WHAT THE LAW MAKERS ARE DOING

PROCEEDINGS OF THE N. C. GENERAL ASSEMBLY.

FOR VETO POWER TO THE GOVERNOR

New State Building Bill Discussed in Senate—Minority Reports in Both Senate and House on Torrens Bill—Resolution to Pay Widow of Deceased Representative.

Senate—Friday.

The most important bills introduced in the senate yesterday were those of Dr. Sikes, to establish traveling and public libraries and to submit to the people the question of changing the constitution so as to confer upon the governor the veto power.

Another important bill was Senator Bellamy's, to protect the interest of defendants in criminal cases by preventing the premature exposure of testimony taken by coroners.

A joint resolution, introduced by Senator Armstrong, to pay to the widow of the late Representative John L. Stewart, of Montgomery county, the sum of $250, the per diem which he would have received at the end of the session, passed, upon the statement that no election will be held for the selection of a successor.

A minority report by W. R. Land, of the Torrens Land Title commission, appointed two years ago, was submitted by Senator Hobgood. The report contends that there is no necessity in North Carolina for such a system, and argued at some length against it.

Senator Boyden's bill for the creation of a state building commission and the erection of an administration building at a cost not to exceed one million dollars was discussed briefly and made a special order for Wednesday, February 8th.

House—Friday.

The house had a busy session for about four hours, passing many local bills and discussing various measures.

Among the new bills introduced were these:

Kirkman: Minority report of commission on Torrens Land Title system.

Britt: To prohibit the use of automatic shot guns in hunting quail and other game.

Alspaugh: To amend the law relating to pensions of ex-Confederate soldiers.

Kellum: Relating to granting of certificates to public accountants.

Kellum: To prevent the shipment of coots and rice birds from the State.

Williams, of Buncombe: To provide for maintenance of public libraries.

Williams, of Buncombe: To provide for establishment of traveling libraries.

BALLINGER IS STILL A CAUSE OF TROUBLE

Documents Are Delayed in Reaching Investigating Committee.

By Wire to The Reflector.

Washington, Jan. 28.—Sensational testimony was given before the house rules committee today in the investigation concerning the holding up of presentation to the house of the Ballinger-Pinchot reports. Asher Hinds parliamentary clerk of house, who was accused by the clerk who has charge of house documents, with delaying the presentation of the reports. Hinds was called before the committee and stated that he had told the clerk to hold up the report because a resolution was pending in the senate introduced by Senator Nelson, of Minnesota, calling for printing of thirty thousand copies of the report. Said to have, sent the report to the printing office at the time it was received would have interfered with the Nelson resolution and caused the work to be duplicated. The explanation was received without comment. Members say there is a screw loose somewhere.

WEST VIRGINIA LEGISLATURE IN DISGRACEFUL Muddle

Factions Fighting and Threats to Impeach Governor.

By Wire to The Reflector.

Charleston, W. Va., Jan. 28.—Threats of impeachment against Governor Glasscock were made today by Democratic members of the legislature. They accuse him if high-handed methods in holding up the work of the legislature. The situation is becoming dangerous, and for the second time there were threats today that troops may be called out. This threat has been intensified. The threats of bloodshed so frequent that bitterness and fights are common and some members of the legislature employed body guards.

Charges of corruption are heard on every hand, with Republicans lined up against Democrats to prevent legislative action. Democrats also have a faction of their own to contend with and brothers are threatening revolution in their own ranks.

THE CIVIC LEAGUE GOING FORWARD

AWAKENING INTEREST IN CIVIC APPEARANCES

A SERIES OF PUBLIC ADDRESSES

Mayor Wooten Delivers First Lecture in Graded School Auditorium, Discussing Matters of Interest to All—Other Addresses to Follow From Time to Time.

There was an interesting meeting in the auditorium of the graded school, Friday night under the auspices of the Civic League. Members of the league and a few others were present.

The meeting was opened with prayer followed with a violin solo by Mrs. L. M. Savage.

The main feature of the evening was an address by Mayor F. M. Wooten, his subject being "The Civic League, Its Use to the Town and the Need of It". He spoke of the influence wielded by women who concern themselves with civic development. "Family government is the first and original form of government. In the administration of that original form of government, it is indisputable that the mother was the most important factor. From that ancient time when the family was the unit of government, down through every age and to this very day, woman has been the silent but most important, factor in creating men, developing men, controlling men, and through men influencing government"

He referred to the civic work the women are doing for Greenville, and pointed out many things that yet needed to be done, but which he felt they would accomplish by nursing and keeping alive the flame of public sentiment they are kindling. Beautifying streets, sidewalks and front yards, keeping premises clean, removal of garbage and trash from streets and lots, through sanitation, eradication of mosquitoes and flies, unsightly paper signs pasted on walls, were topics discussed by Mayor Wooten, and he emphasized the need of reforms along these lines. All that he said was most timely.

At the conclusion of the address Prof. H. E. Austin sang a solo with Miss Helen Forbes as accompanist.

We understood that it is the purpose of the Civic league to have a series of public addresses along the line of this one of Friday night, and it is clear that much good is to result to the community.

BICYCLE AND CART COLLIDE.

About 3 o'clock this afternoon Master Charlie White, son of Mr. S. T. Charlie was thrown to the pavement with violent force that rendered him unconscious for the time, and his wheel was considerably wrecked. He was taken up and carried into the office of Dr. E. A. Moye, where upon examination it was found that no bones were broken but he was badly bruised and suffering much from the shock.

The colored man who was driving the cart was placed under arrest pending the development of the injuries to the boy.

SATURDAY, JANUARY 28, 1911.

Are you for Greenville? Then show it by your works.

There are a lot of them who think better of senator Jeff Davis since he said it.

The Farmers' Union says sheep are preferable to dogs, but the legislature say they will take the dog.

Beginning February first, up stairs sleeping in Pullman cars will come a little lower than down stairs.

Latham the French aviator, says flying has become so common that he is going to quit the game and go back home.

As there is hardly a newspaper in North Carolina that is not talking good roads, the evidence is pretty strong that the people are much interested in the question.

From recent happenings, both the Standard Oil Company, and the dog, can feel that they are it in North Carolina. At any rate the law is with them.

The legislature has selected ground hog day, Feb. 2nd, at night, to consider the near-beer bill. Near-beer had as well make up his mind to go back in the hole.

The Reflector has shown that to have good roads in Greenville township will add nothing to the taxes that people now pay. At the same time it will save the heavy indirect tax that bad roads impose.

Speaking of Editors Cowan and Whichard the Raleigh Times says: "Sorel tops are not contagious and we see no reason why they should have any 'effect' on the surroundings." We assume that the word, "contagious" is used advisedly and that in this connection it has no bearing on the question of heredity.—Greensboro News.

Headredity is the word you want, Bob. While they are not "contagious" they do have some "effect on the surroundings." For proof just look how every jealous fellow keeps trailing Cowan and us because we outshine 'em.

A Cotton Picker.

It would seem that man's inventive genius is yet in its infancy, for it is stated on the authority of The Chicago Record-Herald that a Southern man has invented a cotton picking machine which will do as much work in half an hour as a man can do in a day. The far-reaching results of such an invention, should it be found an actual working success, cannot be estimated in mere words. One does not have to know much about cotton to realize that the South's greatest cotton problem has been the gathering of its crops. To that one item may be credited the greatest cost of production and the Southern cotton raiser will watch the development of the new invention, with intense interest. The Washington Times asks if the cotton picker has really arrived, saying:

"Has a successful cotton-picking machine been perfected at last? Ever since Whitney's invention gave its great impetus to what is now the South's staple crop, the development of a machine which could take the place of the human hands in the picking of cotton has been one of the dreams of the agricultural and industrial world. It would have been rash at any time to say that human ingenuity was unequal to the task. The linotype, for instance, overcame obstacles of much the same nature which seemed insurmountable, especially the matter of selectivity. The Chicago Record-Herald takes it for granted that a cotton-picking machine which a Southern inventor has been at work on for a quarter of a century has at last been brought to perfection, and will soon become a commercial factor. Some idea of the importance of the inventor may be gathered from the statement that it will pick as much cotton in half an hour as can now be picked by hand in a day. Its capacity, in other words is a bale of lint cotton every three hours; whereas a good cotton-picker does not gather much, if any more, than a bale in a week of six working days.

"If this invention should prove practicable, it will, indeed, as The Record-Herald points out, 'transfer the children from the cotton fields to the schoolhouses,' and in large measure solve the problem of agricultural labor in the South. It will work social, industrial, and educational transformation. The one great question is: How discriminatingly will the cotton-picker pick cotton?"—Asheville Citizen.

Even the Heathen are Beating Us!

Editor Clarence Poe, of The Progressive Farmer, who is making a tour through Asia furnishes some astonishing figures in the last issue of his paper as to Japan's educational progress. Although Japan's war taxes alone (on account of her struggles with China and Russia and her present enormous military expenditure) amount to ten times the average tax rate in the south, Mr. Poe points out that the people gladly tax themselves enough to provide for nearly every boy and girl in the Empire, even those on the farms. Mr. Poe says: "These brown Mongolian farm children, whose land we opened to civilization but fifty years ago, and whom we thought of but yesterday as backward heathen—they are getting, as a general proposition, just twice as much schooling as is furnished in our southern rural districts: their parents are providing, in their zeal for their children's welfare, just twice as good educational facilities as we are giving our southern farm boys and girls who bear in their veins the blood of a race which has carried the flag of human progress for a thousand years, and whom we are expecting to continue to be leaders in civilization and enlightenment.

In other words, so Dr. Matsui told me (and went to-day to the Japanese National department of education to verify the fact), the Japanese farm boys and girls are getting ten months schooling a year, while the southern farm boy or girl is getting only five months—and when I was in a southern country school fifteen years ago not nearly so much as that! Do you wonder that I avoided telling the Japanese educational officer just how our provision for farm boys and girls compare with Japan's and that I also neglected to tell him how we compare in the matter of utilizing school advantages, when he showed me that of all the children between 6 and 14 in all the Empire of Japan the school attendance is 98 per cent.—98 out of every 100 children of "school age" attending school, and in several provinces 99 out of every 100. Thirty-five years ago school attendance in Japan was only 28, and in 1893 only 59, but by the time of the war with Russia it had passed 90, and since then has been climbing straight and steadily toward the amazing maximum itself, the official figures showing a gain of 1 per cent. a year—94 per cent. then 95, then 96, then 97 and now 98, and the leaders are now ambitious for 99 or 100, as they told me today.

And then in the matter of compulsory attendance: when this officer of an "inferior race" showed me that Japan is so intent upon educating every boy and girl in her borders that she compels attendance on the public schools for eight years, I didn't tell him that in civilized America, the great enlightened nation so long held up to him as a model, demagogues and others, on one pretext or another, have defeated almost every effort for effective compulsory education laws, in the south at least, and if a boy's parents are indifferent to his future, the state does not compel them to give him a fighting chance in life—for its own sake and for the boy's.

With these facts before me, as I have said, I did not make any vainglorious boast of the great educational progress of our southern states these last twenty years: all the proud reports I have heard at educational rallies and conferences seemed somehow to collapse like punctured gasbags. However much progress we have made, these brown Japanese "brethren have beaten us—Progressive Farmer.

The Moon Theory.

It is reported that the scientists of the agricultural department have no faith in the moon theory. But they will never succeed in convincing the great majority of the farmers. One of these scientific gentlemen went to a certain farmers' rally in this state to make an address. Near the close of his speech, he was asked if he believed the moon had any influence on crops. He smiled in a rather knowing and superior way and remarked that there was nothing to it. Whereupon, an old farmer in the back of the hall rose with his hat in his hand, and remarked, as he started, "At the next meeting, I trust the committee will send us a moon man." These old fellows know, and an ounce of experience is worth a pound of theory.—Greensboro Telegram.

Set of Ware FREE!

If you call at our store during our MAJESTIC DEMONSTRATION WEEK and allow us to show you the many advantages and superior qualities of the Great MAJESTIC RANGE, and will purchase one at the regular price, we will give you FREE the beautiful and useful Souvenir Set of Ware illustrated in this advertisement. This ware is made to match the quality of the Majestic Ranges, and we know all ladies will see the beauty and utility of this set, especially the first three pieces, which are entirely new and cannot be had alone by purchase, except at a very high price. The Prices of Majestic Ranges are the same, but we give the set FREE with each Majestic Range bought during the Demonstration week only.

Reasons Why the Great Majestic You Should Buy

- 1st.—It has the reputation of being the best range money can buy.
 - 2nd.—It not only has the reputation but IS the BEST range made, and we will prove this to you if you will let us.
 - 3rd.—It is constructed of malleable iron, material you can't beat, and of Charcoal iron, material that resists rust 300 per cent greater than steel riveted together air tight. No heat escapes or cold air enters the range, thus uses very little fuel to do perfect work.
 - 4th.—The reservoir alone is worth the price of range over any other reservoir made. It boils 15 gallons of water; is heated like a tea kettle, with pocket against left hand lining, and is movable and sets on frame, hence cannot wear out. When water gets too hot it can be moved away from fire.
- MAJESTIC RANGES use less fuel; heat more water—and, heat it hotter; costs practically nothing for repairs; lasts three times as long; bakes better; easier to keep clean and gives better satisfaction than any other range on the market. If you know positively that the above statements are true, wouldn't you buy a Majestic at once?
- COME IN DEMONSTRATION WEEK AND WE'LL PROVE IT TO YOU.

An Important Measure.

Hon. H. G. Ewart has introduced a bill in the house making bribery at elections a felony and disfranchising those guilty of this crime. This is drastic, but necessary. The traffic in votes is not confined to any one county or section. It is worse in some places than others, but it is found in greater or less degree in almost every section. Resolutions have been passed and articles written, and speeches made against this practice but still it goes on. The only way to stop it is to make the penalty so severe that a man, unrestrained by the moral law, will not care to take the risk of losing his citizenship. We had fondly hoped that the sentiment against a debauched ballot was growing in North Carolina, but the last election convinces us that sterner measures must be taken to uproot this cancerous growth on our body politic. Gov. Harmon takes the position that the vote-buyer is guiltier than the vote-seller, and he suggests that the courts recognize this difference in dealing with this crime. We do not know about the degree of guilt in the shameful transaction, but both are bad enough, and neither is worthy of the sacred privilege of citizenship. We hope the Ewart bill will be promptly passed and put on our statute books. It is a pity that it is necessary, but it is, and the surgeon's knife would better be applied before the poison spreads through the whole body.—Charity and Children.

Uncle Sam Real Busy.

It is beginning to look as if the average American citizen was going to be able to take a bath if he desired, whether he needed it or not. The bath tub trust seems to realize that its up against it, and promises to be good and never do it again, if the government will let it alone. Every illegal combination, like every dishonest bank cashier, seems to think that everybody else runs chances of being caught except themselves. Wouldn't it be a rather good idea for some of the "safely entrenched" to just look into the matter right now. The goblins may not get some of them, but Uncle Sam seems to be doing rather effective "reaching" just now, and of a brand that seems to be loaded.—The Tradesman.

French Beards.

M. Maxime du Camp says in "Souvenirs Littéraires" that after the revolution of July, in 1830, the politics of Frenchmen were known by their beards. Supporters of Louis Philippe wore "mutton chop" whiskers, Bonapartists had mustaches and imperials, Republicans did not shave at all, and Legitimists wore their beards like a collar, with shaved lips and chin.

One Born Every Minute.

The Duke of Wellington once expressed to Isquierdo his wonder at the enormous number of christenings that there were in the world. Isquierdo quietly said, "I beg your pardon. I do not think there are enough—in proportion to the dupes."

WHO WILL PAY THE ROAD TAX

IF BONDS ARE ISSUED TO BUILD ROADS

ALL OVER GREENVILLE TOWNSHIP

Some Figures Taken From the Tax List of the Township Showing Separate Valuation for Greenville, That Portion of Township Outside the Town, and Corporations, and The Tax Each Pays.

A few days ago The Reflector printed the full text of the bill adopted by the citizens of the township in a mass meeting, to submit to the legislature asking that the township be permitted to vote on the question of issuing bonds not to exceed $50,000, to build good roads in the township. The bill carried the names of the men selected to compose the board of road trustees. These men, who were nominated in the open mass meeting were named not alone because they were prominent in the community and made a success in their private affairs, but also that the portion of the township in which each resided might have representation on the board.

In the same issue was an editorial giving the tax value of the property in the township, with a calculation showing what the present road tax of 15 cents on each $100 valuation will produce, and how the amount so raised, $4,178.42, would pay the $2,500 interest on the bonds, set aside $600 annually for a sinking fund, and leave a balance annually of $1,078.42 that could be used for maintenance of the roads. The $600 annual sinking fund invested at 6 per cent. will in thirty years, raise an amount more than sufficient to pay off the bonds.

A further calculation has been made, that we give here, showing the division of the taxable property of the township, and what proportion of the taxes these divisions pay. Of the $2,785,619 of property listed in the entire township, the town of Greenville has 1,474,001 all the remainder of the township outside of Greenville $699,502, railroads and other corporations $612,116. On these at a tax of 15 cents, the town of Greenville will pay $2,211, the remainder of the township $1,049.25, and the corporations $918.17. These figures are given that the people can see just what is before them in the proposition to issue bonds to build good roads in the township.

Sunday and Church Attendance

This paragraph is from an editorial in the Washington Post:

"We note with deep concern the report made by the corresponding secretary of the board of Sunday schools of the Methodist Episcopal church that there are 8,000,000 young people in the United States between the ages of 5 and 18 years who are not in the Sunday schools of the churches."

It is surprising that so large a number of our young people remain out of the Sunday schools. The Post says this is a great contrast to an earlier day. What does this mean? This subject is one not to be lightly passed over. There must be some cause for it.

Another matter that should cause deep concern is the small attendance at church service, other than Sunday school, compared with former days. That the attendance is growing less there seems to be little doubt.

This paper is an optimist. It looks on the bright side of things, and believes that the world is growing better. It is painful to realize that fewer people in proportion to population attend church service than in days gone by. It is true of the country and small towns. We have seen statements that the attendance in the cities is even less in proportion to population.

There must be a cause for this. Is the church losing its power to draw people to it? We shall not attempt to answer this question, and ask it only for the purpose of bringing the subject to the attention of those better qualified to find a remedy.--Roanoke-Chowan Times.

Gossips say a homely girl is too unattractive to catch a husband, but if she does manage to get one they say she jumped at the first chance. If a girl isn't a good-looker, she might consult an oculist.

TAX NOTICE

All persons owing taxes for the year 1910 are notified that they must come forward and settle. I must collect these taxes, as I cannot afford to extend courtesies. The State requires me to settle with the treasurer by the first of January, which time has already passed, and I must insist on prompt settlement from those who are yet delinquent.
