DESCENDANT OF PITT COUNTIANS

Desires to Get in Correspondence with Relatives.

The following letter, recently received by Sheriff S. I. Dudley, was handed to The Reflector for publication that any relatives of the gentleman writing it may be read the letter and correspond with him if they desire:

Aledo, Tex., Feb. 1, 1911.
To the Sheriff of Pitt County, N. C.:

Will you please inform me if there is living in your county at this time any persons by the name of Braxton. If there are, I suppose they are relatives of mine and I would be glad to correspond with them. My father and mother were born and raised in Pitt county. My grandfather Braxton's given name was John, and my grandmother was named Hannah. My father's name was Lacy Braxton. One of his brothers was named Council (or Counce), another was named John, and I think another was Charles. He had one sister who married a man by the name of Luke-Lohon or McLohon. There may have been more brothers and sisters, but these are all that I can call to mind now.

My father's first wife and my mother was Elizabeth Parker. There were three children born to that union; the first one named Marion died in infancy, the second, Elbert, lived to be about 12 years old and died in Tennessee, the third and last one was myself, Elias, and I am 66 years old. My mother died in Pitt county in 1846 and my father married a second time in 1848 or '49. His last wife was named Lizzina Tripp, daughter of Arter Tripp, of Pitt county. They moved to Tennessee in 1849 and raised six children, all of whom are living there, except one who is living in Texas.

My father has been dead near 25 years. My grandfather Parker, I think, lived, and died in Pitt county. My mother had two brothers and two sisters that I can remember, the brothers being Frank and James Parker, the sisters Sylvia, who married Simon Hamilton and Rachael, who married a man by the name of Jesse Braxton. They moved to Tennessee in an early day.

If you can place this letter in the hands of any of my relatives you will confer a very great favor upon me, and I will be glad if they will write to me immediately.

Yours truly,
ELIAS BRAXTON.

(As Braxton is a very familiar name in this county, and many people by that name are still living, we suppose relatives of the writer of the above letter will be easily found.—Ed.)

To My Friends.

I desire to extend heartfelt thanks to my sincere friends, who worked so arduous and earnestly for my success in the recent piano contest of The Daily Reflector and The Carolina Home and Farm and The Eastern Reflector. Everything done in my behalf was highly appreciated. While I did not win the much coveted first prize, I was close second, which is very gratifying to me, and I hope to my friends, to whom I feel deeply indebted for my success.

(MISS) ROLAND JENKINS.

Card From Miss Stokes.

Editor Reflector:
Please permit me through your paper to return thanks to all my friends who aided me in your recent subscription contest. I wish also to thank The Reflector for the gold watch and trunk which were awarded me as prizes. Again thanking each and every one who helped me, and congratulating all the winners in the contest, I am,

Very sincerely,
MISS LELIA STOKES.

Two in Wrong Order.

In arranging the photographs of the winners in The Reflector subscription contest, for Tuesday's paper, through an oversight two of them were placed out of position. Miss Nellie Barnhill appearing as winner of the third prize and Miss Lelia Stokes the fourth, when they should have been reversed. The error was not detected until after part of the paper had been printed and mailed.

Hand Organ and Monkey.

A hand organ grinder with a monkey annex struck town today. These visitors have been rare of late years. The monkey wore long pants and shoes hence for some of our citizens there was a fellow feeling.

WINTERVILLE ITEMS.

Notes From Our Hustling Neighbor—What Its People are Doing.

Winterville, N. C., Feb. 15.—Several of the young people of Winterville gave Mrs. J. D. Cox a delightful storm-party Saturday night. It was a pleasant surprise to Mrs. Cox to receive such a jolly young crowd. There was plenty of music and all present seemed to have a very good time.

Rev. G. C. Vause, of Ayden, preached here Sunday in the Free Will Baptist church. As it was a very inclement day several people did not attend church.

Miss Helen Smith spent Saturday and Sunday with her uncle, Mr. Samuel Worthington.

Mrs. J. D. Cox went to Ayden Tuesday evening.

Misses Lizzie Whitley and Bessie Baker spent Saturday and Sunday with Mrs. Ruben Wall, of Ayden.

Rev. C. J. Harris went to Greenville Tuesday evening on business.

The regular monthly missionary meeting was held in the Baptist church Sunday night. They had an excellent program composed of recitations, reading papers, and songs.

Miss Minnie Evans spent Saturday and Sunday with her sister, who lives near Grifton.

Mr. Albert McCauley, of Chapel Hill, spent Saturday night and Sunday with his sister, Mrs. F. C. Nye.

Miss Pattie Sutton and Mr. Jesse Rollins went out in the country to a pound party last night.

North Carolina Day will be celebrated in the W. H. S. auditorium Friday afternoon, at two-thirty.

Maine grown seed Irish potatoes, at Harrington, Barber & Company's.

Harrington, Barber & Company have opened up a nice line of hats. See us for your hats and shoes.

Harrington, Barber & Company. Lime and cement at A. W. Ange & Company's.

Our spring stock of slippers has come. We invite one and all to give them a look before buying. A. W. Ange & Company.

Scotland Neck Items.

Scotland Neck, N. C., Feb. 14, 1911.

Editor Reflector:
I have been here just two weeks today, will give you a few items, thinking it may be of some interest, to some of your readers at least.

I have learned some things since I've been here that I think ought to put the farmers to thinking.

Mr. Noah Biggs raised one hundred barrels of corn on a plot of three acres of land and he sells this improved corn at one dollar per peck and gives one-half of the proceeds to the orphanage at Thomasville.

Mr. Frank Tillery has three cows from which he gets ten gallons of milk per day. "Have not learned how much butter he gets from them."

It is said that there have been more horses bought here and taken out to the farms in the surrounding county than in many seasons.

T. E. L.

Rochdale Items.

Rochdale, N. C., Feb. 15.—Mr. Bill Flanagan, from near Farmville is visiting his sister, Mrs. Ivey Smith.

Miss Winnie Evans attended the teachers' meeting at Greenville Saturday.

Mrs. F. M. Smith visited her sister, Mrs. John Joyner, near Farmville, Saturday and Sunday.

Mr. Walter Sheppard returned to school at the Training College last Thursday.

Mr. Mark Smith and sister, Miss Trilby, and Miss Winnie Evans visited at Mr. A. J. Moye's Saturday and Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. McLawhorn visited their mother, Mrs. Jennie McLawhorn, near Ayden, Monday.

Roosevelt "Cooked."

Christy, the artist, has painted a picture of the battle of San Juan Hill and has omitted Colonel Roosevelt from it. He explains this omission by the assertion that Roosevelt was not in the fight, and he can prove it by history. Roosevelt and the Rough Riders, says Christy, were three-quarters of a mile away during the attack on Kettle Hill. The ensuing controversy is going to be at least some diversion from the Dr. Cook talk, which has become a little stale.—Charlotte Chronicle.

Never run into debt without you see plainly a way to get out again. Learn a little every day and then proceed to forget the most of it.

A BUSY FARMER.

One Who Does Work Six Days in the Week.

Ayden, N. C., Feb. 14, 1911.
To the Editor:

Thank you for your good opinion, but I expect you have misjudged me. I don't think I could write anything that would interest any one, and if there is one thing that I do poorer than anything else it is writing. I can do the spelling O. K. In fact, I have no time to write, as I work every day, except Sunday, as regular as the clock ticks. I boast that I can do more work of a light nature than any white man in my, or your, county. Pretty broad claim, but I can do it, taking age, etc., into account.

When night comes I want to read as bad as I want to eat, that is, I get as hungry to read as I do for something to eat, so by the time I look over your paper, the Standard Laconic, the News and Observer, The Kingston Free Press, the Progressive Farmer and the Literary Digest, I have gotten sleepy and hunt the bed. Am up next morning by 5 o'clock, feeding stock and very often milk my cow by lantern, especially if I am going to the tobacco market.

I reckon I struck the right calling when I decided to follow farming for a living, for I don't mind the sun up to 85 degrees, nor the rain no more than a turtle minds the mud.

I took the initiative in my county when Mr. Grimes was trying to organize the farmers into the Tobacco Growers Association, also the initiative in the Cotton Growers Association, and raised money and sent to headquarters. I am not ashamed of my occupation and don't mind anybody seeing me in my working clothes. You would not know me, Mr. Editor, if you could see a picture of me taken sometime just as I have been helping to clean out and put down the tobacco fires at the beginning of the curing season.

Now, I will promise to write a short article now and then, but can not write often, as I am always busy.

My cabbage are already up now, and I am working on a garden today and hope to plant it tomorrow. Have a fine patch of rape which I sowed broadcast last October. It is now ready for grazing.

I just write this letter to show you I am a bonafide farmer.
W. A. DARDEN.

MONTAGUE ELECTROCUTED.

Pays The Penalty of His Most Brutal Crime.

By Wire to The Reflector.

Raleigh, N. C., Feb. 15.—Nathan Montague, a negro, was electrocuted in the State penitentiary here at 10.30 o'clock this morning. The negro's crime was a most brutal one. He murdered J. L. Sanders, of Granville county, his daughter, Mary Sanders, and little grand daughter, Irene Overton, also committing criminal assault upon Miss Sanders. After the murder and assault he robbed and burned the house. The crime was committed in December.

ANNIVERSARY OF THE MAINE.

Patriotic Americans Decorate The Wreckage With Colors.

By Wire to The Reflector.

Havana, Cuba, Feb. 15.—This is the thirtieth anniversary of the blowing up of the battleship Maine and the occasion was commemorated today by a party of patriotic Americans who draped the exposed portion of the wreck in American colors. The work of raising the wreck was temporarily abandoned while the decorators wrapped flags over the wreckage.

SIGNS RESOLUTION.

San Francisco Official Exposition City.

By Wire to The Reflector.

Washington, Feb. 15.—President Taft today signed the resolution designating San Francisco as the official city for the exposition which is to celebrate the Panama canal completion in 1915. The entire California congressional delegation and most of the San Francisco exposition committee were present when President Taft signed the document.

Never speak evil of one. Be just before you are generous.

WITH MRS. B. W. MOSELEY.

Entertains at Valentine Reception Tuesday Afternoon.

Mrs. Bennett W. Moseley entertained most charmingly at a Valentine reception, Tuesday afternoon, in honor of her sister, Mrs. Hunter Marshall, of Lynchburg, Va., and Mrs. George B. W. Hadley. The reception was to welcome to her home town, Mrs. Hadley, who for several years has lived in LaGrange, but who has lately returned to Greenville, again to live among her girlhood friends. Receiving in the hall were Mrs. L. C. Arthur and Mrs. E. B. Ficklen. Introducing the guests to the receiving line were Mrs. Charles Laughinghouse and Mrs. R. W. King. In the receiving line with Mrs. Moseley were Mrs. George Hadley, Mrs. Hunter Marshall and Mrs. T. M. Meade, of Danville, Va.

Mrs. W. H. Dail and Mrs. T. E. Hooker received the guests at the library door, directing them to the tea table presided over by Mrs. J. G. Moye and Mrs. M. H. Quinerly. Mrs. Charles Forbes and Mrs. J. L. Hassell then invited the callers into the dining room where they were served a dainty ice course by Mesdames E. A. Moye, Jr., R. J. Cobb, Albion Dunn, J. A. Andrews, C. S. Carr, R. O. Jeffries and Miss Ruth Gordon, of Chatham, Va.

On leaving the dining room, the guests were greeted cordially by Mrs. J. L. Wooten and Mrs. H. A. White. "Little Miss Francis Moseley, the daughter of the house, assisted by her little friend, Miss Alice Lee Hooker received the cards of the many guests, about a hundred having called to do honor to Mrs. Moseley and her guests.

The home was very beautiful with its radiant lights and myriad scarlet hearts. Dan Cupid was found slyly drawing his bow from the midst of a clump of ferns on the table in the dining room. In every nook were fresh green things and trailing vines, where softly shaded lights shed their glow on the lovely faces and gorgeous raiment of the women who thronged the house and made it echo with their soft laughter.

Greenville society is delighted to welcome to its ranks Mrs. Hadley, who as Miss Bruce Forbes was one of our most charming and popular girls.

GREETINGS FROM CALIFORNIA.

Mr. T. F. Christman Writes From the Golden State.

The editor is in receipt of a letter from Mr. T. F. Christman, at Tuolumne, Cal., and while it is mainly personal, we know his host of friends here will be glad to read the extracts from it given below:

"I have been receiving The Reflector for sometime, and enjoy it more than I have words to tell. It carries me back to the good old times when I was there and spent some of the happiest days of my life. I was very sorry to learn of the death of "Hen" Blow. With all his faults, he had some noble traits of character. There are not many of the boys left now that were members of the band when I joined it in 1880.

"I am glad to see that Greenville is still improving, and if you can only get a few factories there to give employment to your people, which you are advocating so earnestly, you will be right up with the best of them.

"Now that I am settled for some time to come, you will please continue to send me The Reflector to January 1st, 1912. Trusting this will find you well and prosperous, and wishing you success in making The Reflector still better as the years go by, I will close with regards to the force and best wishes to all."

Libeler Takes His Medicine.

By Cable to The Reflector.

London, Feb. 15.—The appeal entered by Edward F. Mylius, author of the libelous story about King George, was withdrawn today. The writer has consented to serve the number of years which he has been sentenced without further legal struggle, but it is believed he will be pardoned.

Prisoner Commits Suicide.

By Wire to The Reflector.

Indiana, Pa., Feb. 15.—Making a noose from strips torn from his blankets and fastening one end of the improvised rope to the top of his cell, John McCombs, a wife murderer, committed suicide today.

PERSONAL MENTION.

The People Who Come and Go on Our Trains.

Dr. W. H. Wakefield, of Charlotte, was here today.

Mr. J. B. James went to Raleigh today.

Mr. Z. T. Broughton, Jr., went to Raleigh today.

Mayor F. M. Wooten and Dr. S. Hassell left this morning for Baltimore.

Mrs. J. G. Moye went to Tarboro this morning.

Mrs. M. H. Whitehurst went to Hobgood today.

Mr. C. H. Loop, who has been here ten weeks conducting The Reflector's subscription contest, left this morning for Reidsville.

Rev. J. H. Shore left Tuesday evening for Smithfield, where he will assist in a meeting.

Ex. Gov. T. J. Jarvis went to Raleigh Tuesday evening.

Mrs. F. J. Forbes went to Tarboro Tuesday evening.

Mr. C. L. Whitehurst went to Rocky Mount Tuesday evening.

Mr. G. G. Fineman returned today from Tarboro.

Messrs. K. W. Cobb and J. B. Kittrell returned from Snow Hill Tuesday evening.

Miss Lizzina Moore, who is teaching in Ayden, came home Tuesday evening and returned this afternoon.

Mrs. J. S. Stump came in today from Norfolk to visit Mrs. E. B. Ficklen.

Mr. Joe Hatem went to New Bern today.

VALENTINE ANNOUNCEMENT.

Miss Hennie Whichard Entertains in Honor of Miss Lillian Burch.

On Tuesday evening Miss Hennie whichard entertained her young lady friends at a Valentine party, in honor of Miss Lillian Burch.

The home throughout was decorated in keeping with the Valentine season, cupids and hearts being in evidence everywhere, while here and there hearts pierced with arrows warned the guests that a surprise was in store for them.

In the hall, the color being red, the guests were welcomed by the hostess and guest of honor. Passing into the parlor, which was in pink, punch was served by Misses Lizzie Jones and Hennie Ragsdale.

They were then invited by Misses Ward Moore and Lucille Cobb into the living room, which was also in red, where the game of the evening was progressive heart dice, there being five tables of players. Miss Lizzie Jones making the highest score was awarded the prize, a heart-shaped satin box filled with bonbons. The guest of honor's prize was an illustrated volume of James Whitcomb Riley's "The Girl I Love." During the game tea and heart-shaped sandwiches were served. The score cards were heart-shaped ornaments with cupids.

At the conclusion of the game all repaired to the dining room where the secret of the evening was unfolded. The decorations here were pink and white with festoons of hearts extending across the entire room. There was a centre piece of pink carnations above which hung a large wax cupid from the chandelier, while extending to the corners of the table were garlands of small cupids entwined with tulle. Misses Essie Whichard, Willie Ragsdale and Nannie Bowling served cream in heart shapes with pink cupids and heart-shaped cakes. The favors were gold heart boxes ornamented with cupids and filled with candy. In these boxes was also the secret for which the guests were looking there being hidden among the sweets cupid holding a card bearing the announcement "Ellison-Burch, April 19."

All eyes then turned to the beautiful bride-to-be who was showered with congratulations and numerous toasts were offered.

The marriage of Miss Burch to Mr. James Ellison, of Washington, will take place on the date above indicated.

Double Hog Foot.

On Tuesday Mr. O. E. Whichard, who lives near Grindle Creek, brought to The Reflector office a double hog foot cut from a hog he had just killed. Both feet, which grew on the same leg, were perfectly formed, though one a little smaller than the other. In walking both sections of the double foot struck the ground.

In Memory of Mr. Mattland Boyd.

Friday afternoon, February 10th, as the day was at its brightest God in his almighty wisdom saw fit to take from our midst one of Greenville's noblest men and citizens, Mr. Waitland Boyd. Mr. Boyd was a bright young man of about thirty years of age, and was loved by all who knew him. Each morning he would go out to his work, returning in the evening bright and cheerful. He never complained of his task, no matter how hard or long it was. He was always willing to do what was put before him and never stopped until it was finished.

Mr. Boyd was only sick about a week and was thought to be better Friday evening, when he was taken worse and died.

And what shall we do with all the days and hours

That must be counted ere we see his face again?

How shall we charm the interval that lowers

Between this time and that sweet time of grace?

Shall we in slumber steep each weary sense

Weary with longing? Shall we flee away.

Into past days, and with some fond pretense

Cheat ourselves to forget the present day?

Shall love for him lay on our souls the sin

Of casting from us God's great gift of time?

Shall we, these mists of memory locked within

Live and forget life's purposes sublime?

No, we must do as he did, work ever upward, so when our time comes and the Great Master calls us home we will be ready to go, as he was and lay down our life in this world to be with him in heaven forever more

A FRIEND.

WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 15, 1911.

The man who has the welfare of the public at heart makes the best citizen.

The legislature has sounded the death knell for near-beer, its sale being prohibited in this State after the first of July. We hope as much will be done for liquor in clubs.

February 22nd is the day designated as Bill Nye day in the public schools of this State. In addition to observing the day with appropriate exercises, donations will be made to erect a memorial building to Nye at the Stonewall Jackson Training School. We hope the schools of Pitt county will take prominent part in this.

There ought to be a large number of Pitt county farmers and their sons in Greenville next Saturday. Besides the awarding of prizes that day for the boys' corn growing contest last year, plans will be perfected for the contest this year. It is proposed to have township prizes this year and the number of contestants should be large. Mr. C. R. Hudson and Mr. I. O. Schwab will both be here Saturday, and will help those who bring specimens of their corn to make proper seed selections.

The Reflector subscription contest that has been in progress for ten weeks, came to a satisfactory close Tuesday and the winners have received their prizes. The contest was a good one for the paper and added several hundred new names to both the daily and weekly editions of the paper. We wish to thank every faithful worker in the contest, as well as those who helped them. It is our purpose to endeavor to make the paper so pleasing to its readers that every name on the subscription list will remain there permanently.

Make Up Muck Heaps.
There is on many a farm a manure, generally there in great quantities where it exists at all, in the muck deposits along streams and the low, wet places. If such a deposit is in wet wood lands it is particularly rich in humus, for in some places the twigs and leaves and surface growth of swamp grasses and plants form a deep mass of organic matter that has been slowly decaying for years.
This muck is rich and black and to the ordinary observer is the ideal natural manure, but many times when the inexperienced grower has spread it upon his land he has been vastly disappointed because this manure which cost nothing except the labor of collecting it, not only did not increase the crop but actually killed out many plants. Then he decided that it was no good. He was wrong.
Muck of this sort becomes charged with pyroligneous acid, which must be got rid of before advantage can be taken of the plant food in the body of the muck. It should be mingled with a heavy application of lime, which not only counteracts the acid and sweetens the muck, but it tears down the organic particles and renders the mass more available for the use of plants.

It is considered a better way to haul out the muck and make a compost heap with it and any trash that will decay, and throw into the heap, in layers, plenty of soil from the land. When this lies for a year it makes a most valuable fertilizer.

If, in addition to this compost, the regular salts of commercial fertilizers, such as nitrate of soda and potash or kainit and acid phosphate, are added to bring up the mass to the percentage needed for any particular crop, there will be a fine manure, not only excelled for cheapness and effectiveness, and besides there will be plenty of humus to go into the soil from the still decaying particles in the muck.

Farmers who have muck deposits do wrong when, in autumn and the milder days of winter, they fail to pile up a little mountain of muck and soil and trash. It will prove valuable, indeed, the year after it is taken up. By making this pile each winter there will always be a generous lot of free manure from each succeeding spring, even if it is not "brought up" with fertilizing salts and phosphate rock.

It must not be forgotten that there is much nitrogen in humus and anything that is humus adds some nitrogen, even though it may not be considered enough or some special crops.—Baltimore Sun.

Garden Manures and Fertilizers.
Stable manure is excellent for the garden, of course, but annual manuring with stable manure only will soon get an excess of nitrogen in the soil, and you will find that your potatoes run to tops and make small potatoes, and that your tomatoes grow too rankly and make too many imperfect fruits. Now, I do not advise stopping the use of stable manure on the garden, but I do advise making it better balanced plant food. It is deficient especially in phosphoric acid, and its efficiency will be greatly promoted by mixing at least 100 pounds of acid phosphate to every ton of the manure. Then if the liquid portion of the manure has been carefully saved, there will not be much deficiency in potash, but on sandy soils it is better to add some muriate of potash, say 20 pounds to the ton of manure. Now, while I do not think that for ordinary farm crops it pays to compost and fine the manure, it does pay for the garden. I would pile the manure now and scatter the acid phosphate and potash through it, placing it in a broad, flat heap. As soon as signs of heating show, turn it and re-pile it in the same flat heap. Then make layers of fine black mold from the woods six inches thick, and cover with a layer of the mixed manure of same thickness and carry the heap up, in this way keeping it broad and flat. If heating shows, chop this all down and mix completely and re-pile it in the flat heap. In this way you will soon have a heap of fine and well decomposed compost that will be more readily available to the plants than fresh manure. For my garden I get the stable manure from New York City. This has a great deal of hay and straw mixed in it, and it is important to get this fine before applying it to the soil.—W. F. Massey, in Progressive Farmer.

MOTHER AND DAUGHTER.

Both Glad to Recommend Parisian Sage.
Mrs. J. R. Burgess writes from 514 Plum St., Danville, Va., June 4, 1910, as follows:
"I have used Parisian Sage and find it to be all you claim for it, and cheerfully recommend it to any one who is suffering from any hair dandruff, or scalp trouble."
On the same date Ruth Odille Burgess, the charming little daughter of Mrs. Burgess wrote:
"I am only a little girl, but I want to tell what Parisian Sage has done for me. I had a scalp disease that looked like dandruff and when it was combed up there would be a bloody water under the dandruff. Mamma tried everything in the way of a hair tonic, without results, until she saw the advertisement of Parisian Sage; she got a bottle and it cured me, but kept on using it. Now I have as beautiful a head of hair as any girl."
Men, women and children, in every section of America who are using ordinary commercial hair tonics should give Parisian Sage a trial. It is so far ahead of all others that one application will prove its great superiority.
It is guaranteed by Coward & Wooten to stop falling hair and itching scalp, and to drive out all dandruffs in two weeks or money back. It grows hair in abundance and gives to the hair a lustrous and fascinating appearance, 50 cents a large bottle, at Coward & Wooten's, and druggists everywhere. 2-15-25-3-8

SUGGESTIONS ON CORN CROPS.

How Farmer can Obtain the Best Results.

Editor Reflector:
I read in the Daily Reflector recently a call from Prof. W. H. Ragdale to all the boys, members of the corn club of 1910, and those who desire to become members in 1911, to a meeting to be held in Greenville on February 18th. I wish to add to that call an invitation to the fathers of the boys: We want to give all the encouragement to the boys that we can, for the boys of today are to be the men of tomorrow. As agriculture is the foundation of our future prosperity, it is essential that we do all we can to educate our boys along that line.

The great American grain food for men and stock is corn, and by using good methods in preparing and cultivating our lands, we can very easily make all the corn we need on our farms. I have been in the demonstration work in this county two years, and my observation and experience has taught me that we can make 50 bushels of corn where we are now making 15 bushels. I had numbers of men on my work last year who made 75 bushels, and some as high as 110 bushels on high land.

There are four things that are essential to good farming:

1. Drainage. Where land is full of water it shuts out the sun and air, and no plant can grow in cold, wet seed bed.
2. Deep Breaking. When we break to 3 or 4 inches we may expect a 3 or 4 inch crop. Experiments have shown that corn sends some of its roots 3 or 4 feet deep where the soil is porous. Furthermore, in case of excessive rains the water sinks below the roots of the plants, and in dry seasons allows the roots to go down and get moisture.
3. Humus. Without humus we can never get the results our lands are capable of producing. It is especially necessary to have humus in our soil to get the best results from commercial fertilizers. I believe the farmers of our county use every year thousands of dollars worth of fertilizers that does, them practically no good, because of not using it intelligently. Right here I want to say we should study the fertilizer problem more, and the practical application of fertilizers to the soil.
4. Last, but not least, the selection of good seed. I have men on my work in this county who in paying close attention to the selection of their seed have improved their corn from an ordinary one-eared variety to a very good two-eared variety. We should always select our seed corn from the field, for then we can get the right type of ear from the right type of stalk. When we select our corn from the barn, we do not know whether it grew on a one-eared stalk or a two-eared stalk. In my work I have gotten the best results in every instance where the prolific corn was planted.
We will have with us the 18, Mr. C. R. Hudson, the head of the demonstration work in this State and Mr. I. O. Schaub, the head of the boys' corn club work. We desire that the boys and men will bring with them some corn, and the gentlemen above mentioned will go over the exhibits and help them select the best ears for planting.

JOHN EVANS.

The Greatest of all our Tasks.

Permanent soil improvement—we can not help believing—is one of the very safest business in which a farmer can engage at his time, and especially in this true in the South when prices for all farm products are already high and likely to go higher. Rich soils from which large crops of these high-priced products may be secured at low cost for cultivation are sure to appreciate very rapidly in value in the coming years. So, we believe our idle time, at least, may be well used in bringing about all manner of soil improvement. The most satisfactory permanent improvement we have ever made on our land has been underdrainage. It is an improvement that not only begins to pay dividends on cost at once but continues to do so, without any further expenditure, for generations. Men all over the South are beginning to awake to the need of underdraining and the reclaiming of swamp lands. The man with the little rich creek bottom is as much interested as the owner of vast areas for he realizes that where he only has a little he must make that little do its very best, and he knows such land can not and does not do its best—without ordinary surface drainage.—A. L. French, in Progressive Farmer.

"My wife wanted me to take our boy to the doctor to cure an ugly boil," writes D. Frankel, of Stroud, Okla., "I said put Bucklen's Arnica Salve on it." She did so, and it cured the boil in a short time. Quickest healer of burns, scalds, cuts, corns, bruises, sprains, swellings. Best Pile cure on earth. Try it. Only 25 cents at all druggists.

MILLIONS OF LIVES.

An Awful Toll Collected by Consumption—Many Unnecessary Deaths.

If people could only understand that systematic catarrh is an internal disease that external applications cannot cure, they would not need to be warned so often about this malady, which, when neglected, paves the way oftentimes for consumption, at the cost of millions of lives every year. Yet catarrh may be cured, if the right treatment is employed.

The only way to successfully treat catarrh is by employing a medicine which is absorbed and carried by the blood to all parts of the system, so that the mucous membrane or internal lining of the body is toned up and made capable of resisting the infection of consumption and other diseases.

We have a remedy prepared from the prescription of a physician who for thirty years studied and made catarrh a specialty, and whose record was a patient restored to health in every case where his treatment was followed as prescribed. That remedy is Rexall Mucu-Tone. We are so positive that it will completely overcome catarrh in all its various forms, whether acute or chronic, that we promise to return every penny paid us for the medicine in every case where it fails or for any reason does not satisfy the user.

We want you to try Rexall Mucu-Tone on our recommendation and guarantee. We are right here where you live, and you do not contract any obligation or risk when you try Rexall Mucu-Tone on our guarantee. We have Rexall Mucu-Tone in two sizes, 50 cents and $1.00. Very often the taking of one 50-cent bottle is sufficient to make a marked impression upon the case. Of course in chronic cases a longer treatment is necessary. The average in such instances is three $1.00 bottles. Remember you can obtain Rexall Remedies only at our store—The Rexall Store.

Better Laws.

Lawyers make nearly all the laws and all that are broken are broken by lawyers.

Lawyers say that law is a science and that it would be unscience to let the people make their own laws.

As a matter of fact, the law is full of inconsistencies and absurdities. Laws are often made for the benefit of particular classes so that their profits may be increased. Some laws are outrageously unfair.

Technicalities, sophistries, precedents outworn, usurp the place of justice many a time.

So vexatious and expensive is it to go to law that many a man suffers wrong or patiently bears injury rather than go to court.

People demand a sounder system of laws and a quicker method of obtaining their rights. Justice is rightfully the great concern of government. Without it government is not a blessing.

Lincoln was a lawyer who knew little about technicalities and adjudicated cases. He reasoned out the law and knew its broad principles. When people enter upon litigation to establish or defend their rights they want substantial justice; not vexatious delays.—Winston Sentinel.

EROSION IN APPALACHIANS.

U. S. Geological Report Shows Extensive Destruction in Mountains

A report on an exploration in the southern Appalachians, by L. C. Glenn, professor of geology in Vanderbilt University, just published by the United States Geological Survey, is a timely contribution to a subject now engaging wide public attention. It places in the hands of those interested in the best utilization of the great Appalachian watershed the most authentic and detailed information yet presented on the subject, representing as it does the results of expert field investigation.

A Story of Ruined Lands.

The purpose of Prof. Glenn's study was to note the extent and the effects, and so far as possible the cause, of erosion in the region examined and to determine the means of preventing the widespread evil results of unwise agriculture and lumbering. Accordingly, he traveled from stream to stream valley through the southern mountains, noting and recording with great exactness hillside and mountain side wash and wear, soil removal by gully and soil burial by overwash, stream clogging and stream overflow, the filling of mill ponds and the wrecking of dams and bridges, and numerous other evils that the attributed by many observers, in large part, to reckless deforestation and injudicious attempts to cultivate slopes that are not adapted to agriculture.

Investigations Made in Eight States.

Prof. Glenn's studies include parts of eight States—Pennsylvania, Virginia, West Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Tennessee, and Alabama. In the course of the study it was noted that steep slopes formed of certain rocks could be safely cultivated, but that others, no steeper, composed of other, different rocks were cultivated with disastrous results. Observations were made of countless gaping chasms started in steep hillsides by the drag of logs "snaked" down from timbered hillsides—chasms that cave and throw down timber and cause the wash of masses of gravel and cobblestones over fertile valley lands below. Bars and shallows formed in navigable streams by sand and gravel loosened far upstream by agricultural and forestry malpractice were noted at hundreds of places and are specifically mentioned in the report.

Agriculture and Forestry Involved.

According to Prof. Glenn the problems thus studied geologically must find their solution in methods that relate largely to forestry and to agriculture. The agricultural problem involves the selection of the areas best suited for agriculture because of fertility and character of soil and moderate slope of surface and the study of the ways in which areas may best be handled to prevent their own destruction through erosion, as well as the destruction of other lands and property by the waste material they deposit and the floods they help to generate.

Much of the area is not properly agricultural land and should not be cleared and forced into agricultural use, because that forcing means quick destruction both of the area itself and of the lower-lying areas on the same streamways. Such misuse, also slower but none the less sure interference with navigation on the more remote parts of the major streams systems.

The forester would protect steep slopes by keeping them clothed with timber, coax back tree growth on denuded areas, keep down forest fires protect and perpetuate the supply of hard wood, protect the fame and the fish, and enhance the beauty and charm of the region as a health and pleasure resort, as well as prevent the navigable streams from filling up with silt and silt whose removal is now costing annually large sums of money.

Prof. Glenn gives also an account of a study made in the basin of Monogahela River in West Virginia and Pennsylvania soon after the great flood of March, 1907, which destroyed millions of dollars worth of property.

The report is published as Professional Paper 72 of the United States Geological Survey, and can be had free by applying to the Director of the Survey at Washington. It consists of 133 pages and is illustrated by maps and half tone plates.

Life Saved at Death's Door.

"I never felt so near my grave," writes W. R. Patterson, of Wellington, Texas, when a frightful cough and lung trouble pulled me down to 100 pounds, in spite of doctor's treatment for two years. My father, mother and two sisters died of consumption, and that I am alive today is due to Dr. King's New Discovery, which completely cured me. Now I weigh 187 pounds and have been well and strong for years." Quick, safe, sure, its the best remedy on earth for coughs, colds, lagrippe, asthma, croup and all throat and lung troubles. 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free. Guaranteed by all druggists.

Is There too Much Politics in Papers?

We believe in political papers. In a country governed like ours they are necessary. We think that when a man reaches the age that entitles him to vote he should look carefully into the principles of the different political parties and select the one whose principles he considers best. Then he should stay with that party as far as he goes in politics, unless he becomes convinced that its principles and politics are wrong. While we believe this, we see no reason why a voter should become so wrapped up in his party that he feels bitter toward all who differ from him.

There are people in every community who are not satisfied with a newspaper unless it is very bitter toward the opposite party. To use the idea expressed by another, they expect the editor to be continually "prancing and pawing the earth, chewing the bit and foaming at the mouth and calling men liars, scoundrels and devils." They want to say very hard things themselves through papers and let the publishers take the "cussing" and financial loss which comes to the paper because it contains such articles. They are ready to say almost anything, and take the blame, they not being seen in the matter at all. These people are very hard to suit and can never be satisfied unless the editor bows down to them on every occasion. This we dislike to do. We prefer to keep our manhood. These people never stop to think that the masses of the people are not hot headed over politics. The people generally want some politics in papers, but do not want to much. They think a man can stand by his party without getting so full as to explode. The editor frequently hears men say, "I do not want your paper, as you have to much politics in it." Others say, "I will not take your paper during campaign year, as I do not want to read so much about politics." Some will not take the paper because there is too little politics of their sort, and others will not take it because there is too much. Under the circumstances what shall editors do? Our idea is that they should go along and do what they think is right, regardless of what people say or do. This is about what we expect to do. We are willing at all times to leave our course in such matters with the masses of the people.—Smithfield Herald.

Falls Victim to Thieves.

S. W. Bends, of Coal City, Ala., has a justifiable grievance. Two thieves stole his health for 12 years. They were a liver and kidney trouble. Then Dr. King's New Life Pills throttled them. He's well now. Unrivaled for constipation, malaria, headache, dyspepsia. 25 cents at all druggists.

Moving The National Capital.

Some of the papers have revived the old prediction that the national capital will in time be removed from Washington to the heart of the nation and located at St. Louis. The friends of the movement urge that it is now possible for an invading army to capture Washington, whereas no force could ever reach the seat of government were it placed in the middle of the ground. Moreover, they claim that the removal would have the effect to destroy more sectionalism than any other single cause. Besides they claim, the bulk of American population will in time be found in the great Mississippi valley.

Near a half a century ago a St. Louis journalist of some note, named Reavis, made the prediction that the national capital would be removed to St. Louis and "from his point of view the time of removal was near at hand." Reavis' article was so favorably received that it had the effect to cause many people to make immediate investments in real estate in St. Louis. Most of them have watched their children become men while waiting in their St. Louis homes for the removal of the capital, but who will deny that these children's children may be called on to witness the removal.

Regardless of whether one wishes a change in the seat of government from Washington to St. Louis or any other city, it is not his province to predict how that such a change will never come—at least it is possible that the issue will have to be met some day. There are people who are never satisfied with the present status of anything and the ranks of this class are easily recruited once a leader of the "cause" appears.

Again there are those who don't rest well at night because of those horrible presentations that a hostile force of merciless invaders are plotting to slip all the government records. They think it a good idea to move our seat of government now while we have our hand on it.—Montgomery Advertiser.

AYDEN CORRESPONDENCE.

Notes of Interest From the Surrounding Community.

Ayden, N. C., Feb. 14.—Mrs. Louisa Harris, of Rountrees, is visiting relatives in town.

Mrs. Lou Nichols, from near Arthur's, is spending the week with her daughter, Mrs. W. J. Hemby.

We regret to learn that Mrs. J. E. Stokes died at her home near Haddock's X Roads last Sunday of measles. She leaves a husband and seven children. She was the daughter of the late John McLawhorn, a very prominent farmer of the Black Jack section.

Dr. J. B. Gunter, who located here, has moved back to Fountain. He made many friends while here, who regret to see him leave Ayden.

The editor of the Ayden Department is in receipt of a nice calendar from his old friend, J. B. Tripp, of San Francisco, Los Angeles, and Mexico City.

We are of the honest opinion that the small negro boy, who informed Chief of Police Dunlap, concerning the whereabouts of Louis West, the notorious outlaw, at Maxton, last Friday night, is justly entitled to some of Carnegie's hero fund, also Chief Dunlap should have all the reward offered by the towns and individuals, as his act of heroism is one to be long remembered.

Miss Fannie Hardee, of Greenville, who is teaching near Willow Green, spent Sunday in town.

Messrs. J. R. Turnage and R. W. Smith made a business trip to Raleigh last Thursday.

Harry, a small son of Mr. R. Wingate, fell from a picket fence last week and broke his leg below the knee.

Mr. Jake Frizzell spent Sunday here visiting his brother, Dr. M. T. Frizzelle.

Miss Julia Taylor, of Greene county, spent Sunday in town visiting Miss Lucy Turnage.

We have seen peach and plum blooms. This is evident that spring is near at hand.

Judge J. L. Hobgood spent last Saturday here on business.

The way our people do like to skate is a sight.

Mr. David Gibb, who left last fall for a visit to his mother in Edinburg, Scotland, returned Sunday night, looking much refreshed by his visit.

Gardening is the order of the day. Degree work every Monday night at the Odd Fellows.

Nichols and Swain have opened a stall for the sale of the substantial things of life on Market street.

Sheriff J. T. Keel keeps busy looking after the law breakers.

Mr. Dickinson, bookkeeper and stenographer for J. R. Smith Company, is visiting near Kinston for a few days.

Miss Sybit Taylor, of Kinston, spent Sunday visiting Mr. J. C. Jones.

Mr. Harry Cox, of New Bern, spent Sunday here with his parents.

Mr. E. G. Cox, of Greensboro, spent Sunday here with his family.

Dr. Roy Cannon, who has been at school in Richmond came home Friday.

We learn that more meat was put up the past fall than any season for a long time, and remarkable to relate, the price remains so high, when there is so little sold. But since killing time, the cholera has been raging and killed lots of hogs. There will be a mock trial at the Seminary auditorium Thursday night. The public is invited. These occasions are very enjoyable.

There was an entertainment at the graded school last Friday night, for the benefit of the Methodist church.

Rev. Mr. Caraway will preach a special sermon for the Odd Fellows next fourth Sunday at 3 o'clock, p. m. A full attendance is requested. The members will meet in the lodge, don their regalia and march in form

Parental Co-Operation Essential.

The matter of having the elements of agriculture taught in the public schools of the county seems to be a difficult problem to solve. Superintendent Nisbet and the board of education are using their influence in that direction and in a number of schools a class in agriculture is being taught, but we learn that in several districts this study is not being taught at all and that in many instances where a class is taught only a small number of students are in the class. One of the main reasons for this lack of interest in the fundamental principles of the agricultural industry seems to hinge on the fact that parents do not encourage their children in the study and that they are negligent about furnishing them with the necessary books. This is a sad state of affairs. The only solution to farm problems is the employment of scientific methods of production and marketing crops, and when parents refuse to furnish boys the proper books from which to obtain much knowledge, they are knocking at the very vitals of the success of those boys.—Marshville Our Home.

CUR HOME DEPARTMENT.

Strawberries and Other Things Around Home.

I have just come in from the garden where I have been helping to transplant strawberries; this ought to have been done in the fall, but "better late than never" applies very forcibly to this particular branch of gardening, for of all things in the fruit line, nothing is better than the strawberry--unsurpassed in flavor, earliest of all the fruits in this climate,--easy of culture, and can be prepared for the table with such little trouble. And then beauty lends such a festive air to the table; the scarlet berries heaped high in dainty dishes make such a beautiful contrast with the shining silver and snowy linen. The epicure may ask for cream with his, but they are entirely satisfactory to me with nothing more than a generous sprinkling of sugar.

Now, if your garden has no strawberry bed, please for the sake of the children, if for no other reason, plant one right away. The best varieties may be obtained at small cost; they should be reset every other year, as they do best the second season.

It takes an optimistic soul to find the silver lining to these dense clouds which hang like a pall over the earth. One, two, three, four--four days since the sun has visited us with his beneficent rays--how we miss the glad sunshine with its genial warmth.

Let us study how to manage our household with the least labor. I think we may lighten our burden materially by judicious planning. This may cost us nothing but a little turning things around and moving them closer together.

An exchange of ideas on this subject would be beneficial and interesting. I remember well how much I was troubled in trying to roll out pie-crust. I just could not make it roll until one day speaking to my sister about it, she said, "turn your crust over frequently." In those few words lay the secret of making pie crust rolling a pleasure.

1st--Enigma of Five Letters and Two Syllables.

My 1st is in ceiling but not in floor, My 2nd in hinge but not in door, My 3rd in rich but not in poor, My 4th in fen but not in moor, My 5th in barn but not in store,

The whole is a country and an article of its manufacture not excelled elsewhere.

2nd--Charade of Three Syllables.

My first a pronoun you will see, Second an adverb of simple degree, My third a noun whose grains are gold.

Entire an animal in heraldry old.

3rd--Charade of Three Syllables.

Of syllables here are 1, 2, 3, The first and last alike you see, My second a word we all revere, In every heart she is most dear.

The first a noun that has to grow, And a transitive verb also we know, The last is part of a foot we find, A noun? oh yes, but never mind, Now what call you these syllables three?

A fruit, a flower, a nut, a tree? A flower once, a fruit maybe, But never a nut, and never a tree.

I hope the girls and boys will respond eagerly to these queries and puzzles. Solving them will help you to concentrate your thoughts and to improve your vocabulary. They are not difficult--once you catch on.

Next week we will give the answers for February, and the names of all who may send correct answers; do not hesitate, send your cards to Box 43, R. F. D. 3, Farmville, N. C.

A little error crept into our enigma last week--enjoy should have been erry, as it was in the copy, however, that does not injure the sense, you will find the name of the noted inventor all right.

4th--Now will you tell me in what book we find Miss Esther Sommerson, Joe Lady Deadlock, Mr. Tulkinghorn, and Miss Filite?

5th--Who wrote "Little Women?"--Name favorite characters in that book.

Origin of Fasting.

The custom of fasting is not of Christian origin. It was certainly observed by the Jews long before Christianity was known, as well as by most of the other nations of antiquity. Asceticism has always been popular in the earlier stages of religion and is still the dominant idea in Buddhism and Brahminism--two of the oldest of all religions.--Exchange.

DO YOU KEEP A BANK ACCOUNT?

YOU SHOULD FOR THE REASONS:

Money in Bank is safe from fire and burglars; in your home it is not.
Money in Bank is safe from careless handling; in your pocket it is not.
Money paid by check guarantees to you a permanent receipt; cash handed out does not.
Money in Bank is a starter towards economy, always ready for use, or to be added to.

Things Money Can Not Buy.

Beware lest thou, in any sense, in any respect, despise the poor man because of his poverty. Ever since the blessed Saviour lived in a poor man's home and worked at the carpenter's trade the poor man's house has been a sacred place, and the laboring man's vocation a sacred thing.

The earthly life of the Son of Man has illuminated the plain and homely things of life. A man's house may be a very humble one; there may be no carpet on the floor; the furniture may be plain; the fare may be simple and scanty; but there may dwell a glory there which shall cause the plainest and poorest things to shine with a radiance as from heaven. Things may be there more precious than any that can be purchased at the furniture dealer's or at the clothier's. Peace, contentment, kindness, affection may be there--things which no money can buy.--Durham Sun.

DEATH OF WILLIAM W. MOORE.

Popular Young Man Succumbs After Brave Battle.

The death at 3 o'clock this morning of William Wallace Moore at the home of his sister, Mrs. J. D. Murphy on Montford avenue came as a shock to a large circle of friends in Asheville. Mr. Moore had been in failing health for the past several years and while some of his intimate friends realized that he was a very sick man others were not aware that his condition was so critical. Mr. Moore came to Asheville from eastern North Carolina nearly 20 years ago. He was appointed a clerk in the Asheville post-office by former Postmaster J. P. Kerr in 1893, and had been in the service here continuously for almost 18 years. At the time of his death Mr. Moore was superintendent of city carriers and city distributors.

"Billy" Moore, as he was familiarly known among a large circle of friends, was a fine fellow. He was a gentleman in every sense of the word; a friend, one might say, to everyone. His was a gentle nature. He was free from malice or hatred and ever delighted to do a friend a service. In June, 1908, when the great struggle for the Democratic nomination for governor of North Carolina between Mr. Craig and Mr. Kitchin was on at Charlotte, Mr. Moore over-exerted himself in the cause of Mr. Craig. He became enthusiastic, as almost everybody else did at that time, and his vocal organs, practically gave way. For months and months after the convention Mr. Moore could not speak above a whisper. In fact, he never entirely regained his voice. The strain during those convention days evidently weakened his constitution and at times since then Mr. Moore found it necessary to cease work for days at a time. However, he was on duty not so long ago, and as usual, was cheerful and hopeful. Mr. Moore was born March 26, 1872, and was therefore almost 39 years of age. He was a staunch and sterling Democrat. His friends in Asheville were numbered by the hundreds.--Asheville Citizen, Feb. 8th.

HIDDEN DANGERS.

Nature Gives Timely Warnings That No Greenville Citizen Can Afford to Ignore.

DANGER SIGNAL NO. 1 comes from the kidney secretions. They will warn you when the kidneys are sick. Well kidneys excrete a clear, amber fluid. Sick kidneys send out a thin, pale and foamy, or a thick red, ill-smelling urine, full of sediment and irregular of passage.

DANGER SIGNAL NO. 2 comes from the back. Back pains, dull and heavy, or sharp and acute, tell you of the approach of dropsy, diabetes, and Bright's disease. Doan's Kidney Pills help sick kidneys. Here's Greenville proof:

James Long, Dickinson ave., Greenville, N. C., says: "I am certain that Doan's Kidney Pills are a remedy of merit and I do not hesitate to recommend them. When I was suffering from backache, pains in my kidneys and other symptoms of kidney and bladder trouble, I got a supply of Doan's Kidney Pills from the John L. Wooten Drug Co. It did not take them long to bring me relief."

For sale by all-dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States. Remember the name--Doan's--take no other.

Governed by Ancestors.

The Gumbos of South Africa believe that their ancestors' whose wishes are interpreted by the sorcerers, direct and govern every act of the people. They find auguries, too, in the flight of birds, particularly in the night hawk and the eagle, the writhing of the serpents, the timidity of the mole, the changing colors of the chameleon, the barking or actions of dogs and foxes and even the circumstance of a pest of flies. If a native shudders involuntarily the act is regarded as a sign that some misfortune is about to befall him.

NEW YORK AND CHICAGO MARKETS

Cotton.

New York, Feb. 15.--The cotton market was steady at the opening, prices unchanged to 3 points above the close. There was considerable demand for cotton in initial trading, but this fell off after the call and prices eased. Lack of support from bull interests caused the market to become unsettled and nervous. There was only fair demand in the Liverpool market.

Opening--
March..... 13.90
May..... 14.08
June..... 14.04
July..... 14.06

Grain.

Chicago, Feb. 15.--The wheat market was 1-4 to 3-8c lower; corn was slow and easier; oats steady; provisions started higher, but reacted.

Opening--
May wheat..... 92 3-8
Corn..... 49 1-2
Oats..... 31 3-4
Pork, May..... 17.70

Stocks.

New York, Feb. 15.--The stock market opened irregular today with gains and losses about evenly divided and all being fractional. Steel, Amalgamated copper and Reading were slightly off, while Consolidated gas, Union Pacific, Southern Pacific and C. & O. were unchanged. The curb market showed moderate activity after steady opening.

A Passenger That Paid.

The late L. Q. C. Lamar, former United States-senator from Mississippi and at the time of his death an associate justice of the United States Supreme court, was a very absent-minded and abstracted man.

One day he entered one of the old horse cars that ran in Washington years ago, walked up to the box at the end where passengers were supposed to deposit their fares, put his hand in his pocket, took out a coin and dropped it in.

"Why Senator," said a friend, "you put in a quarter instead of a nickel!"

"Did I?" said the senator. "How stupid of me!" Then he put his hand in his pocket again, took out a nickel, dropped that in, and sat down with a satisfied smile.--Saturday Evening Post.

Love making is one kind of a cold weather picnic.

Even a stingy man loosens up when asked for advice.

Some men borrow trouble and some buy it by the bottle.
