METHODIST CONFERENCE

THE 74TH YEARLY SESSION AT ELIZABETH CITY

THE SESSION OF THE SECOND DAY

Bishop Talks Again on "Shrunken Ideals"—Those Admitted on Trial—Eight Advanced as Elders—Report on Orphanage.

Elizabeth City, N. C., Dec. 1.—The second day session of the North Carolina Methodist Conference, convened this morning at 9:30 o'clock with Bishop Hendrix in the chair. With the singing of hymn "Nearer My God to Thee," the opening prayer was offered by Rev. F. A. Bishop.

After an address by Bishop Hendrix on "Shrunken Ideals," which was the second address in this series of lectures being delivered by the bishop, the minutes of yesterday were read by the secretary, Rev. W. L. Cunningham, and the business of the day was entered into.

Rev. J. N. Cole brought before the conference the interest of the Raleigh Methodist Orphanage and mentioned the good work being done by that institution.

Revs. J. O. Ormond, L. D. Hayman, B. T. Hurley, G. W. Vick, J. E. Black, C. J. Harrell, J. A. Morris were admitted into the conference on trial.

Revs. H. E. Lance, W. J. Watson, H. G. Vickers, J. A. Math and J. J. Boon were admitted into full connection. Revs. W. L. Rexford, L. E. Sawyer, L. T. Singleton, E. N. Harrison, J. W. Autery, C. T. Rogers, J. C. Whedbee, A. D. Wilcox, after passing the examination of character, were elected to be ordained elders. At this point the bishop presented the church's need of more ministers at home and abroad.

Much business of the conference was dispatched at the morning session and it adjourned at 1 p. m., with benediction by the bishop.

A GOOD SUGGESTION.

Representative-Elect Mooring Says Can't a Convention.

Stokes, N. C. Dec. 1, 1910 Reflector.

I believe that it is generally understood that the next legislature will make some change in the road law, and as the time is drawing near for the legislature to meet, I would like to have the views of some of our representative citizens along that line.

I believe that one of the greatest objections to a voting primary is that it does away with the assembling of the people in county conventions, at which time they could give their views on public matters.

I also believe that it would be a good idea to call a convention now and give the people a chance to express themselves on such questions as may come before the next legislature are interested.

I would suggest that the chairman of the executive committee, call a convention at once, allowing each township double number of delegates so as to make it a more representative body.

G. M. MOORING

TURKISH REVOLT.

Druse Tribe Against Method of Taxation.

By Cable to The Reflector

Constantinople, Dec. 2.—Bloody fighting is going on today between Druse tribesmen and Turkish soldiers at Kerakin, Southern Syria, and more than one thousand have fallen. Several hundred of the tribesmen have been killed. The city of three thousand has been captured by the Druses and 200 of the Turkish garrison put to sword. Turkish troops began assault on the city today for recapture. Ten thousand of the Druses are in revolt against the method of taxation pursued by the Turkish government. The Druse nation occupies the whole southern range of Mt. Lebanon and is about 70,000 strong.

Lack of knowledge causes fewer failures than lack of application of what knowledge one has.

AYDEN CORRESPONDENCE.

Community Social News Items and Business Notes.

Ayden, N. C., Dec. 2.—Mr. J. W. Bullock of Grifton, was in town last Thursday.

Seed rye, rape, and clover.—J. R. Smith Company.

Our cotton weigher Mr. Edward Tripp, tells us there was over 130 bales of cotton sold here during November, besides what was shipped and not sold.

Iron roofing, galvanized roofing, rubber roofing, paper roofing, and press shingles for sale.—J. R. Smith Company.

Mr. Henry Stokes, our Lee street merchant, tells us that he is going to return to his farm next year about 8 miles in the country, where he previously enjoyed a good country trade.

Dr. D. L. James, of Greenville, addressed the Red Men of Ayden Tuesday night.

Dr. J. M. Parrott of Kinston was here to see Nick Harris a poor afflicted boy, Wednesday. He has been an invalid for about a year, and is in a deplorable condition. He lives at Mr. W. L. Robinson's.

Mr. Richard Wingat has sold the old Temple Cannon homestead to Mr. W. S. Jackson.

Mr. D. Webb McGlohorn lost his dwelling house and contents by fire a few days ago. He only saved a few clothes.

Mr. Jesse T. Hart has purchased the farm of Richard Jackson near Littlefield, for his son, Thad Hart.

Stoves, stoves, any kind you want, cooking, or heating, and all grades of ware.—J. R. Smith Company.

There was quite an amusing sham trial at the Seminary Tuesday night. The students had a sheriff, clerk, solicitor, jurors, judge and counsel. The boys displayed good talent and no doubt it was instructive, as well as amusing to the large crowd of spectators. A young man was tried for stealing potatoes.

A full line of sweaters for ladies, gentlemen and children.—J. R. Smith Company.

HORSE RUNS AWAY.

Two Young Ladies Thrown Out of Buggy.

Misses Ward Moore and Mae Schultz were out driving Thursday afternoon, and when about a mile from town their horse became frightened at something and shied out of the road striking the buggy against the end of a log. Miss Schultz was thrown some distance out of the buggy and sustained painful bruises. Both wheels and the shafts of the buggy were badly broken. The breaking of the harness at the same time freed the horse from the buggy, and Miss Moore, who was driving was pulled over the front of the vehicle and dragged some distance by the reins, and was also considerably bruised. She turned the reins loose and the horse ran on about a hundred yards, but she followed and caught him. Mr. W. L. Hall, near whose home the accident occurred, brought the young ladies home. It is remarkable that they did not receive worse injury.

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE READY

It is a Long One of 30,000 to 40,000 Words.

By Wire to The Reflector.

Washington, Dec. 2.—After working day and night for a week on his message to congress President Taft put the final touches to it yesterday, and shortly before midnight last night it came from the presses of the government printing office. The message is an unusually long one, running between 30,000 and 40,000 words. The president spent most of yesterday with members of his cabinet going over the message. The cabinet session lasted until 8 o'clock. It is said, today that the president, recognizing the shortness of the time for action, has cut down his legislative program.

Ordination Services.

There will be an ordination service at the Christian church next Sunday morning, when the newly elected elders and deacons will be set apart to their respective offices. There will be a social gathering in the public hall following the service.

DR. RANKIN TONIGHT.

All Who Can do so Should Hear His Address.

The lecture by Dr. Rankin at the graded school tonight will begin promptly at 8 o'clock. Dr. Rankin will come to Greenville this evening over the Norfolk Southern road, reaching here at half past six.

Once more I wish to urge upon the people of Greenville the importance of this lecture. It is not often that we can get men of Dr. Rankin's type to come and lecture. Probably the people of this community have never before had the opportunity of hearing so eminent a speaker discuss adenoids and similar throat diseases of children. Indeed, I doubt if our people have ever heard these subjects discussed in a public address. Come out this evening and hear what the State's secretary of its board of health has to say of the effects of adenoids. I am sure it will be time well spent.

TICKELED THE AMERICANS.

John Bull and Uncle Sam Jollying Together.

By Cable to The Reflector.

London, Dec. 2.—Cheered by more than 100 naval officers of the visiting American squadron, Lord Mayor Strong today proclaimed the union of England and America against the world. This declaration was made at a luncheon at Guild Hall, tendered the visiting American officers by the city and followed a toast to the United States navy proposed by Lord Mayor himself. He said if dishonor or destruction ever threatens Britain, America will come to her rescue. Bursts of applause followed the ringing declarations.

What Good Taste Will Do

A short time ago I chanced into a country home which so perfectly illustrates this point that I wish to describe the furnishings in detail. It was a three-room log house; a living room, bed room, with the kitchen a dining room in one. When the present occupants found the house the old ceiling walls were worm-eaten and full of cracks, the floors were likewise old and broken. The "hand" man brought flooring and himself laid a beautiful selected pine floor in the living room. The material for the floor cost the sum of one dollar and a quarter and the work done at odd times cost no appreciable sum. The walls were covered with a coarsely woven burlap, such as is used in wrapping cotton bales, which cost in the neighborhood of $3 to $4. The burlap was tightly drawn into place and held fast by small brass-head tacks. A number of charming pictures, reproductions of the world's best pictures, all in tasteful, well-made, home-made frames adorned the walls. Dainty muslin curtains of an inexpensive ware, draped the quaint old-fashioned windows. A well-made library table of well-selected oak, of plain, simple lines a quaint little tea table, a comfortable arm chair, an inviting window seat, all the handiwork of the man of the house, supplied the furnishing of the room. The color harmony of this room was ideal—the soft brown of the floor, which had been treated to a coat of oil, with the addition of a few tasteful rugs, the artistic wall covering, the delicate cream tint of the curtains, with the furniture done in a good wholesome brown, the result of a coat of good wood stain, gave one a sense of restfulness and fitness that no amount of money could render more perfect. Just a word as to the bed room. The floor here had not been renewed, but a good dark satin such as I have recommended frequently in these columns, had quite transformed the old shabby boards. The cracks in the ceiling walls had been covered with strips of muslin and a dainty, inexpensive wall paper covered the walls. The amount of money spent in the decorating and furnishing of this little log house was ridiculously small. More money was frequently been expended by the housewife of limited means for a set of chairs for a living room or for a cheap, factory-made table than was expended upon this entire living room furnishing of this little cabin.

Negro Found Guilty of the Murder of Chief of Police Stallings at Spring Hope—Prominent Attorney Summoned for Contempt of Court in Raleigh—Big Barn Fire in Kinston—Range Explodes in Asheville.

Asheville, Dec. 1.—A range exploding in Mrs. M. E. Howe's kitchen today, created great excitement and caused the fire alarm to be turned in. The kitchen was wrecked and a great hole was blown in the wall, the range shattered and kitchen utensils broken. Mrs. Howe had built a fire and just left the room when the explosion came, due to a frozen water bucket to the range.

Raleigh, Dec. 1.—A sensation was stirred in the Federal court here today when Judge Connor, from the bench, directed the clerk of the court to write Ed. S. Abell a well known attorney of Johnston county, calling on him in the name of the court to appear and show cause why he is in contempt of court through having procured yesterday the continuance of a case through exhibiting to the court a telegram that he said he received from his daughter in Smithfield to the effect that Mrs. Abell was very ill and that he must come home at once, an investigation on the part of government officials having developed the fact that no such telegram was received here for Mr. Abell and that there was no such telegram filed for him in the telegraph office in Smithfield. Mr. Abell had gone to his home yesterday as soon as the order was made continuing the case.

Between the hours of 7 and 8 o'clock Wednesday evening Mr. John T. Midyette's dairy, located just below the colored cemetery in this city, was destroyed by fire, together with all of the contents, including 17 valuable milk cows that were quartered in the cattle barn attached to the dairy. Besides the cows there were many farm implements and machinery, a lot of feed stuff the dairy equipment, and about $150 worth of manure, which was totally ruined.—Kinston Free Press.

Nashville, Dec. 1.—Norman Lewis, a negro, who shot and killed Chief of Police Stallings, of Spring Hope, on September 18, was today found guilty of murder in the first degree and sentenced by Judge R. B. Peebles to be electrocuted January 5. By order of the judge, a verdict of not guilty was returned against his wife, who was in the house at the time of the shooting. Neither defendants went on the stand, and before being sentenced Lewis said his wife did the shooting. The verdict meets with the approval of the people of this section, who were greatly aroused over the crime.

Don't Be Indifferent

"O holy indifference to the thousand things about which men fret themselves and worry, thou art half of life's wisdom."

I once found these words pinned over the desk of a young girl in whose development I was much interested, says Mrs. Burton Chance in The Delineator for November. I took down the paper and replaced it by another, on which I wrote the following words of Jean Paul:

"I have made of myself all that could be made of the stuff."

Do you see what different lines of action these two thoughts put out for the developing character?

Indifference is not wisdom. More often than not it is moral laziness with a different name. By shutting ourselves away from the things over which men fret and agonize we shut ourselves away from all possible avenues of development. Development comes by the courageous meeting of just such difficulties as cause in us mental and moral agitation—the very difficulties which indifference would whisper to us to ignore.

Choir Practice.

The members of the Christian church choir will meet for practice at the home of Mrs. W. C. Ward tonight at 7:30 o'clock.

PERSONAL MENTION.

The People Who Come and Go Our Trains.

Mr. J. W. Sherrod, of Greensboro, and Mrs. R. W. Saulsberry, and Mrs. M. I. Fleming, of Hamilton, came in Thursday afternoon and spent the night and part of today as the guests of Mrs. Nana Brown, returning to Hamilton this afternoon. Mr. Sherrod made the trip from Greensboro to Hamilton and then on here in his automobile.

Miss Lillian Burch, who teaches at Bruce, came home this afternoon to remain until Sunday.

Mrs. Hazel White, of Greensboro, who has been visiting Mrs. H. A. White, left this morning. Little Miss Nell White accompanied her home for a visit.

MUNFORD'S CHRISTMAS SALE.

Great Bargains in Purchases and Prize Distributions.

C. T. Munford, the merchant prince who makes things hum at the special sales at his store, has just started a great Christmas sale in which prices have been marked down to money-saving bargains. Better still, for every 25 cents spent at this sale the purchaser gets a coupon ticket giving a chance at the handsome prizes to be given away on December 29th. These prizes are a china closet, a trunk and a combination writing desk and book case. You not only get the goods purchased at discount of 20 to 30 per cent, but just as many chances as you hold tickets to get one of these prizes free. A large advertisement in this paper tells about the bargains and the prizes.

Beautiful Display of Electric Devices.

One of the most artistically decorated windows to be seen anywhere is at the office of the Water and Light Commission in the city hall building. They show a line of electric devices suitable for Christmas gifts, and the window is beautifully lighted. It is well worth seeing and should offer practical suggestions for acceptable holiday gifts. See their advertisement in this issue.

Worked Him in a Trap.

One of the slickest swindlers games worked in this section for some time has just been reported from near Balsam. As a result of this, a farmer of that section has lost a valuable cow and four hogs.

Tuesday afternoon this man, by the name of Mills, was sitting on his front porch when a well-dressed man driving a good-looking horse, drove up to the house. A conversation was started and the stranger proposed a haggle, arranged by which Mills was to give his cow and four of his hogs, together with $30, for the horse of the stranger. Saying that he couldn't handle the live stock, the stranger took Mills along with him and to some of the neighbors sold these animals, receiving about $25 for them.

Upon the return to Mills' house the stranger stated that the buggy belonged to a man in Waynesville, and that he would like the use of the horse the next day to take the buggy back Mills to accompany him and ride the horse back home afterwards. This arrangement seemed all right, and was agreed to readily by Mills and the stranger was given accommodations for the night.

Some time during the night the stranger crept from his bed, hitched up the team and calmly drove away while Mills slept. Since then he has not been seen by the loser in the trade.—Asheville Citizen.

Accepted The Invitation.

A society woman wrote to an army officer, at Fort Sam Houston: "Mrs. Smythe requests the pleasure of Captain Banker's company at a reception, July sixteenth."

Next day she received this note of acceptance:

"With the exception of three men who have the measles and one who is in the guardhouse, Captain Banker's company accepts Mrs. Smythe's kind invitation for the sixteenth.—Everybody's Magazine.

Unification of Good Roads Sentiment

President Finley of the Southern Railway lately said in a speech:

"Everybody has long recognized the need of good roads; everybody has been convinced that we ought to have them. Legislatures have appropriated large sums for the improvement of roadways, but there has been considerable working at cross purposes. Now we have a chance for all to get together and accomplish things with team work."

Upon this necessity for team work rests the work of county State and national associations. As a township cannot work its own roads to greatest public advantage except in connection with the work of adjoining ones, a county system is necessary.

And as a county to get the greatest advantages should work in sympathy with sister counties, State organization is necessary. And to carry the idea further, the States should cooperate with each other. Last week there was organized at Washington City the American Association for Highway Improvement, the purpose of which will be to unite and coordinate into a nation-wide movement the good roads work now being prosecuted by individual states and communities. While each state and section has its own peculiar problems and must employ its own methods in the development of better highways it is at the same time true that the good roads question in its most vital aspects, concerns the entire nation alike. Certainly no state, county or township, can reap the largest measure of benefits from improved roads until its neighboring organization has been aroused to their importance.—Monroe Journal.

FRIDAY, DECEMBER 2, 1910.

The man who offers to show the railroads how to save money in operating is not from Missouri, either.

We have heard of people's eyes giving them away, but the tramp runner over and cut to pieces by a train, in Florida, and was identified by his dismembered eyeballs is going some in identification.

Cook, so the dispatches say, has written a statement in which he expresses doubt as to whether he discovered the North Pole. It he does not know himself, surely the rest of us do not. It might now be in order for Perry to be equally as honest in regard to his claims. We do not believe anybody has yet found the Pole, but were only near by.

The communication elsewhere in this paper from representative G. M. Mooring makes a timely suggestion. He calls attention to the fact that voting primaries, as the county has held in the last two campaigns, has removed the opportunity of the people assembling in convention to express themselves on any desired legislation. He suggests that a mass meeting be called for the purpose of discussing such matters so that representatives may know before the legislature meets just what the public wants. This is timely, and his suggestion might be acted upon with profit to the county.

The earnest attention of the Wilmington Dispatch and The Greenville Reflector is called to the legal decision recently handed down in New York which declares that a man who pays $5 for a kiss and receives the goods has absolutely no action for recovery of the cash. Our Eastern contemporaries are engaged upon the study of a vast subject and no piece of information bearing upon it should be overlooked.—Charlotte Observer.

Thanks for the information. If we have no complaint to make about that New York decision. It was exactly right. If the man paid $5 for a kiss and "received the goods," he got what he paid for and was a fool for wanting to recover the money after the completion of the contract. Even if he felt that what he got was not worth the price, he had no business showing a frown over it. Some kisses may not be worth that much—while others are priceless. Now, Cowan, come on with your say.

Our Inconsistency.

People cry out against the iniquities of the trusts and combines, and when an opportunity is given them to in a measure suppress one of the great trusts by patronizing an independent concern the measure of their patriotism is generally regulated from the standpoint of the mighty dollar.

A sad commentary this, but none the less true. Nor do we have to go very far away from home to see this exemplified. Some time ago the Indian Refining Company entered North Carolina in competition with the Standard Oil Company, and immediately the latter put in operation its usual methods in order to "freeze out" its competitor, instead of rallying to the support of the independent concern our people are swallowing the bait of the big trust, with the result that when the independent company is checked off the price of oil will immediately rise above its present temporary reduction. A fair example is furnished by our sister town of Goldsboro. There the two companies are, according to The Record, in "fierce competition," and including its item which states that the wholesale price of kerosene has been reduced to 7 1/2 cents by the Standard Oil Co., our esteemed contemporary says: "In the meantime our people are profiting by the reduction, and the end is not yet." In other words, they are taking the trust's bait, and confidently looking for more.

The people of Goldsboro are unlike other folks in this particular, but this incident is cited merely to illustrate our inconsistency when it comes to dealing with a trust from a practical standpoint.—Mt. Olive Tribune.

The Home Place.

It was good, wholesome advice that the distinguished and greatly beloved Cardinal Gibbons gave the students at a Catholic college in Baltimore several days ago. It was timely, even if it did not peculiarly fit the inclinations of the student body that heard "Avoid following those who desire woman suffrage" was the most striking remark made by the Cardinal, and in view of what has happened within the past year, when women, more especially in London, have left their homes to indulge in rowdy motion, have seemed to prefer to be martyrs in jail than queens in the household, and have selected to hang out on street corners rather than romp at home with the little ones, it unfolds a great volume of truth that should sink deep with profit both into the mind and heart. But the Cardinal did not stop there, he went on to say:

"Do not follow in the steps of those who have become manish in their ways and who fight for a place in politics. The place for the woman is in the home and I trust that you will strive to do your best now. By so doing each of you will bring joy to your relatives and friends and in the future to the young man whom you may call your husband.—Wilmington Dispatch.

A child of four in these days is as wise as one of ten years in the days past and gone. The other afternoon a little chap was busy trying to construct something and called to his wise mother to help him. "I can't son, I am so busy," whereupon the wisest chap replied without the least hesitancy—"You hain't got time to do anything but go to these d— parties!" And there is a suspicion that the boy guessed right the very first time. Don't blame the boy for using the adjective; he heard his dad use the very same expression; no doubt of it. Moral—be careful what you say before children; they have most wonderful memories.—Greensboro Record.

We are told that "paradoxydiam-dorosenbenzol is one of the most effective of remedies." Well, to give something like that in broken doses to a man who has a chronic cough or to a woman who complains and scolds evidently would be the proper thing. It would either kill or cure.—Wilmington Star.

It is easy to believe anything that is of no importance.

Good Thing to Know.

If you own a Hyomei hard rubber inhaler Coward & Wooten wants you to know that they will sell you a bottle of HYOMEI for only 50 cents.

Remember this, all who suffer with catarrh—a bottle of HYOMEI (pronounce it High-ome) is put up in a separate package and sold for 50 cents, to accommodate the vast army of people who already own a Hyomei inhaler.

Coward & Wooten will sell it to you at that price and give you the opportunity to begin at once to rid yourself of vile catarrh and snuffling, hawking and spitting that go with it.

Many people through years of neglect have let catarrh get a strong hold upon them. Some of these people unreasonably think that one bottle of HYOMEI ought to cure them.

No matter how chronic your catarrh troubles, HYOMEI is guaranteed by Coward & Wooten to cure them if you give it half a chance. Just breathe it three or four times a day, soothing, antiseptic properties will make you feel better in a day.

If you own an inhaler get a 50-cent bottle of HYOMEI at Coward & Wooten's today. If you do not own a Hyomei inhaler, ask for a $1 outfit, which includes inhaler.

WHEN HER BACK ACHES.

A Woman Finds All Her Energy and Ambition Slipping Away.

Greenville women know the aches and pains that come when the knees fail to make life a burden. Backache, hip pains, headaches, dizziness, spells, distressing urinary troubles, a fall of sick kidneys and warn you of the stealthy approach of diabetes, dropsy and Bright's disease. Doan's Kidney Pills permanently cure all these disorders. Here's proof of it in a Greenville woman's words:

Miss Susan Kainsaul, 503 N. Fifth St., Greenville, N. C., says: "For some time I suffered from dull, nagging backaches and distressing pains through my loins. My kidneys were very weak and caused me great annoyance. My back pained me severely when first arising in the morning, I was so lame and sore I could scarcely get around. I at length procured Doan's Kidney Pills at Wooten's drug store and through their use I was entirely relieved. The fact that my kidneys have given me since then, leads me to recommend Doan's Kidney Pills very highly."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Stealing.

"Why do you call your story 'The Thieves' Romance'?"

"Because it is all about stealing."

"How?"

"Well, the story of the romance goes this way: 'She stole a look; then he stole a kiss. Next they had stolen meetings, they stole a march on their friends, and both stole away.'"

"I suppose the next thing they will be stealing back."

A BLOOD TAX.

Payment by a French Town to Spain
For an Ancient Crime.

Seven hundred years ago some shepherds of the valley of Roncal, in Navarre, were murdered by shepherds of the valley of Bareton, in Bearn, the crime taking place on the high pasture lands of Arlas, in the Pyrenees. It would have been difficult to bring the murderers individually to justice, and the Spaniards were preparing to make war upon the valley from which the French murderers had come when the French villages proposed that peace be maintained at the price of a yearly tax or tribute, to endure for all time, and this proposition was accepted.

The payment of this blood tax—originally three white mares, but later three cows of a particular breed and color—has been made ever since, the custom (it is nothing more) having survived even the great wars in which both France and Spain have engaged and the storm of the French revolution.

Yearly the representative men of the two valleys meet on the frontier at a certain stone remote from any town and go through the ceremony of presents and receiving the cattle. The order of procedure, which is elaborate and impressive, is fixed by a document bearing the date 1375, though the tax was paid a hundred years prior to that time. The records of each yearly meeting and payment are duly attested and deposited in the archives of the Roncalais.—New York Tribune.

The Sanity of Paris.

The French live within their means and by a sense of economy wholly unknown to us manage to save and retire to enjoy whatever fortune has stored up for them, says F. Berkeley
Smith in Success Magazine. To them
France is sufficient. They voyage rarely and gamble less. The spendthrift or the man who plunges on the bourse, the races and the gaming table is regarded by the masses in the light of a rogue and a fool. The Pa-risians work hard enough for their leisure, but they never eliminate it nor allow their work to encroach upon their traditional daily vacation, as luncheon, the aperitif hour, dinner and fete days. They work, not to amass millions and die in harness, but to save enough to give their daughter her dot, without which she may never marry; start their son in his chosen trade and have enough income left to retire before they are too old to enjoy their freedom.

Old and Modern Customs.

Palm Sunday in certain places is called "Fig Sunday" from the custom of eating figs on this day, as snap dragons on Christmas eve, plum pudding on Christmas day, oranges and barley sugar on St. Valentine's eve, pancakes on Shrove Tuesday, salt cod fish on Ash Wednesday, frumenty on "Mothering Sunday" (mid-Lent), cross buns on Good Friday, gooseberry tart on Whitsunday, goose on Michaelmas day, nuts on Allhallow's, and so on.—
New York American.

Leading the Leader.

A very small boy was trying to lead a big St. Bernard dog up the road.
"Where are you going to take the dog, my little man?" inquired a passerby.
"I'm going to see where—where he wants to go first," was the breathless reply.—Argonaut.

An Exceptional Case.

"What are you doing these days?"
"Playing the horses."
"No money in that."
"Yes, there is. I get $2 a night for imitating hoof beats in a melodrama."
—Washington Herald.

Greenville cotton	14 3-8.

By Wire to The Reflector.
New York Dec. 2.—There was a nervous tone to the cotton market when it opened with prices from one to five points lower, the depression being occasioned by a Wall Street rumor that the Giles report would show the present crop to be 12,000,000 bales. Opening December 14 75; January 14 76; March 15 02.

New York Dec. 2.—After opening slightly higher stocks rallied to hold early gains, with the result that within a short time most of the standard issues were quoted in the neighborhood of yesterday's close. Trading was moderately active, most of the buying, however, consisted in a continuation of the covering movement, which prevailed yesterday.

Chicago, Dec. 2.—There was a gain of 3-8 to 1-2c in wheat at the opening with commission houses generally selling, corn was 1-4c higher, with trade small; oats firmer with good buying; provisions opened higher all around. Opening: December wheat 91 1-2; corn 45 1-2; oats 31 1-2; pork January 17 47.

A Great Tercentenary.

It is not too early to begin a plan for an event which is scheduled to occur on the Sunday after next Easter, on that day unless a change should be made, the English speaking world will be called upon to celebrate the tercentenary of the publication of the King James version of the Bible and the celebration should be general and hearty. Three hundred years ago mighty influence which the work of the royal translators was to have was not foreseen and as a consequence we possess very meager details of their work, the exact date of publication having been long since forgotten. It is certain, however, that the year was 1611 the Sunday mentioned was selected by the American Bible Society as a convenient one on which to secure the co-operation of all who might be interested.

Centennials have not been infrequent during the past few years and tercentenaries have occurred, but few celebrations have within them so much appeal as the one proposed. The translation of the Bible into the English of the King James version marks an epoch not only in the religious history of the English people but in the civilization of the world. Few would dispute that the work is the noblest translation ever made by man of the noblest original text in the world's literature. Its phrases are interwoven inextricably with the intellectual furniture of every boy and girl who inherits the English language. With negligible exception the entire compass of English literature written since 1611 is heavily indebted to it.

Under the circumstances it would be impossible to arrange a strict uniformity of exercises for the day inasmuch as it will be observed in every inhabited section of the globe. The event will serve a two-fold end in that it will not only commemorate the original publication in 1611 but also serve to call public attention to the importance of the greatest possible familiarity with the contents of the Book. The latter feature in itself is of sufficient importance to justify whatever exertion and expense it may be necessary to put upon the preparations.—Charlotte Observer.

It is said the farmers of Rowan have more money and are doing more trading with the Salisbury merchants at present than they have done in many years. This is one of the best indications of returning prosperity and the Post is glad to see the good feeling that now exists between the people, in both town and country. The farmers have the "long green" all right, and in nearly every instance pay the cash for both and every purchase.—Salisbury Post.

Speaking about aged people, M. John Wolfe, a nephew of the late "Sq' ire Wolfe, has a grandmother by marriage whose age he says is 114. She lives in Sampson county and takes long walks every day. Last year she knitted 78 pairs of yarn socks. This year she expects to do better.—Greensboro Record.

DO YOU KEEP A BANK ACCOUNT? You Should For the Reasons:

MONEY in Bank is safe from fire and burglars; in your home it is not.
MONEY in Bank is safe from careless handling; in your pocket it is not.
MONEY paid by check guarantees to you a permanent receipt; cash handed out does not.
MONEY in Bank is a starter towards economy, always ready for use, or to be added to.

TOURISTS IN JAPAN.

Troubles of Those Ignorant of the Language and Native Ways.

All Japanese inns, of course, charge a great deal more to the globe trotting European tourist who does not speak the language, since he or she is not content to travel strictly a la Japonaise and worries the entire household with a variety of strange demands—extra quilts to sleep on because they find the floor hard, an improvised pillow, special food (the ordinary guest takes what is given him and at the hour that his host pleases and is thankful), knives, forks and spoons because he has neglected to practice eating his food with chopsticks, a bath with fresh water in it because he will not follow the custom of entering the bath as soon as he arrives, thus getting the opportunity of first bath and the water while it is fresh, and half a dozen other requirements. He reserves his chafed also until he leaves, and often the host misunderstands this action and, fearing he will get no recompense for his extra trouble, augments the bill accordingly.

These visitors not unusually treat the waitresses like so many novel playthings, especially travelers of the sterner sex, who sometimes fall hopelessly to distinguish between professional geishas and ordinary maidservants.—Vera Collum in Wide World Magazine.

MANYUEMA CANNIBALS.

African Savages That Grind Their Teeth to Sharp Points.

The most terrible species of cannibals living are the cruel, bloodthirsty Manyema of Tanganyika, in central Africa. Living to the west of Tanganyika, these cannibals, clothed in primitive fashion with a piece of bark cloth rudely hammered out from a neighboring tree, have an appetite for human flesh which is well nigh insatiable.

They exercise the most fiendish cunning in tracking down their quarry, choosing fat, well covered people in preference to those who are lean and bony. Their favorite practice is to waylay their victims at eventide so that they may have before them a long night in which to effectually dispose of their prey by cutting it up into strips and drying it over a low fire in the woods. These dried strips of human flesh are carefully preserved for future use, and on two occasions these grewsome forest food deposits were discovered and their owners killed by the Waipa people, who inhabit east Tanganyika.

Most of these cannibals file their teeth to sharp points so as to enable them more easily to tear the flesh from the bone when they have to eat their abominable meal in a hurry.—Wide World Magazine.

An Unreasonable Friend.

Several young artists in Philadelphia are telling a story on another wielder of the brush who is a fellow member in a little club. One of the rules of the club is that each member must keep his finished paintings up to a certain number. The artist on whom the story is told is noted for his indolence. He keeps up to the requirement regarding the number, but never exceeds it. But for his distaste for work the artist probably would be very comfortably fixed financially, as he has considerable talent. As a matter of fact he is usually on the edge of penury. Several days ago, when his exchequer was unusually low, a friend visited him in his studio. The friend looked at several of the paintings, while the artist lay on a couch, smoking a pipe.

"I like this," the friend finally said, pointing to one of them. He named a good price which he was willing to pay. The artist looked at him mournfully.

"Aw, don't do that," he said. "If you do I'll have to paint another."—Philadelphia Times.

Ancient Bridge Superstition.

A primitive notion existed among the Romans and other races that a bridge was an offense and injury to the river god, as it saved people from being drowned while fording or swimming across and robbed the deity of a certain number of victims which were his due. For many centuries in Rome propitiatory offerings of human victims were made every year to the Tiber. Men and women were drowned by being bound and hung from the wooden Sublician bridge, which, till nearly the end of the republican period, was the only and only bridge across the Tiber in Rome.
