TOPIC FOR DISCUSSION IN NOVEMBER

THIS MONTH IS THE TIME TO BEGIN THE WORK

DEEP FALL BREAKING OF THE LAND

Progressive Farmers Who Plow Deep Show Best Results—Importance of Properly Distributed Supply of Moisture—Air Must Get Down to the Roots—Extreme Weather Conditions can be Largely Overcome.

For a considerable number of years Southern farmers have been trying to produce large, profitable crops of corn on shallow soils. The records of corn growing show that they have failed. During this same period a few of the more progressive farmers have been breaking their lands six to eight inches, and even ten inches, deep, and have produced from thirty to sixty bushels per acre at a small cost. For forty years the average depth of breaking land in North Carolina has been about four inches with an average yield of less than fifteen bushels of corn per acre. Last year the men engaged in the farmers' demonstration work broke three thousand acres from six to ten inches deep and harvested a little over forty bushels per acre. The cost was about twenty-five cents per bushel.

Can we not learn a valuable lesson from the experience of these farmers? Let us study briefly, some of the advantages of a deep soil. One of the most important problems connected with corn growing is a properly distributed supply of moisture. We cannot have this on shallow soils. The shallow soil is soon filled with water during rainfall. If the rains continue several days, the soil stays saturated with water. This keeps the air. (Two things cannot occupy the same space at the same time.) Corn will not grow unless air gets down to its roots. Therefore the corn fails during wet spells of weather. The excess of rain fall usually does much washing under such conditions. When the rains cease, the small amount of water held in a shallow soil is soon exhausted by evaporation and by being used by the corn, so that the corn now suffers for lack of moisture. With a deep soil these conditions do not exist. When rain comes, it sinks down into the lower parts of the deep soil, letting the air into the upper portions so that the corn continues its growth. When dry weather prevails the deep soil, by having caught previous rains is able to supply moisture enough to keep the corn green and growing.

In this section we nearly always have a wet spell or a dry spell of weather during the period of corn growing. One usually follows the other. The effects of both extremes can be largely overcome by having a deep seed bed. Then, too, it stands to reason that there is more plant food in a deep soil than in a shallow one.

Some exceptions to these statements should be noted. A soil that is filled with water during a considerable portion of the year is not benefited by deep plowing. If such soils were well drained, then deep breaking would be good for them. Many marshes and other wet soils would produce big crops if they were drained and deepened by plowing. Loose, sandy lands, with open porous subsoil without any clay in them or under them are not much benefited by deep breaking. If much humus is to be turned under on them, then deep plowing gives much better results.

The time of deepening the soil is important. Many farmers wait till spring to deepen their soils and often make poor crops because the subsoil was too wet to be plowed after the winter rains had fallen. The proper time to do deep breaking is during the fall and early winter, provided the soil and subsoil are dry enough. This permits several weeks' weathering to take place before spring planting begins. On lands that has never had the atmosphere down into it, it is not a fit place to plant seed. This also allows the soil to be pulverized by the freezes.

Both the air and the freezes are very valuable in making plant food available for the use of crops. In doing deep breaking any time, it is not advisable to turn very much

OUR WINTERVILLE CORRESPONDENCE

Notes From Our Hustling Neighbor—What Its People are Doing.

Winterville, N. C., Nov. 10.—Miss Mimie Cox left Saturday for Ashokle where she begins teaching Monday. Harrington, Barber & Company have a large stock of pants and are selling them real cheap.

Miss Mary Smith, of Ayden, spent Saturday in town.

See Harrington, Barber & Company for your flour, both western and home ground.

Miss Annie May Harrell, of Winterville High School, left Saturday to spend a day or two with her people at Oak City.

Some are divided as to politics, but all agree that A. W. Ange & Company sell goods cheap.

Misses Marion Brock and Fannie Smith, of E. C. T. S., spent Sunday with Miss Norma McLawhorn.

A. G. Cox Manufacturing Company seem to be selling a good lot of buggy harness. They handle the best quality.

Mr. J. S. Rollins bookkeeper for A. W. Ange & Company, spent Sunday at Whitehall, (Not Ayden.)

The Union Mercantile Company have been forced to employ more store room. Call on them for salt, flour, etc.

Mrs. June Fox, of Randleman, came in Sunday night to spend some time with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Bryan.

If you want a good pair of pants cheap, go to A. W. Ange & Company they have them.

Mr. J. D. Cox, who has been at Fairmount for some time, came in Saturday to spend a few days.

A. G. Cox Manufacturing Company have just received a big lot of nice wagon rim lightwood. Look out for more Tar Heel wagons.

Miss Mellissie Nelson left Sunday morning for Farmville to spend several weeks with friends.

Miss Sarah Patrick, of Greenville, spent several days with her brother, Mr. L. L. Kittrell, this week.

Mr. T. E. Cannon, bookkeeper for A. G. Cox Manufacturing Company spent last night at his home near Rountrees.

Mr. B. F. Manning, our clever cotton buyer went to Greenville and Washington yesterday.

UNION PRAYER SERVICES.

Being Held Three Nights in Preparation for the Black Meeting.

Beginning last night union prayer services are being held for three nights in the Methodist church, in preparation for the meeting to be held by Dr. William Black, which will begin next Sunday morning. The meeting last night was conducted by Rev. C. C. Ware, of the Christian church, and was well attended. Tonight's meeting will be conducted by Prof. Meadows.

Following these prayer services, the Gospel chorus has a rehearsal of songs to be used during the meeting. Mr. Burr the song leader, who accompanies Dr. Black in his meetings, will arrive Friday evening and have charge of the rehearsal that night. Two other special singers will come with Dr. Black Saturday evening.

Cutting Up the Farm.

Through the Wadesboro Messenger and Intelligencer, Judge K. T. Bennett is advocating small farms. "To do our best with large farms," he says "we should cut most of them into one-eighth, one-fourth, one-half and less. This not in our ken to tell it, but such cutting up produces a natural desire to improve and adorn these fractions. To profit by cropping, the shadow of the owner should fall upon the land whenever the sunshine admits his shadow. We can't make money by leaving the farm to a hireling, an alter ego in the master's hand." A more truthful deliverance than that was never made.—Charlotte Chronicle.

of the raw subsoil out on top. Those who expect to make big crops next year should begin now to deepen the soil. If properly done, under average conditions, no further deep breaking will be necessary in the spring. Then is the time to do a lot of discing and harrowing in order to make a nice well pulverized seed bed.

PRE-NUPTIAL SHOWER.

In Honor of Miss Glenn Forbes, Bride Elect.

Miss Alice Blow entertained the Young Ladies Club, in a very elegant style on Tuesday afternoon in honor of Miss Glenn Forbes, the bride elect.

The house was beautifully decorated with pot plants, smilax and cut flowers. The club members were enjoying themselves socially when the hostess announced the arrival of cupid, and in walked little Haywoad, Jr., dressed as cupid, pulling a wagon, artistically decorated with hearts and cupids, and loaded with everything necessary for the most important department of the house, the kitchen.

She, then, in behalf of the members, with the following toasts presented them to the guest of honor: "We present these to the bride elect,

Our dear friend, so kind and true. Modest though these tokens seem, We wish to express our love for you.

May your life be long, and use too,

May your joys be many—your sorrows few,

Is the wish of your friends, Both old and new."

The vice-president, Mrs. Outlaw, then presented her with a cook book containing an original recipe and toast, expressing to her the best wishes of the club members, that she would soon become an accomplished artist in their department, to which Miss Forbes responded in her usual graceful manner.

Delightful refreshments were then served which were a fitting close to an afternoon so happily spent.

Among those present were Misses Glenn Forbes, Alice Blow, Helen Forbes, Vernessa Smith, Mattie Moe King, Mary Smith, Margaret Blew, Mesdames E. B. Ferguson, R. C. White, Will Lipscomb, Ned Laughlin, N. W. Outlaw.

PRESIDENT ON HIS CRUISE.

Sails This Morning From Charleston for Panama.

By Wire to The Reflector.

Charleston, S. C., Nov. 10.—With big guns booming, President Taft steamed away from Charleston this morning for Panama on the cruiser Tennessee. The guns of this vessel joined in the salute as the president went aboard. For the next four days the armored cruiser Tennessee will be the seat of government of the United States. The Tennessee wireless will be in constant touch with land so that the president will be always able to exercise the functions of his office. Active business will be disposed of all the way down to the Isthmus and on the Canal Zone. Such important questions as location of canal fortifications, future of Panama railroad, coal pockets, canal rates, etc. will be disposed of our days will be spent on shore and the president expects to be back in the States November 22nd. The president breakfasted at the home of Mayor Rhelt.

His Sister Dead.

Mr. J. G. Latham received a phone message this morning that his sister-in-law, Mrs. Sarah E. Latham, died at her home at Blounts Creek, last night. Consumption was the cause of death.

FOR PROTECTION OF OUR GAME BIRDS

DO WE KNOW THE VALUE OF GAME AND COMMON BIRDS

ARGUMENT FOR RESIDENT LICENSE

We Should Ask Ourselves the Question as Well as Discuss the Real Value of Insect-Eating Birds to Our Farmers, and the Income to Our State Derived From Our Game and Fish Resources.

Editor Reflector:

During the past ten years, there has been a splendid progress in nearly every state in the Union for game protection, showing the real value of our game, and the figures as shown here are verified by both the United States agricultural department at Washington and our department at Raleigh.

The grasshopper is said to cause an annual damage to the farms in the United States of ninety million dollars. It is shown one-third of the amount of grasshoppers hatched have been destroyed by the birds. The cinch bug is also very destructive to farm products. Out of the crop of sixteen quail, they were found to contain seven ounces of the cinch bug. Putting this at a very low estimate, the actual value of quail to the farmers is hard to estimate.

During 1903, the Audubon society of North Carolina, was incorporated. No one who knows, can deny the fact of the great good done by this society which was in operation over the entire state until our past legislature, when fifty-four counties were withdrawn and are now under the protection of the commissioners of the respective counties. A very conservative estimate of the value of the game, insectivorous and song birds to our state annually is a million-and-half dollars. Thousands of acres of worthless land, as far as farming is concerned is bought up at a very high price for game preserves, as well as the taxes on thousands of acres of land have been paid for the hunting privileges. Guilford county alone has an income of $8,000 annually derived from the lease of her hunting property. Currituck county's annual income from the sale of game and taxes on marsh land amount to something over $7,500. As our legislature meets in the next three months, let us see that such laws are passed, looking forward to better game protection. Below we give an outline of what we think, as well as some of the best men of our state and those who are most interested, of what would be the best law for the protection and propagation of game:

1. That it furnishes the means of maintaining the work of game protection without any direct appropriation and any serious hardships.

2. That license is paid only by those who derive benefit from game protection and not imposed on those who have no interest and do not care to avail themselves of the privilege of hunting.

3. It furnishes a system of registration of all persons hunting and thereby makes the enforcement of game laws more effective.

4. Some of the Southern states' experience have shown that even a nominal fee of $2.00 is sufficient to keep out of the fields many a shiftless and irresponsible hunter through whose operation much game is destroyed.

5. It may be the means of obtaining value statistics as to the amount of game killed, if the holders of the license are required to report the number of birds shot.

The value of birds to the farmer as destroyer of insects noxious weed and injurious rodents is too large a subject to be surmised in a single paragraph.

You will find these subjects discussed in a number of the bulletins issued by the United States department of agriculture, namely, circulars No. 73-74 and 54 as well as one by Sylvester D. Judd, treating on birds as weed destroyers.

The value of game is well exemplified by the condition in Guilford Currituck and several other counties of the state where worthless lands as far as farming is concerned are bought up at a big price for game preserves, as well as, in a number

MEXICANS INSULT UNCLE SAM.

Tear a Flag and Attack American Citizens.

By Wire to The Reflector.

Mexico City, Nov. 10.—This city was like an armed camp today, government troops being on guard to prevent any attacks on Americans or any further insults to the Stars and Stripes, such as followed the violence caused by burning at the stake of Antonio Rodriguez, at Springs, Texas. Although the government is preserving order in this city, reports of mob violence in small towns came. One rumor was to effect that two Americans had been lynched about 100 miles from the border. Though order was restored here after the first violent outbreak, it was done only by the sacrifice of three lives. Jails are filled with prisoners. Ambassador Wilson will demand full punishment for those who tore the flag to pieces and assaulted the American citizens.

RETURNS INCREASE GAINS.

Democrats Will Have 60 Majority in Congress.

By Wire to The Reflector.

Washington, Nov. 10.—As returns from the various states came in today the Democratic majority in national house is estimated will be 60 more members than Republicans in the next congress. Seven senators, and may be ten, have been gained by Democrats. Insurgents will retain their strength in both house and senate. Following is the make up of the house as far as can be judged from returns now in: Democrats 215; Republicans 165; Socialists 1; Democratic plurality 60.

The more a man can fall down the less grateful he can be for being picked up.

of instances, where the tax is paid on land for the hunting privilege.

Some of the reasons that the commission plan of game law enforcement is likely to meet with more favor than enforcement through the Audubon society or any other private corporation is because it removes objections and apparently turning over to a private corporation duties which properly belong to the state, and place this branch on footing with that of other branches of the state government.

Very respectfully,

Butler did not even stop to say goodbye.

This is one time that Roosevelt is not de-lighted.

Now altogether to elect a Democratic president in 1912.

It is the open season now for hunters to shoot somebody through mistake.

Wonder if The Outlook will give the colonel a dollar a word to tell how it happened.

Republicans need not worry themselves about how it happened, but it happened all right.

All aboard for Raleigh on the 16th and 17th to enjoy the News and Observer's aviation meet.

With politics out of the way, it would not be a bad idea to get back to talking good roads.

Some Republicans are almost as well pleased as the Democrats over the result in North Carolina.

Congressman John H. Small had such a complete walk-over that it looked like no opposition at all.

President Taft passed through North Carolina Wednesday night, on his hurrying-away trip to Panama.

Now that the election is over, towns and counties over the State will have opportunity to move for civic righteousness.

Eyes now look to Ohio and New Jersey for a Democratic nominee for president in 1912. Both States have a good one to offer.

Oyster Bay advises the day after said that one, Col. T. Roosevelt went into seclusion and would not comment on the election. Don't blame him.

Score one for the modern head-gear. A Philadelphia girl tumbled down stairs and the physician called to make an examination declared that but for the puffs in her hair her skull would have been fractured.

It is a little late to mention it, but on Monday the governor pardoned T. W. Dewey, the New Bern bank wrecker. He only lacked thirty days of serving out his six-year term. We hope it has learned him the lesson to live better hereafter.

Since you see how little was accomplished by the lies you told, ain't you sorry you told them?

Here are a few of the morning after dopes that the Greensboro News consoled itself with:

Missed the pumpkin pie trust a mile!

Hereafter, never hatch your chickens before you count 'em.

Making The South Healthy.

What improved methods of sanitation will accomplish was strongly shown by Caspar Whitney in a recent issue of Collier's Weekly. Writing of Cuba once fever-stricken and an object of fear for all who valued their lives, he showed that its present death-rate of 12.6 per thousand is lower than that of the United States or any European country, the average death-rate in the United States being 30 per cent. higher or 16.2 per thousand. All of which goes to show that by keeping up the fight against our great preventable diseases—tuberculosis, malaria, typhoid, and hookworm disease—we could make our own Southern States which are more advantageously situated than Cuba, not only as healthy as any other section of the United States, but very much more healthful than any other section. In a recent address in the house of representatives, Congressman Randell, of Louisiana, speaking of the health of the South, was interrupted by Congressman Gouluden, who pointed out that whereas twenty-five years ago insurance companies objected to risks in Southern cities, there is now no discrimination whatever against the South.

The simple truth is, as Surgeon-General Wyman of the United States Public Health and Marine Service declared to the Southern Commercial Congress, that while neglect of sanitary precautions may be more hurtful in the South than elsewhere, the general observance of health rules will accomplish even more here than elsewhere.

We can't afford to let the Cubans beat us. If they have their death-rate to 12.6 per thousand as against 16.2 for the United States as a whole then we in the South ought to do better still. But to do this we must recognize the fact that neglect of sanitary precautions is really more serious in the South than elsewhere and we must not only learn and practice individually the best medical principles of hygiene, sanitation, and temperance, but we must double the appropriations and the moral support given our State, county and municipal health officers.—Raleigh Progressive Farmer and Gazette.

Have Beautiful Hair.

Many women do not realize that attractions they possess because they do not give proper attention to the hair.

The women of Paris are famed for their beauty, not because their facial features are superior to those of other women, but because they know how to keep young by supplying vigor, luster and strength to the hair.

Three years ago Parasian Sage could hardly be obtained in America. But now this delightful hair tonic and dressing can be had in every town in America. Coward & Wooten sells it for 50 cents a large bottle and guarantee it to grow beautiful, luxuriant hair; to turn dull, lifeless hair into lustrous hair; to stop falling hair; to stop itching of the scalp. Ask for Parasian Sage.

Wives may keep some men poor, but they keep more out of jail.

Sign of the White Envelope.

If you are in a certain Irish town and are looking out for lodgings you would probably come to the conclusion that none are to be had, for, search as you will for the familiar "Apartments to Let" notice so often seen in the windows of houses in other places, you will search in vain. Instead you may observe fastened by the flap to the window a clean white envelope. This is an indication to all whom it may concern that apartments are to be had within. This curious custom is greatly in vogue at the seaside health resort Killkee, County Clare, where all houses that have apartments to let exhibit a white envelope in the window.—London Answers.

A Story of Old Ironsides.

One of the most famous of the Constitution's exploits was during the war of 1812, when she escaped from Broke's squadron, among which she had accidentally fallen. The sea was almost a dead calm, so Captain Hull had to resort to towings. All her boats were lowered, with long lines attached, and in addition Hull had ropes spliced together to make a line half a mile long, to which he attached a kedge anchor. This was carried in a boat half a mile ahead and dropped, when the crew hauled the ship rapidly forward. The commodore of the English squadron soon adopted the same tactics, and if it had not been for a breeze springing up the Constitution would have been captured.

Not What He Meant.

Mother (to her daughter)—Will you play that new sonata for the doctor? Daughter—But, mamma, the doctor has had so much sorrow lately. Doctor—But, my dear young lady, to hear you play will not be pleasure.—Fleischel's Blatter.

A House in the Air.

In 1863 a balloon of 200,000 cubic feet capacity was constructed at Paris. It was named the Giant and was intended to show the great possibilities of the air. The car attached consisted of a small two story house, fitted with every modern comfort, lavatories, dining room, bedroom, kitchen, parlor, etc. Thirteen passengers made the first ascent, but the journey was of only four hours' duration. The last ascent was for seventeen hours and was abruptly terminated by a high wind, which, when the balloon descended, dragged the little house bumping over the ground. The remains of this giant of the air was for a long time exhibited in the Crystal Palace in London.

A Preventive.

Not mumps, but scarlet fever, afforded the unwitting wit of a certain Chicago family occasion for an amusing remark. The childish plague had swept the neighborhood, and the children had been gravely and repeatedly warned not to run any risk of infection. When, therefore, they came to the dinner table loud in glee at having once more talked with a supposedly quarantined comrade the careful mother fretted over their inevitable danger. "Don't worry, motherkin," the spokesman of the surprised juvenile group hastened to reassure her. "We're all right, honestly. Course we sat pretty close to Jimmie on the fence, but we held our noses tight the whole endurin' time."—Chicago Record-Herald.

Running For Office.

"I think I'll send a ton of coal to every widow in the district. How is that for a scheme?"

"Purty fair. But what if the other candidate sends coal to them as ain't widows yet? They control the votes."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

A WEAK WOMAN AND HER STORY

In Floral, Ark., Lives a Lady Who Feels That Her Strength Was Restored by Cardui.

Floral, Ark.—"I must speak a good word for Cardui," writes Mrs. Viola Baker, of this place.

"About a month ago I was in very bad health. I was so weak and nervous that I was not able to do my housework.

"My husband bought me one bottle of Cardui, the woman's tonic. I took it according to directions and now I am in good health.

"I think Cardui is a fine tonic for weak women."

And you are not the only lady who thinks so, Mrs. Baker.

Thousands, like you, have written to tell of the wonderful benefit Cardui has been to them.

Cardui contains no minerals, or other powerful drugs. It contains no glycerin or other mawkish-tasting ingredients.

It is just a pure, natural extract, of natural vegetable herbs, that have been found to regulate the womanly functions and strengthen the female system.

All druggists sell Cardui.

See yours about it.

AYDEN CORRESPONDENCE.

Community Social News Items and Business Notes.

Ayden, N. C., Nov. 10.—Messrs. W.
C. Ormond and E. Turnage spent Wednesday in Greenville.

Mr. Richard Wingate left Monday for Kansas City to purchase mules and horses for the Ayden market.

Mr. J. C. Jones spent Sunday with his parents at Grangers station.

Glad to have our Grifton friends with us Tuesday. They were here to vote.

Misses Mattie Johnson, Edith Mun-
ford, Eva Hart, Esther Jones, Leola and Lizzie Hines, Jimmie Davis and Wilbur Tingle, "our Ayden folks," are all teaching school near Ayden.

Mr. Everett Stroud who has been living in Ayden for several years, has moved his family to Greenville.

Mr. Oscar Rollins spent Sunday with relatives at Pactolus.

Mr. Joe Stroud, formerly of Ayden,
but now of Everetts, spent Sunday
in town.

Mrs. Fred Whitley and children, of New Bern, are visiting at Hotel Blount.

Miss Montie Newsome and her brother, who have been visiting their sister, Mrs. Exum Dail left Monday for their home at Lucama.

Mr. and Mrs. Mallison, of Washington, spent Sunday with Mr. Jas. A.
Davis.

It is said by farmers that have tried it, that powdered sulphur sprinkled over corn as it is being planted in the barn will keep out the lice and rats. We can supply you with the sulphur.—J. R. Smith Company.

Rev. Mr. Adams, of Winterville, will preach in the Baptist church next Sunday morning and at night.

Miss Turnage Entertains.

On Monday evening November
7th, Miss Lucy Turnage and Mr. Roy Turnage entertained delightfully a few of their friends at their home on Main street.

The color scheme, black and yellow, was carried out beautifully in the decorations of yellow autumn leaves and chrysanthemums with black cats, owls, pumpkins and witches here and there, suggestive of the season. The contest of the evening,
"Progressive Punkin," revised spelling played a la heart dice, was most exciting. Miss Elizabeth Bridgers winning the first prize and Miss Richmond the consolation. After the contest the guests repaired to the library to be given an insight into their future, before being invited into the dining room where delicious refreshments were served.

At a late hour the charming host and hostess were bidden a reluctant good night.

The following were present: Misses Powell, Moore, Hodges, Gaddy, Dawson, Richmond, Bridgers, Edwards, Gussie Lawrence and Anna Lawrence.
Messrs. S. F. Noble, J. C. Noble, Hollowell Kronee, Conon, McLawhorn,
E. Gardner, J. Gardner and Lloyd Turnage.

Moved to New Home.

Mr. W. J. Hardee has moved to a new residence, just completed, in the corner of Greene and Third Sts.
He has a pretty home.

Barred the Red Heels.

Once actors used to say that they were going "to study a part for performance;" now the saying is that one "gets up in a part," which may be one of the reasons why there were once more studied performances than there are now. As an example of how much can be safely left to the intelligence of even tried actors is the case of the Napoleonic play that Charles Frohman was once rehearsing. "In the midst of the dress rehearsal an actress of supposed all around experience, cast for one of the Paris street denizens, one of the mob of revolutionists, was discovered gayly decked out in patent leather shoes with jolly red heels. "No, my child," said Mr. Frohman, "not red heels and a revolutionist too."
"But they look ever so much prettier and give color to the scene," persisted
the actress. "That may be," continued
Mr. Frohman, "but the mob did not wear red heeled shoes; get your color with a red handkerchief or from your makeup table, but not with red heels."

Successful Trap Shooting.

Aim your gun a little above the shed protecting the traps. Give the call "Pull." Do not get rattled. Get your bird as it is going up or at its maximum height and then fire, aiming about six or eight inches ahead and a trifle below it. The tendency is always to shoot too high, not allowing for the speed of the descent. Above all things fire, even if you know you are going to miss. There is nothing so disconcerting or fatal to the poise as to allow a fairly thrown target to get altogether away without shooting at it at all. When calling "Pull" put some ginger into it. "Bark it," an old trap shot used to say. Don't falter it, as though apologizing for being alive. It hurts your confidence and rattles the trap pullers. If you stand with your gun ready and mumble "Pull" three or four times before the target is thrown the chances are overwhelming that you will miss.—C. Q. Peters in Outing.

Justice at All Hours.

Despite their preference for a republican form of government, the French are in some respects a conservative nation. A Paris contemporary discovered that one of the doors of the pa-lals de justice is left ajar throughout the night. This door has never been shut since March 4, 1618, when Louis XIII. ordained that it should remain perpetually open "so that my subjects may be able to seek justice at all hours of the day and night." However, an enterprising journalist who presented himself at the door in the small hours of the morning was promptly ejected by a watchman. And when he quoted the ordinance of 1618
the reply was, "If you don't clear off you'll find yourself coming in by the prisoners' door tomorrow."

A Financial Deadlock.

"Who is that man who has been sitting behind the bar day after day?"
inquired the stranger in Crimston Gulch.
"That's Stagecoach-Charley. He's in a peculiar predicament. He went to town last week an' got his teeth fixed.
Then he come here an', bein' broke, ran up a bill on the strength of his $7 worth of gold fillin'. Charley won't submit to havin' the nuggets pried out, an' the proprietor won't let him git away with the collateral, an' there you are."—Washington Star.

The Trouble.

"Have you explained the germ system to your children? Everything should be on a practical basis these days."
"No," replied the old fashioned citizen. "It seems inconsistent to tell 'em not to believe in fairies and then try to get 'em to believe in microbes."— Pittsburg Post.

A Useful Reflection.

The optimist was reciting some of the numerous articles in his creed.
Finally he came to the end. "Oh,
there is one more, after all," he said.
"On the days when I reflect how little I really amount to I cheer myself by remembering how much I expect of others."

Her Age.

"I understand that helress Jobbins married was rather old. What was
her age?"
"I guess as far as Jobbins was concerned it was heritage."—Baltimore American.

Heart Trouble.

"Faint heart never won fair lady."
"Faint heart has no business to try to win anything; faint heart ought to see a doctor."—New York Press.

Know the Stars in the Dragon?

Winding in and out between the stars of the Great and Little Dipper is the constellation of the Dragon.
The tip of the tail lies between the pole star in the Little Dipper and the pointers in the Great Dipper, but much nearer the latter and only a few degrees below the pointers. The rest of the constellation, outlined with faint stars, curves downward and around the Little Dipper, when with a final coil it terminates with the two bright stars Gamma and Beta, which mark the head of the Dragon, or, in fact, its eyes. Aratus in describing the constellations speaks of the Dragon as "with eyes oblique retorted, that askant cast gleaming fire."

Its leading star, Alpha, near the tail of the Dragon and halfway between Mizar (the middle star in the handle of the Great Dipper) and the lowest star in the bowl of the Little Dipper, is known by the name of Thuban.
Four thousand years ago it was the pole star.—Mary Proctor in Chicago Tribune.

Does Your Cat Cough?

Poor pussy! As if the immemorial charges against her of keeping us awake o' nights and of eating canary birds whenever she gets the chance were not enough, the doctors have just discovered that for years she has been responsible for the spread of diphtheria. Dr. G. J. Auburn of Manchester, England, having traced an epidemic of this disease in a suburb of that city to a pet cat belonging to one of his patients, has found, after much clever investigation, that all cats are peculiarly susceptible to diphtheritic affections of the throat. He has therefore recently been warning all families who own cats to watch them carefully and if they develop coughs to forbid their being hugged and petted. Dr.
Auburn further recommends that if the cough persists and the cat begins to grow thin to have the animal destroyed at once. The only really safe way, he says, is to let the first wheeze be pussy's death warrant.—New York

A Queer Creature.

Queer that while the male seal is a bull and the female a cow their youngster is not called a calf, but a pup.
Why "seal fisheries," too, when the seal is not a fish?
And why should the seal's breeding place be styled a rookery?
It looks as if this strange creature is only a fish in common parlance while at sea. On land (or ice) he is classed popularly with animals or birds.
