PROTECTION DOES NOT HELP LABOR!

IN ANSWER TO A LETTER OF INQUIRY.

Governor Kitchin Makes the True Explanation of What Does and Does Not Regulate Price of Labor.

In reply to a letter of inquiry as to what he said in a certain speech, Governor Kitchin has written the following letter, which amply explains itself:

Mr. C. L. Harris, Mayodan, N. C.
Dear Sir:—Yours of the 7th has been received.

I did not state that the only hope was for our laborers to be paid the same wages as foreigners, but I conclusively showed, I think, that the tariff did not regulate wages. Since 1607, long before we had a tariff American wages were higher than European wages. The workmen of Australia get higher wages than those of North Carolina. The people of the State of Washington having the same tariff that we have, get twice as much wages; and the people of Alaska, with the same tariff get four times as much wages as our people. The sugar planter in Louisiana, having high protection, pays no more wages than the Louisiana cotton grower, who is unprotected. The protected man in no city pays more wages for the same class of work than the unprotected man, and pays no more for his wood, flour, or any other article. Our so-called protected laborers get no more wages than our unprotected carpenters, masons, painters, etc. The ability to pay high wages does not result in high wages. The highly rich pay no higher wages for the same labor than the poor pay.

I argued that since our American cotton mills are already producing more cotton manufacturers than the American people consume, and are thereby compelled to sell millions of dollars of them abroad in competition with foreign goods, that we must either stop building new mills and enlarging old ones or we must sell an increasing quantity of manufactured goods to foreign people; that in order to build up a foreign trade in cotton goods we must compete in foreign markets with foreign goods; that to do this our manufacturers, since they are not in a monopoly, and therefore cannot overcharge our people to make up for small profits or possible losses in the foreign market, must be in position to make goods more economically than we do now.

Admitting that our mill owners are up to date and the most intelligent in the world, and that the American laborer does more work in the same number of hours than any other laborer in the world and therefore entitled to more wages, and that our Southern cotton mills are in the midst of the cotton fields, yet under the protective policy our mills cannot profitably compete in the foreign market with foreign manufacturers. In order to do so, the tariff on mill machinery and supplies should be reduced to a revenue basis, and thus enable our mills to be equipped and supplied from $300 to $400 in the thousand dollars cheaper than at present.

Mill owners, clerks, and other employees, should have the opportunity of clothing themselves, equipping their homes and in every way taking care of themselves and their families free from the oppression of the protective policy. This could be done by reducing the tariff on all articles to a revenue basis.

The entire wages paid in American cotton mills is less than 27 per cent. of the value of the manufactured product. A 15 per cent. tariff on the value of manufactured products will more than pay the difference in wages in England and the United States, and yet we have an average tax of 50 per cent on manufacturers on the tariff list.

No Democrat favors free trade, but every one favors a tariff for revenue.

Free trade, England pays more wages than any other country in Europe, protected or otherwise, and her wages have increased 80 per cent. since she adopted the free-trade policy. An English weaver gets $6.86 a week wages and for shorter hours. Factory wages have been increasing here and elsewhere for a hundred years, and will continue to increase. Improved machinery enables labor to earn more, and improved social conditions demand more wages.

The laborer should have right to spend his wages without paying trib-

ROOSEVELT TRAIN BREAKS.

No Injury Resulted to Anybody on Board.

By Wire to The Reflector.
Cleveland, Ohio, Oct. 14.—While speeding 70 miles an hour one engine drawing a special train carrying Theodore Roosevelt and party, broke down early today at Holmesville Ohio. The train was brought to a stop without an accident, but 55 minutes was required to repair the broken part. The colonel said enroute today that he was going to put "ginger" into that New York campaign and was going to let everybody know there is an election on hand. He opens the campaign at Dunkirk, tonight.

MUST GO BACK TO ITALY.

Decision of Court Against Porter B. Charlton.

By Wire to The Reflector.
Jersey City, Oct. 14.—Judge John A. Blair, in court of common pleas, today, decided that Porter B. Charlton should be turned over to the United States government by the state of New Jersey for extradition to Italy, where he will be taken to stand trial for the murder of his wife. The decision was a severe blow at every contention made by young Charlton's lawyers. Charlton sat in court while the decision was being made, but he paid absolutely no attention to it.

Flying for the Prize.

By Wire to The Reflector.
Washington, Oct. 14.—With nearly a hundred army and navy officers among his spectators, Claude Graham White, English aviator, gave a daring exhibition of "bomb" throwing as he flew above the field at Bennings' race track on the outskirts of Washington. It is probable White will tomorrow make an endurance flight for the $10,000 offered by local newspapers.

It Sells High Here.

High prices continue to be the order of the day on the Greenville tobacco market. A foreign buyer who recently looked over the market said the price here was entirely too high for him.

ute to protection. Owing to the protective policy, the American laborer is compelled to pay from $13.50 to $16 for goods which the English laborer buys at $10. The Englishman pays $10.30 for a suit of woolen clothes which costs the American $20. The latter's wife pays twice as much for a pair of kid gloves. She pays $1.50 more for a hundred pounds of sugar than the Englishman's wife. She pays practically twice as much for her woolen blankets, flannels and shawls; 50 per cent more for woolen carpets and hats. She pays more for her cutlery, crockery, stove and for a majority of the articles to clothe herself and family and equip her home.

The primary purpose of the protective policy is to enable the protected interests to charge the American people more for goods than they would otherwise have to pay.

If labor got the benefit of the increased prices the benefit would be divided among millions instead of thousands, and the American conscience would not be so deeply aroused over protection's iniquity.

The American cotton mills already producing more goods than the Americans consume, not being in a trust, and competing with each other for the American market, do not and cannot hold the prices of their goods up to the protective tariff standard and are not repeating the high profits which were attainable in the past. If the theory had ever been true that protection regulates wages, the theory could not now apply to our cotton mills. The American people, whose cotton, corn, wheat, cattle, and hogs bring no greater prices than such products of the South American, English, and European farmers, and being compelled to pay greater prices for the protected goods they buy, and thereby deprived of their full ability to consume American cotton goods in other words, ninety millions of American consumers—the best purchasers of the globe—are so oppressed by the protective policy that they are unable to buy cotton goods from our factories in as great quantities as they would otherwise consume.

Yours truly,
W. W. KITCHIN, Governor.

AYDEN CORRESPONDENCE.

News Items About the Town and its People—Progressive Community.

Ayden, N. C., Oct. 14.—There is a pressing need that the railroad company should extend the cotton platform, for at times long trains of loaded teams can be seen waiting for room to deposit their produce on the platform.

The meeting at the Methodist church closed Wednesday night, and Rev. Mr. Bridgers left for his home in Kentucky. The good accomplished in this meeting will remain when the young man of God has been numbered among the redeemed.

Glad to see Mr. C. J. Smith out again from his recent illness.

Advertising surely pays, as is evidenced by the fact that Smith Company are ginning from 20 to 30 bales of cotton each day and are shipping car after car of seed. They gin cotton for the 20th and give you a full set of bagging and ties and pay you 50 cents cash per bushel for seed. There are no cleverer men than Garrius and Ormond to run a gin and mill.

We were glad to see Mr. R. H. Garrius in town Thursday after his severe attack of illness.

Cotton sold on Ayden exchange yesterday for 15 02 1-2. What market can beat it? Norfolk sold cotton on the same day, the same grade at 15 cents.

We have just received a car of cook and heating stoves, both coal and wood. We expect to sell coal this winter. Now is the time to buy your stove, heater or grate, and give in the order for your winter coal.—J. R. Smith Company.

Rev. M. Adams is holding a series of meetings in the Baptist church Services at 3.30 and 7.30 each day.

Rev. Marvin Ormond, pastor of the Methodist church at Smithfield is holding a meeting at his old home church, Ormond's chapel.

Mrs. J. R. Turnage is visiting relatives at Kinston.

Mr. A. F. Cox, of Winterville, has purchased the residence of Mr. William Tucker on West avenue.

Mr. W. H. Kilpatrick, of Grifton, was here Thursday buying cotton.

Ayden boasts of having the best cotton market in the country. The farmers must think so, too, from the number that sell on this market from many miles around.

Mrs. Stencil Hodges who has been visiting her parents in Virginia, came home Friday.

The Republican county candidates will speak here Saturday. Col. Harry Skinner and Hon. I. M. Meekins will be here and speak also.

TRADE REPORT.

Some Improvements in General Conditions.

Richmond, Va., Oct. 14.—Bradstreet's tomorrow will say for Richmond and vicinity: Trade conditions generally are fair some improvement being noted as cooler weather approaches, however, a lack of real buoyancy is noticeable in most lines. Collections continue generally slow, some tendency of improvement being noticed as the cotton crop is marketed. In North Carolina the cotton crops about equal that of last year, and prices range up to 14 1-2 cents a pound in Virginia tobacco is being marketed in fair quantities at satisfactory prices, considering the quality. Dry goods and shoes are fairly active. An increase demand for fertilizers and chemicals is reported. Buildings show less activity and the cheaper grades of lumber are in poor demand. Retail trade in seasonable commodities shows improvement.

MORE GOOD CORN YIELDS.

Much Interest in The Boys' Corn Growing Contests.

Several Pitt county boys last spring entered the corn growing contest, and they went to work to see how much corn they could raise on one acre. Some fine yields have already been reported, and others are coming in. On Wednesday the committee measured an acre grown by Moses Moye, a son of Mr. A. J. Moye, in Farmville township, and his yield was 88 3-4 bushels. On Wednesday they measured an acre for Mack Smith, a son of Mr. Ivey Smith, in Beaver Dam and his yield was 85 1-2 bushels.

Mr. Moses Moye, of Farmville township, who is in the farm demonstration work, made a yield of 68 3-4 bushels to the acre.

FRANCE TERRORIZED BY ANARCHIST'S BOMB.

STRIKE TAKES ON NEW PHASE IN LABOR TROUBLE.

One Bomb Exploded and Another Found—President Vallieres Doubly Guarded.

By Cable to The Reflector.

Paris, Oct. 14.—Following the official declaration that they would be at work on their lines within 24 hours the government found a new menace today and immediately directed a frantic crusade against anarchists. This action followed a bomb outrage. The government claims the strike is broken, but continues to mass troops. Strike leaders still talk confidently of success. The military guard around the residence of President Vallieres was doubled today.

Paris, Oct. 14.—A wide spread plot of supposed anarchists origin was revealed here today when a second bomb, similar to that exploded early this morning was found. The police immediately redoubled their efforts to learn the identity of the placers of the bombs and to find if others had been hidden. Paris was terrorized by the discovery, for it is feared bombs have been placed in many sections of the city.

NORTH CAROLINA NEWS.

Gathered From Our Exchanges Today of Events Just Happened.

This is no time for chickens to contract cholera and other diseases that reduce the supply. A man who raises chickens near the city said the other day that he lost sixty inside of two weeks and does not know yet what killed them. A chicken would show up in the morning all right; by the next morning it would be dead. Another man lost 40 recently, but he is satisfied it was cholera. Prices are too high for these birds to be dying off like this.—Greensboro Record

Thomasville, October 13.—Late Monday afternoon as little Clarence Peacock, the youngest son of County Coroner Dr. J. M. Peacock was playing alone in the back yard a vicious rabid cat attacked him. The cat jumped on the child and lacerated its face. The nurse frightened the cat away and tried to kill it, but it escaped. Dr. Peacock carried the child to Raleigh yesterday, where it will be placed in the hospital and receive the Pasteur treatment. About four weeks ago a mad cat had been killed in that section of the town and it is thought that this cat was bitten by the one that had been previously killed.

At 8 o'clock yesterday morning the home of Mr. J. Milton Lisk, of Mt. Gilead, was the scene of a sad accident which resulted in the death of a bright little daughter of the home. As the 10-year-old son was placing a shotgun in the closet he struck the hammer against the door and in some way fired the gun, the load striking his 8-year-old sister in the left eye. Death was instantly and the head of the little girl was almost blown off.—Wadesboro Ansonian.

The clerks of the various towns in North Carolina that expect to participate in the benefits of the Firemen's Benefit Fund provided through taxation levied against the insurance companies on the basis of the policies maintained in the various towns, are being called upon just now by Commissioner James R. Young, for reports on the status of the fire-fighting apparatus and the observance of the state law against fire waste. Towns that have as much as $1,000 invested in fire-fighting apparatus are allowed to share this fund. The tax against the fire insurance companies is one half of one per cent. on the policies in vogue in the respective towns. Each town gets the entire tax that is paid on the business done in the town by the various insurance companies. Only the companies that have their home offices in other states are subject to this tax.

We have just learned of a big robbery on Haymount several nights ago. Thieves entered Vernon Place, the Woodward home, none of the members of the family being at home, and ransacked every room in the house they carried off great quantities of clothing bric-a-brac, family heir-looms, pieces of furniture and anything that suited their fancy.—Fayetteville Observer.

Mr. Jasper Clark, of Farmville, spent the day here.

PERSONAL BRIEFS.

The People Who Come and go on Our Trains.

Mr. S. J. Everett went to Greensboro Thursday evening.

Miss Roland Jenkins went to Tarboro Thursday evening and returned this morning.

Mr. W. Stoevesandt, of Bremen Germany a representative of German tobacco manufacturers, spent Thursday on the Greenville market.

Mrs. D. J. Whichard returned Thursday night from Richmond.

Miss Bettie Warren went to Washington this morning to visit her sister, Mrs. E. B. Moore.

Messrs. R. O. Jeffries, H. McClellan and F. D. Foxhall went to Tarboro Thursday evening.

Miss Sallie Davenport of Oak City, who has been visiting the Misses Manning, left this morning.

Mr. E. L. Daughtridge went to Robertsonville today.

Mr. S. T. White went to Kinston today.

LAWS RELATING TO CHILDREN.

The Delineator Will Celebrate 40th Anniversary by Reform Movement.

The Delineator has reached the "fair, fat and forty" stage, says Erma J. Ridgway, in Conversation, for November. Before this anniversary year has closed we shall ask the public to help us erect a memorial to commemorate the great occasion. The memorial we shall purpose to commemorate the Delineator's forty years and to which we shall ask every one to contribute, will not be built of wood and stone. We shall not ask contributions in money. The memorial will not be made with hands. No eye shall even see it. But it will be real lasting and beautiful beyond words.

The plans of this memorial are in the hands of the greatest architects in the world—men and women expert in the foundations and framework of society.

And every one will wish to help.

Do you know what the laws are in your state regarding children who have no parents, no guardian no home no chance? The laws are probably very hard, very cold, very imperfect, very hopeless for the poor little waif all alone in the world. Have you ever imagined yourself a little tot left quite alone in the world? Try to imagine it.

We are going to celebrate the Delineator's anniversary by showing to leading men and women, and legislators in every state, how poor are their laws, what are good laws, and with your help, we are going to have the laws changed.

A big contract, surely, but we have money and the heart, and with the splendid backing of you and the other five million women we hope to interest, why should we not win? We will win. Isn't that a glorious way to celebrate an anniversary? And you will help, won't you?

What is a croaker?

A fish that makes a noise.

Are there any other croakers?

Yes, some people are croakers.

What do they do?

Make a noise and get in the way of improvements.

Has Greenville any of these croakers?

Yes, more than are needed.

Are they any good to the town?

None at all, but a hindrance.

What is best to do with such croakers?

Bury them.

Sells 24 Acres of Onions for $12,982.00

Bermuda onions grown in Texas are not equal in all respects to those raised in the island whose name they bear, but they are proving to be one of the most profitable field crops raised in the state. Take by way of illustration the experience of Charles Valz, a farmer near the town of Mission. He has just sold his onion crop from twenty-four acres of land for $12,982. Deducting from that amount the cost of planting, cultivating, harvesting marketing, he has left a net return of $9,083. The crop filled twenty-two freight cars and took seven months to mature from the time of planting, the same land will be planted with other varieties of produce and made to yield gross returns of $200 an acre before time comes for another sowing of onions. Considering that Mr. Valz's land was worth only $1 an acre ten years ago, before it was irrigated, it will be recognized that onion farming in Texas is decidedly worth while.

The Terrors of Ennui.

Most people think that wonderful possessions make for happiness. But no, indeed. These things never bring happiness. Never, never, never! And don't you let yourself think so for half a minute. They bring on the contrary, sadness, weariness and ennui. Oh, is there anything on earth as awful as ennui? It bites into the very soul and saps life of all that is worth while. It is worse than sorrow, worse than sickness, worse than death.

Now ennui always engenders other conditions unless you die of it. Lots of people have died of ennui, though the doctors and the coroner call it all sorts of different names. And among the conditions that develop from ennui are vice, and dissipation and politics in a man; selfish philanthropy or suffragette enthusiasm in a woman.—Designer.

FRIDAY, OCTOBER 14, 1910.

A great menace in the way of enforcing the prohibition law is the near-beer saloon.

We expect the "terrible" Teddy was afraid to say anything about "Uncle Joe" when he struck the latter's town.

This far ahead it looks like there is hardly a doubt that New York will go Democratic in the coming election.

As the government levies no tariff on bird eggs somebody might try to work up a business in that line.

Wonder if there will be any unpaid railroad bills hanging over Mr. Roosevelt when he finishes the present junket.

The Republicans talk quite loud now about giving the corporations "a square deal." Certainly, they want campaign contributions.

Notwithstanding Greenville has the best slogan of any town in the State, "Our Greenville, Yours if You Come," the home folks do not use it as they ought to.

A town with more drones than active workers may expect dull business. How many men in Greenville are really trying to draw business to the town?

The Republicans are this thing here and the other thing yonder. Just depends upon the sentiment of the section. Recent utterances of Taft and Roosevelt are referred to as examples.

Besides an increase of 88 per cent. in population, the Charlotte News gives a long list of good things that town has added in the past census period and concludes with "Watch Charlotte Grow." We are watching, with some degree of satisfaction, too.

RAP Cooley threw consternation among the Republicans when he said he would not support their candidates. They are perhaps wondering what they endorsed him for. Unless they vote for him he will hardly have a corporal's guard to count.

Greenville needs more business, and the best way to get it is to establish manufacturing enterprises. Wage earners are the ones who spend their money fastest. If the town had the factories to give employment there would be no trouble in getting the wage earners who would have to spend their money here.

The net earnings of the Southern Railway, increasing nearly two millions dollars during the past fiscal year, does not look like there is any need for increasing freight rates. The Pennsylvania Railroad claims to be making only 5 1-2 per cent. Surely that is as big a system and operates through as prosperous a section as the Southern, and the claim that it is not making money must be made for effect and the intention to deceive.

Republicans of South Carolina.
A despatch from Greenville, S. C., dated October 1st, says:

"At a convention of the Republicans of the fourth district, held here this afternoon, Thomas Briar, colored, of this city, was nominated for congress to oppose Joseph T. Johnson, the nominee of the Democratic party."

Read that in connection with the following Washington despatch of October 6th:

"An executive conference of the executive committee of the National Independence League, a negro organization, held an all-day session here today, and issued an address to the colored voters of the United States, urging them to vote independently in politics. These same negroes handed out the same kind of advice during the Bryan-Taft campaign two years ago, and then all hands voted the Republican ticket on election day."

"In the demands which they put up to candidates for congress they ask for a Federal election law the enforcement of the constitution, so as to stop disfranchisement and peonage against the passage of a national Jim Crow car law, and for national legislation against lynching and mob law."

Congressman Cowles is in accord with them in their demand for a Federal election law, and in other respects the Republican party in North Carolina appeals to the league.

Then go further and read what Judge Bynum, now chairman of the Republican executive committee of the fifth district, wrote to Dr. J. E. Dellinger, a negro doctor of Greensboro, on May 2nd. Here it is:

"In many states of the Union the negro holds the balance of power, and the question is not so much what the Republican party will do with him as what he will do with it. Likewise in this state there are thousands of colored men who have the requisite qualifications for voting, and who, will be upheld by all law-abiding citizens in the exercise of their right without discouragement or discrimination. And the party that undertakes to make of these qualified voters political outcasts on account of their color, may soon find itself in need of their votes and realize perhaps too late the magnitude of its blunder."

"I am emphatically in favor of according to the colored man, freely and fairly, every political right, and I am therefore not in accord with nor do I approve of the acts or policy of any party tending to deprive him of those rights."

Is Mayor Robert F. Maddox, of Atlanta, seeking admission to the Ananias club? He says Col. Roosevelt said to him while in that city the other day that if "I thought I could carry a single southern state I would run for president." We have no doubt but that the colonel said it, but it would be just like him to deny it. On the other hand, the colonel may be seeking a pretext to enter the race, and having no other, would excuse himself by saying that the people of the south wanted him and he believed it would be the best for the country to break the solid south. It doesn't seem now as if it would take much of an excuse to get the colonel into the open running and probably this would do as well as any other. But the people of the south are not going to vote for Colonel Roosevelt for president. They are a conservative people and none know better than they what a return of Roosevelt to power would mean.—Raleigh Times.

CATARRH GERMS.

Move Out When Hyomei Moves In.
No stomach desing. HYOMEI (pronounce it High-o-me) is made from the highest grade of eucalyptus, taken from the eucalyptus forest of Australia, and combined with the excellent antiseptics employed in the Listerian system.

In inland Australia the atmosphere is so impregnated with balsam thrown out by the eucalyptus trees that germs cannot live, and in consequence catarrh and consumption are unknown. Breathe HYOMEI and get the very same pleasant, healing, germ-killing, air as you would get in the eucalyptus forests and kill the germs.

HYOMEI is sold by Coward & Wooten and druggists everywhere, at $1.00 a complete outfit.

An outfit consists of a bottle of HYOMEI, a hard rubber pocket inhaler and simple instructions for use. The inhaler will last a lifetime, but bear in mind if you need another bottle of HYOMEI you can get it at druggists for only 50c at any time. Guaranteed to cure catarrh, croup and throat troubles, or money back. Trial sample of Hyomei free to readers of The Reflector. Address Booth's Hyomei Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

KEEP THE KIDNEYS WELL.

Health is Worth Saving, and Some Greenville People Know How to Save It.

Many Greenville people take their lives in their hands by neglecting the kidneys when they know these organs need help. Sick kidneys are responsible for a vast amount of suffering and ill health, but there is no need to suffer nor to remain in danger when all diseases and aches and pains due to weak kidneys can be quickly and permanently cured by the use of Doan's Kidney Pills. The following statement leaves no ground for doubt.

Mrs. S. A. Simmons, 504 Heritage St., Kinston, N. C., says: "I found Doan's Kidney Pills to be an effective remedy for kidney trouble and headache. My back pained me for a long time and my kidneys were much disordered. I happened to read about Doan's Kidney Pills, and procuring a box, I began using them. They benefited me in every way and I am now free from backache and am able to rest well; in fact, I feel better in every way. I am glad to give Doan's Kidney Pills my endorsement."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States. Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

A Dream and Its Sequel.
"In one of the East Indian border wars there was engaged an officer of high repute, the member of an ancient county family," says Mrs. Mayo in "Recollections of Fifty Years." One night the laird, its head, started from his sleep, exclaiming:
"There's the shot that has killed my brother!"
"His wife told him it was but a dream. He must have given an anxious thought to his brothers before going to sleep. Next day the pair were in the garden directing their gardeners when the laird suddenly exclaimed:
"Do you hear the bagpipes?"
"No," answered the lady. "I can hear nothing. I am sure there is no sound."
"Strange," said the laird, "for I can even hear what is played. It is 'The Flowers of the Forest Are A' Wee Away.'"
"A few hours later came the telegram reporting that the brother had been shot down by some border warrior and over his lonely grave the men of his regiment had played the pathetic air whose mysterious echo seemed to have reached the laird."

Shakespeare's Definition of Poetry.
What a pity it is that Shakespeare ever used that phrase "fine frenzy!"
It has become a faddish factor in the framing of foolish fancies. It is to the honor of Shakespeare, however, that he came nearer to giving the world the true definition of poetry than has any other man, for he did explain what constitutes the true art of poetry making, and from this we are enabled to know what Shakespeare considered poetry. Curiously enough, it is in the very passage where Shakespeare uses that unfortunate phrase
"fine frenzy." Let us quote:
The poet's eye, in a fine frenzy rolling, Doth glance from heaven to earth, from earth to heaven.
And as imagination bodies forth
The forms of things unknown the poet's pen
Turns them to shapes and gives to airy nothing
A local habitation and a name.
—Hudson Maxim's "Science of Poetry and Philosophy of Language."

Hard to Understand.
Supposing some one should spring
this on you rapidly and ask you what it meant: "Mare-zent-toats-deer-zent-toatslam-sleatvry-llt-tie-kid-slen-tivy-too."
You would never think it was plain English, but it is. It is simply: "Mares eat oats; deers eat oats; lambs 'll eat ivy; little kids 'll eat ivy too."
You should say this over many times to yourself until you can roll it off very quickly, run the words together, and then when you try it on your friends they will have to confess that they can't understand it. They will feel quite foolish when you show them that it is common English and that it sounds odd only because the words are spoken fast and run in together. It is this running of the words in together which makes it hard for a foreigner to understand our language or us theirs.
—Omaha World-Herald.

England's Greatest Mine Fire.
The most serious colliery fire ever known in Britain was undoubtedly that which broke out at the Tawd valley mine, near Preston, in 1872. Thousands of pounds were spent in trying to get the flames under control, but they overcame everything and consumed some millions of tons of coal. A wall ten feet in thickness was built round the affected parts, but the heat cracked the masonry and brought it down as fast as it was rebuilt. However, in 1897 the river Tawd overflowed its banks and went pouring down into the mine. No fire could withstand such an immense volume of water hurled upon it, and, although the flames extended for 500 yards, they were quenched after having raged for a quarter of a century.—London Tit-Bits.

Preaching Monkeys.
The author of "The History of Brazil" tells of a species of monkey called "preachers." Every morning and evening these monkeys assemble in the woods. One takes a higher position than the rest and makes a signal with his fore paw. At this signal the others sit around him and listen. When they are all seated he begins to utter a series of sounds. When he stops these cries he makes another signal with his paw, and the others cry out until he makes a third signal, upon which they become silent again. This author, Mr. Maregrove, asserts that he was a witness to these preachings.

A Use For Him.
"That horse of yours looks terribly run down."
"Yes," replied Uncle Si Simlin.
"Why do you keep him?"
"Well, it's a kind of comfort to have him around. As long as I've got him I feel that there ain't much danger of my bet'n' cheated in a boss trade."—
Washington Star.

Not a Good Son.
Necessity turned sharply to invention.
"If I'm your mother," she said, "it's your duty to support me in comfort."
But invention, as we all know, usually dodges his duty.—Chicago Tribune.

Gallant.
Nell—I have to read a paper on "Ideal Woman" at the next meeting of our ladies' club. Jack—Well, all you need to do is to stand up and let them look at you.

More Noticeable.
The more rare a man's qualities are the more he will be found fault with.
Dust on a diamond is always more noticeable than dust on a brick.—Josh Billings.

ROYAL

STANDARD TYPEWRITER

The Royal represents economy in more ways than one:

It costs less to keep in order, because it STAYS in order--doesn't waste time by breaking down on a busy day. It turns out MORE work, because it is easier to understand, easier to operate, and capable of unlimited speed. It does BETTER work, and lasts LONGER, because it is simpler, has fewer working parts, and they are made of better materials.

A Royal in your office will soon save its own cost.

Mrs. Grundy.

The first mention of Mrs. Grundy is found in Morton's clever comedy "Speed the Plow." Farmer Ashfield, at table with his jug and pipe, is talking to his wife on her return from market.

"Well, dame, welcome whom. What news does thee bring from market?" "What news, husband? What I always told you—that Farmer Grundy's wheat brought 5 shillings a quarter more than ours did."

"All the better for her!" "Ah, the sun seems to shine on purpose for him."

"Come, come, missus, as thee has not the grace to thank God for prosperous times, dan't thee grumble when they be unkindly a bit."

"And I assure you Dame Grundy's 'utter was quite the crack of the market."

"Be quiet, wool ye? Always dinging Dame Grundy into my ears: 'What will Mrs. Grundy say? What will Mrs. Grundy think? Canst thee be quiet? Let ur alone and behave thyself pratty!'"

No Mystery About It.

The other night after Harker was safe in bed there came a mysterious tapping below his window. Harker slipped out of his covers and cautiously raised the sash.

"What's wanted?" he demanded, his teeth chattering.

"I just wanted to tell you," came a muffled voice, "that there's a hand moving around just inside your cellar window."

With visions of burglars Harker picked up his revolver and slipped through the halls in his pajamas. Cautiously he searched the cellar with a lighted candle, but it was empty. Outside on the sidewalk stood the stranger.

"I don't see any burglars down here," called Harker nervously.

"Who said anything about burglars?" laughed the stranger.

"Why, didn't you call me out of bed to tell me that there was a hand moving around near the cellar window?"

"Sure, it's the dial on the gas meter it works while you sleep."—Philadelphia Times.

A Terrible Punishment.

She was about ten years old and apparently very unhappy. A swollen face served to diagnose the case at a glance as an advanced stage of toothache. Over the door they entered was a sign which, being interpreted, read "Doctor of Dental Surgery." The mother led her to the operating chair and smoothed back her tousled hair as she laid her head in the little rest. Looking her straight in her eye, with finger poised for emphasis, the mother said, "Now, Edith, if you cry I'll never take you to a dentist again."—Lippincott's.

Conscience Versus Art.
Shortly after Tennyson's poem "The Vision of Sin" appeared an eminent mathematician sent the poet a letter that ran like this:
"Dear Sir—I find in a recent poem of yours, entitled 'The Vision of Sin,' the following unwarranted statement: 'Every moment dies a man, and every moment one is born.' I need hardly point out that this calculation, if correct, would tend to keep the sum total of the world's population in a state of perpetual equipoise, whereas it is an established fact that the said population is constantly on the increase. I would therefore suggest that in the next edition of this poem the erroneous calculation to which I refer should be corrected as follows: 'Every moment dies a man, and one and a sixteenth is born.' I may add that the exact figures are 1.167, but something must, of course, be conceded to the laws of rhythm."
"That's the Way They All Do."
An enthusiastic citizen about to visit Europe was rejoicing over the fact and the pleasure to come.
"How delightful it will be," he said to his wife, "to tread the bounding billows and inhale the invigorating oxygen of the sea, the sea, the boundless sea! I long to see it—to breathe in great drafts of life giving air. I shall want to stand every moment on the prow of the steamer with my mouth open."
"You probably will, dear," interrupted his wife encouragingly. "That's the way all the ocean travelers do."—Detroit News-Tribune.
The Wizard.
"It's a remarkable thing," said old Brightboy at tea time, "but I can push my saucer through the handle of my cup."
The others glanced at the small handle and gave the speaker a withering look.
"I can," persisted Brightboy.
"Do it, then," they challenged.
Calmly taking up his spoon, Brightboy passed it through the handle of the cup and then pushed the saucer with it.
Considerate.
"He pretends to love music, but he never asks me to sing." "Perhaps that's his way of proving it."
