ONLY SIX MORE WORKING DAYS

OF THE LARGEST AND BEST BONUS OFFER

YOUR NOMINATION IS INVITED

Every Contestant, Who Has Begun An Active Campaign, or Who Will Enter at Once and Begin on Active Aggressive Campaign for Votes, Has a Splendid Opportunity to Win.

The announcement of the most liberal offer of extra votes that will be made marked the real beginning of The Reflector's popularity and voting contest. During the next seven days prizes can be won, and at no time after January 5th will effort count for so many votes.

Every contestant, who has begun an active campaign, or who will enter at once and begin an active progressive campaign for votes, has a splendid opportunity to win the prize of her or his choice. No contestant at present has a score so high that it cannot be overcome by a few hours of real work. Contestants who expect to win any of the better prizes—or a prize of any kind, for that matter—cannot afford to waste any time between now and January 5th. Only six more working days remains before the largest bonus offer of the entire contest comes to a close. A very few of the new yearly clubs during this important period, will make a score that any contestant would be proud of; and not but a little real work will give you a lead. One energetic person somewhere in the contest territory is going to play on her own beautiful grand concert Stultz piano, and one young lady filling the above description is going to be awarded one year's full course in the East Carolina Teachers Training School, just because this present opportunity was not neglected. Some one young lady in the contest territory will also be awarded the beautiful $20 Lynx muff January 5th, just because she was wide-awake to the present opportunity.

Friends who hold back their subscriptions until the close of the contest are going to be disappointed. This is fair warning. They will count for more now than they will then. Never again, after January 5th, will you be able to give your favorite candidate the high number of votes with your subscriptions as NOW.

In this liberal offer contestants are afforded a splendid opportunity to enter the contest. You may start today and be among the leaders before Saturday night. One club of ten new yearly subscriptions to The Daily Reflector will give you a good start, 200,000 votes, and almost any person with a little energy, can secure a club in a short time. The second club will give you almost a half million votes. It all depends on the energy put forth and the determination behind this energy. There is plenty of time to pick out the prize of your choice and win it. But TODAY is the best day left to make your decision and get busy.

Of News Happenings Far and Near Within Its Borders.

A man 68 years old who resides in the county a few miles from Kinston today took his first ride on a train. Conductor Davis said the old gentleman boarded the train at Kinston and had a ticket to Dover where he got off. He told the conductor it was the first time that he had ever rode on a train and he thoroughly enjoyed the trip. The sensation of the moving cars was great. The aged gentleman expects to spend much of his remaining days in this life riding on the trains.—New Bern Sun.

New Bern, Dec. 29.—John Weddell, the seven-year-old son of Alderman J. H. Weddell, was run over this afternoon on Haddock street about 5.30 by an automobile owned by Mr. C. W. Minger and driven by a colored boy. One wheel passed over the boy, who was placed in the machine at once and taken to a doctor's office, where it was found that the left leg was broken between the knee and ankle.

FLEET LEAVES FRANCE.

Salutes Exchanged as Battleships Sail Away.

By Cable to The Reflector.

Cherbourg, France, Dec. 30.—French cannon belched forth a friendly good bye today to the American sailors of the first division of the Atlantic battleship fleet, which weighed anchor for Sicily Islands the rendezvous for four divisions of the fleet. In return Americans boomed forth an answering salute and for a time the harbor looked as though a battle was raging. The third division sailed from Brest and the second and fourth from English waters. The "war game" will terminate with the end of maneuvers off Cuba next month.

Portland, England, Dec. 30.—With roar of British farewell salutes ringing in their ears sailors of the second division of the American fleet sailed from here today for Sicily Islands. Ships passed through lines formed by British battleships in the harbor.

OHIO ELECTION SCANDAL.

Even Preachers and Women Took Part in Vote Selling.

By Wire to The Reflector.

West Union, Ohio, Dec. 30.—Two preachers and many women have been drawn in to the Adams county ballot scandal, the ministers confessing that they sold their votes for $5 each, and the women asserting that they had put the price on the votes of their sons and husbands. "It was the usual thing," was the excuse of the preachers for not preaching against the evil. The total indictments now reach 1071. In one district every citizen sold his vote.

Mexican Trouble Grows Worse.

By Wire to The Reflector.

New Orleans, Dec. 30.—Honduras reports troops have been defeated in a sharp battle with the revolutionary army headed by Lee Christman and General Bonilla and the rebels are now moving rapidly towards Tegucigalpa, the capital, according to cablegrams received here from Puerto Cortez. No official advice have been received. There are now more than 3,000 men in the ranks of the rebel army and it is believed the capital will fall in less than a week. Scouts sent out by the government report that the steamer Harnet had hauled a large number of troops at Cape Caracas as a reserve force for assault on the capital.

Terrible Fire in Messina.

By Cable to The Reflector.

Messina Sicily, Dec. 30.—Thirty five hundred people are homeless today as a result of a fire which broke out yesterday and caused a loss of over a million dollars. The fire was gotten under control early today. Hundreds of buildings were destroyed. A cruiser bearing soldiers and physicians was despatched here today from Rome.

BRADSTREET'S FINAL REPORT

RESUME OF TRADE CONDITIONS FOR THE YEAR

1910 HAS NOT BEEN GOOD AS 1909

High Priced Commodities Retarded Trade—South More Optimistic Than Any Other Section—Progress in Most Lines and Banks Have Prospered.

Richmond, Va., Dec. 30.—Bradstreet's (New York) tomorrow will say for Richmond and vicinity: This week marks the closing of the year's trading and as usual, there is little activity in any line, many of the merchants are making their annual inventory and factories are shut down for their usual house cleaning. The experience of those engaged in mercantile pursuits the country over, have largely been the experience of local traders. The year has shown one of irregular trading, slow collections and distributing finance, however, when summed up, with the exception of a few lines, progress is noticeable to a greater or less degree. Probably no one factor in retarding trade has been as potent as the high prices of many staple commodities. Locally many houses report progress and a feeling of optimism is expressed when looking to the trading for the coming year. Apparently there is a greater feeling of optimistic as to trade in the South than in any other section. Manufacturers and jobbers of shoes report a fair years trading, though not up to that of 1909, they, however, anticipate greater sales for 1911. The unsteadiness of the hide and leather markets has affected all dependent lines. Manufacturers of trunks and bags have had the largest volume of sales in their experience and the demand continues up to the present. Manufacturers and distributors of paints, oils and varnishes, report an active years trading, though profits have been held down by the extremely high price of oils. Local drug houses have had the largest year's trading in their history. Building and construction work was active during the first months of the year, but later a decrease was noticeable. Trading in hardware and kindred lines has been fair, the fluctuation in prices in this line being less than in many others. Manufacturers of paper and paper specialties have had a good years trading, although the tonnage has not been up to the average. In this line manufacturers are confident about business for 1911. Manufacturers of flour have had a good year and export trade with them has shown a large increase; they express satisfaction with the outlook. Manufacturers and wholesalers of groceries and specialties have had a satisfactory year, though high prices of many staple articles has retarded buyers purchasing in large quantities. Wholesalers of dry goods and notions have made progress during the year and their travelers report encouraging prospects for 1911. The high prices of cotton produce, and in some instances lessened the possible profits. Manufacturers of tobacco and cigars report 1910 among their best year.

Announcement.

By mutual consent with the administratrix of the late G. W. Baker, a member of the firm of Baker & Hart, and to settle the estate of the said G. W. Baker, the firm will be dissolved on December 31st, 1910.

After that date the business will be continued at the same stand by J. N. Hart, the surviving partner of the former firm of Baker & Hart, and G. B. Hadley, under the firm name of Hart & Hadley.

I take this method of thanking all friends for the patronage given the old firm, and respectively ask a continuance of their trade with the new firm. J. N. HART.

Do Railroads Waste $1,000,000 a Day?

Nothing else has so startled the public, in all the prolonged dispute between shippers and railroads over the proposed rate increase as the statement, vouched for by no less an authority than Louis D. Brandies, that wasteful methods are costing the railroads of the United States between $300,000,000 and $400,000,000 a year. This sum, as The Wall Street Journal points out, is from 12 to 15 per cent. of the gross earnings. Many editors note that it is practically the same amount that Senator Aldrich said he could save if he had the job of running the United States government. Mr. Brandies is counsel for the eastern shippers who have been stating their arguments against higher freight rates before the Interstate Commerce Commission in Washington. Before calling his witnesses Mr. Brandies said he was going to show that the railroads ought to meet the crisis which they say confronts them by "scientific management," rather than by arbitrary rate increase. To resort to the latter method, he declares, is merely to enter upon a "vicious circle" of ever increasing freight rates and ever-increasing cost of living.—Ex.

VICTORY FOR CIVIC RIGHTNESS.

Our readers will remember that about two months ago, through diligent efforts of the town officials, a raid was made on numerous blind tiger joints that existed in Greenville. In a single day and night thirty-five warrants were issued by Mayor Wooten and served by the police, and of those tried before the mayor on the charge of selling liquor, forty-six cases were bound over to the Superior court. This wholesale arrest of blind tigers caused somewhat of a sensation at the time, and was followed by a mass meeting of citizens in which resolutions were adopted expressing approval of the steps taken by the officials to suppress this lawlessness, and pledging support to them in their efforts.

The grand jury at the November term of court found true bills against those the mayor had bound over, four of them were tried at that term, three out of the four defendants being convicted. With so many cases added to the already large criminal docket, the county commissioners requested the governor to give the county a special term of court for one week, to try these blind tiger cases and relieve the docket. This special term of court began on the 26th of December and continued four days, disposing of a large number of cases. Thirty-four of the blind tiger cases were tried, conviction or pleading guilty resulting in thirty-two of them. These with the four previously tried made a total of thirty-eight blind tiger cases with thirty-five convictions.

This is certainly a good record, and it strikes the illegal sale of liquor in Greenville a blow that will have good effect. It is creditable to Mayor Wooten and the police officers of Greenville in apprehending the offenders, and developing sufficient evidence against them, and it is creditable to Judge Ward and Solicitor Abernethy, for the manner in which the cases were handled in their court, and also to the jurors that brought in the verdicts in accordance with the evidence.

The outcome of these cases is a great victory over the lawless element here that has been setting the prohibition law at naught with flagrant violations. But the good work done so far in checking this evil should not stop at this stage. There are yet some offenders who need to be caught, and the town officers should continue their diligence, with the support of the people behind them, until the sale of liquor is stopped entirely.

Judge George W. Ward, who held all the fall courts of this district, made a great many friends among the people of Pitt county. We have heard many references to his ability and the impartiality of his rulings, and to the rapidity with which he keeps the business of the court moving. He is a wise and a good judge. Solicitor Charles L. Abernethy adds new laurels to his record every time he comes. Pitt county people look upon him as an able prosecutor for the State, and they have the highest regard for him. He is a tireless worker and always does his duty.

The Durham Sun has not associated with this shop for some time, though we don't know why, but we are glad to see the statement that Mr. J. A. Roberson is back at the editorial helm of that excellent paper. It means good for The Sun as well as pleasure for its readers, for there are few editors who can equal Jim Roberson.

It is not so much the number of folks, but is every one a worker. While every town would like to have more citizens, every one already has some it would be better off without. Ten men who make things come to pass, are worth a hundred of those who do nothing but live off of others.

Greenville made a good building record for the year 1910, many new houses being added to the number in town. We hope to see the coming year do even better, for the watchword should be progress along all lines.

The Wilmington Dispatch has now reduced one of its department heads to "Nameless Thoughts." That is striking close home, Cowan, for most of us have "nameless thoughts" on reaching the dinner table.

North Carolina Republicans are putting in their bid early. Their State executive committee met in Greensboro, a day or two ago, and endorsed President Taft for re-nomination in 1912.

The planters on the lower coast of Louisiana who experimented with raising Sea Island cotton the past season, made such success that they will try it on a large scale next season.

The merchants' new year resolution should be to do more and better advertising.

A new year resolution for the "blind tigers" should be quit the business.

New year resolutions are almost ready to go on tap.

The Age of the Harp.
The harp, which was suggested by the lute, is ascribed to Jubal, 3875 B. C., and was King David's favorite instrument. The harp was used by the Welsh and Saxons and also by the ancient peoples of Ireland. One of the oldest harps in existence is in the Dublin college museum and originally belonged to Brian Borohme, king of Ireland.

CATARRH.
Quickly Cured by a Pleasant, Germ-Killing Antiseptic.

The little Hiomei (pronounce it High-o-mei) inhaler is made of hard rubber, and can easily be carried in pocket or purse. It will last a lifetime.

Into this inhaler you pour a few drops of magical HYOMEI.

This is absorbed by the antiseptic gauze within, and now you are ready to breathe it in over the germ-infested membrane, where it will speedily begin its work of - killing catarrh germs. HYOMEI is made of Australian eucalyptus combined with other antiseptics, and is very pleasant to breathe.

It is guaranteed to cure catarrh, bronchitis, sore throat, croup, coughs and colds, or money back. It cleans out a stuffed-up head in two minutes.

Sold by Coward & Wooten and druggists everywhere. Complete outfit, including indestructible pocket, inhaler and one bottle of HYOMEI, $1.00. And remember, if you need a second bottle of HYOMEI, Coward & Wooten will sell it to you for only 50 cents. Free trial bottle of HYOMEI from Booth's Hyomei Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

Backache pains come from sick kidneys.
I would save much needless woe. Doan's Kidney Pills cure sick kidneys.

Many residents of this vicinity endorse them.
Mrs. L. Camerson, 117 Payton Ave. Kingston, N. C., says:

"The great benefit I obtained from Doan's Kidney Pills justifies me in recommending them. A dull, nagging backache, accompanied by sharp twinges through my loins, bothered me for a long time. I had but little energy or ambition and was caused additional annoyance by awkwardness. Having Doan's Kidney Pills recommended to me, I procured a box and the difficulty with the kidney secretions had been corrected.

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents.

3,500 Long Buried Photographs of the Civil War

THEY were taken by the greatest photographer in the United States of that day; they were bought by the United States Government for $30,000; they were buried in the War Department for 50 years—they are buried there still. But a duplicate set was kept by the photographer—who died poor and broken down; that duplicate set was knocked from pillar to post for nearly 50 years, until it was discovered by a New England collector. J. Pierpont Morgan tried to secure the collection—Ex-President Garfield and General Benjamin F. Butler said it was worth $150,000—yet with the help of the Review or Reviews, the entire collection has been gathered into 10 great volumes and is placed within your reach at less than the value of one of the photographs. It is the one accurate, impartial history of the Civil War—for the camera cannot lie. It tells the story of the War you never heard before. Taken under protection of the Secret Service, these photographs bring to light thousands of little-known phases of the war; they penetrate to strange places and record strange things.

Smothered in Roses.
The Sybarites slept on beds stuffed with rose leaves; the tyrant Dionysius had his couch filled with them; Verus would travel with a garland on his head and around his neck, and over his litter he had a thin net, with rose leaves intertwined; Antiochus luxuriated upon a bed of blooms even in winter days and nights, and when Cleopatra entertained Antony she had roses covering the floor to the depth, it is said, of an ell.

We are told that Hellogabulus supplied so many at one of his banquets that several of his guests were suffocated in the endeavor to extricate themselves from the abundance—victims of a surfeit of sweet odors.

How the Gargle Was Taken.
The Rev. J. A. Sharrock, in "South Indian Missions," relates the following incident illustrating the difficulties of medical missionaries: An old woman came with a relaxed throat to Mrs. Caldwell (wife of Bishop Caldwell), who gave her a gargle in a bottle and told her to go home, throw her head well back, put it in her mouth and keep it there as long as possible. After a day or two she returned, complaining that she was no better and that her neck ached terribly. When asked if she had strictly carried out the instructions, she said, "Yes; I threw my head well back and put the bottle into my mouth and held it there till my neck was almost ready to break!"
—London Globe.

Cholera Morbus.
"Cholera morbus" is a term with a curious history," says the London Chronicle. "To our forefathers 'cholera' meant not necessarily a disease, but one of the four 'humors' present in every human body, as the bilious humor, excess of which made a man 'choleric.' 'Cholera' and 'choleric,' in fact, meant just the same thing. So the comparatively mild ailment which we know as 'English' cholera or 'cholera morbus,' in order to distinguish it from the other sense of the word. Much later, when Asiatic cholera was introduced to the alarmed notice of this country, 'cholera' got transferred to it."

Enough to Kill 10.
The Greek room is usually not a place for humor, nor is the professor of Greek at the College of the City of New York a very humorous person. Nevertheless the following joke was sprung on him. The class had just returned from the chemistry room, where they had bravely listened to a discourse on the elements. The Greek lesson was commenced with a history of 10 and her endless wanderings. Finally Professor Tisdall asked, "What did 10 die of?" A student who had been awakened by the question replied, "Iodide of potassium."

Teachers' College for Western North Carolina.

The movement looking to the establishment of a teachers' training college for Western North Carolina is one that cannot fail to gain momentum as it goes two very essential factors in success—right and reason, on its side. Feeling in hearty sympathy with the movement, The Citizen takes great pleasure in publishing the following which was written by one of the state's best known educators, but who asks that his name be withheld for the present.

"The greatest educational need of Western North Carolina is a high-grade teachers' college. Indeed, to one who carefully surveys the conditions existing in the whole state, it might seem the duty of North Carolina to establish the first teachers' college, not in the center, nor in the east, but in the west. Cut off by mountains, and without railroads or steamboats, isolated from the world for nearly two centuries, the west suffered for lack of schools and trained teachers far more than the center or the east. Already the state has supplied the east and center with high-grade teachers' colleges, while the west has none.

"Does North Carolina intend to keep the west forever without a teachers' college? If not, let the college be authorized now—it will never be worse needed—it will never do more good. Now is the formative period with our schools. Now, if ever, we need teachers of the very best talent skill and training.

"The state colleges at Greensboro and Greenville are too remote to train the western teachers nor have they adequate accommodations, even were our teachers able to attend them. North Carolina is a large state and needs more training schools for teachers. Massachusetts has twelve normal schools; New York seventeen; Pennsylvania seventeen; Wisconsin twelve; even New Jersey has five; surely North Carolina can support three. The schools at Callowhee and Boone are doing good work and merit the small support they get from the state. Let them continue on their present lines. The state might well establish even more schools of the same elementary grade and local character. But neither of these schools does now, or can hereafter, fill the bill of a high-grade teachers' college for Western North Carolina. Such college must be located in the most favorable place.
After competitive bids by all Western North Carolina and careful investigation by the state board of education, or by some equally competent and disinterested authority.

"The last legislature appropriated for normal training in the eastern college at Greenville $25,000 annually, besides $50,000 for buildings and equipments; also for the state normal college at Greensboro $65,000 annually, besides $52,000 for buildings and equipment. The west is helping to pay these sums. How long shall it bear these burdens and at the same time be deprived of a similar college for the training of western teachers? The half million dollars or more invested at Greensboro, and the quarter million dollars invested at Greenville well repay the state in better trained teachers. A similar investment of a quarter or half million dollars in the west will bring fully as large, if not larger, returns."
—Asheville Citizen.

Bradstreet's Final Report.

Both as to sales and profits, and they anticipate even greater activity during the coming year. Distillers and distributors of malt and spiritous liquors report increased sales for 1910. Manufacturers of woodware report substantial gains in volume of business and in profits, they express great confidence in the good prospects for 1911, especially, in the South. Local banks have prospered and a ready demand for available funds has not been lacking. Retail dealers in touch with the consuming public, have shared in the fluctuations of trade and its affects, and while profits have not been as large as in some years, the years trading may be classed as fair. Collections have been irregular, almost beyond comparison, but as the year closes, improvements is shown and more discounts are being taken.

Reduction Sale

As we wish to discontinue our line

Stocks.

New York, Dec. 30.—Stocks ruled active and higher during early trading, on the stock market, with Union Pacific and Reading leading prominent railroad stocks. Union Pacific gained a point; Reading was active and strong with a gain of 3-4 of a point. Trading was brisk and many stocks rose to the highest price of the week.

Grain.

Chicago, Dec. 30.—Unresponsive cables caused 1-4c decline in wheat at the opening, but the market was steady at the decline. Trade was light and excited. Corn was 1-8 to 1-4 lower and oats were steady. Provisions opened higher with hogs.
Trade was scattered and light. Opening: December wheat, 93; corn 47 1-4; oats 31 1-4; pork, May, 18.70.

Cotton.

New York, Dec. 30.—With cables a shade lower and trading irregular here cotton opened with December two points above yesterday's close and later months one to five points lower during initial trading. January options were absorbed as quickly as offered and price soon rose three points above the close. Opening: December, 14.59; January, 14.55;
March, 14.86; May, 15.07.

Making Good Resolutions.

This is the season of resolution making. That is not a bad idea. The truth is that there is no achievement without planning and unless we determine to do better we will never improve. Make good resolutions and strive to keep them. One of the best resolutions and one that should be made by every citizen of this town and county is that during the year 1911 we will push our town. Never "knock." Do not knock this town or any other town. Boost your own town and keep everlastingly at it.
The other day a prominent citizen of one of the best towns in North Carolina was asked about his town and his reply was: "This is a dead town" A little more inquiry revealed the fact that the town was not dead but that the aforesaid citizen was just a little "out of sorts" and needed a rest at some summer resort. Boost your town. If it is not as good as it should be, strive to make it better and you will be surprised at the success you achieve.—Concord Tribune.

What Parisian Sage Will Do.

Stop falling hair in two weeks.
Cure dandruff in two weeks.
Stop splitting hair.
Stop itching scalp immediately.
Grow more hair.
Make harsh hair soft, silky and luxuriant.

Brightens up the hair and the eyebrows.
As a hair dressing it is without a peer—it contains nothing that can possibly harm the hair, it is not sticky jelly or greasy—it is used by thousands to keep the hair healthy—it prevents as well as cures scalp disease.

For women and children Parisian Sage is the most delightful hair dress-

AMUZU THEATRE TONIGHT

TONIGHT PICTURE PROGRAMME

THE QUEEN OF HEARTS.

Altogether a dramatic, entertaining story acted with a full measure of realization of the importance of the parts, and scenically, photographically a film up to the best.

CAPT. BARNACLES CHAPERON.

This is a full reel comedy, full in more than one way; for there is not a minute or fraction of a minute, when there is not something happening.

We have placed orders for a new Machine equipment for the
