CLOSE OF BAPTIST CONVENTION

PLEA FOR CONSECRATED MEN AND WOMEN

AN ADDRESS BY J. H. TUCKER

Indifference of Church Members and Not Commercialism the Danger of the State and Nation—Prof. Holgood Makes Stirring Speech Along Same Line.

Hendersonville, Dec. 9.—The feature of the closing day of the Baptist State convention was the splendid address of Mr. J. H. Tucker, of Asheville. Mr. Tucker is an enthusiastic and consecrated layman and is a leader in the laymen's movement in the State. Mr. Tucker in his address pleaded for consecrated men and women in the churches and stated that the danger which confronted the State and nation was not commercialism, industrialism, the enlargement of the Southern Power Company or any other like interest, but was rather the indifference of the church members.

Following Mr. Tucker, Prof. F. P. Holgood, of Oxford, delivered a telling address on the same subject.

The convention then adopted resolutions strongly endorsing the laymen's movement and calling for a mass meeting of Baptist laymen to be held in the early spring.

The report on Sunday schools was read by H. C. Moore, of Raleigh, and Rev. T. W. Chambliss, of Wadesboro, read the report on ministerial education.

Secretary Brown, who is in charge of the mountain missions and schools, stated today that the work of his department has shown wonderful growth. The Baptist schools with 5,000 pupils have cost the board $26,000 for maintenance while the Presbyterian schools with 4,000 pupils cost for maintenance $108,000.

The people of Hendersonville have shown splendid, whole-hearted hospitality and the convention of 1910 will long be remembered by all of the delegates.

The consideration of the question of State Missions came up in the convention Thursday morning. Rev. C. E. Nady of Statesville, read the report of the committee on State Missions, and addressed the convention. He was followed by Rev. L. Johnson, the corresponding secretary of the board, in an incomparable address on the subject of State Evangelization. The State Mission board reports a year of gratifying progress with vast possibilities stretching out before the denomination, with increased expenditures necessary and larger receipts by 2,100. The board reported $800 deficit. A splendid record for the year. It is the dream of Secretary Johnson that the Baptists of North Carolina shall within ten years reach the million dollar mark for missions.

WILL MOVE TO GREENVILLE.

The Kind of People This Town Wants.

It will be a surprise to many of our people to learn that Mr. George Hadley is to leave LaGrange. He has decided to move to Greenville and engage in the hardware business. This news comes like a shock to LaGrange. Mr. Hadley is one of the most substantial and up-to-date business men. He has been identified with the best business interests of LaGrange ever since early manhood and the town and community can ill afford to lose him. We need him and many more like him. He has a beautiful home here, considerable business interests in town, and also runs a large farm. His going away means a great loss to the town and the whole community. We have not talked over the matter with him, but we learn from some of his friends that all his arrangements for moving, have been made and that he is certain to leave. While we very much regret this, yet we congratulate Greenville in securing Mr. Hadley and family. They will add much to the business and social circles of that town. We feel certain that he has the very best wishes of all our people, no matter where he goes.—LaGrange Sentinel.

The Reflector is glad that Mr. Hadley is going to bring his family to Greenville. This is the kind of people the town wants to add to her population, those who in casting in their lot with us help to build up the community. We are not prepared to state just what Mr. Hadley's business plans are after getting here, but he will not be long making his presence felt.

NORTH CAROLINA ITEMS

Of News Happenings Far and Near Within Its Borders.

For the second time within two years the store of the Moseley Hardware Company, right in the heart of the business district of the city was entered Thursday night and robbed of about one dozen pistols, several of them valued at $17 to $20 each. The thief only took pistols, so far as now known, and cleaned the showcase of these articles, except one in a box, which he evidently overlooked. The value of the pistols stolen is placed at $100.—Kinston Free Press.

Durham, Dec. 9.—W. M. Wilkins, a well known farmer living 9 miles in the country, dropped dead this afternoon on a lumber pile in the yard of D. B. Cameron, where he had been working.

Statesville, Dec. 9.—A big hawk found himself "up against it" a few days ago when he swooped down in the yard of G. R. Goble, some miles from Statesville, and fastened his claws in a large hen. The hen was so heavy that the hawk could not pick her up, and, from all appearances he had sunk his claws so deep in the fowl's flesh that he could not free himself. At any rate, the struggle continued long enough for Mrs. Goble to seize a brickbat and kill the hawk before he could get away.

Notice.

The Ladies Aid Society of the Baptist church will meet Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock, with Mrs. Farham.

HORRIBLE MINE EXPLOSION

SEVENTY MEN CAUGHT IN BURNING SHAFT

THEIR RESCUE SEEMS IMPOSSIBLE

The Mine a Raging Furnace—Only Seven Men Reach Surface and Six of These Fatally Burned—Rescuers Driven Back by Flames.

By Wire to The Reflector.

Calgary, Alberta Dec. 10.—Ten men are known to be dead, six are lying and nearly fifty others are believed to have been burned to death in the Belleville mine of the west Canadian Collieries, which is a reeling furnace today as the result of an explosion that occurred early this morning. Scores of mothers, wives and children are crowded sobbing about the mouth of the pit hoping against hope that the flames have not destroyed their loved ones.

Rescuers made desperate attempts to force their way into the burning shaft, but in vain. Smoke and fire drove them to the surface almost as fast as they descended, and it is believed all the men in the mine will perish before the flames can be quenched. Seventy men were in the mine when the explosion came and only seven got to the surface. Six of these are fatally burned.

RAID ON GYPSY CAMP.

The County Has Six Horses On Hand.

A band of Gypsy fortune tellers and horse traders came here a day or two ago, and went into camp just across the bridge, between the railroad and the county road leading to life bridge. Deputy Sheriff T. R. Moore went over to the camp Friday to investigate, and finding that they had no license for carrying on their business, made demand of them for the price of the license for the State and county. The money was forthcoming, and the officer levied on and took possession of six horses which are now in the custody of the county.

Merchants Should Advertise.

After all the problem of how to successfully meet the mail order houses rests mainly with local merchants. Of course in almost every place there are some people who will buy of mail order houses just because they have a craze for buying out of town, but the great majority of people are reasonable and fair and prefer to deal with home merchants. But they need to have brought home to them in clear, unmistakable form the advantages which home trading gives them. As a rule this is not done as it should be. The mail order firms send to almost every home their big illustrated catalogues two or three times a year, and those catalogues are got up in alluring manner and full of illusory bargains. The way for the home merchants to meet that is by keeping honest goods upon their shelves and then tell the public about them in generous, attractive advertising that catches the eye. As a rule they do the first all right, but their goods, however excellent, will remain on their shelves unless unless consumers are secured.—Snow Hill Leader.

SATURDAY, DECEMBER 10, 1910

SIXTEEN YEARS OLD.

Newspapers, like folks, have a birthday occasionally, in fact they have a way of coming around once a year. Such an occasion strikes The Daily Reflector today, the paper having reached the distinction of being sixteen years old, this number being the first of the seventeenth year. Its parent The Eastern Reflector, made its initial bow twenty-nine years ago and the daily edition made its start on December 10, 1894. Quite a long time ago, wasn't it? Yet the years have gone so swiftly that the first little Daily Reflector that came from the press is still fresh in mind.

Great and wonderful changes have taken place in Greenville and Pitt county during these years, and we have the right to feel some pride at the work the paper did in helping to bring these changes. It has been a labor love, too, for no spot on earth is so dear to the heart of the writer as his home town and county, and as long as his existence continues he never wants to live and labor anywhere else. The truth is, we are almost tempted to say, that we don't believe the folks would let us even should such a silly notion as going away got in our head. As much as this section has developed. It seems to be just in the dawn of real progress, and we expect to see it go forward with great strides.

The Daily Reflector has not lagged behind in the march of progress, either, but has always tried to keep ahead of the van. The paper has never reached its ambition, and never will as far as that goes, but it is glad to be able to say it is going ahead. And the past year has been the most eventful in its career. Beginning with May it was incorporated, a number of our most influential citizens becoming interested in it, and this step was followed by making additions to the plant in machinery and equipment that greatly improved its facilities. The plant has turned out more job printing this year than in any year in its history, and the subscription list was never before so large as now. While these things are gratifying and we feel grateful to those whose patronage has made it so yet we are not satisfied with present attainments and the aim is to climb still higher and be in even better position to serve the public better. The need of a faster press to keep pace with the increasing circulation of the paper is already felt and will soon be arranged for, and other facilities will be increased as the business grows.

The Reflector has the ambition of being the leading paper and having the best equipped plant in this section of the State, and we believe the people are going to help it do so. This is Our Greenville yours if you come," and The Reflector is our paper and yours, too.

As the anniversary of the paper comes so close to the holiday season, we are reminded in closing this little birthday talk to wish every reader a happy Christmas and a prosperous new year. Factories Mean Workers.

Petersburg factories are among her most valuable assets. More of them are needed. They bring to the city men who will work, and every wage-earner is an asset of the community's. More people are needed in Petersburg and Southside Virginia. Manufactories will attract them as nothing else. The Wilmington Star, in this connection remarks very sensibly:

"The business of a city depends upon the producing capacity of its people and of the people in its trade territory. Production is the result of labor and the fruit of labor is wealth. When producers are few production is small proportion. Each laborer is capable of producing just as much wealth and no more. There is a limit to trade in a sparsely inhabited country and when that limit is reached the only way to increase business is to secure an increase in the number of producers. What eastern North Carolina needs, therefore, is more good people to bring about greater production and better development of our natural resources.

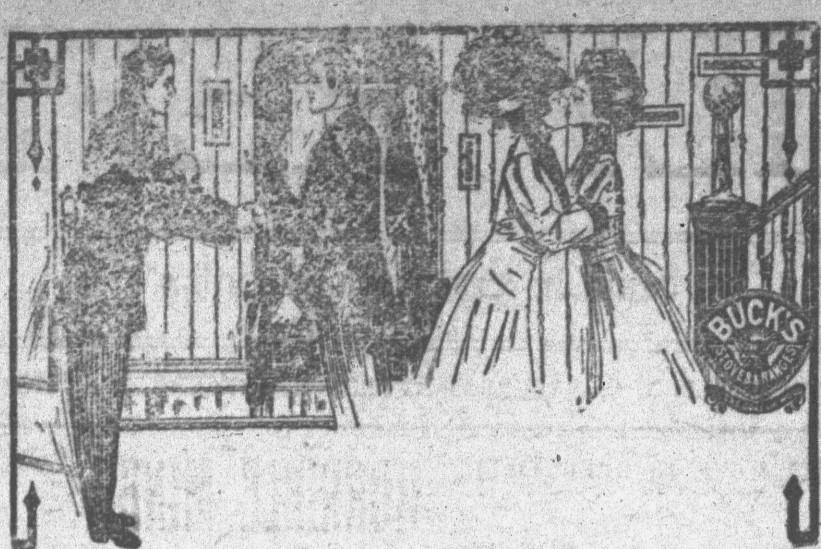

"Every man who will work is an asset to Wilmington if he is employed in the city, but if Wilmington has no employment for her working men they go away and become assets of other communities. What Wilmington needs is manufacturing establishments to employ the labor that creates the wealth and brings about the growth of a community. Commercial growth of a town naturally is slow and no city will take on rapid growth when it neglects industrial development. Every single Southern city which has made rapid progress, as shown by the census, has made that progress through the establishments of industries which employ local people and attract others. The Southern cities which have exhibited the most remarkable growth have achieved it through industrial development.

"A city which begins to become an industrial centre attracts attention and makes a draft upon capital, and until it does something more than keep shop it has no right to expect anything but the most ordinary progress and normally slow growth.

Why doesn't Wilmington build some manufacturing establishments? Let us find the answer to that question and when the reasons are ascertained we should set about to remove them. If there is any cause for industrial stagnation we should go to work and remove it if possible. Merchants are essential to a city's prosperity. Nothing is more conducive to the prosperity of the merchants than manufactories, employing hundreds of men.—Petersburg Progress.

Some girls seem to think that domestic science means merely a knowledge of how to cook, and that if they can make good bread and pies and cakes they are good housekeepers. Their idea is a very wrong one. Cookery is, indeed, one of the important branches of domestic economy, but it is only one. More than this, there is many a housekeeper who can make delicious dishes or get up a delightful meal but whose family is poorly fed just because she knows so little of the food value of these different dishes and the part each should fill in the daily diet.—Raleigh Progressive Farmer and Gazette.

FARMER'S WIFE HAD HEAP TO DO

Mrs. Shepherd Was in Bad Shape When She Could Not Stand on Her Feet.

Durham, N. C.—"I am a farmer's wife," writes Mrs. J. M. Shepherd, of this city, "and have a heap to do." "Four months ago I could not stand on my feet, to do anything much, but at this time I do the most of my work. I took Cardui and it did me more good than all the doctors."

"You don't know half how I thank you for the Cardui Home Treatment. I wish that all women who suffer from womanly trouble would treat themselves as I have." Ladies can easily treat themselves at home, with Cardui, the woman's tonic. It is easy to take, and so gentle in its action, that it cannot do anything but good.

Being composed exclusively of vegetable ingredients, Cardui cannot lay up trouble in your system, as mineral drugs often do. Its ingredients having no harsh, medicinal effects, and being non-poisonous and perfectly harmless, Cardui is absolutely safe for young and old.

Ask your druggist. He will tell you to try Cardui.

Weighing the Mayor.
A mayor, particularly an English mayor, is traditionally a man of weight and substance, but there is only one municipality that insists that his honor get on the public scales and prove it. Of the thousands of quaint and curious customs surviving in "the old country" this is perhaps one of the most odd. The mayor of High Wycombe has to be weighed on Nov. 9 of each year, inauguration day, and this custom has been observed for about six centuries. The mayor elect walks at the head of a procession consisting of the councilors, the bandle and the mace bearer. He is clad in cocked hat, silk stockings, blue coat and knee breeches. Upon reaching the town hall the mayor is placed upon the scales by the head constable, and a record of his avoids is solemnly made in a book kept for this purpose.—Harper's Weekly.

The Brain is Very Adaptable.
Each vocation makes a different call upon the brain and develops faculties and qualities peculiar to itself, so that as the various professions, trades and specialties multiply the brain takes on new adaptive qualities, thus giving greater variety and strength to civilization as a mass, says Orison Sweet Marden in Success Magazine.

When the world was young the brain of man was very primitive, because the demand upon it was largely for self protection and the acquisition of food, which called only for the development of its lower, its animal part. As civilization advanced, however, there was a higher call upon the brain and a more varied development until today, in the highest civilization, it has become exceedingly complex.

Only Two Kinds.
Little Lawrence's grandfather was very ill, and a trained nurse had been employed to care for him. When he became convalescent a young woman who had studied in a hospital for a short time was secured in her place.
A sympathetic neighbor meeting Lawrence, the following conversation took place:

"How is your dear grandpa this morning, Lawrence?"
"He is better."
"Have you the trained nurse still?"
"No; the trained nurse has gone away, and the one we have now is half trained and half wild."—Woman's Home Companion.

Feminine.
"What is Mrs. Green crying for?"
"Mrs. Watson snubbed her in the street car."
"But Mrs. Green doesn't speak to Mrs. Watson anyhow."
"I know, but she's crying because she didn't see Mrs. Watson in time to snub her first."—Detroit Free Press.

By Wire to The Reflector.

Cotton.

New York, Dec. 10.—With dull cables and considerable unloading here, cotton opened easy from two to five points lower. Buying was on a heavy scale and initial losses were subsequently recorded. Opening: December 14.76; January 14.80; March 15.10 May 15.25.

Stocks.

New York, Dec. 10.—Although early trading in the stock market was active prices ruled fractionally lower than yesterday's close. Heavy selling in steel common caused an early decline of 3-8, but later a part of the loss was recovered. Union Pacific, Reading and Lehigh Valley were 1-2 point lower toward the end of the first hour.

Grain.

Chicago, Dec. 10.—Wheat opened 1-8 to 1-4c lower with selling headed by commission houses. Corn started firm with a rise to 1-4c; oats were also firmer and provisions higher. Opening: December wheat 91; corn 45 7-8; oats 34 1-4; pork January, 18.87.

Pork Soaring.

Chicago, Dec. 10.—Hogs at the stock yards jumped almost out of sight today and it is declared pork will go to a figure never before known in Chicago. The market opened up 30 cents higher than the close and big packers were buying frantically.

Can Chickens Reason?

Are chickens tactful? This will illustrate it. A gentleman here attending Federal court tells this story, every word of which he vouches for.

A man bought a game rooster and installed him among his chickens. In the lot were a number of Bantam roosters, young vigorous fellows. One of the little Bantams, jealous of the presence of the new comer, concluded to roust him out and he went for him. He had scarcely started when the others saw the game cock was going to whip him if something were not done, so a second Bantam went to his assistance. These two pounded away on him, two more standing by and watching. In about ten minutes the two engaged in the fight were relieved by the two that had been resting. The fresh fowls went at the game rooster good and strong; they stood to it for about ten minutes or more, the two former prize fighters resting; then they waded in and relieved the others. This was kept up for over an hour and they whaled the game cock good, getting him down, when one of the little rascals hopped in his prostrate body and crowded until he was hoarse.

P. S.—This is not an entry for Wade Harris' red-eddy medal, for this true. That medal is for Hars. Greensboro Record.

The great fires in Minnesota again call attention to the real origin of our neglect to provide adequate protection against forest fires. Hundreds of people burned to death, thousands homeless, millions of dollars property destroyed—principally, or entirely, because of the "economy" that forbade the spending of a few thousands of dollars for the prevention of forest fires. Yet some of our Southern newspapers complacently tell us that such fires can not happen in the South, entirely ignoring the fact that even if we are spared these great fires our annual loss by smaller ones amounts to millions.—Raleigh Progressive Farmer and Gazette.
