LIST OF CANDIDATES ALREADY ENTERED

IN POPULARITY VOTING CONTEST; INTEREST GROWING

YOUR NOMINATION IS INVITED

Those Who Contemplate Entering The Contest and Competing for One of the Nine Handsome Prizes Should do so at Once—It is Not Too Late.

Today The Reflector publishes a list of the names of all those who have been nominated in its $600 popularity contest up to Saturday night. There are several names, and it represents a good many towns and some of the very best people in North Carolina. One familiar with this section of the country has only to read the names and be convinced of the high plane on which the contest has been pitched.

Nominations are at full tide now. By the time list is published again it is sure to be much longer than it is today.

It requires much time to get a contest of the magnitude of The Reflector under way, and the spreading period will continue for some time. During this period little work will be done by any particular candidate, but a great many will get started in the race, some with four months subscription, some with six months subscription, and some with nothing more than determination and energy that meets all obstacles and comes out ahead at the last.

The Reflector invites a large number to get started. It feels that it is offering a prize list that should attract a great number of people, and it invites as many as feel like contesting for the valuable prizes to nominate themselves and become candidates.

There are no obligations attached to entering the contest. Nominations cost nothing, and the prizes will cost the winners nothing. A candidate cannot possibly lose anything more than a little time, and, if the proper energy is put behind the time expended, there is little chance to lose this. It is a friendly struggle that The Reflector has inaugurated, with handsome rewards for the winners, and no obligations what ever.

Candidates will find after reading the following list that they have friends voting for them without their knowledge—this only emphasizes the fact that they have friends who are interested.

MR. SPILMAN'S LECTURE ON CUBA

Delights An Audience in The Training School.

Mr. B. W. Spilman delivered an address on Cuba in the auditorium of the Training school on Saturday evening.

He took his audience on the trip with him by the east coast of Florida, by Key West, across the beautiful tropical waters into Havana harbor, where he gave a glimpse of the wreck of the Maine and of the city from the harbor. Then followed a description of the city, its streets, houses and general appearance.

He passed from this to an interesting account of the people, their manners, customs, and religion. Amusing experiences of the speaker were scattered throughout the lecture.

Sunday night Mr. Spilman also made an interesting talk to the Y. W. C. A., of the Training school on the importance of deeper Bible study and gave a practical illustration in methods of making Bible teaching more attractive.

NORTH CAROLINA DAY.

Exercises to be Given at The Graded School Tomorrow Afternoon.

The laws of the State require the public schools to hold special patriotic exercises once each year. In accordance with the requirement, the graded school will, on tomorrow afternoon at two o'clock, render a part of the programme prepared and issued by the State Department of Education.

Interspersed in the programme will be several Christmas songs.

The people of the community have a cordial invitation to be present and hear the children. The exercises will be rendered by the children entirely, and I think those who attend will find the hour a pleasant one.

TERRIBLE CRIME IN GRANVILLE

FAMILY BURNED TO DEATH IN THEIR HOME

THE AWFUL DEED OF A NEGRO FIEND

The House of J. L. Saunders Set on Fire and Burned Down—Charred Bodies Found in Ashes—Negro Charged With the Crime Arrested and Hurried to Durham.

By Wire to The Reflector.

Durham, N. C., Dec. 20.—Nathan Montague, a young negro charged with assault, murder and arson last night in Granville county, was placed in jail here this morning. Neighbors discovered the home of J. L. Saunders on fire about ten o'clock last night. They rushed to the scene but none of the family could be found. On the ground nearby, however, were found portions of a girl's clothing, hair, blood, and a bloody knife. When the fire died down the charred bodies of Miss Mary Saunders, her father, J. L. Saunders, and a two-year-old grand-daughter were found. The knife was recognized as belonging to Nathan Montague. Sheriff Wheeler was called and went to the home of Montague. He found the negro trembling, bloody and with hair on him. He made no resistance to arrest and was hurried to Durham. Excitement in Granville county is intense.

Railroads Win a Victory.

Washington, Dec. 20.—The railroads of the country gained a victory in decision of inter state commerce commission which decided that the roads have not been violating the inter state commerce commission act in fixing export freight rates lower than domestic rates, with certain exceptions. Under the decision the railroads can continue to fix the export rate lower than the domestic rate.

DELIGHTFUL SHOWER.

Mrs. B. E. Batts and Miss Willie Grimsley Entertain.

Snow Hill, Dec. 17.—A delightful shower was given Thursday afternoon from 3 to 6 o'clock, at the hospitable home of Mrs. B. E. Batts, in honor of the brides-to-be, Miss Olive Morrill and Miss Rosalie Edwards. The guests were met at the door by Misses Willie Grimsley and Susie Edwards, and, after purchasing tickets for "Cupid's train," by depositing interesting-looking packages at the ticket offices were escorted to the punch bowl, which was gracefully presided over by Mrs. Ed. Galloway. From there they wended their way to the reception room, beautifully decorated with ferns and cut flowers, the color scheme throughout being in red and green, symbolic of the Christmas season. Here each guest was presented with pencil and heart-shaped paper, and advice as to the brides was frequently and humorously given, especially by the single ladies. After the scribes had finished, Miss Olive Morrill read the hearts aloud, to the great amusement of all the guests.

The dining room, which represented Cupid's dining car, and beautifully decorated with Christmas garlands, was the scene of much merriment for an hour, during which the game of "progressive travel" was indulged in, after which delightful cakes and ices in red and green were served.

Returning to the reception room the brides-to-be found themselves under suspicious-looking objects, in the shape of a Christmas stocking and pillow, which travelers recognize as the ticket offices. After several toasts most gracefully responded to by the brides-to-be, the latter were told to pull a card, and, upon doing so, were submerged with a shower of innumerable and dainty little gifts, each accompanied with a heart full of good wishes.

'Tis needless to say that Mrs. Batts and Miss Grimsley sustained their enviable reputation for true Southern hospitality, and that the memory of the happy occasion will abide long with the fortunate guests.—Raleigh News and Observer.

Pender County Couple Married Twice—Two Big Fires in New Bern Sunday—N. S. Ticket Office at Kinston Robbed—Representative-Elect Stainback, of Halifax Dead—Prominent Farmer a Suicide.

The ticket office of the Norfolk Southern railroad in this city was robbed Sunday night of $237.47 in cash, the receipts for Sunday. The robbery occurred between the time the 9.45 train passed and 11.50, at which time Mr. Grover West went into the office to put out the lights and discovered the robbery.—Kinston Free Press.

Weldon, Dec. 19.—Rev. P. N. Stainback, member-elect from Halifax in the house of representatives in the next general assembly, died at his home here this morning at 9 o'clock. He took a deadly poison by mistake Tuesday last, and since that time he has suffered intense agony. His condition was somewhat favorable yesterday morning but the end came this morning.

New Bern, Dec. 19.—Sunday was a busy day for the firemen. At 6.30 in the morning, fire broke out in the property of W. F. Hill, next to Trent river, and between South Front and Metcalf streets. Nine houses were destroyed and the entire block, with the exception of N. F. Vincent's store and the store house of the Hyman Supply Company, was burned. The plant of the Coca-Cola Company was completely destroyed. The fire loss to Mr. Hill was about $5,000 with no insurance. Vincent's store was badly damaged by water. The loss to the Coca-Cola plant is not known. Last night about 10.30, the J. F. Taylor house, on National avenue, occupied by the Marshall Lumber Company, was found to be on fire. The flames spread and the new home of J. O. Baxter was burned on the north side, and that of Henry Epling, on the south side. Part of the furniture in each house was saved, but badly damaged. The loss on the three buildings was about $15,000, partly covered by insurance.

Asheville, Dec. 18.—Rev. D. J. Miller, pastor of Bethel Methodist church in this city, has been missing from his home since last Friday afternoon and, despite the diligent search that was made by his family and friends, he has so far kept his whereabouts a secret. It is not believed that Mr. Miller met foul play, as he was seen at the Biltmore railway station last Friday afternoon and presumably took an eastbound train. It is stated by friends of the missing minister that he has been in ill health for some time, and the despondency resulting therefrom, coupled with financial worries in connection with the building of an addition to his church, it is believed have caused a temporary aberration of the mind. Mr. Miller has a wife here but no children. He assumed his present charge a year ago.

Mr. J. L. Willett and Mrs. Maria W. Whitehead, both of whom gave their residence as Pender county, were married in this city today. According to a statement made by the bridegroom to Justice G. W. Bornemann who performed the ceremony, this is the second time that the couple have been married. Justice Bornemann stated today that Mr. Willett said he and his bride were first married sixteen years ago. The first ceremony was performed at Richmond, Va. Some time ago they removed to Pender county. According to the outline of the statement as given by the bridegroom to Justice Bornemann it seems that a rumor reached him to the effect that the first marriage was being questioned by neighbors. Accordingly, he and his bride decided to have their wedding performed again. Therefore, they came here today and secured a marriage license from the office of the register of deeds. The license gave the name of the bride as Mrs. Maria W. Whitehead. Mr. Willett and his bride were expected to return to their home in Pender county this afternoon. They now have the rare distinction of having Pittsboro, Dec. 18.—The cotton gin belonging to the Pittsboro Ginning & Milling Company was destroyed by fire early yesterday morning together with several bales of toll cotton and about 600 bushels of cotton seed. There were 10 or 12 bales of cotton partially burned on the yard and they were saved only by hauling it to a nearby creek and throwing it in it. The loss is estimated at between $2,000 and $2,500 with no insurance. The origin of the fire is unknown but supposed to have caught from the boiler room.

Albemarle, Dec. 18.—Mr. Mack Morgan, of Richfield, this county, who has been selling guano for the Virginia-Carolina Chemical Company, and possibly other smaller concerns, is alleged to be short in his accounts to an amount aggregating $15,000. Mr. Morgan is said to have sold fifty car loads of fertilizer this fall and collected the proceeds. His whereabouts are unknown.

Mr. Henry H. Frizzelle, a well-to-do farmer, whose home is four miles beyond Snow Hill in Greene county, died Saturday night about 11 o'clock as a result of drinking a large dose of laudanum, which it is believed was taken with suicidal intent. When discovered by his wife Mr. Frizzelle had sunk so low that his life could not be saved. A statement made by his little daughter gives color to the suicide theory.—Kinston Free Press.

One Day at a Time.

It's easy enough to say, "Don't worry," but every now and then some of us get to thinking about all the world we've got ahead of us, or about some particularly hard thing we have to do, and the first thing we know we're worrying—using up our vital force in crossing bridges before we come to them. Somebody has said that the thing we worry about the most never happens.

One of the most helpful things to remember when we get to worrying over the future is the old fable about the clock that got to thinking about how many times it would have to tick in the days and weeks and months and years that were ahead of it. As it calculated it all up the thought became so appalling that the clock stopped. Then someone pointed out to it that it had to tick only one at a time and advised it not to think at all about the ticks in the future. The clock found that one tick at a time was easy, and so resumed its work with ease and pleasure.

So we must remember that we have to live only one day at a time to meet the problems and difficulties of only one day at a time, and when we think of it that way it seems easy enough. If we start to living a whole month or a whole year in one day, to borrowing trouble from the future and bringing it back into the present in a bunch, of course we'll find it hard. If some of us knew what we had ahead of us in the years to come we should have nervous prostration. But one day at a time is easy enough.

In some other ways it is a good plan for us to divide our lives up into days and live one day at a time. It is a good plan to start out each day with a resolution to live up to our ideals during that day. That's really easier than to resolve to live up to them for three hundred and sixty-five, and if we can do it for one day then it's easier to do it the next day.—Merchants Journal.

What $25 Did.

Recently I visited a farmhouse that had been treated to just such a general line of improvement and the results were acquired with an expenditure of so few dollars that I wish others could see and appreciate what has been accomplished. Originally the house was a four-room house, two rooms up stairs and two down stairs, and for years the kitchen and dining room were maintained in an old log house in the back yard. The housewife had kept up the daily round of house work in this inconvenient fashion for forty years, perhaps. The young people in this farm home have felt for some time that the best, most strength-saving kind of housekeeping could not go on in this fashion. No member of the family felt the out-of-date, hard condition more than the son, who is now the head of the house. So about this season just a year ago, plans were drawn for the addition of an up-to-date kitchen and dining room, with porches. The work progressed through the winter when farm work would permit, and I might add that this farmer conducts the entire farm work without the aid of "hired help." Two delightful airy, well-finished rooms and two porches are the result of the winter's industry. It is interesting to note that all the labor of construction, the laying of beams and rafters, was performed by this man of the house, with the aid only of two grown sisters. Even the masonry involved in building the chimney was accomplished by this untrained mason and the bricks for the chimneys were taken from the old original log kitchen. The girls confided to me that the work of cleaning the old mortar from the brick was the most disagreeable feature of the work. Home-made screens perfectly made, beautifully fitted, have also been added to the entire lower part of the house. This transformation of the old, inconvenient farmhouse into an up-to-date farmhouse, cost this farmer less than $25.—Progressive Farmer and Gazette.

Is a goose an animal and does the nailing of a goose's foot to a board, to hold the goose stationary while it is being fattened, constitute a violation of the statute which prohibits cruelty to animals? This question is troubling the Asheville Society for the prevention of cruelty to animals. Some years ago when Justice Geo. H. Brown, now of the Superior court bench, was holding Iredell Superior court and with the late Wiley Kush, then solicitor, wrestled with the question, "Is a grape vine a fruit tree?" We do not recall how the question was settled, if settled at all. These troublesome questions arise on all occasions. In St. Louis the other day a man was arrested for fastening a live fish on the back of a wagon, as a fish sign, and the court held that a fish was an animal and the offence came under the statute prohibiting cruelty to animals, but the solicitor ordered a nol. pros., insisting that a fish is not an animal.—Statesville Landmark.

Peaceful revolution is threatened in Washington. The press dispatches say that the capital is stirred to intense indignation because President Taft is ordering the government employes in the various federal departments shall work seven and one-half hours the day instead of seven hours. This is necessary to carry out the administration's policy of economical management of the government's business. Without waiting for the President to issue the order, Postmaster-General Hitchcock has been making his whole department work until past six in the evening, but in overworking them he has not spared himself and his immediate assistants who are working with him in laying the groundwork for reforms and economics in the department. Hitchcock himself, in the department works about half the night.
The decision of the president is arousing a chorus of protests from the clerks themselves, from boarding house keepers, street railway authorities, and many other classes of citizens. This is easily explained, for a very great proportion of the population of Washington is composed of government employes, their kindred and friends.
A seven and one-half hour day seems thoroughly reasonable. Government clerks are not overworked, many of them are underworked. It is about time that the indolent gentlemen known as "laborers" in the senate, whose only and delightful labor is to receive a salary and dispose of it, should now do some real work. It is about time that some of the myriad assistants and assistants to assistants got busy. If more work shall be done, unnecessary offices may be dispensed with.
Government clerks get thirty days leave of absence every year, with full pay. They get the numerous public holidays. They have a liberal allowance for sick leave. The lower grades of employes are unusually well paid. Surely they are faring much better than thousands of less fortunate clerks in private offices, who would be glad to have the chance to live in Washington and enjoy the unusually interesting life of that town and its educational advantages. If the government clerks shall work eight hours, it would be just as well.

MY DOCTOR
MIGHTY FINE
Mrs. Hattie Cain of Carrsville Thinks all the More of Her Doctor Since He Advised Her to Take Cardui.
Carrsville, Ky.—"My doctor," writes Mrs. Hattie Cain, "who advised me to take Cardui, for my troubles, is a mighty fine doctor, and I say God bless Cardui and the people who make it.
"Before I took Cardui, I suffered with female troubles for sixteen years. I would have to send for a doctor every three months, and oh how dreadfully I suffered!
"I would cramp and have convulsions and it looked like I would die. At last I took Cardui and oh what a surprise! I found it was the medicine for me!
"From the first bottle, I began to mend and now I am well, can do more work, can walk and go where I please and it don't hurt me, and I owe it all to Cardui." Cardui helps sick women back to health. It has been doing this for over 50 years. It is not a laxative, or a heart or kidney medicine—it is a woman's medicine.
If you are a woman, try it.

nooga Medicine Co., Chattanooga, Tenn., for Special Instructions, and 64-page book, "Home Treatment for Women," sent in plain wrapper, on request.

Some day! We're all going to do a lot of things some day. We're going to systematize our work and get it all right down to a scientific basis, where we can develop the maximum of our efficiency. We're going to realize to the full the possibilities and opportunities of our position and make the most of them. There is a lot of good charitable and philanthropic work being done, of which we heartily approve; it's a good thing and some day we're going to take a hand in some of it and help to do a lot of good in the world.
Some day we're going to cut out one or two little weaknesses and follies that we give way to once in a while now—nothing very bad, some day we're going to cut them all out.
Some day we're going to do a lot of good solid reading. We're going to write that letter to that friend who has been unfortunate, and some day we're going down to see old Mrs. ... who is bedridden, and take her some flowers Some day! Ah, will it ever come?
How it always recedes from us, as the horizon recedes from the traveler. The little reminder which we see so often: "Do it now" is a good one. If we could only realize that NOW is the only time that is really worth anything to us—the only time that we have at our command. The past is gone, and the future is always ahead of us, and all that we have in our hands is NOW—this very minute, this very second. A tick of the clock, and NOW is in the past, and still the future is beyond our grasp. If only we could put into effect some of these

The "Big Hog" Delusion.

With the coming of cold weather will come the neighborhood gossip that John Smith killed a hog that dressed 450 pounds, or Sam Jones killed one that dressed 475 pounds.
In the ordinary course of pork-making, with hogs that have not been used for breeding purposes, hogs of that size are no credit to the intelligence of their owners. The last hundred pounds made by such hogs probably cost three-times as much as the first or second hundred pounds and is almost invariably made at a loss. If while the last 100 pounds is being made it is necessary to furnish feed to keep alive three or four hundred pounds it will certainly require more feed than if only 100 pounds had to be supported. No hog for pork-making has any business or right to live for more than 10 months or a year, or to weigh more than 225 to 300 pounds.—Progressive Farmer and Gazette.

Rather Expensive Fun.

The students of the North Georgia Agricultural College at Dahlonega are in a rather serious predicament, brought on by an excess of youthful enthusiasm. This school has a military feature and to further its purposes the United States government lent it an out of date cannon. The other night certain persons unknown placed a heavy charge of powder in this gun just for the fun of watching it burst. Reports say that the building with its contents were completely demolished and that hundreds of windows in the institution were shattered. As a result of the prank the entire student body has been arrested, pending an investigation of the affair, and if the guilty parties are caught civil prosecution will probably ensue.

This episode is an example of zeal not according with knowledge. The boys at the Georgia school wanted a little excitement and appear to have gone about obtaining it in a very effective fashion, the trouble being that they got a shade more than they wanted. It will be very unfortunate if some of them have to pay rather severe penalties in the way of court sentences as a result of a prank free from malice, but it is difficult to see wherein the law can make distinction between their case and that of any other wanton destroyers of property.
When college boys go out to have "a time" the most useful quality their leaders can possibly possess is a little self-restraint, and it is to be hoped that the Georgia incident will be taken to heart in other seats of learning.—Charlotte Observer.

Stocks.

New York, Dec. 20.—During the first fifteen minutes of trading in the stock market, securities were exceedingly active and prices of most stocks ruled fractionally higher. Toward the end of the first half hour the market developed reactionary tendencies with the result that many of the earlier gains were wiped out and losses of a point or more acceeded. The drop was largely due to fairly large covering of shorts.

Cotton.

New York, Dec. 20.—The ginning report announced in Washington depressed the cotton market which opened with prices unchanged to 7 points lower. Figures in the report were larger than had been expected.
Opening: March 15.19; May 15.37; July 15.39.

Grain.

Chicago, Dec. 20.—Wheat was a shade firmer; corn also firmer, with provisions easier. Opening: December wheat, 91; corn 45.1-4; oats 31 1-3; pork, January, 19.50.
