NEWSY HAPPENINGS

GATHERED FROM EXCHANGES.

And Briefly Stated for Our Busy Readers.

Goldsboro, March 18.—A telegram was received in this city tonight by Col. Joseph E. Robinson, editor of the Daily Argus, stating that C. G. Kornegay had been killed at Shreveport, La., by a married woman, Mrs. Leeta Haynie. It was signed Shreveport Times, and asking for information about Kornegay, whose home was city. C. G. Kornegay comes from one of the best and oldest families of this region, but "lost out" from dissipation. He leaves a lovely wife and five small children here, who hold the love and esteem that they themselves are worthy of and that his family prestige entitled them to. His brother is cashier of the First National Bank of this city and held in the highest esteem and confidence of the community.

Greensboro, March 18.—Mrs. Fairly H. Royster, bride of three weeks, attempted to kill herself by sending a bullet into her breast this afternoon at the Guilford hotel. She is now in the hospital where it is thought she has a slight chance for recovery. To those who rushed to her aid she declared that she shot herself for love of her husband who left her two weeks ago.

Little Jack Glass, the five-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Glass, of West Asheville, had a narrow escape from death yesterday afternoon as the result of playing with a loaded pistol. Jack and his ten-year old brother, Lawrence, while left alone at their home, rambled about in the house and found a pistol which, luckily, had but one bullet in it. In playing with the gun, Lawrence fired a shot at the wall. The bullet glanced and grazed the forehead of his younger brother.—Asheville Citizen.

On March 16, 1881, just 30 years ago yesterday, Mr. B. L. Duke sold to Mr. J. K. Chamblay 1 2-5 acres of land on the Guess road near the city, for the sum of $10. Yesterday Mr. Duke purchased that identical track of land and paid therefor $1,000, or one hundred times as much as he received for it 30 years ago.—Durham Sun.

ORPHANS SATURDAY NIGHT.

In Auditorium of the East Carolina Teachers' Training School.

The singing class of the Oxford Orphan Asylum will give an entertainment here Saturday night, 25th. As there is no hall in town suitable for such an occasion, the faculty of the Training school kindly permitted the use of the auditorium by the orphans. There should be a large attendance, for besides enjoying an entertainment worth more than the price, it is for the benefit of a most worthy cause.

TYPHOID TRANSMISSION

The Ubiquitous House Fly as a Typhoid Transmitter.

The house fly, well named as the typhoid fly, is one of the chief factors in typhoid transmission. This indiscriminating insect finds equally congenial habit in filth and in food; it thrives with indifference in the manure heap, and in such human food as butter and milk. We speak of typhoid as the autumnal disease, because, with regard to isolated, sporadic cases as apart from epidemics, it attains its highest mortality in the fall of the year. Many an urbanite has returned from his vacation down with typhoid, or from an automobile trip with it; whereupon those tainted wells have been blamed. Wells are certainly from time to time at fault; but probably not so often as has been assumed. Possibly the urbanite has contracted his "rural" typhoid before he ever set out on his jaunt or his holiday. The incubation (from the time of exposure to the infection to the manifestation of the "invasion") is in typhoid about a fortnight; following upon this the disease endures a month to six weeks. Thus, counting back two months from the fall rise in typhoid deaths to the time when the disease is contracted, we shall have come upon the time when the filthy house fly prevails most. Upon his legs, his wings and his body he carries the bacilli, many thousands for each insect, in addition to those he has himself ingested. A noted physician has written about "the fly that does not wipe his feet." But he does wipe his feet; and upon more than that. One sees him alight upon a lump of sugar, or upon the nipple of a baby's bottle. Each pair of his six legs is vigorously rubbed together than the wings are as conscientiously scraped; and finally the toilet is completed with a message of the abdomen. By such process are thousands of pathogenic bacteria deposited upon the human edible that is the fly's resting place.—John Bessner Huber, M. D., in American Review of Reviews.

Menace in The Harem Skirt.

The agitation for the trouser skirt is nothing less than the assault of the masculine authority. Such an undertaking in our country is more menacing and perhaps more effective than the agitation of the suffragettes in the United Kingdom.—From Figaro.

When anger comes wisdom takes a vacation.

ANOTHER CHICAGO FIRE WITH FATAL RESULTS

LOSS EXCEEDS MILLION DOLLARS

Caused by Ammonia Explosion in Refrigerating Plant.

Chicago, March 20.—Three firemen were seriously injured in an explosion of ammonia fumes in a burning warehouse at the Monarch Refrigerating Company today, after a fire that had been ranging for more than 12 hours. Twenty-eight firemen have been injured, one million pounds of butter destroyed and $1,000,000 damage done to property. It is said the blaze will probably burn for more than a week.

A Country With Only one Bank.

There are no public banking institutions in the Dominion Republic, and but one private bank with agencies in the more important of the towns which buys and sells drafts makes loans, and is the repository of the government funds.

Buying and selling drafts is an important source of revenue to this bank and also to many private individuals.

Money is easily placed at almost any time at 1 1-2 per cent a month, and sometimes at 2 and 2 1-2 per cent, with first class real estate or personal security. Long time loans of large amounts are placed at 12 per cent per annum. Municipalities, borrowing money for improvements and other purposes, pay 1 per cent a month.

There are very few depositors in the local bank. Most of the well-to-do people, both among the merchants and farmers, never think of depositing their money, but have small private safes or secrete their hoardings in some other manner.—Moody's Magazine.

BOOKER WASHINGTON

GETS A GOOD BEATING

INSULTS ANOTHER MAN'S WIFE

Too Ill to Appear in Court—Says Assailant Was Drunk.

By Wire to The Reflector.
New York, March 20.—Dr. Booker T. Washington, the negro educator, was too ill from the beating he received last night from Albert Ulrich, to appear in court today, and the case against his assailant was postponed until tomorrow afternoon. Ulrich is held in $1,500 bail. Ulrich charges that Dr. Washington met his wife in the hall of an apartment where they live and insulted her. Dr. Washington says that his assailant was drunk.

THE STRIKERS LOSING.

Express Company Sends Out Wagons With Guard.

By Wire to The Reflector.
New York, March 20.—With six hundred policemen on guard at the stables and an officer to protect each driver and helper, the Adams Express company sent out forty wagons today. In addition there were a large number of detectives in the streets. Everything in Jersey City was quiet and there seemed to be little or no life left in the strike.

REPORT DENIED.

Diaz Will Not Resign Presidency of Mexico.

By Wire to The Reflector.
Washington, March 20.—"There is absolutely no truth in the report that President Diaz will resign the presidency of Mexico," declared Senior Bulle, first secretary of the Mexican embassy today. He said Diaz was in good health and there was entire harmony in the cabinet.

Cotton Ginning Report.

By Wire to The Reflector.
Washington, March 20.—The census bureau today issued the report on cotton ginning. The report shows for 1910, 11,941,563 bales, compared with 10,386,200 bales for 1909. 1910 bales average weight 501.2 pounds. 1909 weight 490.5. Estimated remaining to be ginned 70,169 bales.

Washington, March 20.—President Taft and party arrived here at nine o'clock from Augusta this morning.

An Uneven Distribution of Churches.

In Colorado, within seventy miles of Denver there is a promising village of twelve hundred inhabitants, says Charles Samuel Tator in an article in Success Magazine entitled "The Mad Race for Souls." In that village there are eight churches. Round about in the mountains are communities that have from thirty to ninety pupils in the public school, and can muster one hundred and fifty adults at an all night dance. The population is scattered, the pupils go to school on burros and on horseback. For some reason these people have no church nor Sunday school. Bishop Anderson of the Episcopal diocese of Chicago says that there are forty towns in Illinois, ranging from two hundred to eight hundred in population, without any church. Yet the three examples given from Massachusetts could easily have been found in the State of Illinois. It rather looks as if some of the lean churches should be cut down out of the herd and led to pastures new.

Millions in A Thought.

It has been announced that George Gates, a G. A. R. Veteran of the Civil war, had been working for some time toward the invention of a concrete railroad tie. He is seventy years of age, and his efforts and experiments were looked upon by those who were closest to him as the harmless visions and plays of an old man. But he demonstrated his ability to do what he undertook, secured patent rights, and it is said that a syndicate of railroads has bought his patent and given him $17,000,000 in cash for it. It may be that the printers have gotten too many zeroes to the amount, but there is a strong possibility that he reports are true and that the new thought of the old soldier has made him a multi-millionaire.—The Christian Herald.

MEN'S PRAYER LEAGUE

REMARKABLE ORGANIZATION

MUCH INTEREST EVERY MEETING

The League is Doing A Good Work in the Community.

Every Sunday people are heard to speak of the Men's Prayer League as a remarkable meeting of men, and so it is. The meeting Sunday afternoon in the Presbyterian church had a large attendance and all took keen interest in it. The subject for discussion was "Blessings Multiplied," and while the unusual thing happened that only one of the appointed leaders, Mr. C. C. Pierce, was present, after he had made a splendid talk others took the place of the absentees, and the meeting measured up to the standard the league has set.

Next Sunday the meeting will be held in the Christian church. The subject for that day is "The Watchman's Duty." Text, Ezekiel 33:1-9. Leaders, Messrs. J. C. Tyson, H. D. Bateman and J. A. Bland.

Men, if you want to spend a profitable Sunday afternoon, make some study of the subject and attend this meeting. Besides the interest in the meetings of the league, it does some good work through its charity committee wherever the need is found.

STORY OF "MARYLAND."

Another Version of How Words Were Welded To Classic Music.

Alas! it was war-time, I had already tasted the sweets of emancipation, the woods were full of handsome and delightful officers and privates, eager to be entertained and heartened for the fray. Like all the other girls of my acquaintance thereabout, I grew up in a night, and soon there was plenty of women's work for us.

Even now, writing it after so many, many years, I seem to feel again the pulse of that thrilling time. And it was there that there came intimately into my life of its strongest influences, in the radiant person of my cousin, Hetty Cary, daughter of my uncle, Wilson Miles Cary, of Baltimore, my father's elder and only brother. She, with her youngest sister, Jennie, had taken the lead in the secessionist movement among the younger girls in Baltimore, who having seen all their best men march across the border to enlist with the Confederates for the war, relieved their strained feelings by overt resentment of the Union officers and troops placed in possession of their city.

It was Jennie Cary who set Randall's stirring poem of "Maryland" to the air of "Lauriger Horatius" (brought to her by Burton Harrison when a student at Yale College) and first sang with a chorus of her friends in a drawing room in Baltimore. She tells me that the refrain, as originally printed in the copy of verses cut by them out of a newspaper, was simply "Maryland!" and that she added the word "My" in obedience to the exigency of the music.

As the song thus boldly chanted by young Confederate sympathizers, in a city occupied by their enemy and under strict martial law, was to drift over the border, to be caught eagerly by the troops of the Maryland, and to echo down the ages as the most famous battle song of the Confederacy, it is fitting that to Miss Jennie Cary should be awarded all the honor of this achievement. We both sang it amid a little group of visitors in September, 1861, standing in the doorway to Captain Sterrett's tent at Manassas, the men of the Maryland line facing us in the dusk of the evening. This was in answer to the request sent in from the soldiers to their friend, Captain Sterrett, "that they might hear a woman's voice again."

I can hear now the swing of that grand chorus, as the men gradually caught up the refrain, and echoed it, and by the next day, to my cousin's joy and pride, the whole camp at Manassas was resounding with "My Maryland!"—Mr. Burton Harrison, in Scribner's.

A Note of Warning.

The fact that many towns in the state are eagerly adopting the commission form of government without knowing much about it, shows that the people are not satisfied with the way in which their affairs have been conducted and officials in towns that are yet saying nothing about a change had better put their ears to the ground.—Durham Herald.

"Keep it Out of the Paper."

"Keep it out of the paper" is the cry which the local newspaper publisher daily hears. To oblige often costs considerable, though the party who makes the request thinks the granting scarcely worth saying "thank you" for. A newspaper is a peculiar thing in the public eye. The news gatherer is stormed at because he gets hold of one item and is abused because he does not get another. Young men and often young women, as well as older persons, perform acts which become legitimate items for publication and then rush to the newspaper office and beg the editor not to notice their escapades. The next day they condemn the same paper for not having published another party doing the same thing they were guilty of, forgetting apparently their late visit to the printing office.—Stanly Enterprise.

ST. PATRICK PARTY AT TRAINING SCHOOL

EVENING OF MUCH MERRIMENT.

The A's Give a St. Patrick's Party to The E's.

The A's, the first year class, under the direction of Miss Graham, the class advisor, gave a St. Patrick's party to the E's, the one year class, and the faculty on Saturday evening. Emblems of old Erin and the green and white were used in profusion. The large room on the second floor used for the entertainment was decorated with potted plants and vines against a white background; the black boards were covered with drawings of shamrock, Irish symbols, songs and jingles. A booth was cut off at one end of the long hall and artistically decorated with the colors and the Irish flag; here green punch was served from a punch bowl sunken in a mass of green.

After an Irish song, sung by the class, partners for "Blarneying" were found by matching lines of cut up jingles. Up and down the long hall the couples strolled, chattering sense and nonsense on a given topic, progressing to another partner and topic at the tap of the bell.

After this there was much merry-making over a doll dressing contest. Irish potatoes, tissue paper and tooth picks were to be turned out finished dolls. Miss Beamon received the prize, an Irish pennant, for what the judges pronounced a fine Boer Rabbit, but which was intended for St. Patrick. Miss Sue Pittard received the booby prize, a snake and spider for a clever baby doll. The Last Rose of Summer was played on the graphophone as good-night. The E's proposed a clever toast to the A's then gave a yell. This closed what was truly a delightful St. Patrick's evening.

GOVERNMENT WILL MAKE COSTLY EXPERIMENT

WILL DESTROY A BATTLESHIP

Broadside Test to be Made of Texas Armor Plate.

By Wire to The Reflector.
Crisfield, Md., March 20.—With battleships of Atlantic fleet, Rear Admiral Schroeder commanding, the battleship New Hampshire late this afternoon will hurl a broadside into the bed of the battleship Texas, ten miles from here in upper recesses of the Chesapeake Bay. Great secrecy is maintained by navy officials. No information is to be given out by officers. Secretary Meyer, Senator Clapp, and several congressmen will witness the bombardment. It is a costly experiment, the Texas costing $5,000,000, but officers say it is needed to determine the effect of armor piercing shells on intricate mechanism of battleships.

Advertising and Business.

An advertising expert who knows business as well as advertising—business building and business keeping—says this:

If you want to stay in business stay in the advertising field.

No matter how much business you are doing, keep up the energy that makes it.

You might as well cut off your leg because you are running well in a foot race as to cut off your advertising because your business is good. "Don't need to," is the eventual preliminary to "Can't do it."

The only man who doesn't need to advertise is the man who has retired from business.

Advertising keeps a business healthy.

It tones up, its liver, strengthens its biceps, steadies its heart and keeps its nerves in order.

Once in a while a man decides that he is doing so much business that he can stop advertising for a while and run on momentum.

Momentum is the gradual process toward a full stop.

The momentum business is usually prematurely full-stopped by the straight left jab of the well trained competitor who finds his opening in the fifteenth round.—Ex.

It's too bad that when a man puts his foot in it he is not in a position to kick himself.

THAD MANNING'S FAREWELL.

The farewell of Editor Thad R. Manning in the last issue of the Henderson Gold Leaf, his paper having been sold to others, comes close to our heart. The Gold Leaf is only about a month older than The Reflector, both starting some over twenty years ago, and through all these years the tie of friendship between the two editors has been very strong. Twice in their careers both were delegates the same year to the National Editorial Association and took delightful trips in the same party—to San Francisco in 1892 and Galveston in 1897, and both have been among those longest in attendance upon the State Press Association. To think that Thad Manning is now, to take his own words, "laid on the shelf for repairs" and is simply "down and out," is pathetic. Forced by ill health to cut the cords that bound him to his life work that lay close to his heart, a work in which he had given the best that was in him to the service of his fellow man, and to the upbuilding of his section. 'Tis a reminder of what may happen to any of us any time. There are few, alas, too few, Thad Mannings. Noble hearted, generous, true to his friends and convictions, ever ready with a pleasant word, such as he is a friend worth having. Would that there were more like him. We hope a season of rest and recuperation will bring him back his health and give him many more useful and happy years.

They are getting the thing down fine in the search for smuggled goods by customs officers of the port of New York. The other day two ladies of the wealthiest family in Savannah were returning from a trip abroad, and before leaving the steamer were forced to submit to a most rigid examination to see if they had diamonds hid about their person to smuggle them in. They were compelled to disrobe and even their stockings and hair were searched. The ladies very rightly declared it an outrage.

The recent dispatch concerning the fire on the steamer Nueces of the Mallory line, running between Galveston and New York, recalls the fact that it was upon that steamer the National Editorial Association, when it met in Galveston in 1897, took an excursion around the harbor. Some of us will remember that trip as long as we live.

With the recent innovation in searching returning passengers by customs officers, foreign travel may become unpopular with the fair sex.

"In A Rut."

How often we hear the expression "in a rut" We hear it so often because it so exactly describes the mental condition so many people get into. Just as wheels slip down into the deep ruts made by other wheels, so our minds are prone to travel along in the line of least resistance, and it is often very hard to get them out of it.

The trouble is that so few of us know how to think, or will take the trouble to think. It's hard work to really think; it's so much easier to let the mind float along in a kind of a dull, dreamy lethargy, only half working. Mental inertia is the great handicap of most people. Inertia is the tendency of a body to resist motion or change of direction, and mental inertia is the tendency to resist mental activity. It grows on one, so that after a while the victim very seldom does any real thinking, and finally forgets how altogether. His mind is always in a kind of stupor, skimming along and "getting through" all right, but never waking up and really going after things hard.

The great difference between men we call "brainy"—big, successful, capable men who do big things—and men who are the opposite is that the brainy men know how to think and do think and the others do not. Put a business proposition before the great majority of men and they will view it in its superficial aspect, as one who sees only the exterior of a thing. A man who thinks will go at one stroke right to the heart of the thing; at a glance he will see the flaw in the plan if there be one, or the big opportunity, if it is there; while the chances are that the ordinary man will not see either, simply because he doesn't take the trouble to wake up his mind and dig into the thing with energy and determination.—The Merchants Journal.

Shut Up, Then.

Says the Greenville Reflector: "There used to be an old saying to express a thing as being slipshod or shiftless to call it 'harem scarem.' Maybe that is where the Greensboro News got its idea that the harem skirt would scare 'em." We oppose any further slipshod discussion of such a shiftless subject.—Greensboro News

Said Something.

The Greenville Reflector says that "when a man feels that one day in his home town is worth two days anywhere else, he is getting his attachment on right." Brother Whichard said something that time that is as true as holy writ, and as inspiring.—Durham Sun.

CROUP CONQUERED.

Every Mother Should Read and Remember This.

In any home where a child has a tendency to croup, a bottle of HYOMEI (pronounce it High-ome) should be kept constantly on hand. A sudden attack of croup with difficult breathing and extreme distress is apt to come on at any time.

The course to be pursued is plain. Send for your doctor at once, and in the meantime drop 30 drops of HYOMEI into a bowl of boiling water, and hold the child's head over it, cover with a towel or cloth, so that only the air filled with Hyomei vapor is breathed.

This method of treatment has saved many a child's life, and mothers of croupy children should see to it that HYOMEI is always on hand. Full instructions for prompt relief of croup is in each package.

A 50c bottle of HYOMEI is all you need in treating croup. This is known in all drug stores as Extra Bottle Hyomei Inhalant. Coward & Wooten and druggists everywhere sell it. Breathe HYOMEI. It is guaranteed to cure catarrh, croup, sore throat, bronchitis, coughs and colds, or money back. 3 20, 31—410

GRAY HAIR TALKS

HAIR INDEX OF AGE. DON'T LOOK OLD.

How often one hears the expression, "She is gray and is beginning to look old." It is true that gray hair usually denotes age and is always associated with age. You never hear one referred to as having gray hair and looking young.

The hair is generally the index of age. If your hair is gray, you can't blame your friends for referring to you as looking old. You can't retain a youthful appearance if you allow your hair to grow gray. Many persons of middle age jeopardize their future simply by allowing the gray hairs to become manifest. There is no necessity for this. If your hair has become faded or gray, try Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy, the preparation which a chemist by the name of Wyeth devised a few years ago. It is simple, inexpensive and practical, and will banish the gray hairs in a few days. It is also guaranteed to remove dandruff and promote the growth of the hair.

It is a pleasant dressing for the hair, and after using it a few days itching and dryness of the scalp entirely disappear.

This preparation is offered to the public at fifty cents a bottle and is recommended and sold by Moye's Pharmacy, Greenville, N. C.

Predicts a New Party.

It is too early to suggest that party government is outmoded; for the spirit of partisanship is tenacious and the majority of men will still continue to attach themselves, ignorantly or determinedly, by chance or by choice, to one of the greater political organizations. But it is not too early to suggest that parties are a means, not an end, that the object of their existence is supposed to be the welfare of the nation, not the exploitation of private interests. Government of the people by a party, for the party, seems but a poor travesty of Democracy—unless the party is justly entitled to use the prefix "national." Perhaps the time is not far distant when such a party, based on a coalition of the sincere and far-sighted, will change the whole outlook and spirit of politics in this country.—March Forum.

In going down the stream of life the average man tries to make a noise like a motor boat.

A Warning to Farmers.

A few days ago the United States department of agriculture issued a bulletin that contains a warning to farmers against purchasing clover seed which has recently been imported into this country from Chile. The seed was sent in three separate shipments aggregating 370,000 pounds. This seed has been found to be contaminated with two kinds of dodder seed in such proportion that 450 seeds would ordinarily be sown in each square rod planted with the Chilean clover seed.

The dodder weed is said to be a native of Australia, and reached Chile in shipments of alfalfa seed. It is a small shrub of the laurel family, and has the reputation of being extremely destructive to alfalfa and ordinary clover. The distinction between the two varieties of the pest is not made clear in the office of the bulletin, but it is safe to assume that one is fully as vicious as the other. It is said the dodder winds itself about the stems of the clover and quickly destroys its life.

According to the bulletin, in the particular lots of Chilean clover seed regarding which the warning is given, the clover seeds themselves are of peculiarly fine appearance, and are fully 50 per cent. larger than ordinary clover seed. Such being the case, little difficulty should be experienced in detecting the dodder. When the infected seed is discovered it should not only be rejected, but if the laws will permit it to be done, it should be confiscated and burned by the proper authorities.—Greensboro News.

If a man is a fluent talker it's a safe bet he inherited it from his mother.

CRYING FOR HELP.

Lots of it in Greenville, But Daily Growing Less.

The kidneys cry for help. Not an organ in the whole body so delicately constructed.

Not one so important to health. The kidneys are the filters of the blood.

When they fail the blood becomes foul and poisonous.

There can be no health where there is poisoned blood.

Backache is one of the first indications of kidney trouble.

It is the kidney's cry for help. Heed it.

Doan's Kidney Pills are what is wanted.

Are just what overworked kidneys need.

They strengthen and invigorate the kidneys; help them to do their work; never fail to cure any case of kidney disease.

Mrs. Disco Pittman, Walnut St., Tarboro, N. C., says: "For some time I had not been feeling well and thought that my kidneys might be disordered, as my back was very weak and the kidney secretions annoying. My husband got me a box of Doan's Kidney Pills and since using them, my back has become stronger and my kidneys have been normal. I am now feeling much better in every way and therefore am willing to recommend Doan's Kidney Pills."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

A Doubter.

The Newton Enterprise is the only paper we have seen that finds satisfaction in the killing of the Cotten bill for the Torrens system of the registering of deeds. Somebody has told The Enterprise that it will cost about $50,000,000 to put all the real estate in North Carolina under the Torrens system. "This," says The Enterprise, "may be an exaggerated estimate. We confess that we do not know anything about it. Information on this line will have to be fully set forth before any legislature can be expected to pass a bill like the one introduced in the last legislature. Editor Harris, of the Charlotte Chronicle, is the ablest advocate of the Torrens system in this state, but even he has not treated this branch of the subject, so far as we have noticed." The Chronicle has printed the law in full and has explained it from A to Z. There is no provision in it that we know of for the state to pay the costs of registration. This will be paid in the usual way—only lawyers will not get it all. The provisions are such that there will be no question as to the guarantee of the title. Evidently Brother Williams has not given the bill careful reading which all newspaper men should give it.—Charlotte Chronicle.

Because his teacher whipped him in school and he was afraid of like punishment at home, John Campen, a thirteen-year-old boy of Goldsboro, yesterday morning collected his savings of more than $50, and taking Walter Phillips, a boy of his own age as traveling companion, started for Atlanta, where he thought both would soon find employment and become rich and independent. First the lads went to Raleigh and from there bought tickets to Atlanta. They were on train 43 at 10:30 last night when Sergeant Younhood and Officers Henderson and House arrested them as run-a-ways, a telegram having been received at night from Chief Denmark, of Goldsboro, asking that the boys be detained.—Charlotte News.

Attacks School Principal.

A severe attack on school principal, Chas. B. Allen, of Sylvania, Ga., is thus told by him. "For more than three years," he writes, "I suffered indescribable torture from rheumatism liver and stomach trouble and diseased kidneys. All remedies failed till I used Electric Bitters, but four bottles of this wonderful remedy cured me completely." Such results are common. Thousands bless them for curing stomach trouble, female complaints, kidney disorders, biliousness and for new health and vigor. Try them. Only 50c at all druggists.

Farmers in Town.

The Spartanburg Journal in a sound editorial utterance gives some advice to the city council which might be well taken to heart by other municipal lawmakers. Our contemporary points out the inadvisability of hampering the farmers who come to town with produce for sale by too many license taxes. The tendency to tax such farmer-peddlers arises, of course from the desire to be fair to the town merchants, who are required to contribute to the public treasury before being allowed to do business. This principle is correct, but in the application it should be remembered that the competition thus originated by the farmers is partial at most, involving only a limited number of the articles offered for sale by the merchants. Furthermore, the merchants themselves are interested in the coming of the farmers. The money received by the latter is more than likely to be put back into circulation in the town within a very short while. In a larger aspect, the farmers are to be encouraged to do both selling and buying in town, for the reason that without such trading the back country—a very important factor in the average town's prosperity—will not be cultivated and that if what back-country development there is the town will not receive its logical share.—Charlotte Observer.

As Viewed by Another.

The Greenville Reflector keeps hammering away for new enterprises for its town. "The Reflector will certainly be glad," it says, "when it succeeds in hammering into the minds of the people the fact that Greenville needs more manufacturing enterprises. The growth of our population is slow because people cannot afford to move to a town unless they can find some employment there. If there were started up in Greenville manufacturing enterprises to give employment to an additional thousand people, the thousand people would be here in a very short time. Every additional citizen helps the town that much." And with such a consistent advocate for the city as Greenville has in The Reflector it can't keep from growing. Greenville might grow faster if it had a few more people with Whichard's spirit. But they will catch the idea from him after awhile. He is the town's best man.—Raleigh Times.

A Fierce Night Alarm.

Is the hoarse, startling cough of a child, suddenly attacked by croup. Often it aroused Lewis Chamblin, of Manchester, O., (R. R. No. 2.) for their four children were greatly subject to croup. "Sometimes in severe attacks," he wrote, "we were afraid they would die, but since we proved what a certain remedy Dr. King's New Discovery is, we have no fear. We rely on it for croup and for coughs, colds or any throat or lung trouble." So do thousands of others. So may you. Asthma, hay fever, lagrippe, whooping cough, hemorrhages fly before it. 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free. Sold by all druggists.

NEWSPAPER PRESS FOR SALE.

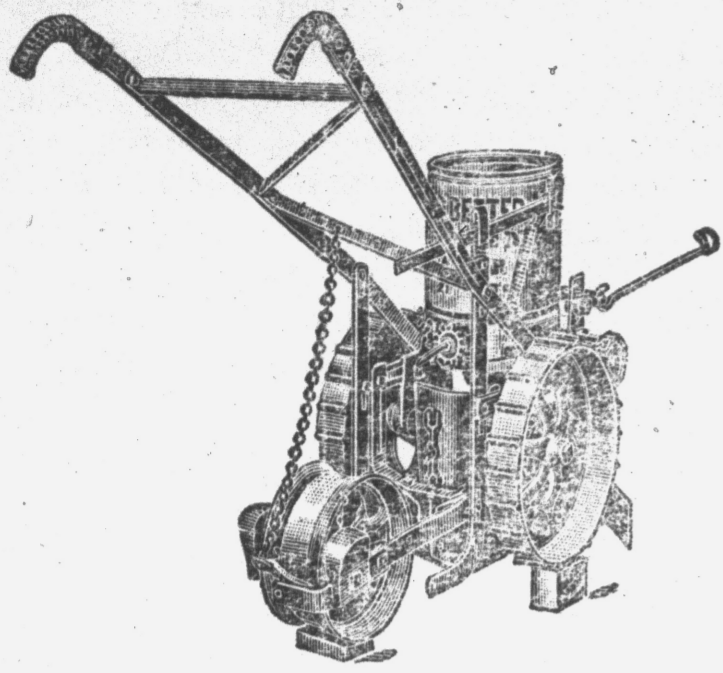

Having placed an order for a new fast newspaper and book press, to be installed the middle of April, we have a newspaper press that will be sold at a bargain for delivery May 1st.

It is a Monona Leverless Press, large enough to print four 6-column pages, or two 9-column pages and has steam fixtures so that it can be run either by hand or power. Been in use six years.

It is a splendid press for a weekly paper and is in good condition to do many years good service. We used a press from the same factory for 17 years before installing this one, printing a daily paper with small circulation about 10 years of that time. Its speed, 800 an hour, is too slow for a daily paper with the present circulation of The Reflector, and for that reason we are having to displace it with a faster press.

Any one interested and wanting a good press for a weekly newspaper, can see this press at work every day in the Reflector building, before our new press is installed

The True Value of Money.

Money is worth while, and we all want a due portion of it, so long as it means increased fullness of life. To live in a rich country is an advantage, because life is usually fuller there and opportunities are greater and more accessible. But money is only valuable as a means of prosecuting to better advantage this experiment of human life. If by getting money you get more and better life, you are ahead on the transaction; but if you devote your life to getting money and get it and nothing else, you have made a bad bargain.

Your life was your great capital and you have swapped it for a perishable thing which you can't take with you when you lay life down. So let us not stake our whole lives on making money. Let us make some by all means if we can—earn it, save it, add to the world's capital and our own; but keep it where it belongs the incident of work, not the end of living or even work.

A very moderate income, different according to circumstances, time and place, suffices to bring within the reach of any wise man the most important opportunities that life offers. Education nowadays in this country is easily come by. The poverty that grinds and blights and dwarfs seems fairly easy to avoid. Who is diligent and temperate and is blessed with health and fair mental capacity ought to get money enough for his needs and his development in this country.

Because money is the convenient measure of so many sorts of effort we are apt to think of it as the great end of human endeavor. But that is a fallacy. There are great men who never get much money, and pretty small men who get a great deal. It depends a good deal on what they try for and what they are willing to pay for it.—E. S. Martin, in Merchants Journal.

Colonel Bryan as a "Jiner."

During his visit to Boston last week Col. William Jennings Bryan made a brief address to the members of Horace Greely Lodge, Knights of Pythias, in which he said: "When I joined the Knights of Pythias, which was the first fraternity I ever joined, I was conscious of violating a kind of implied promise to my wife. When she was my sweetheart I remarked to her once that I didn't belong to any secret societies and so was not liable to go away from home in the evening. I did not say it very loud and was not conscious that she paid any particular attention to my statement, but when I went home about daylight after joining the Knights I found that it was one of the most distinct recollections in her mind. Now I am a Mason, an Elk, an Eagle, a Woodman, a Highlander and many others. I have observed that all these fraternities are all built upon words, phrases and teachings which represent heart characteristics. They teach the things which bind us together. I believe these fraternities are among the most potent influences in bringing mankind together.—Boston Post.

The successful speculator watches the corners and keeps out of them. Vocal teachers are always howling about their work. A man doesn't have to be a detective in order to find fault.

Farm Equipment.

It seems but yesterday, when I think back and recall my first practical experience of farm life. Of course, I grew up on the farm, but it was as the lilies grow, "I toiled not, neither did I spin." But when I married a young farmer and went to housekeeping in a two-room shanty on a one-horse farm, I then commenced to see the seamy side of it all. Our house was on top of a high hill—all the water was to be carried from the spring up that hill. We had a stove just big enough for two and hardly that, no conveniences for bath whatever. We had chills and fever off and on during the whole seven years we lived at that place; and I am sure it was on account of the surface drainage going into the spring. We spent enough for doctors and medicine to have dug a well and run the water indoors. We had no more chills after leaving there, but were some time regaining our impaired vitality. Then I had no sewing machine; so it was necessary to spend days at a time at my mother's, sewing, or else hire my sewing. We spent enough in that way to have bought a machine twice over. Finally, in 1901, my husband bought a machine for $19. I am using it still and it is as good as ever.

This is a fair specimen of the mistaken economy of young farm folks. The little old stove by this time was used up to a finish. My husband bought, me a $75 Majestic range with a 15-gallon reservoir, for heating water. It was grand. I could sit six half-gallon jars of fruit on a wire bottom in the reservoir and boil them. The fruit canned in this manner was perfect, retaining its shape and natural juices.

We never did have any convenience for washing, and ironing—always hired it out. But a neighbor had a washing machine and wringer that were perfection. She did her own wash, and that in an hour or two. She also had a low buggy and a gentle horse for her own use. I had to walk or await my husband's convenience to go abroad. A man knows what he needs for his work, and gets it. A woman knows too, but as a rule does without it. I knew a woman who spent the whole afternoon driving a 10-penny nail through a tin lid. She was making a coca-oanut grater! Her husband could have bought one for a dime. And as for a meat knife—a razor-backed case-knife that is worn to lightning keenness, one that belonged to our great-grandmother, is the sole dependence. It has a cob handle, and if it should break there are plenty more cobs. I tell you, it is just such makeshifts as this that take the life and interest out of women on the farm—Raleigh Progressive Farmer.

The Value of a Good Pastor

Though a great deal of useful work is accomplished by other agencies, the churches are now, as they have been for generations, the greatest factor for good in a community. The ministers are the directors of their activities, the generals and commanders of the forces that make for righteousness. In every good word and work they are foremost. An able, earnest pastor is a valuable asset to the community at large, as well as to his own church. He is a builder and is more valuable than factories, or even than schools. And just as the loss of a good pastor is a calamity, so the coming of a new minister brings a new force for good into the community. * * * "Righteousness exalteth a nation; but sin is a reproach to the people." There is nothing so costly, nothing so wasteful, as immorality. We pay the bill in jails, hospitals, a crime of a thousand kinds, in ruined lives, in the transformation of men and women who should be an asset to the community into a heavy burden. A good pastor is a substantial acquisition to the forces that are fighting for the upbuilding of a city, that must fight continually in order to preserve it from the constant menace of evil. The fight goes on, and as one brave soldier falls another steps into the ranks to take his place.—Baltimore Sun.
