

DR. CRIPPEN FOUND GUILTY OF MURDER.

JURY OUT LESS THAN HALF AN HOUR

Judge's Charge Favored Prisoner and Verdict Was Surprise—Miss Le Neve Will be Put on Trial Monday.

London, Oct. 22.—Dr. H. H. Crippen was found guilty of the murder of his wife, Belle Elmore Crippen, and sentenced to death by hanging, in Old Bailey court this afternoon. The jury was out only 29 minutes. The charge of Lord Chief Justice Alverstone to the jury apparently favored the prisoner and the verdict came as a surprise. Crippen bore up stoically. Counsel gave notice of an appeal, and will stay execution. Miss Ethel Le Neve, for whose love Crippen put his wife out of the way, will be placed on trial Monday charged with being accessory after the fact.

VICTIM OF SECOND MEET.

Balloon Turns Turtle and Aviator Gets Hurt

By Cable to The Reflector.
International Aviation Field, Belmont Park, N. Y., Oct. 22.—Todd Shriver, a young American flier, was the first victim of the second aviation meet which opens this afternoon. Shriver was badly injured when he lost control of his machine 25 feet above the earth during an early morning flight. The motor went wrong at the grave-yard turn and the machine turned turtle, throwing Shriver to the ground and wrecking the car. Shriver was hurried to a hospital unconscious, but later returned to the field with his injured parts bandaged up. This meet is the second greatest of the kind in the annals of aviation. The aviators are competing for the international cup, the Michael trophy and a hundred thousand dollars worth of prizes.

POSTPONED A MONTH.

January First the Time for Opening Postal Savings Banks

By Wire to The Reflector.
Washington, Oct. 22.—On the recommendation of Postmaster-General Hitchcock the government board of trustees of the postal savings bank plans today decided to make the opening date of postal savings banks to January first, instead of December first, because the Christmas holidays will probably be an inauspicious time for opening.

FIFTY DROWNED

British Steamer Wrecked in South America.

By Cable to The Reflector.
Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, Oct. 22.—Fifty passengers and sailors were drowned today when the British steamship Wally was wrecked near the lighthouse at Aracaju. The vessel is a total loss. Some of the passengers and sailors were rescued, most of them were lost.

RECIPROCITY WITH CANADA

President Will Ask Congress to Pass Such a Bill

By Wire to The Reflector.
Washington, Oct. 22.—The president will ask congress at its next session to pass a bill definitely authorizing complete reciprocity with Canada. This is virtually certain as a result of a recent conference of President Taft, Secretary Knox, Henry M. Hazel, counselor of the state department, and Charles M. Hopper of the bureau of trade relations.

Former Pastor to Preach Tomorrow

Rev. J. E. Ayscue, former pastor of Memorial Baptist church here will occupy the pulpit of that church tomorrow morning and night. Mr. Ayscue has many friends in Greenville, where he once lived, and all will be glad of the opportunity to again hear him tomorrow.

HURRAH FOR GREENVILLE

Tribute to What the Farmers Con- solidated Tobacco Co. is Doing

Editor Reflector:
I feel like taking off my hat to you for that article telling the good of the Farmers Consolidated Tobacco Co. in trying to let the people know what is doing in the tobacco world, etc. Also am glad you said some good thing of Mr. O. L. Joyner, who I believe is trying to inform the tobacco farmer of the fact that it is to their advantage not to over produce if they expect fair prices. I have been at times right lonesome, as there is no one out near me that belongs to the Consolidated Co. As I would look out early in the morning in the first part of the tobacco selling season and see dozens of loads going by headed for Farmville, it was enough to make a fellow lonesome, but it is not so now. The tide has turned toward Greenville and all is lovely and bright. The Greenville warehousemen and buyers, too, must have realized that Greenville would drop to about sixth place if something was not done, and they have gone to work and are selling tobacco "up in the pictures", and are setting a pace for Kinston and Wilson, and leaving Farmville far behind. She is not even in the race. Hurrah, for the Greenville market. It is a humming. A strong pull, a long pull and a pull all together will keep Greenville in the lead.

The Farmville union is raging now out our way, but so far as I see things the Farmers Consolidated Tobacco Co. is a farmers union and is as good as any farmer's organization, if men were loyal, as they will have to be if the union ever accomplishes anything.

How One May Die Poor

This discussion going the round of the daily papers as to whether the report that Andrew Carnegie or John D. Rockefeller propose to establish an endowed newspaper is true or not suggests that they might study the old story about the contract made between the devil and a man who was anxious to have an ample supply of money for all his needs.

In order to secure the money desired he made a contract to sell his soul to the Devil, with the stipulation that he was to be supplied with unlimited money for any wild extravagance or any purpose of any kind for which he desired to use it. He and the Devil were to meet occasionally, and at such meetings he was to report the amount expended and get a new supply for future extravagance. Having made the contract, the Devil supplied him with money in abundance, which he endeavored to the best of his ability to spend. He indulged in yachts and fast horses and high living and owning of many homes in different lands, but still he could not get rid of all the money that the Devil willingly furnished in return for the bargain of his soul. At last, however, it entered into his head to publish a newspaper. He undertook the establishment of such an enterprise, and into this he poured the money which the Devil had furnished him so freely, satisfied that there was no limit to the amount of money that could be furnished. But in less than a year the devil sought a conference and told him that while he had been able in fulfilling the contract for the purchase of his soul to furnish the almost unlimited amount of money that he had been spending, he would be compelled to cancel the contract and let him take back his soul, as he could not provide money enough to run a newspaper, and he would rather cancel the contract and give back the man's soul than undertake the job.—Manufacturer's Record.

Let nothing be undone which ought to be done.

CONTENTMENT.

Contentment is the sum total of human happiness. During the whole progress of human life the principal materials of our comfort or uneasiness lie within ourselves. If the covetous or discontented could have more wealth and honor and be preserved from enemies and infirmities, if they could have perpetual youth given them, still they would be restless and unhappy. To good persons the little they have is under a blessing, and therefore, being content with it, they are happy.

FUNERAL SUNDAY AFTERNOON.

Remains of Mr. Zeno Brown Expect- ed This Evening.

Mr. W. L. Brown received telegraphic advices that the body of his son, Mr. Zeno Brown, who was killed while making electrical connections during the storm in Mulberry, Fla., Tuesday afternoon, was forwarded to Greenville by Friday morning's train, accompanied by Mr. L. L. Savage. The body is expected to reach here on the 6.30 A. C. L. train this evening, and will be taken from the depot to the residence of Mrs. M. E. Wilson, on Dickinson avenue, where Mr. Brown resides.

The funeral will take place Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock, the service being conducted in the Episcopal church by Rev. B. F. Husko, of New Bern.

The following gentlemen will act as pall bearers: John Sheburn, Fred. G. Smith, James I. Anderson, Norman Warren, Alex. I. Blow, Jr., L. L. Savage.

Interesting for Comparison.

It is interesting to compare the workings of English justice with that of American, or the progress made in the courts of England as compared with the courts of United States. With this idea in view it then becomes interesting to note the speed in bringing to trial Dr. Crippen and the conduct of the case. For a speedy trial England passes and surpasses this country, where trials are delayed not only often, but long. All kinds of twists are resorted to and technicalities taken advantage of in order to delay the trial of an alleged felon, especially if there is plenty of money behind him. The case of Charlton is taking a long course. There is no complicated question to be solved, though it is a serious one, being of just as much importance to society as to Charlton and his family, however. Yet weeks have already elapsed and there is no final decision. This case has not been settled in this country, and the trial of Dr. Crippen, whose case is little older than the Charlton crime, is well under way in London. The quickness and the sureness with which England moved in capturing Crippen and his companion and the rapidity with which he has been brought to trial is indeed wholesome. The conduct of the case has not been sufficiently developed as yet to draw a comparison, but in the quickness with which a jury was obtained, one being selected in a few hours, the trial is far ahead of any big murder trial ever held in this country. It generally takes days to get a jury in the United States. So, as far as it has progressed, the conduct of the Crippen case teaches a wholesome lesson to this country. It shows up much better for justice. The only apparent similarity in this trial and some in the United States is wild curiosity, especially on the part of those who rush to the court room.—Wilmington Dispatch

Notice.

At a meeting of the Executive committee of the Bryan Grimes Confederate Veterans held October 10th, 1910, the following gentlemen were appointed a monument committee to co-operate with the Daughters of the Confederacy in making arrangements for the erection of a monument to the memory of the Confederate veterans of Pitt county: R. W. King, chairman; W. B. Wilson, Treasurer; H. Harding, Secretary; W. L. Brown, Dr. R. L. Carr, A. L. Blow, R. Williams, J. G. Moye, Dr. C. O'H. Laughinghouse, D. C. Moore.

HAPPENINGS THROUGHOUT NORTH CAROLINA.

CREAM OF NEWS GATHERED FROM THE EXCHANGES.

Actor R. B. Pahr's Body Washed A- shore at Wilmington—Steamer Foundered Near Beaufort.

Wilmington, Oct. 20.—The Florida hurricane, which has been lashing the North Carolina coast since Tuesday, today washed ashore the body of Robert Barton Pahr, 23 years old, of Baltimore, leading man in the Thomas Dixon Theatrical Company, who was drowned Sunday while bathing in the surf at Wrightsville Beach with other members of the company. The body was picked up after the night's storm in the edge of the water by some fishermen, later brought to this city, prepared for burial and shipped to Baltimore tonight.

Beaufort, Oct. 20.—The tug Alexander Jones, of Wilmington, N. C., was foundered at sea in the West Indian hurricane while bound from Wilmington, to Knight Key, Fla., Captain Sanders and his crew of seven men were saved by a passing steamer. The vessel was of 60 tons displacement.

Kinston, Oct. 22.—The Dover Cedar Works plant at Dover was burned Tuesday, resulting in a loss of about $20,000. The mill had been manufacturing hard-wood lumber, but had not been in operation for several months.

The Torrens System.

The observant North Carolinian, Editor Clarence Poe, of the Progressive Farmer, is an enthusiastic advocate of the Torrens system of land registration and is trying to get it adopted in his own State. Writing of a recent visit to the Hawaiian Islands he says:

"I found the Torrens system of registering land titles in force in the islands, although our highly civilized states on the mainland still get along with an antiquated wasteful system which is an enormous loss and handicap in America real estate dealers, preventing the farmer from realizing on and using his capital and holding back progress, while benefiting no one save such scrubber lawyers as could not survive competition with lawyers of the better sort in regular and legitimate work." Some years ago there was a powerful movement in Virginia for the Torrens system, which provides easy transfer and insures of land titles, and the indorsement of the state bar association was obtained for the principal. Mr. Eugene C. Massie, of Richmond, was elected to the general assembly chiefly by virtue of his identification with this movement, but when he got in the legislature he found the opposition too strong to be overcome. He may find that the Torrens system has life in it yet in the Old Dominion, in spite of his discouraging experience.—Norfolk Landmark

HORSE UPSETS BUGGY.

One of Occupants Has a Narrow Escape.

Friday afternoon two men, whose names we could not learn, were driving along in a buggy, leading another horse behind them. An automobile coming up in the rear frightened the horse that was being led, and this horse jumped into one of the rear wheels of the buggy, breaking the vehicle down and throwing out the man who was holding the lead line. The horse came near stepping on the man's head, knocking his hat off and cutting two holes through it with the heel of the horse shoe. The horse that was hitched to the buggy also became frightened and for a few minutes a general mix-up was threatened.

ATTACKED WITH VERTIGO

Mr. D. D. Haskett Stricken This Morning.

Just after breakfast this morning, while going from his home in South Greenville to take his cows to the pasture, Mr. D. D. Haskett was stricken with vertigo and fell unconscious to the ground. At first it was thought he had dropped dead, and news spread over the town, but after being taken to his home he soon regained consciousness. The latest advice from his bedside is that he is resting well and getting along as well as could be expected, with hopes of his early recovery.

GOSPEL CHORUS

Meeting Called for Sunday After- noon.

In the proposed series of evangelistic meetings that the churches of Greenville are to hold under the leadership of Dr. Black, good inspiring music is a necessity. Dr. Black has especially requested that a good, loyal, efficient chorus be organized and prepared to assist him in this campaign.

Here is an opportunity and a call for personal service. If you are interested in the success of these meetings and are accustomed to have a share in the song service of your church, or Sunday school, or in the musical life of your home and community, you are cordially invited to join this chorus.

This chorus will meet promptly Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock in the chapel of the Jarvis Memorial church for organization and practice.

Miss Muffley, director of public school music and chorus work at the training school, and Mrs. Gaston will be present and assist. Will you?

H. E. Austin, Chm. Mus. Com.

The Chinese Gong.

The bugle does not sound the call to meals on the Pacific liners, as is the Atlantic habit. Instead a Chinaman pats a gong gently, and its booming echoes find the ear, no matter how remotely located. The gong is the quintessence of vibration. It sets waves of sound into motion that reverberate from every barrier. It means or defies according to the strength with which it is struck. No wonder the Chinese used it in battle to scare the foe!—New York World.

VALUE OF LAUGHTER.

Laughter is a foe to pain and disease and a sure cure for melancholia and worry. Laughter is contagious. Be cheerful and you make everybody around you happy and healthful. Use laughter as a table sauce. It stimulates the digestive processes. It keeps the heart and face young and enhances physical beauty. It gives warmth and glow to the whole system. Perfect health, which may be injured by bad news, by grief or by anxiety, is often restored by a hearty laugh.

BUILDING AND LOAN.

Tenth Series Opens on Saturday, November 5th

That building and loan associations do the most good for the most people is evidenced in every community where such an association exists. Greenville has a good one, and it is doing much good. The Home Building and Loan Association will open its tenth series on Saturday, November 5th, and you should see the secretary and treasurer and take some shares. It works for you while you are doing something else and helps you to "lay up for a rainy day." See the advertisement in this issue of The Reflector.

BALLOON LOST IN LAKE.

Men Swim Ashore and Suffer Fright- ful Hardships

New York, Oct. 22.—The Swiss balloon, Azereca, an entrant in the international race for the James Gordon Bennett cup, was lost in Lake Superior more than three days ago. The pilot and his aide escaped death by swimming. The men were lost in the woods three days after swimming ashore and suffered frightful hardships from cold and exposure. The balloons America II. and Dusseldorf II. are yet to be heard from.

SATURDAY, OCTOBER 22, 1910

Wellman was troubled with the same thing that afflicts many other people, had too much gas aboard.

Our coast country is great, but when a sure enough storm strikes it something appalling happens.

The Salisbury Watchman speaks a whole truth when it says:

"When you tackle a man for what he owes you, then you learn the stuff of which he is made."

Philadelphia took the world's championship in baseball, beating Chicago all three of the games played this week. Ball enthusiasts all over the country felt much interest in the championship games.

From the list of announcements made by the Democratic executive committee it will be seen that the people of Pitt county are going to hear some good speaking between now and the election.

The business folks getting together and pulling together is one of the greatest needs for bringing more business to Greenville. The Reflector may talk day after day to that end, but unless the business men themselves show that they want business they are not going to get much of it.

If every Democrat registers and then goes to the polls and votes, there is going to be a big majority on election day.

A Massachusetts woman claims to have discovered a new star the other night. That's nothing. A man can jump out of bed in the middle of the night, any old time the baby yells and crack his head on an open door and discover a dozen or more new stars.—Wilmington Dispatch.

"Women may gamble," says the Columbia State, "but they are never such gamblers as to bet each other hats." Which really, after all makes something the men who have to buy the hats should be thankful for.—Wilmington Dispatch.

"It is the first duty of the legislator who expects to be anything," remarks the Spartanburg Journal in an interesting address to the South Carolina lawmakers, "to get all the information he can on the Torrens system of land titles and on the subject of city government by commission." This is respectfully but earnestly referred to the gentlemen who expect to gather in Raleigh next January.—Charlotte Observer.

There have been five deaths in North Carolina within the past week from pellagra. It is a fearful disease and the victims are battling against it. It has carried off two of the brightest men in the state within the past month. The public should cooperate with the board of health in

The state of North Carolina on a square and fair issue voted by a majority of over 40,000 in favor of prohibition. That law has been in effect only long enough to give it a partial trial. The strongest and best men in the two political parties testify that it has been a blessing to the state already, yet there are men who are doing all they can to discredit the law and to launch a movement to have the law repealed. We warn the readers of The Advocate to be on the alert and allow no slick politician to deceive them.—N. C. Christian Advocate.

Agricultural Curiosities
Mr. J. C. Pierce, who lives near Thomasville, informs The Dispatch that he has on his place the following agricultural "curiosities": A stalk of corn that measures 15 1-2 feet high and has two fine ears of corn on it eight feet from the ground; a pumpkin that weighs 70 pounds and measures five feet and 1-4 inch in circumference; an apple that is four inches in diameter and weighs one and one-half pounds and is one foot in circumference; a grape vine that is three years old and this year bore one bushel of fine grapes; a tomato vine that has grown to be eighteen and one-half feet long and has a good crop of tomatoes on it yet and is still blooming; a lot of fine old-fashioned "dipper gourds" that have handles twenty-four inches long.—Lexington Dispatch.

Hogs' Tails.
Ye, who delight to angle in the secrets of creation and garner high philosophy from humble fields, who perceive that nature's trifles are wisdom in disguise and that every tadpole may fulfill some cosmic aim—attend to this tale of a hog:
Through immemorial years the hog's tail has been considered a mere bagatelle. Indeed, all tails, save the beaver's, the kangaroo's the monkey's and that of the fox in Aesop's fable have been accounted of little use to the owners they adorn and of less value to civilization. Some savants, to be sure, have held that the rat utilizes his tail in extracting from narrow-necked phials those unguents so toothsome to the crafty rodent. Howbeit, no scientist from Sir Francis Bacon to Sir Oliver Lodge had ever intimated that the swine's tail served any particular purpose, either to that animal itself or to mankind at large.

Yet, inquisitive human mind could not rest upon a conclusion so unsatisfying. Some hidden efficacy there must be even to the tail of a pig. So reasoned one Dr. Blossom, an earnest student of nature down in Louisiana. As Watt, night after night, observed his mother's tea kettle lid bobbing up from the steam, as Sir Isaac Newton, day after day, eyed the apples falling in his orchard, so did Dr. Blossom gaze upon the tail of the hog, profoundly meditating upon the secrets he suspected it to harbor. And, now, like all honest seekers after the truth, he has been rewarded. Yes, the value of hog tails has been discovered. The news dispatches are disappointingly meagre in their treatment of this important event, but they show beyond a doubt what a beneficent as well as interesting result attends the doctor's triumph. By long and careful experiment he has found that in the tail of the hog exists that peculiar brand of blood from which hog-cholera serum may be made. How simple it all seems, now that we know about it. All these centuries the hog has been carrying his drug store neatly hoisted above his hams.

Of course, the longer the tail, the more serum to be had and the more cholera can be cured. Wherefore wise farmers in Louisiana are mustering all the zeal and cunning at their command to raise long-tailed hogs.—Atlanta Journal.

We, the People.
The phrase "We, the people of the United States," in the preamble of the constitution read in the first draft of the constitution as follows: "We, the people of New Hampshire, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Connecticut, New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Delaware, Maryland, Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina and Georgia, do ordain, declare and establish," etc. Though unanimously adopted by the convention, the wording had to be changed to "We, the people," simply because the constitution, which had not as yet been ratified, was to go into effect when ratified by nine states, and, not knowing which states were to ratify, the naming of the states was, of course, out of the question.—New York American.

Fowls Flee From Cholera.
Rooks are not the only birds which are credited with having fled from cholera. When Malmo, in Sweden, was visited by the disease in 1834 the jackdaws and sparrows all disappeared. Mauritius has a similar tradition in connection with little native birds of her own. And British officers in India have heard from native servants that while kites and vultures hurry away when cholera begins to rage, the surest sign that the epidemic is definitely on the ebb is the return of those birds.—London Chronicle.

A Tough Meal.
It was a perilous honor to be a tradesman to the court of Philip II. of Spain. His son, Don Carlos of whose eccentricities Dr. A. S. Rappoport tells in his "Mad Majesties" was once supplied by the royal shoemaker with an ill fitting pair of boots. Thereupon Don Carlos went into a fit of fury, "ordered the boots to be cut up into small pieces, cooked and sent over to the shoemaker for him to eat. According to some accounts, the latter was actually forced to swallow his own boots."

ROYAL STANDARD TYPEWRITER

The Royal represents economy in more ways than one:

It costs less to keep in order, because it STAYS in order--doesn't waste time by breaking down on a busy day. It turns out MORE work, because it is easier to understand, easier to operate, and capable of unlimited speed. It does BETTER work, and lasts LONGER, because it is simpler, has fewer working parts, and they are made of better materials.

A Royal in your office will soon save its own cost.

PRICE, $65.00--The right price to pay for a high-grade typewriter

AWFUL PAINS FULLY DESCRIBED

A Lady of Pizarro Tells Story of Awful Suffering That Cardui
Finally Relieved.

Pizarro, Va.—"I suffered for several years," writes Mrs. Dorma A. Smith, "with that awful backache and the bearing down sensations, so fully described in your book.

"I tried doctors and other medicines and found little relief, until I was induced to try Wine of Cardui, when I found instant relief and today I can heartily recommend Cardui to all suffering women and think there is no other as good."

In some instances, Cardui gives instant relief; in others, it may take a little time.
But in all cases of female trouble Cardui can be depended on to be of benefit, as it is a specific remedy for women and acts in a curative way on the womanly organs.

As a general tonic for women, to build up your strength, improve your appetite, bring back rosy cheeks and make you look and feel young and happy, nothing you can find will do so much for you as Cardui.

Your druggist has it.

The FREE

This is the machine invented by Wm. C. Free of Chicago,— the machine which you have read so much about in the magazines—the machine which has a score of altogether new improvements—and the machine which is sold at a price so much lower than you are accustomed to pay for the highest grade sewing machine, that if we told you what the price was, it would prejudice you against the machine. We insist on showing you the machine and its points of superiority before telling you what a bargain it really is.
And to give you a better chance still of finding out for yourself how perfect it is, and to show you our absolute confidence in The FREE, we want you to give it

30 Days Trial Home

Try this machine—test it—sew with it on all kinds of material—if you then are not entirely satisfied—if you are not convinced that it is the best machine you have ever sewed on—the most improved—the most up-to-date—if the low price does not convince you that this is the biggest bargain you have ever bought, return the machine to us and we will refund your deposit so that the trial will not cost you a cent.

You haven't any idea how it will surprise you and how delighted you will be to keep it after you have sewed on it for 30 days. We know that you would never think of parting with it. Like all other women you will be in a flutter of excitement and enthusiasm about the many new inventions on The FREE. Our only reason for giving you this fair trial offer, is because we want you to have it 30 days.
—to see the real beauty of its French leg design and dustless japanning. —to let your feet find out that its 8 sets of Ball bearings have made The FREE the lightest running sewing machine in the world. —to learn the value of a Rotary Spool Pin, a Shuttle Ejector, an Improved Head Latch, a Square Feed, an Automatic Thread Controller, Automatic Locking Drawers, and scores of other improvements.

Come Tomorrow and See The FREE and take it home with you for a month's trial

No Cause For Alarm.
Nervous Passenger (on New Haven steamer)—There's a very peculiar noise in the water tonight. Do you notice it, captain?
Captain—Yes, madam. That's the regular Long Island sound.—Harlem Life.

The Mystery of a Duel.

Having fought his duel and saved his honor by firing a shot in the air, the editor of a French provincial newspaper went back to his desk, and the incident had quite left his mind when he felt something strange in his thigh. He looked and found that he was bleeding profusely. A doctor was called, who discovered that a bullet was imbedded in the editor's thigh some two inches deep and required extraction. "Why was this not taken notice of on the spot where the duel took place?" he asked. The editor was as much in the dark as the doctor. At the moment of the duel he had fired into the air, and his adversary also took a distracted sort of aim. There had evidently been no intention of doing the slightest harm on either side. The editor felt nothing as he left the field and had shaken hands with his antagonist as a sign of reconciliation. How a bullet came to be lodged in his thigh was simply one of the mysteries of dueling.—London Telegraph.

An Irish Grand Prix.

There was once an Irish Grand Prix. The horse that lowered the French colors was the property of an eccentric Irishman named Conolly and was a big, bony roan, not much to look at in the way of horseflesh, so it was a great surprise to everybody but his owner when he came in first. His previous record at the English Derby the preceding year had not been brilliant enough for anybody to lay any large bets on him, with the sole exception of Conolly himself, whose faith in his entry was so great that he mortgaged his lands and put every cent on the horse. Up to the very end of the race everybody looked on Conolly as a ruined man, but when the roan shot first under the wire he not only carried the British colors to victory, but won a great fortune for his master. This happened in the time of Napoleon III., and Conolly was so proud of his triumph that he insisted on walking ahead of the emperor and empress, cheering and waving his hat.—New York Press.

Fleet Footed Postmen of Venice.

Probably the letter carriers in Venice are the most ingenious in the world. They know how to dodge every waterway, turning up on their routes with a precise regularity that convinces you they have mapped every scrap of the damp city's dry land on their brains. If you go to your destination by gondola they can beat you thereto by a good bit of time. What they know about canals has been applied by them to navigation on land, and they know every tiny street in the city. Of course there are postoffice gondolas, too, gay yellow things that quite outcolor the yellow sunlight, and any day you happen over the bridge of the Rialto you will see them all fastened to their red and gold poles just underneath the old palatial Fondaco del Tedesco, which centuries ago by decree of the Venetian senate two famous architects of early days, Girolamo Tedesco and Giorgio Spavento, built for the use of the many German merchants then living in Venice (somewhere about the year 1505).—Travel Magazine.

Art at Home.

Believe me, if we want art to begin at home, as it must, we must clear our houses of troublesome superfluities that are forever in our way, conventional comforts that are not real comforts and do but make work for servants and doctors. If you want a golden rule that will fit everybody this is it: "Have nothing in your houses that you do not know to be useful or believe to be beautiful."—William Morris.

Let Us Put this Beautiful Range in Your Home Next Week, and Present You With a Valuable Set of Kitchen Utensils, FREE.

Remember, Next Week

We Shall Expect to See You

An Expert Demonstrator from South Bend, will be at our store all next week. Come, and you will hear some "Inside Range Information. You will also be served with Hot Biscuits and Coffee.

Carr & Atkins Hardware Company

Don't you think you have put up with that old cast iron cook stove, or poor steel range long enough? When you see The South Bend Malleable Range we are sure you will decide that you have. You want the best and you deserve to have it.

I HAVE ARRANGED WITH THE MALLEABLE STEEL RANGE CO., WHO MANUFACTURE THE MALLEABLE STEEL RANGE

to give a demonstration at the store of CARR & ATKINS, their sole agents, from Oct. 24th and to continue until October 29th. THIS IS SO YOU MAY ENJOY TWO TREATS. Seeing the MALLEABLE STEEL RANGE in service, and Tasting DUNLOP BISCUIT as you can cook them.

I will personally see that a tempting lunch is served with DUNLOP BISCUITS to each lady and her friends whom she may have to accompany her to this demonstration.

MORE THAN 80 CAR LOADS OF DUNLOP Superlative "Pure Wheat" FLOUR
