

U. S. TROOPS TO INVADE MEXICO

TO QUELL RESOLUTION AND PROTECT INTERESTS

ACTION SANCTIONED BY DIAZ

Demanded by Foreign Governments—Diaz Government Believed to be on Last Legs—Troops Gathering Along Frontier to Cut off Rebel Base of Supplies.

By Wire to The Reflector.
Washington, March 10.—The American army has not been thrown along Mexican frontier for manouver purposes, it is said here today. Mexico is to be invaded and the revolution crushed. It is said such a campaign is demanded by foreign governments for the protection of billions of dollars invested in Mexico. It is said the campaign has the sanction of Diaz government, which is believed to be tottering on its last legs. If the gathering of troops on the frontier and shutting off rebel base of supplies from this country will stop the revolution no further demonstration will be made, but if that fails, Mexico will be invaded.

TRADE REPORT.

Spring Trade Given a Set Back by Cold Weather.

Richmond, Va., March 10.—Bradstreet's tomorrow will say for Richmond and vicinity: Trade which had begun to show more activity the beginning of the month has received a set-back by cold weather and snow this week, especially is this noticeable in seasonable commodities. General building is more active as the spring season approaches and an unusual demand for lumber and building material is noted. Sales of loose leaf tobacco continue active, and prices are satisfactory though not as high as last year. Manufacturers of fertilizers have had a fair season, and orders continue in good volume. Fruits, produce and provisions are fairly active. Reports of yearly farming operations indicate preparation for full crop areas. Satisfactory filling in orders for dry goods are being received. Retail trade is quiet. Collections are fair.

HOW TO MIX FERTILIZERS.

More General Information Needed on Its Use.

Ayden, N. C., March 10.—As it is about time to be buying and home mixing guano, I will give you my plan of getting a thorough mixture. Will take cotton seed meal, acid and kaint as an example. Pour out as many sacks of each as your room will allow. I usually get under a good size shelter with hard bottom. Have three hands in order to do the work properly. Let two of them have shovels and stand directly opposite each other and shovel the mixture to a new pile two or three feet from where it was first poured out, each man being strictly required to pour his shovel full right on the pinnacle of the pile to which they are moving it. In this way all little clods and knots will roll down the side of the pile to the bottom when the third man can see them and crush them with the back of a shovel or hoe. Now and then the others can help him keep up with clod crushing. Two movings in this way will give a splendidly mixed fertilizer, especially as it will then have to be put into the sacks again.

While writing about mixing guano, I will also give a little opinion of some men about acid. You may talk to them about acid (I mean acid phosphate, of course) and they will say it no account, that they tried it and got no benefit from it. Yet they will buy guano with 8 per cent acid, 2 per cent ammonia, and 2 per cent potash and think it all right. Don't know that there is four times as much acid in that mixture as there is ammonia of potash. There is a crying need for a more general information on this guano subject. Dead oodles of money are thrown away for guano for want of knowing anything about it.

WHERE FARMERS FAIL.

Unintelligent Methods in Fertilizing For the Tobacco Crop.

There is no one thing that is more generally ignored by farmers, or treated indifferently by them, than the matter of fertilizing for the tobacco crop, while in reality, there is probably no one feature in the growing of tobacco that is more important. For a long time, our farmers used almost exclusively for tobacco a brand of fertilizer analyzing 3-3-3; that is to say, a fertilizer containing 3 per cent ammonia, 8 per cent phosphoric acid and 3 per cent potash, which to be more explicit means that in a ton of fertilizer containing this analysis there are 60 pounds of ammonia, 60 pounds of potash and 160 pounds phosphoric acid. By actual test, it is known that 1,000 pounds of tobacco takes out of the soil about 75 pounds of potash and from 75 to 85 pounds of ammonia. Of course, our tobacco soils all have a certain amount of ammonia and potash, but the important question for the farmers is whether this ammonia and potash that is present in the soil, is available in sufficient quantities to make complete plant food for a growing crop of tobacco. Most of our farmers use about 1,000 pounds of fertilizer to the acre. This means they put in 30 pounds of potash and 30 pounds of ammonia in commercial form. If there is sufficient quantity of potash and ammonia available in the soil to complete the plant food, all well and good, but if not, the result is a poor crop of tobacco, something with which a great many of us have been afflicted during the last few years, and in this connection, right here, it is not out of place to say that no amount of fertilizer is going to make a good crop of tobacco when such abnormal seasons as we have had in Eastern North Carolina for the last few years prevail, although proper preparation will, to a large extent, overcome the deficiency in seasons, and will enable the plant to employ the plant food put in the land to a much better advantage. The important question, however, with farmers is, do we use enough ammonia and potash in our tobacco fertilizer? As a general rule the answer is unquestionably, no. We should therefore use fertilizer running higher, especially in potash.

One of the most painstaking and intelligent farmers in my knowledge Mr. Leon F. Evans, has clearly demonstrated by a series of experiments that the use of guano running high in sulphate of potash will pay. In his tests, he used fertilizer running from 3 per cent to 9 per cent potash, and from 3 to 6 per cent ammonia. From tobacco on which he used 1,000 pounds of fertilizer analyzing 7 per cent potash, he sold something over $40 worth of tobacco per acre more than from the tobacco fertilized with 3-3-3, and all the tobacco was treated, cultivated, cured and sold alike, except in the matter of fertilizer. It has been found, very much to the disadvantage of our Eastern North Carolina tobacco, especially that its burning qualities are not as good as the burning qualities of the old belt tobacco and in a series of meetings last fall, held under the direction of the Tobacco Dealers' Association of the United States, and participated in by Mr. E. H. Matheson an expert from the United States Department of Agriculture, this important matter was urgently called to the attention of the farmers. Mr. Matheson contended that the general use by farmers of a fertilizer running 7 or 8 per cent in sulphate of potash would very materially improve the burning qualities of our tobacco, and thus materially add to its value. This matter should be seriously considered by all our farmers, for while in individual instances, farmers may materially add to the money value of their crops of tobacco by using more potash, yet, to improve the general quality of our tobacco, farmers, as a whole, must adopt this system of fertilizing.

The use of 1,000 pounds of fertilizer running 7 per cent sulphate potash gives to the tobacco the immediate use of 70 lbs. of sulphate of potash. That soil would therefore have to be very deficient in potash content that did not yield a good crop of tobacco with 1,000 pounds of such fertilizer in normal seasons. The serious condition and discussion of this important question will redound to the good of the tobacco farmers.

MR. EVANS SEES THE MUD.

But Seems Unable to Look Below the Surface.

Editor Reflector:
Some few days ago, when the sun was shining, and no doubt The Reflector thought that spring had come, your editorial column chided the anti-bond people with a decrease in their criticism of the sand clay roads. But like the whole bond proposition, only the present was thought of, and no eye was cast into the future. Now the rain has come, the mud is deep, and the sand-clay roads ought to be ashamed of themselves to place their boosters in such a plight. Why even the plank road, the road that all the bond advocates have pointed to with so much eloquence is a mud-terror.

A few days ago the automobilers were giving joy rides out on the Falkland road to demonstrate its magnificence; today not a one of them will venture upon its bosom. A few days ago a bond advocate would have split his shirt in eulogizing that road; today no man who lives on it can refrain from cursing. Any up-the-country man who has plodded his youthful ways along the red clay roads of Granville and other counties to the west, and who has lived down here with us for quite awhile, could not resist the tears of youthful memories, nor refrain from whistling "Home Sweet Home", when first his eyes rest upon the long red streak of mud that wends its way toward Falkland. Out there now can be heard no honk! honk! of the joy rider—only the sllp-slop sllp-slop, of some lonely mule pulling a pair of wheels, who had rather be dead than subjected to this modern progress (?).

Mr. Editor, it seems to me that the present condition of things ought to demonstrate to all that sand-clay roads are only fair-weather roads, and also incidentally, that the sun doesn't shine all the time. Of course, some bond agitator will say that the present roads are not constructed properly and all that; and then the question arises if it costs a thousand dollars a mile to make them as they are now, how much more will it take to construct them properly.

Some time ago you were shouting, "Let to the people to decide," but it seems to the writer that the friends of the bond issue would be afraid to call an election for fear a shower of rain would catch them in the midst of their campaign; and if it did, then they would have only the art gallery in front of The Reflector office to fall back upon.

ONE HUNDRED TONS OF DYNAMITE EXPLODES

PLEASANT PRARIE WIS. A WRECK

Two Persons Killed and Ten Injured—Chicago Damaged.

By Wire to The Reflector.
Chicago, March 10.—One hundred tons of dynamite exploded last night at the power mills at Pleasant Prairie, Wisconsin. Two persons were killed, ten injured and one million dollars worth of property destroyed. The town was practically destroyed. Considerable damage was done in Chicago, and people badly frightened. The shock was felt for one hundred miles.

Look at The Date.

The Reflector is now using a mailing machine in addressing papers, and the subscriber is printed on the margin of the paper instead of being written. This makes the address plainer and lessens the danger of a paper getting lost by being poorly addressed. Another advantage is that after the name appears the date to which the subscription is paid, and the subscriber can tell how much he owes the paper. For illustration, if after your name should appear the figures 3-10-11, it means your subscription is paid to March 10th, 1911. You can easily get the date from the figures after your name.

Commencement Invitations.

The Reflector has a line of samples of engraved invitations and announcements for school commencements, and can fill orders for these. The samples embrace many handsome designs and can be seen at the office.

Probably there is nothing more industrious than an idle rumor.

Murderer Recaptured After 16 Years—$30,000 Fire in Snow Hill—Body of Capt. Edward Gibbs Found in Pasquotank River—Monroe Chinaman Gets Divorce.

Elizabeth City, March 9.—The body of Capt. Edward Gibbs, a prominent and wealthy planter of this county, who disappeared mysteriously from his home early on the morning of February 17, was found floating in Pasquotank river this afternoon. Gashes on the head, face and hands showed that Gibbs had been murdered and that he had fought heroically for his life. There was no water in the lungs and all the evidence pointed to the fact that he had not been drowned. Gibbs had a small amount of money on his person and this was missing. The police claim to have a clue, and it is expected that the coroner's inquest will develop a sensation. Searching parties have scoured the county unremittingly since his disappearance, the military aiding, but no trace was found of his movements until the body was discovered today by a fisherman.

Raleigh, March 9.—State Insurance Commissioner Young directs the people of the state interested in insurance to the fact that the fire loss in the United States and Canada for the month of February, as compiled by the Journal of Commerce, shows a total of $16,415,000, or nearly $1,000,000 more than in February, 1910. This makes an increase of nearly $8,000,000 more for January and February, 1911, than for the same months last year. He strongly appeals to the citizens of the state that they should not only stir up their city and town officers for better buildings and inspections, but be more careful themselves.

Fire, discovered at 5 minutes past 12 o'clock Wednesday night, swept the business district of Snow Hill and did over $30,000 damage. Owing to a lack of equipment for fighting fire, the citizens were unable to cope with the flames and it virtually burned itself out. The fire originated in the store of J. S. Sugar, a Jewish dry goods merchant, and circumstances pointed so strongly to his guilt as an incendiary that he was arrested and this morning given a preliminary trial, after which he was bound over to court under a $500 bond, which he put up in cash.—Kinston Free Press.

Lexington, Ky., March 9.—After being at liberty for 16 years, T. B. Whitson, who on February 27, 1895, escaped from the state prison at Raleigh, N. C., where he was serving a sentence of 30 years for murder, was arrested here today and will be taken back to North Carolina to serve out his term. Residing in Letcher county, Kentucky, as "Samuel Jones" he has amassed a comfortable fortune. He was sentenced to death March 19, 1893 for the murder of C. C. Byrd, at Bakerville, N. C., but on a second trial he was given 30 years' imprisonment.

THE TOWN OF BETHEL IS PROGRESSING RAPIDLY

GOING AHEAD IN IMPROVEMENTS

Many New Houses and Business Men in Good Spirits.

The editor spent the forenoon in Bethel and was agreeably surprised to find that good town growing so rapidly. The residential section of the town is extending westward from the depot, and several handsome houses are nearing completion. A new Methodist church is being built, and when finished will be a credit to the denomination and the town.

Talking with several business men, they were in the best of spirits over trade conditions and felt that the spring had good things in store.

The graded school is flourishing and the people are proud of the fine work it is doing.

Just at present there is much sickness around Bethel, and it gives the people much concern because the doctors themselves are among the sick. Dr. Thigpen recently had a break down and went to the western part of the state to regain his health, and not many days later Dr. Ward was taken with pneumonia, and while he is improving he is not yet out of bed so he can return to his practice.

It was a pleasure to spend a while in the company of Dr. F. C. James and Col. N. M. Hammond, two of Bethel's oldest and most honored citizens, who have spent long lives in the service of their fellow men and have been a help and inspiration to their section. Col. Hammond is now 81 years of age, remarkably well preserved for his advanced years and speaks with pride of his having read The Reflector from its beginning, and said "My Democracy grows better and my trust in God grows stronger as I grow older."

FRIDAY, MARCH 10, 1911.

THE SCHOOL TOO SMALL.

The niggardliness of the last legislature towards East Carolina Teachers' Training School becomes more apparent in comparison with what was done for other educational institutions. In almost every other instance appropriations were not only made for support and maintenance, but also for extensions and improvements. Yet for East Carolina Teachers' Training School there was only a scant appropriation for maintenance with an existing deficit to be paid out of this, and the school got nothing for improvements.

The people of Eastern North Carolina have sufficient cause to feel that in this matter they were treated badly and unjustly by the legislature. The education committee of that body visited the school, saw its needs of enlargement and recommended the making of an appropriation accordingly, but the appropriation failed.

Greenville and Pitt county put $98,000 in the building and equipment of this school and presented it to the State, and the State has only put $65,000 in it. Every State official who has seen the school acknowledges that the State has a fine property in it. If the school was not doing good work there might be some excuse for the State not being as generous with it as other institutions. But that is not the case. On the contrary there is not a school in North Carolina doing better work than East Carolina Teachers' Training School. From all sections of the East admission is sought and many applicants have to be turned away because of insufficient room in the dormitories to accommodate them.

The school is not yet two years old, but has become so popular that it is already overcrowded. During the summer courses for teachers last year more teachers came than could get rooms, and the people of the town had to open their homes to them in order that they might get the advantages of the school. For the coming summer teachers' courses every room in the dormitories has already been engaged, with additional applicants coming in at the rate of five or ten a day which have to be denied for lack of room.

In the face of such conditions and the failure of the legislature to provide for them, we can well repeat that the action of that body toward the school was most niggardly. The school should have more buildings and the State ought to provide them.

THINGS THAT ARE NO NEWS.

The following from the Monroe Journal states The Landmark's position exactly:

"When there is a death in the county, the Journal is glad to record as a news matter the facts about the life and death of the individual. That is a paper's business and is a part of the news that people take the paper to get. But after that is done, it is not a matter of news to record long obituary notices going again over facts already printed, or to publish resolutions of respect and "cards of thanks." Therefore these are charged for, at the regular rate of one cent a word. When our friends send them in we expect them to count the words and send along the cash. "Resolutions" and "cards of thanks" don't really do anybody any good at all.

While this rule has been in force in The Landmark office for some time, we occasionally receive tributes of respect sent by lodges and other organizations with the apparent expectation that they will be printed free. The Landmark is anxious to oblige its friends and patrons, but matter of the character mentioned is not news and is of interest to so few people that valuable space cannot be given to it. Statesville Landmark.

And yet some people complain because a paper does not burden its columns with such things free of charge. It is remarkable what things papers are sometimes asked to print, things that are usually of no interest at all except to the person sending them. It has not been many days since The Reflector received an article on the death of a person that occurred four years ago. In sending articles for publication people ought to consider whether what they are writing is of interest to others of the paper's readers besides themselves.

Mr. W. F. Evans, blinded to only one side of the proposition, is unable to see anything but mud, so in the mud he grovels. Any one knows that the sand-clay roads in question are new in construction, and that they do not get perfect as soon as built for building them is a process not an operation. Anybody also knows that they are ideal roads, even under moderately dry conditions, and that in seasons of extreme wetness they are better than before the work was done on them. Formerly they were sand beds in dry weather and mud holes in wet weather. If they do now get muddy on the surface when excessive rains fall like in the last few days, it is better to have good roads a part of the time than never to have them at all. The Reflector has information that these roads, seen at their worst, are not near so bad as Mr. Evans pictures them, and it is more than likely that his own exclamation was not based on personal knowledge.

Senator Bailey gave a rapid fire illustration of the initiative, referendum and recall. He took the initiative resigning, referred it to the governor of his State, and then recalled it.

Just as was predicted in advance, Editor W. C. Dowd, of the Charlotte News, made the right man as speaker of the house of representatives. That body has had no better speaker than he made.

Costs But a Trifle to Cure Catarrh.

How many readers of The Reflector know that in Inland Australia where the mightiest of eucalyptus trees grow in abundance, that there is no consumption, catarrh or disease of the respiratory tract.

The refreshing balsam thrown out by these trees fills the air and is breathed into the lungs by the inhabitants and all germ life is destroyed.

If you have catarrh you cannot go to Inland Australia except at great expense, but you can breathe right in your own home the same pleasant, soothing, healing, germ-killing air you would breathe if you were living in the eucalyptus district of Australia.

Just breathe HYOMEI; it is made from Australia eucalyptus and scientifically combined with thymol and other antiseptics employed in the Listerian system.

Pour a few drops of HYOMEI in the inhaler and breathe it. As it passes over the catarrh infected membrane it kills the germs and heals the raw, inflamed surface.

HYOMEI is guaranteed to cure catarrh, coughs, colds, croup and sore throat, or money back. Complete outfit, including inhaler, $1.00. Extra bottles of HYOMEI costs but 50 cents. Sold by Coward & Wooten and druggists everywhere. 3 10

Draining the Swamps.

In connection with the active interest which is being manifested in Mecklenburg county in the subject of drainage, it is worth while to note that the South Carolinians are becoming aroused along the same line. As a result of legislation recently enacted a drainage district comprising between four and five thousand acres has been organized in Charleston county, in the heart of the "swamp" area, and the work will be pushed as fast as practicable. The South Carolina swamps have long been anathematized as hotbeds of malarial fever and productive of very little else, but there can be no question that these much-scorned sections can by proper drainage be transformed into most fertile farms. The planters' opportunity on such reclaimed lands will be found in intensive rather than extensive operations. The soil, when once the surplus water has been disposed of, is of tremendous fertility and is especially adapted to the trucker. "A few acres," declares The Charleston Evening Post, "will support a family in comfort"—and the claim is not an exaggeration.

Both Carolinians have an enormous area of lands which might be subjected to this improvement. In the single parish—corresponding approximately to our township—in which the district mentioned has been formed there are no less than 105,000 acres awaiting ditches to transform them from the useless to the very valuable class. Few lines of endeavor now open offer larger possibilities in the shape of an increase of the State's assets, and within the next dozen or fifteen years a great part of this drainage work will not improbably be completed or set on foot.—Charlotte Observer.

Attacks School Principal.

A severe attack on school principal, Ohas. B. Allen, of Sylvania, Ga., is thus told by him. "For more than three years," he writes, "I suffered indescribable torture from rheumatism liver and stomach trouble and diseased kidneys. All remedies failed till I used Electric Bitters, but four bottles of this wonderful remedy cured me completely." Such results are common. Thousands bless them for curing stomach trouble, female complaints, kidney disorders, biliousness and for new health and vigor. Try them. Only 50c at all druggists.

NEWSPAPER PRESS FOR SALE.

Having placed an order for a new fast newspaper and book press, to be installed the middle of April, we have a newspaper press that will be sold at a bargain for delivery May 1st.

It is a Monona Leverless Press, large enough to print four 6-column pages, or two 9-column pages and has steam fixtures so that it can be run either by hand or power. Been in use six years.

It is a splendid press for a weekly paper and is in good condition to do many years good service. We used a press from the same factory for 17 years before installing this one, printing a daily paper with small circulation about 10 years of that time. Its speed, 800 an hour, is too slow for a daily paper with the present circulation of The Reflector, and for that reason we are having to displace it with a faster press.

Any one interested and wanting a good press for a weekly newspaper, can see this press at work every day in the Reflector building, before our new press is installed. Any one who cannot come to see it at work and examine it, can get particulars by addressing

The Emu and its Eggs.
 The emu is the largest bird of the Australian bush and, next to the ostrich, the largest of existing birds, the cassowary, also a native of Queensland, coming next. The emu scrapes a shallow pit in the ground for its nest and lays from nine to thirteen eggs. The eggs are five inches in length. These are hatched by the cock bird, the period of incubation lasting from seventy to eighty days. The young at birth are striped longitudinally with dark markings on a light ground. They can run with great speed very shortly after being hatched. The eggs of the emu are very rich in flavor, too rich to be eaten alone. The flesh is dark colored and oily and is only eaten by the aborigines.

"Home, Sweet Home."
 John Howard Payne did not compose the music that has always gone along with his immortal song. The famous air is by Sir Henry Bishop, who introduced the song in "Clari, or The Maid of Milan," about the year 1823. It is not at all strange that the impression should prevail that both words and music are by Payne, for words and music, sentiment and air were never better suited to each other, the one seeming to be made for the other from the foundation of the world.—New York American.

DO IT NOW.

Greenville People Should not Wait Until It is Too Late.

The appalling death rate from kidney disease is due in most cases to the fact that the little kidney troubles are usually neglected until they become serious. The slight symptoms give place to chronic disorders and the sufferer goes gradually into the grasp of diabetes, dropsy, Brights disease, gravel or some other serious form of kidney complaint.

If you suffer from backache, headaches, dizzy spells; if the kidney secretions are irregular of passage and unnatural in appearance, do not delay. Help the kidneys at once.

Doan's Kidney Pills are especially for kidney disorders—they cure where others fail. Over one hundred thousand people have recommended them.

Here is one of the many cases in this vicinity:

R. S. Butler, 219 Harvey St., Washington, N. C., says: "I am well pleased with the results that followed the use of Doan's Kidney Pills in my case and can highly recommend them to other kidney sufferers. I was subject to dull pains in my back, accompanied by sharp twinges through my loins. Doan's Kidney Pills removed my trouble and benefited me in every way."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

Kills A Murderer.
 Merciless murderer is Appendicitis with many victims, but Dr. King's New Life Pills kill it by prevention. They gently stimulate the stomach, liver and bowels, preventing that clogging that invites appendicitis, curing constipation, headache, biliousness, chills. 25c at all druggists.

The heroic soldiers of life don't show off their medals in public. A Judge's point of view would seem strange to him if he were the judged.

The Implements the Farmer Needs.

Few farmers need all farm implements. The man without live stock has no use for a manure spreader; the man who raises only cotton does not need a pea huller; the man with only one horse could not afford to buy a two-horse plow. We admit all this. What we wish to impress upon our readers is that it will pay a man to grow peas and save them for seed; that he should get two horses and then a two-horse plow will follow; that he can make money by keeping live stock, and that when he gets the live stock he can afford to buy manure spreaders and cream separators and build silos. In short, we wish to inspire him with high ideals, to make him ambitious to do better farming, to get more work stock and more machinery, and thus to make more money and live more comfortably than he possibly can while he works only one horse and uses only a few of the more inefficient tools. It we could only convince our one-horse farmers, however, of the value to them of three tools, we should be doing them a wonderful service. These too, any energetic farmer can have; and if he will manage to have his land broken and harrowed with good two-horse machinery, he can do just as good cultivating with them as anyone can do, although it will inevitably cost him more than it would with more team power. The implements we refer to are: (1) a good planter, (2) a good weeder, (3) a good cultivator. The one-horse farmer who has these will soon be able to get two horses; the man who is without them should not rest until he gets them.—Raleigh Progressive Farmer.

A Fierce Night Alarm.

Is the hoarse, startling cough of a child, suddenly attacked by croup. Often it aroused Lewis Chamblin, of Manchester, O., (R. R. No. 2.) for their four children were greatly subject to croup. "Sometimes in severe attacks" he wrote, "we were afraid they would die, but since we proved what a certain remedy Dr. King's New Discovery is, we have no fear. We rely on it for croup and for coughs, colds or any throat or lung trouble." So do thousands of others. So may you. Asthma, hay fever, lagrippe, whooping cough, hemorrhages fly before it. 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free. Sold by all druggists.

A Legal Wonder.

There was a prosecuting attorney in Texas whose methods were so dramatic and uniformly successful that he not only became the terror of evildoers, but an object of admiration, especially among the negroes. Upon retirement from office he was at once much sought after by those charged with crime. The first two cases which he defended resulted in conviction, much to his chagrin. An old negro who had watched his prosecution in admiring wonder, and looked on with equal interest when he conducted the defense accosted him just after his defeat and said: "Mars Earle, you sho' is a wonder. No matter which side you's on, they go to the pen just the same."—Case and Comment.

UNION COUNTY CHAIN GANG

Has an Intelligent Cat and A Trusty Negro.

The Union county chain gang has a cat and a nigger that deserves editorial mention and for the purpose of passing their deeds along the editorial line till they reach the Siler City Grit. The Journal hereby tells the story, which is absolutely true. If any one doubts they have only to call upon the gang superintendent, Capt. Fletcher, any day and he will show them.

The cat has been with the gang a long time. The door to the bunk house has a latch on the outside and the string hangs on the inside. The cat has seen the string pulled so often and the door opened that it has learned to do the trick itself. When it wants to go outside it jumps on the end of a bench near the door, catches the string in its paws, which press against the door at the same time, pulls the string, and walks out. It has done it a hundred times and repeats the act every day.

The odd darkey is Tom Sikes. Tom is charter member of the gang and is on and off all the time. He has the reputation of never stealing or telling a lie. The other day Tom was sentenced to the gang for delivering liquor. While on his way to jail, he remarked to Chief Laney, "Cap, you needn't put me in jail to wait till they send for me, just give me the commitment papers and I'll go out and get my suit." About this time Capt. Fletcher came along and Mr. Laney told him Tom's desire. Mr. Fletcher said "come on up town with me and get some packages and take them along." Tom did this and proceeded to the stockade by himself. On getting in calling distance he yelled out, "Here git me a clean suit, I want to git it on before Captain gits here." Then the gang gave Tom a welcoming yell that could have been heard a mile.--Monroe Journal.

Profit in Tree Planting.

If in 55 years the present supply of timber in this country will be exhausted, at the present rate of consumption, the admonition to plant trees becomes eloquent with meaning. There is great value in trees. The big lumber fortunes have been made in the main, not in buying and selling lumber, nor even in manufacturing lumber for sale, but in buying vast tracts of timber land and holding timber prices incident to the rapidly decreasing supply. Now, it would not profit any man or corporation to buy large areas of land that could be profitably used for agriculture, fruit growing or grazing and set them in trees; but it would be profitable for all who own timber lands that could not be profitably used for other purposes to maintain them as permanent forests, using only the matured trees and cutting them and clearing the slash in such a way as to give the best possible protection to the immature timber. Also, it would be profitable to every owner of land to plant trees on any part of it that cannot be utilized for other purposes. If this great nation could inspire its landlords with this one purpose for a given time, to the end that all land that should be planted with trees would be so planted, the problem of the future lumber supply would be solved.--Kansas City Times.

Three Essential Problems.

The three basic or essential problems of the Southern farmer are:

1. A more productive soil, secured through drainage, the prevention of washing, and the addition of humus by crop rotation and the feeding of more and better live stock.
2. Increasing the efficiency and earning power of the farm worker by equipping him with a better knowledge of agriculture, with more and better work stock and with more modern labor-saving implements.
3. The making of better rural homes and schools, that those who till the soil may enjoy the same comforts and privileges and obtain the same preparation for their life work as those who engage in any other profession.--Raleigh Progressive Farmer.

All That Was Needed.

The mileage book question consumed a great deal more time than its importance deserved. If the legislature would attend to the business of the State and let her railroads run their own business it would be better for all concerned. However, the law as it finally passed will do no harm, and was just about all that was needed.--Charity and Children.

Water Supply for the Country Home

No matter where you live, or how situated, you may have every convenience of a city water supply by the use of a

Leader

AIR PRESSURE WATER SYSTEM

Water under pressure for kitchen, laundry, bathroom, sprinkling lawn and garden, watering stock and for fire protection.

An air-tight steel tank in the basement, or in an out house, stores the water as it is pumped by hand or power and forces it through the pipes and faucets by compressed air in the upper portion of the tank. No elevated or attic tank to freeze and become stagnant. Water kept cool, clean and pure.

If you want anything of the kind, see me and I can make you low prices on the complete system installed in your home or farm.

GREENVILLE, N. C.

Bro. James Got Confused.

"The sisters are certainly doing something now to my notion"--that is what Rev. R. H. James said the other day when he opened his Journal, put on his specs, and began to read. "I see," he mused, "they have organized a 'Washing party,' and that certainly is a good thing, for the ladies have got to learn to wash and do all other house work, now that the niggers are going on strike."

But when Bro. James got further along down the column he found that it was a "Washington" party. Then he laid down his paper and wished for what Judge Bennett once described as "some form of sound words that the ministry can use in times of great provocation."--Monroe Journal.

A New Chicken Story.

How is this for a chicken story? A certain lady living not over six miles from Siler City some time ago found one of her hens sitting on a nest full of eggs and as it wasn't the right time of the moon to put a hen to setting she decided not to let her set. She threw the hen off and took the eggs in the kitchen and put them in a box on the sideboard and that afternoon when she came in to get supper what should she see but "Old Speckle" sitting away as hard as she could. The good lady said that a hen that wanted to set that bad should set if she could help her in any way; and so "Old Speckle" is setting now in the kitchen on the sideboard.--Cor, Siler City Grit.

OUR VAUDEVILLE

Positively the best that ever visited this town. Tonight in their third and complete change, they don't repeat any of the songs, dances, talk, etc., used on previous nights. Don't fail to see Miss Howard in her impersonation of an eccentric old maid, also rope dancing, and singing of Mr. Moon Man, beautifully illustrated. The act closes with a novelty dance.
