1830, with long flowing curls, called Anglaises. He read aloud from his own works, and in especially poetic passages his 'Alice' accompanied him with arpeggios on the harp."

A Tree Climbing Dog.

A government official in Bavaria connected with the forestry department has a wonderful dog, which is as clever at climbing trees as a cat. If his master fastens a handle on a tree up in the treetops the animal will clamber up after it in the nimblest way and never fails to bring it down. He was taught by his mother, who was famous as a tree climber. The clever animal has won several medals by his extraordinary talent and takes particular delight in climbing silver birches, not the easiest tree in the world to scale, for the trunk is particularly smooth and slippery.—Wide World Magazine

Kindness to Animals.

"What I believe in," said Mr. Erasmus Plinkly, "is kindness to dumb animals."
"Yes," replied Miss Miami Brown.
"I has hyubed dat some folks kin lift a chicken off de roosts so gentle an'
tender dat he won't have his sleep disturbed ska'sely none."—Washington Star.

The Alternative.

Flgg—My wife wants a new silk dress.
Fogg—Are you going to let her have it?
Flgg—Yes. It's a case of silks or sulks.—Boston Transcript.

Unreasonable.

Mrs. Sharpe (severely)—Nornh, I can find only seven of these plates. Where are the other five? Cook (in surprise) —Sure, num, don't ye make no allowance for ordinary wear an' tear?

THE DEAREST GIFT.

A Pathetic Incident in the Life of Robert Browning.

A young American woman was traveling one day in an Italian railway coach, the only other occupant of the compartment being an elderly gentleman. Observing the interest of the young woman in the country through which they were passing and seeing also that it was new to her, the more experienced traveler pointed out objects and places of note.

From scenery the conversation drifted to books and authors, until something suggested to the young American one of Elizabeth Barrett Browning's sonnets, which she quoted.

She was astonished and abashed because the gentleman made no reply, but during the rest of the ride sat looking intently out of the window, having apparently forgotten the very existence of his traveling companion.

As they neared the station where the young lady was to leave the car she said timidly:

"I fear, sir, that I have offended you.
Perhaps you do not like Mrs. Browning's poetry."

The man slowly turned upon her tear dimmed eyes, and in a voice full of emotion he said:

"Madam, that sonnet is the sweetest, as its singer was the dearest, gift God ever gave to me."

Her traveling companion was Robert Browning.—Youth's Companion.

A CURIOUS ANIMAL.

The Sea Cucumber Can Part With and Replace Its Organs.

Among the curious animals which inhabit the sea we may take the botanaria, or sea cucumber, so called from its resemblance to the cucumber.

When this animal is attacked by an enemy it does not stand up and fight, but by a sudden movement it ejects its teeth, stomach, digestive apparatus and nearly all its intestines and then shrivels its body up to almost nothing.
When, however, the danger is past the animal commences to replace the organs which it has voluntarily parted with, and in a short time the animal is as perfect as ever it was.

Dr. Johnstone kept one in water for a long time, and one day he forgot to change the water. The creature in consequence ejected its intestines and shrivelled up, but when the water was changed all its organs were reproduced. Although the animal is not eaten in Europe, it is a favorite with the Chinese, and the fishing forms an important part of the industry of the east. Thousands of junks are annually used in fishing for trepang, as the animals are called.—London Tit-Bits.

Cows That Never Drink.

The "wild cow" of Arabia, in reality an antelope, the Beatrix oryx, is said never to drink, which is probably correct, for unless these animals can descend the wells they can find no drinking water for ten months in the year.
There is no surface water, and rain falls but precariously during the winter. Only once during my journey did I find a pool of rainwater, caught in a hollow rock, and even this I should have passed by without knowing of its existence had not my camels sniffed it from a distance and obstinately refused to be turned from going in that direction. These antelope, however, are provided by nature with a curious food supply, especially designed as a thirst quencher. This is a parasite which grows on the roots of the desert bushes and forms a long spadix full of water and juice. The antelope dig deep holes in the sand in order to get at these.—Wide World Magazine.

Easily Explained.

"They have to admit in the old world," said a New York theatrical man, "that we've got them beaten on every count. Talk to them about the matter and they can only quibble."

"Oh, yes," said an English banker to me the other day, 'you've got a great country, the greatest country in the world, there's no denying that.'

"Then he gave a nasty laugh."

"But look at your fires," he said.
'Your terrible fires are a disgrace to mankind.'

"Oh, our fires," said I, 'are due to the friction caused by our rapid growth.'

Man's Early Building.

The ruins of successive human habitations unearthed in Asia show how man advanced from primeval savagery to the pomp of Babylon and Nineveh.
First he improved the caves in which he dwelt by leveling the floors and cutting windows to give him light. Afterward he constructed entirely artificial habitations for himself, at first roughly made tents of boughs and leaves, then huts of mud and finally dwellings of wood and stone.

Spiteful.

"Yes," said the engaged girl, "Dick is very methodical. He gives me one kiss when he comes and two when he goes away."

"That's always been his way," returned her dearest friend. "I've heard lots of girls comment on it." Thus it happens that they cease to speak to each other.

Fell In With the Argument.

"The leading question," said the colonel, "is the financial one."
"Right," replied the major, "and I was just about to ask you to add $5 to that $10 I borrowed from you yesterday."—Uncle Remus' Magazine.

"The easiest thing I know of," says the philosopher of folly, "is to begin to save up some money next month."
—Cleveland Leader.

"The Sins of the Fathers" in Wilson on the night of the 12th, the Norfolk Southern railroad will sell round trip tickets at reduced rates.—The fare from Washington and points east of Greenville is $1.00, and from Greenville and Farmville 75 cents.

Low Rates to State Fair.

The Norfolk Southern railroad will sell round trip tickets to the State fair and home-coming week in Raleigh at extremely low rates. Tickets will be sold from the 15th to 22nd, inclusive, good to return until 24th.
Tickets agents will furnish informatory grounds, and the said defendant will further take notice that he is required to appear at the next term of the Superior court of Pitt county to be held on the 2nd Monday in November, 1910, it being the 14th day of November, 1910, at the court house of said county, in Greenville, N. C., and answer or demur to the complaint in said action, or the plaintiff will apply to the court for the relief demanded in said complaint.

This the 8th day of October, 1910.

A Correction.

The habit of contradicting sometimes "o'erleaps itself" unwittingly.

"I've heard it said," remarked a lounger at the crossroads store, "that John Henderson over by Woodville was one of eighteen sons."

"That's whar ye heard wrong," contributed the chronic kicker. "It wasn't
