ANOTHER WARNING TO COTTON GROWERS

STATE ENTOMOLOGIST GIVES TIMELY ADVICE ABOUT PEST

THE COTTON BOLL-WEEVIL COMING

The Cotton Boll-Weevil is Still Making Steady Progress Through The Cotton-Growing Area, and It Gives Every Indication That It Will Eventually be Present in Every Section Where Cotton is Grown.

The boll-weevil has not "disappeared" in Texas or any other section where once established. It is not "becoming harmless." It is true that many localities which once abandoned cotton on account of weevil have again begun to grow it, and in some sections they grow nearly as much as they ever did. Whether this is because the weevil is less destructive than formerly, or whether it is because the growers learn how to escape its ravages, it is hard to say; but perhaps both these things are true.

But whenever the weevil comes in every State yet invaded, it has resulted in an almost complete demoralization of cotton growing for from 3 to 5 years; and when the community does settle back to cotton again, it is with more intensive methods on a smaller acreage, more reliance on other crops and live stock and not such a complete dependence on cotton alone. It takes from 3 to 5 years to bring about this change, and in going through such a change the farmers must make considerable sacrifice.

The weevil fairly knocks the props from under the credit system, at least for a few years. The tenants and borrowing farmers who are never ready to face the new conditions are not able to meet their obligations in the fall, and the merchants fail or refuse to advance on cotton next year.

It is not our purpose to discuss the appearance, habits and injuries of the boll-weevil, nor to discuss the ways in which it is combated. These things have been placed before the public repeatedly, and any cotton farmer in North Carolina can get literature on the subject by writing to this office. But we do want our farmers to be looking ahead and planning the course they are to pursue when the weevil gets here. Go ahead with cotton if you wish, but all the time keep yourself asking: "Can I do this when the weevil comes? Is so, how? and if not, what can I grow to replace the cotton?"

Of course, we all hope that the weevil may not reach us. We hope that if it does reach us it will not be as destructive as in the other sections; but we warn you that we have no basis for believing that we will be favored in this way. So the only wise course is to be studying the methods of meeting the problem when it comes. In Mississippi and Louisiana some farmers have done this nicely. Beginning years in advance, they gradually turned their attention to other crops or to hogs or cattle, but kept on raising cotton up to the very year when the weevil was upon them, and then they were prepared to drop the cotton altogether and make a good living from the other things. When the community settles down to cotton again these farmers can return to cotton or not, as they wish.

The boll-weevil now occupies all of Texas except the western portion, neighboring parts of Oklahoma and Arkansas, all of Louisiana, about two-thirds of Mississippi, and the southwestern corner of Alabama. Allowing for normal increase in the rate of increase for the future it seems reasonable to believe it will reach North Carolina in from 6 to 10 years—that is, from 1916 to 1920. A few years ago we all thought that it would come more quickly, but while it is coming steadily it has spread only gradually without a big jump; so it seems that we will have several years yet in which to prepare for it.

Remember, I do not say that you must "quit cotton." I do not say that the weevil will of a certainty reach us at all. But I do say that it will in all probability reach us, and that it is our business to be studying the methods by which we can best meet it when it does come.

AYDEN CORRESPONDENCE.

Community Social News Items and Business Notes.

Ayden, N. C., Nov. 26.—Thursday night at eventide Rev. Mr. Pittman said the words that made Prof. J. E. Sawyer and Miss Bessie Harris man and wife. Only enough were invited to witness the marriage and they were women and pledged to secrecy.

Thursday morning at 3 o'clock the spirit of the infant of Dr. and Mrs. M. M. Sauls took its flight to God who gave it. It was only a few weeks old, but was endeared to the hearts of the parents and friends. The little body was laid away to await the resurrection morn in the Ayden cemetery Friday. Rev. Mr. Adams conducted the services. The floral tribute was the most elaborate the writer ever saw.

Where does it come from? The gin here runs as steady now as in September. We gin your cotton, give bagging and ties and a go turn out, and top of market for your seed, for the twentieth.—J. R. Smith Company.

Thanksgiving was duly observed in our town. Our people attended services at the Baptist church in the afternoon and the old maids' convention at night, and some smiled not accustomed to doing so, when our clever friend "Theodore" would laugh aloud, but truly it was a funny time. A good purse was realized for the benefit of the M. E. church. Mr. J. D. Jones, of Pole Cat, has moved his family here.

Mrs. Willis, an aged lady near Black Jack, was badly burned a few days ago, and is not expected to live through the day.

Mr. Benjamin Smith, from the Reedy Branch section, spent Thanksgiving in Ayden.

The next session of the Carolina Christian Missionary Convention of the Disciple church, will meet next fall in Ayden.

Let us furnish your home with furniture, stoves, carpets, matting, china and electric lights.—J. R. Smith Company.

Mr. James Daughtery, of Taraph, was here yesterday making ready for running Pitch Kettle seine next year. Hardware, mill supplies, belding, buggy and wagon harness, sash, doors, blinds, cook stoves, ranges, heaters for schools churches and residences.—J. R. Smith Company.

Mrs. J. Alfred Harrington and children are visiting her sister, Mrs. A. W. Rouse, at Seven Springs.

A large stock of caskets and coffins on hand and can supply your needs on short notice.—J. R. Smith Company.

Miss Eva Hart is teaching school at Willow Green, Greene county, and Miss Edith Mumford is teaching at Fort Barnwell, Craven county, and Prof. Wilbur E. Tingle is teaching at Hazards X Roads. This town indeed, is a centre of intelligence.

Mr. J. W. Hodges and family spent Thanksgiving with his parents near Washington, and tells us there were forty present besides the family.

Mr. John L. Gaskins has returned from Middlesex, where he has purchased a farm and will move about January.

The family of Mrs. Emma Luper have moved to Rocky Mount. Mrs. Enoch Davenport, of Rocky Mount, is visiting her father, Mr. W. H. Harris.

Miss Suddie Tripp of Pungo, is visiting Mrs. Bessie Sawyer.

The old reliable Turner North Carolina almanac for 1911 at J. R. Smith Company's.

Mr. Caleb Faulkner, of Pole Cat, tells us he wants to move here after Christmas and enter his son in school at the Seminary.

Mr. W. Jesse Braxton, of Winterville is fitting him up a neat residence on Lee street and will move his family here the first of the year, to get the benefit of the Seminary. Mr. Braxton is one among the most substantial men in the country.

Mrs. Briggs Cannon left Saturday to visit her husband, who is an auctioneer on the Richmond tobacco market.

We gin your cotton any day, give you bagging and ties and pay you cash or exchange meal for seed. Bring it on.—J. R. Smith Company.

Meanwhile keep on growing cotton if that is your preference, but keep posted on the progress of the weevil and see to it that you are not caught unprepared when the time comes.

NORTH CAROLINA ITEMS

Of News Happenings Far and Near Within Its Borders.

Friday, January 13, is named by the North Carolina Historical Commission for unveiling the marble bust of Senator Matt W. Ransom just arrived from Paris. It is to have place in one of the four niches in the rotunda of the State House. The presentation speech will be by Col. J. Bryan Grimes, chairman of the commission. Gov. Kitchin will accept it on behalf of the State. There will be tributes to Senator Ransom by ex-Judge R. W. Winston and ex-Governor Thomas J. Jarvis. The unveiling is to be in connection with the annual meeting of the North Carolina Literary and Historical Association which will hold the first session of its annual meeting on the evening of January 1, 2.

Roper, Nov. 25.—A most distressing accident occurred up Roanoke river four miles above Plymouth about 10 o'clock today while James Harrison and son, Emmett, were out hunting squirrels. Emmett thought he saw one and made ready to shoot but not doing so, started to lay his gun down, when the load was discharged into his father's side, tearing a great hole from which he died at 1.30 this evening.

North Carolina's corn crop for 1911 is estimated at 57,754,000 bushels. The estimate for last year was 43,886,000 bushels. An increase of 8,868,000 bushels means progress but we ought to have an increase of 25,000,000 next year.—Wilmington Star

OUR TWICE-A-WEEK

WINTERVILLE LETTER.

Notes From Our Hustling Neighbor—What Its People are Doing.

Winterville, N. C., Nov. 26.—Mr. J. S. Ross, of Ayden, was in town Wednesday evening.

Harrington, Barber & Company have a nice line of outing flannel at old prices.

Several of our young people attended the play at Greenville Wednesday night.

You ought to see the nice line of 5 and 10c goods just put in at Harrington Barber & Company's.

Sheriff L. W. Tucker was in town Wednesday.

Quality as well as quantity is what you find at Harrington, Barber & Company's.

Mr. B. F. Manning, our clever cotton buyer, went to Hanrahan Wednesday.

Several of our old bachelors went over to Ayden Thursday night to attend the old maids' convention. We think Ayden might exchange some of her old maids with Winterville for some of its bachelors.

The A. G. Cox Manufacturing Company has been putting in a fine lot of well seasoned timber this day weather and will be prepared to turn out work in good order.

Miss Vivian Roberson, music teacher of Winterville High School, left yesterday evening to spend Sunday with friends at Robersonville.

About twenty of our young people visited the county home on Thanksgiving and after singing and prayer services, fruits were served to the inmates. It was a very enjoyable occasion.

A wholesale jewelry concern in Chicago, has sent C. T. Cox a lot of beautiful watches to sell for them. If anyone should need a good watch, now is the time to get one at wholesale prices.

Miss Mimie E. Cox, who is teaching at Ahoskie, came home Thursday to spend Thanksgiving at her home.

A number of Winterville High School girls left Wednesday evening, to spend Thanksgiving at home and with friends.

Miss Helen Adams spent Thursday in the country.

The special harness sold by A. G. Cox Manufacturing Company seem to be taking well, quite a number of sales has been made.

Men Entombed in Mine.

By Wire to The Reflector.

Providence, Ky., Nov. 26.—All hope was abandoned today for the eleven miners entombed in a mine here, but nevertheless the utmost efforts are being made to reach them. The explosion was so violent that all the men are believed to have been instantly killed. A mule was blown out of the shaft and about 150 feet away from the mouth still alive.

GIRLS TRAPPED IN BOX FACTORY

BUILDING DESTROYED BY FIRE
THIS MORNING

ONE HUNDRED OF THEM PERISH

Flames Spread so Rapidly That Escape Is Cut off—Wild Scramble for Stairway and Many Trampled Under foot—Injured Hurried to The Hospitals.

By Wire to The Reflector.

Newark N. J., Nov. 26.—One hundred girls were trapped by flames in a box factory here today and half an hour after the fire broke out Fire Chief Astly declared that at least thirty of them had been killed. The building was destroyed. The fire broke out shortly after nine o'clock and spread so rapidly among combustible material in the six-story building that the flames were pouring from the windows. Several of the girls were fatally hurt and many others received serious injuries. Screams of imprisoned men and girls could be heard from the street. Employees on the upper floors were taken unawares and a scramble for the stairway ensuing many were trampled under foot in the wild rush. Soon the smoke drove them back toward the windows. Employees on the lower floor who went up stairs to warn those above were themselves trapped, so rapidly did the flames spread.

Newark, N. J., Nov. 26.—At 11 o'clock a bulletin says the number of dead in the box factory fire may be over 100. On account of disorder about the burning building the police have been unable to get an accurate list of those who escaped. By eleven o'clock there are sixty badly injured girls in the city hospitals.

Newark, N. J., Nov. 26.—Later reports say there were 400 people in the building when the fire started. By noon 15 bodies had been recovered. Thirty were missing and 55 lay in the hospitals. Many of the 55 are believed to be mortally injured.

Mr. J. A. Simmons Dead.

Mr. James A. Simmons died at Roanoke Rapids on November 19th. He was a son of Mr. M. W. Simmons, was reared in Greenville township this county where he lived until 13 years of age when his father moved away. Young Simmons attended school one year at McLeansville, and then took up branches in the National Correspondence School, and would soon have graduated in art when he was taken ill and died. The remains were brought to Stokes Saturday night and carried to the home of his sister Mrs. J. H. Harris, the burial taking place Sunday.

Peace Terms Accepted.

By Cable to The Reflector.
Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, Nov. 26.—Rio spent a night of terror, because the battleships sailed out of the harbor last night without announcing whether they would accept the terms of amnesty or not. This morning, however, they came back and announced that they accepted the peace terms and would turn the ships over to the authorities.

Gov. Jarvis' Brother Dead.

A telephone message this morning from Jarvisburg in Currituck county, announced the death of Mr. George N. Jarvis in the 72nd year of his age. He was a brother of ex-Gov. T. J. Jarvis, of Greenville, who with Mrs. Jarvis left Friday morning to be at the bedside of his brother. His many friends here at home sympathize with him in his sorrow.

Notice, Baracas!

Sunday being the closing day of conference year, and to show our appreciation for the valuable work given us by our teacher, we want every member to be present.

All strangers, and those who are not members, are always welcome.

Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Whitehurst went to Rocky Mount today.

Mr. and Mrs. J. T. B. Hoover, of Henderson, have been spending a few days with their daughter, Mr. A. H. Taft. Mr. Hoover returned home this morning.

MRS. WHITE ENTERTAINS.

Gives Party in Honor of Mrs. Hazel White.

On Friday evening from 9 to 12, at her home on Greene street, Mrs. Herbert White charmingly entertained a number of friends in honor of her guest Mrs. Hazel White, of Greensboro.

The home was tastily decorated with pot plants and cut flowers with many lighted candlebras adding to the brilliancy of the scene.

The guests were received by the hostess and guest of honor, assisted by Mrs. Charles Williams.

Fruit frappe was served by Mrs. Richard White and Mrs. Will Lipscomb.

As the guests passed into the parlors they were handed score cards ornamented with Thanksgiving turkeys by Miss Nell White.

Heart dice was the game of the evening, there being ten tables of players. Mrs. John Ricks made the highest score and was presented a silver hatpin, a similar prize being awarded to the guest of honor.

Then there was a contest, a picture of a face being hung in the hall to which the guests, blind folded, tried their skill pinning eyes, ears nose and mouth in their proper places. Mrs. Robert Cobb won the prize for this, a picture.

Refreshments in two courses consisting of block cream and cake, cheese, saltine crackers, coffee were served by Misses Hennie Whichard and Lillian Carr.

The occasion was in keeping with the Thanksgiving season, the paper dollies also being ornamented with turkeys.

There were about fifty guests in attendance and the evening was most delightfully spent.

ADDRESS ON TOBACCO.

In the Town Hall on Wednesday, November 24.

Every tobacco farmer in Putnam county should attend the meeting to be held in the town hall Wednesday at 10.30 and hear Mr. Mathewson on the way to improve the quality of Eastern North Carolina tobacco. Mr. Mathewson is in the employ of the United States government and is in charge of the demonstration work of the government. He has been conducting experiments in Eastern North Carolina tobacco culture and it is the results of these experiments that he will address the tobacco farmers here on Thursday, November 30th, at 10.30 in the morning.

"THE SUPERIOR SEX."

Senior Class of E. C. T. S., Render Successful Play.

On Wednesday evening the class of 1911 of the E. C. T. S., presented "The Superior Sex," a one-act farce, to an appreciative audience in the school auditorium.

Previous to the rising of the curtain several of the music pupils under the efficient instruction of Miss Bishop, delighted their audience with several vocal and instrumental numbers. When the curtain rose, a neat sitting room was displayed in which the play was presented. Each of the young ladies crowned themselves with success and showed the result of unceasing practice and training.

The play, we understand, was gotten up under the direction of Misses Muffy and McKinney and they deserve much praise for their efforts for there was not a moment's drag or a single mistake made during the entire play.

When a toast had been said to the real "Superior Sex," everyone departed wishing that the class would soon repeat this enjoyable evening. Too much cannot be said in favor of evenings thus spent. It does not only lend variety to the student's work and furnish their friends with entertainment, but it creates the ability to do, and a sure appreciation on the part of the students.

Time may be money, but the average man would rather give you two hours talk than lend you a quarter.

Don't envy the man who is riding around in an auto until you know how big his mortgage is.

SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 26, 1910.

Greenville ought to be reaching out for more trade.

The government discovering a $50,000,000 mining swindle, conducted by a firm in New York, shows that there are plenty of people who are easy to be taken in.

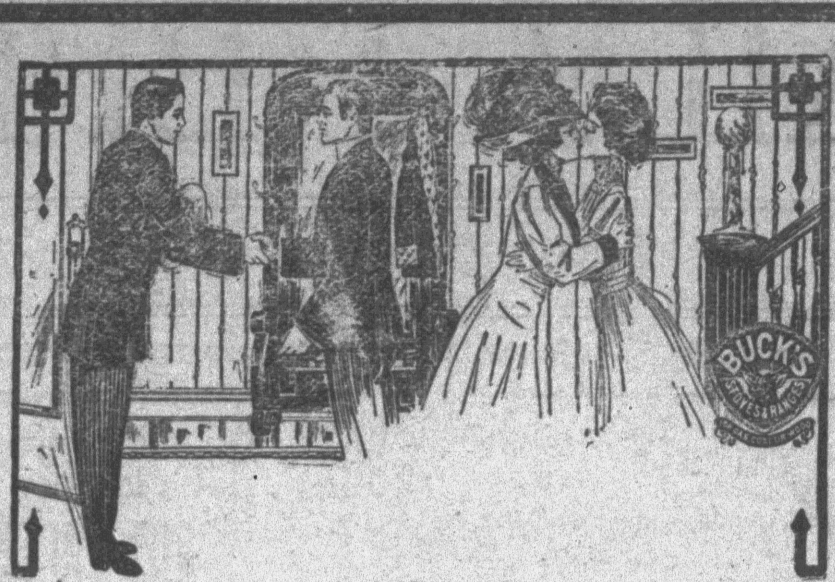

Recently The Reflector had something to say along the line of Pitt county holding an agricultural and stock exhibit. Talking a few days ago with Mr. John F. Evans, manager for Pitt county of the farm demonstration work, he said it was rather late now to have a creditable exhibit this year, as farmers are practically through housing their crops and could not make proper selections. But he said next year ought to develop something along this line, and farmers should begin preparing for it right at the first of the planting season, and then keep it in mind as the work on their crops progress so as to select the best products for exhibit. If the farmers will take hold of this in earnest we believe Pitt county can make as good an exhibit as any other county in the State can show.

Why The Republicans Were Defeated

The following summary of reasons for defeat, from the pen of the Hon. Richard Pearson, one of the State's most prominent Republicans, will be read with interest:
"Hon. Richmond Pearson, when asked how he explained the clean sweep in the State he said:
"Four causes were operating concurrently to produce the result:
"First—Keen disappointment at Mr. Taft's constant preference of Democrats over Southern Republicans.
"Second—The illegal inconsequent and grotesque action of the Greensboro convention in trying to endorse Mr. Taft without qualification and in the same breath nominating to our highest tribunal the incidental men whom Mr. Taft had severely and successfully inspected, insulted and turned down for an inferior office.
"Third—The ambiguous, impudent and obviously deceptive plank on local-self government.
"Fourth—But greater than this, than these, than all—saddling upon the Republican party responsibility for alleged acts of Mr. Marion Butler committed or performed at a time when Mr. Butler was fighting the most cherished principles of the Republican party and assailing its most beloved and most honored leaders. This form of various punishment stands out unique in the history of political tactics and men like Mr. Simmons and Mr. Aycock must have laughed in their sleeves while the remorseless work proceeded.
"I believe that the fierce and passionate denunciation of Mr. Butler hurt the Republican cause less than Mr. Butler's admission that while holding the State's highest commission he prosecuted and later collected a claim against the sovereign power which had thus honored him. There is no statute law against such an act because until now it has been considered unnatural if not impossi-

MENTAL DISCORD.

An Uncompromising Enemy to Happiness and to Health.

It is a law that every state of mind, whether good or bad, affects every cell in the system and is outpictured in the body, says Orison Swett Marden in Success Magazine. We are, thus, the arbiters of our fate through our thoughts, emotions and passions.

The time will come when we shall know how to refresh ourselves by mental chemistry—that is, by holding in our minds the antidotes of the things that have wearied us or vexed us, by holding the mental attitude which will neutralize the thought enemies that have thrown our bodies into confusion.

There is nothing so deadly to happiness as mental discord. It paralyzes the thinking ability and destroys the power of concentration and effectiveness.

All diseases and sickness of whatever kind are the outpouring of some form of discord. If the mind is kept as happy as possible it is difficult for discord to get a foothold in the body. A happy mind is the best possible health producer, disease killer and discord destroyer.

For centuries man's happiness was looked upon by many earnest, thinking people as a condition largely beyond his control. They seemed to think that it depended mostly upon the temperament one happened to develop and that there were other things of so much more importance that we should not consider it too seriously or take precious time to cultivate it directly.

We are beginning to find, however, that even as an economical investment it pays immensely to make a business of being happy and being just as good to ourselves as possible, although not in a selfish way. We could not be good to ourselves in the higher sense by being selfish.

POET OF MANY VERSES.

An Anecdote of Pellegrin, an Eighteenth Century Bard.

The impecunious French poets of the middle eighteenth century used to consort at the cafes, where sometimes they would pick up customers. One of the worst and at the same time the most facile of the bards was Pellegrin, of whom a characteristic story is told in "An Eighteenth Century Marquis."

One day a newcomer entered the cafe and began complaining that he was going to be married and had no epithalamium for his wedding. Pellegrin hastened to offer one of his own compositions. A deal was soon arranged, and the price agreed upon was 20 sous a verse. The poet disappeared. The bridegroom was presently accosted by a stranger, who began a conversation on various subjects and suddenly said:

"By the by, my friend, what price are you paying Pellegrin?"
"Twenty sous a verse."
"H'm."
"Is that too dear?"
"No"—doubtfully—"not if you fixed the length of the poem?"
"I never thought of doing that."
"When is he to bring your epithalamium?"

"Tomorrow morning."
"Tomorrow morning!" cried the stranger. "Why, you must be rolling in money!"
"What do you mean?"
"That you will have to pay for at least a thousand verses."
"Oh, what a fraud!" exclaimed the bridegroom and rushed off to find Pellegrin in his attic. The versifier had just completed his hundredth verse.

A Sartorial Freak.
Food is "chow" in the east, meals are "tiffin," and an I. O. U. is a "chit." China and India making these additions to dietetic nomenclature.

The most shocking sartorial thing visible in the east is the dinner jacket of white duck affected by the British and, alas, by some expatriated Americans. It is cut very short, barely reaching the suspender buttons, and flares widely in front. High collar and black tie complete the abominable combination. Yet no Briton can eat his evening meal without being thus garbed. White duck "pants," of course, cover the unmentionables. The white suits of Mark Twain and Frank Vanderlip which once excited New York are outdone and quite as a matter of course.—New York World.

Barrett Wendell's Pun.
When Professor Wendell of Harvard entered upon his Sabbatical year he remained in Cambridge some weeks after his leave of absence began and persisted in taking part in the departmental meeting. The head of the department protested.
"Sir," said he, "you are officially absent. You are non est."
"Oh, very well," replied Professor Wendell; "a non est man is the noblest work of God."—Success Magazine.

A Matter of Choice.
An old darky servant devoted to General Jackson waited on him in the general's last hours. Right after the general's death a preacher asked Rastus if he thought Jackson would go to heaven.
"I doan' know, boss, ef 'e'll go foah sure, but he can ef he wants to," replied the darky.—Independent.

With Due Care.
Dignity is a very proper sort of thing, but don't put on too much of it or you may be taken for the butler.—Lippincott's.

Constancy of purpose is certainly one of the secrets of success.

GERONIMO IN ACTION.

The Indian Chief's Story of How He Whipped the Mexicans.

About noon we began to hear them speaking my name with curses. In the afternoon the general came on the field, and the fighting became more furious. I gave orders to my warriors to try to kill all the Mexican officers. About 3 o'clock the general called all the officers together at the right side of the field. The place where they assembled was not very far from the main stream, and a little ditch ran out close to where the officers stood. Cautiously I crawled out this ditch, very close to where the council was being held.

The general was an old warrior. The wind was blowing in my direction, so that I could hear all he said, and I understood most of it. This is about what he told them: "Officers, yonder in those ditches are the red devil Geronimo and his hated band. This must be their last day. Ride on them from both sides of the ditches. Kill men, women and children. Take no prisoners; dead Indians are what we want. Do not spare your own men; exterminate his band at any cost. I will post the wounded to shoot all deserters. Go back to your companies and advance."

Just as the command to go forward was given I took deliberate aim at the general, and he fell. In an instant the ground around me was riddled with bullets, but I was untouched. The Apaches had seen. From all along the ditches arose the fierce wavery of my people. The columns wavered an instant and then swept on. They did not retreat until our fire had destroyed the front ranks. After this their fighting was not so fierce, yet they continued to rally and readvance until dark. They also continued to speak my name with threats and curses. That night before the firing had ceased a dozen Indians had crawled out of the ditches and set fire to the long prairie grass behind the Mexican troops. During the confusion that followed we escaped to the mountains.—From "Geronimo's Story of His Life," by S. M. Barrett.

Heron's Foot For Bait.

So great is the heron's repute as a fisher that it has long been thought that its feet, owing to some peculiar scent or oil which they were supposed to possess, attracted the fish, more especially eels, to within easy reach of its beak. In some places the rustic angler still believes that if a heron's foot is placed with his worms the latter are more eagerly taken by fish.—London Outlook.

Uncommon Humanity.

At an evening party a very elderly woman was dancing with a young partner. A stranger approached Douglas Jerrold, who was looking on, and said:
"Pray, sir, can you tell me who is the young man dancing with that elderly woman?"
"One of the Humane society, I should think," replied Jerrold.—Life.

A Great Help.

Scribbler—I understand your wife is of great value to you in your work; I had no idea she was literary. Scrawler—She isn't, but she never attempts to straighten out my desk.—Philadelphia Record.

A bad man is worse when he pretends to be a saint.—Bacon.

Rheumatism!

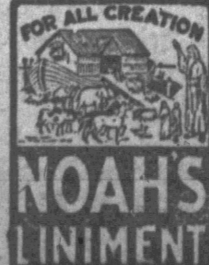

Not one case in ten requires internal treatment. Where there is no swelling or fever Noah's Liniment will accomplish more than any internal remedy. One trial will convince you. Noah's Liniment penetrates; requires but little rubbing.

Here's the Proof

Mr. W. R. Taylor, a resident of Richmond, Va., writes: "For the past four years have been traveling Eastern North Carolina, where I contracted malaria and rheumatism. Recently I have used Noah's Liniment with beneficial results, and take pleasure in recommending same to anyone suffering with rheumatism."

"I caught cold and had a severe attack of rheumatism in my left shoulder and could not raise my arm without much pain. I was persuaded to try Noah's Liniment, and in less than a week was entirely free from pain. I feel justified in speaking of it in the highest terms.—A. Crooker, Dorchester, Mass."

Noah's Liniment is the best remedy for Rheumatism, Sciatica, Lumbago, Stiff Joints and Muscles, Sore Throat, Colds, Strains, Sprains, Cuts, Bruises, Colic, Gramps, Neuralgia, Toothache and all Nerve, Bone and Muscle Aches and Pains. The general use has Noah's Ark on every package. 25 cts. sold by dealers in medicine. Same made by mail free. Noah Remedy Co., Richmond, Va.

Bible class at 9.45 a. m., Training class at 9.05 a. m. Regular services at 11 a. m. and 7.15 p. m. Subjects:
"Constituting Power of Christ," and
"Searching the Scriptures. Ordination services of elders and deacons postponed to December 4th. All those who indicated during D-Black's revival a desire to become Christians, and expressed a preference for the Christian church are earnestly invited to confess Christ promptly at these services and take remaining steps toward church membership. Everybody welcomed to these services.

Presbyterian—Sunday school at 10

phans will also be taken.

Near Beer Must Go.

In a certain little town not 25 miles from Fayetteville the near beer people applied for license to establish one of their saloons and were refused. They secured license from the county, or at any rate they established a near beer saloon just beyond the incorporate limits. It has been in operation perhaps a year. The pastor of one of the churches in that town told this writer the other day that three women had been to him with tears in their eyes and begged him to do something if possible to have the thing removed; that their husbands used to drink but had been sober men for years prior to the establishment of the near beer saloon and since that time they had been drunk much of the while.

If the beer is harmless, then the places where it is sold are slowly covering places for blind tigers.
Near beer must go! Weeping women say so, and godly men join them.—Fayetteville Index.

PERSISTENT BEGGARS.

The More Egyptian Mendicants Get the More They Demand.

In Egypt one should never give baksheesh except for actual services rendered. Resist calmly but firmly every attempt at extortion. Never pay till the stipulated service is finished; then, after you have paid a little more than the bargain called for, turn a deaf ear to the protestations and entreaties that always follow. Bear in mind that the more baksheesh you give the more clamorous becomes the applicant. Real thanks and gratitude must not be expected for gifts.

A friend of mine once broke one of these rules just to see what would happen. As we passed through a little mud village twenty miles from Calro he gave a sturdy beggar a millieme (half a cent). This beggar, accompanied by others, followed us to the edge of the village, asking for more. My friend then gave him a plaster (5 cents).

They followed us a hundred yards or so and were more persistent than before. When they showed a disposition to go back he gave them 5 plasters. They followed us half a mile and became very clamorous. I was afraid we should get into trouble and wanted him to stop it, but when they began to lag he gave them 20 plasters.
They followed us two miles, and the experiment might have ended seriously had we not met a company of travelers with a dragoman, who sent the beggars about their business. This may help you to understand Egyptian character.—Christian Herald.

LAPLAND BABIES.

For Their First Few Months They Live
In Wicker Baskets.

Little Laplanders spend the first few months of their existence in baskets of wickerwork provided at the top with a conical framework too close for the baby to fall through and yet giving the infant plenty of light and air.

Before commencing her work for the day the Lapp mother places her child in the basket and hangs it on the limb of some nearby tree, occupation being found for the little one by stringing toys under a cord passed across the top of the basket.

Thus provided the child spends the entire day in the open and yet at the same time is guarded from the troubles and dangers of outdoor child life
in other countries.

The basket idea curiously parallels the Indian idea of strapping the pa-poose into a carrying case, but the Lapp baby has the advantage over its Indian fellow in that its limbs are unconfined and a certain amount of liberty of movement is afforded.

The child is carried from place to place in the same basket, the cord by which it is attached to a tree being slung over the shoulder.

Fossils and Gold.

In Alaska the bones and often the entire bodies of extinct animals, such as the mammoth, the mastodon, the reindeer and the bison, are found most abundantly in layers of soil directly above gold bearing gravels. So intimate is this association between fossil animal remains and auriferous deposits that one scientist who has explored Alaska says fossils serve prospectors as indexes of the metallic richness of the soil. In ancient times both gold and the bones of animals were deposited at the bottoms of valleys by action of rivers and smaller streams, many of which have now disappeared; consequently the appearance of fossils is, it is claimed, an almost certain indication that gold will be found in the neighborhood. The cabins of many miners are ornamented with huge tusks and antlers unearthed in the diggings.—

Definite Instructions.

Telegraphers have their troubles, like the rest of mankind, and the men who follow the dots and dashes tell stories based upon actual happenings that almost test the credulity of the hearer.
A man now in charge of a Postal office is responsible for the following, which occurred to him when he was holding down a key in an obscure place in the suburbs.

"A farmer came in one day and handed me a message to Mrs. Smith, New York city." I asked for the address, and my patron, looking at me with a pitying smile, replied:

"Sonny, you just send it to Mrs.
Smith, who keeps a boarding house in New York. Don't let any one know you don't know where her place is."

CHAMPAGNE BARRELS.

Bismarck Demanded 5,000 From France, but Got Only Five.

Germany's governmental policy is to encourage the exports of brain, labor, sunshine, air and water. There is nothing in sugar, in alcohol, but carbon, gathered from the air, but hydrogen and oxygen gathered from the rainwater, transformed by the sun into beet plants, grown in fields, tilled and wielded by hand, the beet pulp being transformed by other hands and skilled knowledge into sugar and alcohol.

Denmark and Holland export butter,
which takes nothing from the soil.
The French import Asiatic silk, weave it at Lyons and export the finished product. They export wine by analysis 87 per cent water, 10 per cent alcohol and 0.04 per cent aroma and bou-quet. Water and alcohol take nothing from the soil, but the aroma makes the wine worth from $10 a pound down.

In the peace negotiations between Bismarck and the French in 1871 it was not the money indemnity, it was not the loss of territory, that prolonged negotiations. Bismarck bethought himself to demand 5,000 empty old champagne barrels impregnated with the aroma, the bouquet producing ferment, and this the French refused. They had consented to pay $2,000,000,000; they broken heartedly gave up Alsace and Lorraine, but the bouquet of their priceless wines Bismarck should not have, and in the end they compromised on five barrels.

The French were instinctively governed by supernatural common sense.—
