

TROOPS ORDERED TO MEXICAN BORDER

U. S. SENDS CAVALRY, ARTILLERY AND INFANTRY

SOLDIERS PROCEED IN GREAT HASTE

By Wire to The Reflector.

Washington, March 7.—The order to send cavalry, artillery and infantry equipped for service to the Mexican border, several companies having been ordered there last night, is taken here to indicate that the government officials believe that a crisis is approaching in the Mexican revolution and that energetic measures will be necessary in order to prevent violations of the neutrality laws and attacks on Americans.

Approximately six thousand men from United States army posts have been ordered to proceed at once to the border.

Washington, March 7.—Following the orders to regular troops stationed in Georgia issued last night to proceed to the Mexican war, the department today ordered batteries D, E, and F, of 3rd artillery stationed at Fort Myer, to proceed tonight to San Antonio. It was announced at the office of Major General Wood that 16,000 cavalry and infantry is to be assembled at San Antonio for manoeuvre. He refused to give any other reason for this unprecedented movement of troops except to say the Mexican situation is becoming serious.

MR. SIMMONS FOR LORIMER.

Gives His Reasons For Supporting the Illinois Senator.

Senator Simmons, who voted to vindicate Senator Lorimer, of Illinois, of the charge of liberty and corruption in connection with his election, made a speech in defence of the Illinois Senator, in the course of which he said:

"I have read the report of the committee appointed to investigate the charges against the senator from Illinois exonerating these charges. That report is signed by six of the seven Republicans and four of the five Democrats on this committee. The ten senators signing this report are all lawyers, some of them have been judges, trained and educated in weighing and applying testimony and they are as pure and able men as sit in this body.

"I have read practically all the evidence adduced before this committee. I have heard nearly all the speeches that have been delivered on both sides of this controversy. I heard the speeches of the junior Senator from Illinois in his own defense a speech which in logical symmetry and force in inherent evidences of sincerity and truth, in simple and unconscious pathos, will ever live in the memory of all who heard it as one of the most remarkable deliverances ever uttered in this chamber.

"When that speech was concluded my inner consciousness said to me, as many people who heard it have since said to me, if the senator from Illinois had been guilty he could not have conceived that speech and delivered as it was delivered by him.

"We must decide this question on the evidence and law. Every senator ought to apply the evidence for himself. Upon this question we must act as jurors. For myself I do not question the act of any honorable man who acts upon his oath. With my views of this evidence, if I should yield to the clamor of the newspapers, instigated by the Chicago Tribune, the ancient and relentless enemy of the senator from Illinois; if I should yield by this newspaper agitation, based upon articles and editorials written by men nine-tenths of whom have never read a line of the testimony in this case and know nothing about it except what they have read in other newspapers, I should perjure my conscience and lose my self-respect.

"I was a man, zealous of my intellectual integrity and earnestly seeking to preserve the integrity of my conscience as the thing of supreme importance, before I was a senator, and, sir, whatever may happen to me, I shall try to maintain that integrity of thought and conscience to the last."

NEW FARM MACHINE.

Cleveland Invention Interests National Harvester Company.

A seed planter and fertilizer distributor which equals, if not outstrips similar farm implements, has been invented by Mr. W. D. Lemons, a Cleveland county farmer. The name of the implement is "combination planter and distributor" and from the opinion of those who saw the demonstration yesterday afternoon, it will do everything perfectly that it is built for and is claimed to do. Mr. Lemons is a practical farmer living several miles southeast of Shelby. He worked on his invention two years or more then brought it to the Babington foundry to be built.

Messrs. W. D. and Thomas J. Babington, took half interest in the patent and are manufacturing it. They are experienced in all kinds of machinery and worked on it some time before getting it perfected. With a view to getting it placed on the market, Mr. J. C. Robinson, general agent for the International Harvester Company, the largest implement manufacturing concern in the world, was here Tuesday to witness a practical demonstration of the new invention. —Shelby Star.

INTERESTING CLOSING OF MCGOWAN SCHOOL

HAPPENINGS AROUND COX'S MILL

Good Meeting of Farmers Union—Measles Takes Community.

Cox's Mill, N. C., March 7.—The closing exercises of Miss Rosa Whitehurst's school was held at the McGowan school house Friday night. A very large crowd was present and the exercises of the students was all that could be asked, not a single mistake being made in the whole program. Each one reflected credit upon themselves and their most skillful teacher. It was clearly seen that each one had the best of training in the many speeches, dialogues and drills. We had music, both vocal and instrumental, that was fine.

Miss Rosa is a fine teacher and has made many friends while among us. We hope to have her teach our next school, if she does not take up some other vocation of life.

Mr. J. W. Cox, Jr., is a quick step and is all smiles. It is a girl. Mrs. Whitehurst, mother of our teacher, and Miss Mary Whitehurst, her cousin, of Bethel, came down to be at the school entertainment and stopped with Mrs. W. F. Carroll.

Our local Farmers Union held their regular monthly meeting at the McGowan school house Saturday night. Mr. J. Marshall Cox and Mr. S. A. Stocks, both made very able and instructive talks on farming and the good of the union. After the speaking and other business was disposed of, we had a real fine barbecue supper and all ate to their hearts content. When all could eat no more there was plenty left.

Measles has been the order of the day around here. They took both old and young that had not been vaccinated before. One colored family on Mr. Frank Carroll's farm, the old man and nine children, were sick at one time last week.

Farmers are getting along fine with their work.

Embroidery Club.

The Embroidery Club will meet with Miss Hennie Ragsdale Wednesday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock.

EVENING WITH GREAT SINGERS.

Enjoyed by a Few Guests at The Training School.

Not all of us get the opportunity in life to visit Paris, London, Berlin, or even New York and Boston, to hear the noted singers of the world, but through the means of that wonderful nineteenth century invention, the graphophone, that preserves and carries the human voice in all its richness and expression, Caruso, Melba, Cavalleri, Constantino, Schuman-Heinck and other musical celebrities are brought to us and we can hear their songs almost as perfectly as if sitting in an audience before them. Through the kindness of Prof. Austin and Miss Muffly, a few friends gathered Monday evening in the Y. W. C. A. hall at the Training school to hear a number of selections by the noted singers produced on a large Victor machine. It was indeed a musical feast that all present were grateful for the opportunity of enjoying. For the time being one could readily imagine he sat in the presence of the world's great artists.

THE HOWARDS AT THE AMUZU.

Show Monday Night Pleased Everybody—Here All Week.

Dr. Schaffer, the Amuzu man, like others of us, gets stung (to use the popular term for getting the little end of a proposition) sometimes, but his vaudeville feature this week is up-to-the minute. The Howards is a good team, and their performance Monday night was highly pleasing to the audience. Most of their comedy is new to Greenville people and provoked much laughter and applause. Miss Howard is pretty and attractive and her singing and toe dancing are especially good. The pictures were up to the usual standard—good. Of course those who went to the Amuzu Monday night expecting to see a 50c show for 15 cents were disappointed, and barring these we think the Howards were appreciated by everyone. They will be here all this week.

Charlotte, March 4.—Annie Louise Stevens and Dora Wilson, the pretty blondes who have been incarcerated in Mecklenburg jail since last Tuesday, charged with the murder of Al. G. Contractors must be on the look-out for advertisements for bids, as the work is to be started at once. —Charlotte Chronicle.

Blessings in Disguise.

High priced labor and scarcity of labor are blessings in disguise for the Southern farmer. Necessity will compel the farmer to put into practice intelligent methods and economic principles. He must get out of the old, stupid, careless and indifferent way. He must put life-giving humor into his dead soil and deepen the soil until it will yield the highest return for the labor invested. He must realize that his soil is his capital stock and that any kind of business that does not show an increase in the capital stock (soil fertility) must stagnate and in the end result in failure. —Carolina Union Farmer.

WILMINGTON'S GREAT WEEK HAS ARRIVED

BIG AVIATION MEET THURSDAY.

Airships and Many Other Attractions for Visitors.

Special to The Reflector.

Wilmington, N. C., March 7.—After weeks of careful preparation everything is now in readiness for the big aviation meet to be held on the grounds of the Wilmington Driving Association, just east of the city. Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week, and the week of the event finds interest keener than at any time since the first announcement of the glad occasion was made about a month ago. It will probably be many years before the people of this section are again given the opportunity to witness exhibitions of airships and they will very likely take advantage of the privilege which will be theirs this week to get their first glimpse of a real flying machine in mid air with its human freight. The exhibition will be given by the Curtis Exhibition Co. and some of its most famous and daring aviators will be found at the helm as the machines rise gently from their position on the grounds. The course of the machines will probably be toward the beach.

Representatives of the Curtis company have arrived and with them came two Curtis bi-planes which will be used during the three days of the meet. The machines have already attracted great interest among the people here, who are deeply interested in everything which pertains to aviation. The crowds from the surrounding sections are expected to begin to arrive tomorrow night and Thursday morning. Probably the largest crowds will be here Friday and Saturday. On these days there will be boat excursions. The railroads will give reduced rates for all three days of the meet.

Arriving early this week also were the large number of midway attractions which will add interest and diversity to the festival event. The shows will be open on the grounds all the week. There will also be a number of exhibits of farming implements, automobiles, etc.

TEACHING THE FARMERS.

The Country Must Depend On Them.

Looking from the dusty streets, and smoke and din and slavery of city life, the Kansas City Journal turns its eyes to the pleasing verdure of rural life, and says:

Never before in this country has there been such instruction in all phases of husbandry as now. City people seem to have become possessed all at once with the desire to get back to the farm. In newspapers, magazines, books and popular lectures the experts are all busy telling the people how they may escape from the thrall of urban employment. The patient clerk who never dreamed before of the possibilities of agriculture is now spending his evenings poring over literature that gladdens his imagination. The man who works for another is casting longing eyes upon the fields, hoping for the day when he can be "free".

The Journal further points out that all this is edifying and, perhaps, beneficial to those chiefly concerned, but the real good that is being done now in the way of advancing the science of farming is accomplished by educating the farmers themselves. There have been vast changes and improvements in farming methods within the last few years. The old-fashioned farmer who plowed, sowed, hoed and harvested in the way his father and grandfather did before him is now learning better ways. He is finding out that vast saving of time, money and energy may be made by using his wits in the adoption of modern methods.

The farmers are fast learning the lesson of soil conservation, diversification and scientific rotation of crops and better ways of marketing. And this knowledge is going where it will do the most good—into practical farming. It does not stop when the ink dries on the pages of the agricultural journals. Experiments have resulted in plans put into practice; and the results of experiments that sounded a few years ago like fairy tales are no longer regarded in a skeptical light and sarcastically and sneeringly called "professional farming" that will not do when put to practical tests.

The country must continue to depend on its farmers—not the hopeful and ambitious amateurs who have had no experience, but the men who have spent and are spending their lives in agriculture and who have the land, the money and the intelligence to put newer and better methods into practice. When the farmers themselves are more fully awakened to the possibilities of adopting better ways of tilling the soil and growing livestock, then we may expect highly important and valuable results.

We sometimes hear the "good old farming days before the war" referred to with a sigh, as if something worth while has gone that will never return; but the farming industry—farming as a business—in the south is yet in its infancy. A wonderful revolution is now in progress. —Greensboro News.

Realist Gun Practice.

Heretofore great gun target practice in the navy has been educationally very useful in training the gun crews and gun pointers, but it has always been recognized that firing at canvas targets, whether stationary or movable, at few thousand yards, however useful in teaching men to shoot straight, was somewhat different from the actual gun practice that would be necessary in real warfare. The canvas targets do not afford any indication of the action of shot and shell on the armed side of a ship anywhere from 8,000 to 12,000 yards distant.

Recently the navy department has determined to follow the example long since set by the British navy and more recently by the French navy, in utilizing old and obsolete ironclads as targets to be fired on at true battle ranges. Such targets being heavily armored will show the marksmanship of the gun crews at real fighting distances and at the same time afford valuable information as to the power of projectiles, as well as the resisting strength of armor plate. By using manikins and pressure gauges in various parts of these real targets the effect of gun fire upon the ship's fittings and upon her crew can be in a measure determined. —New Orleans Picayune.

BALLINGER RETIRES FROM PRESIDENT'S CABINET

RESIGNATION ACCEPTED TODAY.

He Is Succeeded by Walter L. Fisher, of Chicago.

By Wire to The Reflector.

Washington, March 7.—Richard A. Ballinger, secretary of interior, resigned today. Walter L. Fisher, of Chicago, was named as his successor. The announcement of Ballinger's resignation was made at the White House, the president at the same time stating he selected Mr. Fisher to succeed him. The resignation of Ballinger was tendered January 19th, but President Taft requested him to withhold it until after congress adjourned. The secretary consented to do so and wrote another formal letter of resignation yesterday. This was presented to the president today and accepted. The reason given for resignation is ill health and financial conditions.

The president in accepting the resignation makes a stirring criticism of Ballinger's enemies and says Ballinger has "been the object of the most unscrupulous conspiracies for defamation of character history can show." He says the methods of his opponents "nerves him to fight to the bitter end." But consideration for Ballinger makes him feel he has no right to ask for further sacrifice, and also says "it has been made evident that I am the ultimate object of the attack" against Ballinger.

SECRET OF LIVING.

If we can only come back to nature together every year and consider the flowers and the birds and confess our faults and our mistakes under the silent stars and hear the river murmuring in absolute we shall die young even though we live long, and we shall have a treasure of memories which will be like the twin flower, a double blossom on a single stem, and carry with us into the unseen world something which will make it worth while to be immortal. —Henry van Dyke.

Leslie's to Boom the South.

Many of the great northern papers and magazines have been attracted by the resources of the south and there is hardly an issue that does not contain something concerning the progress of this great part of the country and the fine opportunities it holds in store. Of course, some of them are looking for business in the south, for the southern communities are spending good money to advertise themselves, but, outside of that, many of the greatest publications in America are devoting much space to gratuitous information about the south.

Quite naturally the south is making much conspicuous progress that live publications would get far behind the times were they not to keep up with the developments in Dixie. Southern activity is compelling considerable publicity of a general nature, but the south has become interesting in a business way to the publications which have large circulation in this country and Europe. Southern advertising is making it worth while for many newspapers and magazines to send special representatives south to cater to our desire for a class of publicity that is expected to count for something.

A publication so consequential and influential as Leslie's Weekly has announced that its issue of April 6th, will be "A special number" devoted exclusively to the astounding progress and development of the south. It proposes to feature articles specially calculated to exploit the present prosperous and promising conditions in the south. We may look, therefore for a peculiarly interesting and valuable edition of Leslie's, according to the plan of which the governors of each southern state will contribute personal statements concerning conditions in the respective states. Leslie's editorial page also will be turned over to some of the south's best known editors, while one of the feature articles will be written by John M. Parker, of New Orleans, president of the Southern Commercial Congress. Mr. Parker's article will be entitled "A Greater Nation Through a Greater South."

The Star heretofore has emphasized the fact that this is the publicity era for the south, and the communities which are going to make the most of it are those which are going at it right.—Wilmington Star.

Church and Poor Men.

It is frequently asserted that the church too often turns the "cold shoulder" to the poor man and welcomes the rich. The truth is, however, that such is not the attitude of the church as such, and that manifestations of that sort of todayism are not characteristic of the church as a whole. As a matter of fact, the "poor man" so called, who pretends to have a grievance on this score, spends more time complaining about the attitude of the church toward him than he spends going to church. Most exceptions prove the rule to which they are exceptions and it is only a coincidence, if it is true, that the church contains more rich people than poor people.

The church can be nothing but what the people who attend it make it, and it is illogical to plead an absence of "welcome" where presence is not only a right but a duty. If the "poor man" stay away from church they are sleeping on their rights—as the lawyers say—and their duty as well. It is unfortunate that lines of this sort should be drawn, but often those who do the most complaining are the ones who draw the lines. The church is the poor man's home and hearthstone and the question of "welcome" is one of the smallest problems that should confront him. To draw such lines is paying more attention to the god of mammon than to the God of love.

On a per capita basis the financial possessions of the churches today are very much smaller than many "poor people" imagine them to be, for the overwhelming majority of the church members are by no means wealthy hardly even well-to-do. Much of the trouble which has resulted in the existence of this whole "problem," lies with the people who have aside instead of going quietly about doing their rights in an institution, which is their own, quite as much as it belongs to people of wealth. The complaint about a lack of "welcome" in the church is often only an excuse for evading duties and responsibilities. When a man is faithful to his church and contributes his mite—though it be small—it is just as much his duty to welcome the wealthy man as it is the duty of the faithful wealthy member to welcome some other man. The church is one place where there can be no inequality of rights; and that fact has helped the church to live and flourish through ages when other institutions have failed and decayed.—Greensboro News.

AWFUL PAINS FULLY DESCRIBED

A Lady of Pizarro Tells Story of Awful Suffering That Cardui Finally Relieved.

Pizarro, Va.—"I suffered for several years," writes Mrs. Dorma A. Smith, "with that awful backache and the bearing down sensations, so fully described in your book.

"I tried doctors and other medicines and found little relief, until I was induced to try Wine of Cardui, when I found instant relief and today I can heartily recommend Cardui to all suffering women and think there is no other as good."

In some instances, Cardui gives instant relief; in others, it may take a little time. But in all cases of female trouble Cardui can be depended on to be of benefit, as it is a specific remedy for women and acts in a curative way on the womanly organs.

As a general tonic for women, to build up your strength, improve your appetite, bring back rosy cheeks and make you look and feel young and happy, nothing you can find will do so much for you as Cardui.

Fire Has Been Burning 80 Years.

Our friend, Mr. J. C. Wrenn, who was a welcome visitor last Saturday told, of a remarkable family. There is a family by the name of McKees, living in Orange county, near Little River church and by the way—among the very best people to be found, who he says, has had the same fire in the fire place for more than 80 years, and possible longer than that. The old fork on which the pots were hung in the olden times is still hanging in the fire place and is known to have been in use for more than 110 years. They own a mule, which is doing good work, that is known to be 47 years old. They are not much on style or fashion, but just to be in line a score or more years ago they bought a box of matches and the box is still full. These good people buy nothing which can be made at home or raised on the farm, and are setting this generation a good example.—Roxboro Courier.

LONG DISTANCE WIRELESS.

Marconi Receives Message Through Air from Distance of 35,000 Miles.

An important discovery in the field of wireless telegraphy by Guglielmo Marconi, as the result of experiments during a voyage to Argentina, is attracting attention in the scientific press of the world. An official of the Marconi Wireless Telegraph Company states in London Engineering that the results point to the possibilities of the system as being now beyond limit. Mr. Marconi took with him on his voyage a receiving instrument and a kite and made arrangements for the transmission to the ship of messages from the stations at Cliftden, Ireland, and Glace Bay Nova Scotia. The kite was flown by means of a very long wire, the inventor receiving messages by this means from a distance of over 3,500 miles in the daytime. But for the fact that a storm arose and made the flying of the kite impossible, messages could have been received at an even greater distance.

The transmission and reception of a message at such a distance easily constitutes a record, according to our technical contemporary, and the value of the result is considerably enhanced by the fact that it was attained during the daytime. Hitherto, for some reason which has not been fathomed, it has been found possible to transmit messages at much greater distance by night than by day. Almost invariably the long-distance messages regarded as record-breaking from the point of view of distance have been transmitted by night. Indeed, so great have been the distances traversed by night at times that they have come to be known as "freak messages." The sending of a receiving wire to a much greater altitude by means of a kite will, it is believed, take the instrument far above those influences which interfere with the electric waves, in addition to making telegraphing at any distance possible.—Current Literature.

NEWSPAPER PRESS FOR SALE.
Having placed an order for a new fast newspaper and book press, to be installed the middle of April, we have a newspaper press that will be sold at a bargain for delivery May 1st.
It is a Monona Leverless Press, large enough to print four 6-column pages, or two 9-column pages and has steam fixtures so that it can be run either by hand or power. Been in use six years.
It is a splendid press for a weekly paper and is in good condition to do many years good service. We used a press from the same factory for 17 years before installing this one, printing a daily paper with small circulation about 10 years of that time. Its speed, 800 an hour, is too slow for a daily paper with the present circulation of The Reflector, and for that reason we are having to displace it with a faster press.
Any one interested and wanting a good press for a weekly newspaper, can see this press at work every day in the Reflector building, before our new press is installed. Any one who cannot come to see it at work and examine it, can get particulars by addressing

Training a Dog to Steal Chickens

Who says the colored brother lacks enterprise, ingenuity or talent? George Jones, of Berkeley, Va., has a trained dog. He taught the dog to steal chickens scientifically, seizing a fowl by the throat so it could not cackle and conveying to his master hiding safely near by. By this process a roost would be deprived in a night without a sound of invasion; and without peril to Jones' skin. No doubt after each theft the dog would wag his tail and congratulate himself as an honest, faithful and useful animal—as he was according to his lights. By a stretch of the law George was convicted and sent to the rock pile, along with his dog; and the dog actually stole chickens and carried them to the convict camp to his master.

This is the most ingenious fowl-securer plan yet discovered. It is better even than the invention of the soldiers in the war, consisting of a buggy whip and at the small end of it a weighted cord which by a deft movement could be wrapped about the neck of a sleeping chicken at almost any height or distance and the victim yanked off the perch and drawn to hand without a protest or a struggle. —Roanoke Times

Are You Educated?

A professor in the University of Chicago says that when you can answer each of the following questions in the affirmative that you are educated. Read them and then tell us whether you've got it or not:

- Has your education given sympathy with all good causes and made you espouse them?
- Has it made you public spirited?
- Has it made you a brother to the weak?
- Have you learned how to make friends and keep them?
- Do you know what it is to be a friend yourself?
- Can you look an honest man or a pure woman straight in the eye?
- Do you see anything to love in a little child?
- Will a lonely dog follow you in the street?
- Can you be high-minded and happy in the meaner drudgeries of life?
- Do you think washing dishes and hoeing corn just as compatible with high thinking as piano playing or golf?
- Are you good for anything to yourself? Can you be happy alone?
- Can you look out on the world and see anything except dollars and cents?

Knowing what to say helps some.

TIMES AND ADVERTISING

They Point To Better Conditions Ahead.

No business is so quickly and severely affected by adverse financial conditions, as that of the newspaper. Merchants may complain, wage earners feel it, all kinds of trades and banks tell their troubles, but the newspaper must accept bad conditions, pay for them in their cost of maintenance that goes practically the same with good or bad times, and not show the distress signal. Any bad local condition, any serious state or national situation, financial, commercial, social, and the press must declare for the optimistic side.

Just at present, while here and there are signs of what financiers declare to be the "1907 depression" remaining, there are other signs that indicate much more on the side of better general conditions, that may not be declared poverty times, yet point to an increasing betterment of trade conditions. One sign particularly, that of greatly increased advertising inquiry, that usually ushers in a period of trade activity and industrial development. It is not alone that development companies are willing spenders for advertising to promote new projects. But substantial and established commercial houses are advancing their advertising lines. In addition, there is a municipal advertising movement everywhere, that is as active as that of trade houses, a class of advertising unknown a few years ago. Going further, the railroads are in for advertising as never before. Some years ago there were a few railroads that spent in the hundreds of thousands, annually, today every railroad has its advertising department that is not limited to circulars and pamphlets, but employs big newspaper space, and this in publications way beyond their own lines. With all this advertising there must be stimulation in every trade and industry. Every individual cannot help being stirred into increased action, whatever his business. Activity means life and more of it as the action gains. Conditions point to greatly increased development of hitherto latent resources, and this with resources now developed must result in prosperous times in all sections of this country.—New Bern Journal.

Where a girl takes her mother's advice it's a sign she pretends to be. Talking about the weather could make Shakespeare look like a bore. Maybe the reason nearly all women are so good is they don't really like to be.

Before and After.
The young Prince Tsai Tao during his visit to America welcomed criticism of Chinese customs and retorted politely with counter criticism of the customs of the United States.
The prince at a fashionable luncheon in New York sat beside a lady prominent in a rich and rather fast set.
"Prince," said this lady, "I think it's dreadful that in China a bride never sees her husband before the wedding day."
"Well," said the prince, with a grin, "here in America you never see him after it."—New York Tribune.

Ruined by Prosperity.

THE BEST FARM LANDS IN ALL THE WORLD

IN PITT AND GREENE COUNTIES

Interesting Matters Our Ayden Correspondent Writes About.

Ayden, N. C., March 7.—Mr. John O. Cox has purchased of Mr. Clarence Cox 27 acres of land near Helen's Cross roads for $2,000. This is a part of the estate of the late Mrs. Polle Smith. It goes to prove that things have gone to hustling in that locality since Mr. Richard Wingate has purchased the Smith estate from Mr. Sebram Cox, and shows the wonderful effect a good, progressive man has in a community and that improvements is catching. Mr. Wingate has opened new ditches, built new fences and erected additional tenant houses on his farm.

Miss Sarah Harris, daughter of Mr. Hyatt Harris, who has been sick for about five weeks died Sunday and was buried Monday at the Spencer Harris place, one mile from town.

Rev. J. H. Griffith, of Kinston, held service in the Episcopal church last Thursday night.

Mr. E. G. Cox contemplates moving his family from here to Greensboro, as that is the center of his work.

Mrs. R. B. Grubbs, who has been lingering for a long time, died Monday evening. She leaves several children. She and her husband lived with her daughter, Mrs. L. L. McGlohorn.

The colored Disciples are raising money to build them a church. Elder Fardum, of Fayetteville, is leading the work in the good cause.

If its hardware, we can fill your wants. Our stock is more complete than ever. J. R. Smith Company.

Hon. Claude Kitchin has been invited to deliver the address at the closing of our graded school.

Stoves and cooking ware, furniture, fuel, lime, for cash or installment. J. R. Smith Company.

Why should the politician rage and the voters imagine a vain thing? The Pitt county salary bill was so good as to be abolished before it was tested, to see how much pressure it would bear. The salaries have been cut, but Pitt's officers are not like Senator Bailey, of Texas. Yet he recanted before the hole was filled.

Miss Clara Forest left for the northern markets Monday to buy spring millinery.

Messrs. R. C. Cannon and son, Allen, returned from Baltimore Saturday.

Yes, we will open the clock again first and third Thursdays in each month at 5 o'clock. Everybody come trade, get tickets and bring them. We give tickets for produce. J. R. Smith Company.

Rev. George Wheeler, of Stantonburg, a Seminary student, having finished Sacred history left Friday for his home.

If we should have a fire, where is the town pump and hose, and wonder if it would work? Or would it need repairs? City fathers, get it ready. This month is windy March.

Mr. Henry Stokes tells us the Stokes tribe of Pitt county have fallen heir to an estate worth three millions. We will investigate this and write more about it in The Daily Reflector, and this is a choice time to subscribe. Our spring dress goods are beautiful. Come and see. J. R. Smith Company.

We, Mr. O. W. Rollins and I, made a trip over in Greene county last week and found farm work well advanced. Mr. James I. Humber and son, Charlie, at the Holton place, have gone back to composting. The large, beautiful farm was dotted with compost heaps. We noticed Mr. Abe Cox has torn down his old brush fence and replaced it with wire. Ed. Harrington is digging up his stumps so as to use improved machinery, while Jim Griffin and Joe Barwick are cutting long, deep ditches to carry off the overflow, and Bill Henry Harrington is both building houses and clearing land in the old antebellum way with Uncle Allen, and the grub hoe style. The way was clear, the day was pleasant, everybody busy and all nature was smiling on these honest laborers. Mr. J. M. Dixon is opening a road leading from near Ed. Harrington's out through his farm to Jacksontown, and has built two neat residences on it. When we arrived at Mr. Bill Dailey's Red Hill farm, we found him plowing with two-horse plows, hauling mail, stable manure, shoveling ditches and he showed us out in his pasture a nice herd of Jersey and Halstein yearlings and a large drove of Berkshire pigs and a barnyard full of thrifty chickens and Jersey cows. His good wife told us she saved 20 dozen eggs per week. This is indeed a prosperous country and when we consider we are not surprised at our forefathers deciding to locate our state capitol in Greene county but later, it was established in Raleigh. Messrs. Tom J. Worthington, Zeno Lyon, J. R. Spier, all have beautiful farms and we wonder why our good friend, Dr. Joe Dixon, left such soil as Pitt and Greene to
