TWENTY THREE HUNDRED CRAZY PEOPLE IN PANIC

CAUSED BY FIRE IN HOSPITAL

All Inmates Were Removed From The Building in Safety.

By Wire to The Reflector.

Morris Plains, N. J., March 21.—Twenty-three hundred patients in the New Jersey state hospital for insane were thrown into a panic today by fire which was caused by one of the women inmates. The clothing of the woman was burned off, but she was not seriously injured. The fire started in a ward where there are 340 of the most violent women patients. In an adjoining ward were 900 violent men. They were all removed from the building, but the fire was confined to the apartment in which it originated.

AMERICANS AT TRIAL

Spiritualist Prophecies Death of One of The Jurors.

By Cable to The Reflector.

Viterbo, Italy, March 21.—American and English tourist are making a gala event of the Camorrist trial, which was renewed today. When Enrico Alfano and his associates were led to their steel cages the spectator's place in the court room was crowded with men and women from abroad. A spiritualist prophesied today that one of the jurors would die before the trial was completed and this caused considerable excitement, several jurors wanting to quit at once. Officers are keeping close watch upon the spiritualist, believing she may be a tool of Camorra.

HOW EXPRESS CO'S ROB

But The Comptroller Nips Them One Time.

By Wire to The Reflector.

Washington, March 21.—The comptroller of the treasury took the railroad rate law into his own hands today and made what is believed to be a record breaking cut in rates. On a package of checks worth $1,440,000 shipped from Cass Lake, Minn., to Washington, basing its rate on the value of the package the Adams Express Company sent in bill for $552. The comptroller declared this exorbitant and ordered the disbursing officer to pay the company only $150.

AGAINST LORIMER AND CULLOM

Illinois Republican Primary Turns Them Down.

By Wire to The Reflector.

Campaign, Ill., March 21.—Republican voters in the primary here yesterday voted overwhelmingly against Senators Lorimer and Cullom. In the primary election the question of whether senators should be asked to resign was placed on the ballots and the vote was overwhelmingly against Lorimer and almost two to one against Cullom. It is the first time in Illinois such a question has been placed on primary ballots.

CRUISERS NEARING GALVESTON.

Wireless Communication Held With Them Today.

By Wire to The Reflector.

Galveston, Texas, March 21.—Wireless communication was held today with the cruisers Washington, Tennessee, North Carolina and Montana. The location of vessels was not given but it is believed they will reach this point in less than forty-eight hours. They are the vessels ordered to Galveston at the beginning of the war game.

Miners Giving Trouble.

By Wire to The Reflector.

Springfield, Ill., March 21.—The state guard was ordered out today to quell a riot at the coal fields near Gillespie. The miners, mostly whom are Italians, have quit work and are fighting among themselves.

CRITICISM.

The legitimate aim of criticism is to direct attention to the excellent. The bad will dig its own grave, and the imperfect may be safely left to that final neglect from which no amount of present undesired popularity can rescue it.—Bovee.

QUEER FREIGHT LOSS.

In Sealed Car After 4 Days Automobile Catches Fire and is Consumed

The Atlantic Coast Line can, perhaps, lay claim to a freight loss that has seldom if ever occurred to any railroad in the world, as happened recently between this city and Norfolk, on the Norfolk division of the company. Among the twenty-five cars that made up a through freight train, there was an automobile car containing one automobile under seal from Jacksonville, Florida, to a point in Virginia. It was a matter of impossibility to have entered the car except by the seal and this had not been broken. When at a point near Nourneys was reached the fireman looked back and he noted smoke coming from under the eyes of the car, and the train was stopped and an investigation was made. It was found that the fire was on the inside of this car, and when the seal was broken and the car entered, the automobile contained therein had been practically consumed and the inside of the car was burning rapidly.

Due to the fact that there was little means of fighting the fire, the entire car was consumed, but the rest of the train was shifted from it, and outside of the car and automobile, there was little other loss. The railroad company are at a loss to know how the fire originated for the car had been several days in transit and was then nearing the point of its delivery and it was hard to conceive of how fire might have been kept smoldering for the possible four or five days that the car had been enroute. It is equally as difficult to fathom out as to how the fire might have started on the inside of the car after it was sealed in Jacksonville. There is little in the way of an explanation of how it started and all the railroad company knows is that it is a total loss along with a freight car.

TITLES FOR HEIRESSSES.

Say, Girls! If You Have the Cash Here Are The Noblemen.

American heiresses who may be pining for alliances with Austria's titled youth need pine no longer. The way is open to them, and the method of acquiring a prince or a count of either the Bohemian or Tyrolean variety is so simple that it is within the reach of all.

There is no mystery about it. Miss Yrma Bleyer, of Vienna, is here to arrange it all. She will smooth the path leading to an introduction to any one of the numerous flowers of Austrian nobility.

Within the last few days the following advertisement has appeared in the leading newspapers of Boston, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Washington, Pittsburg, Cincinnati, Cleveland, St. Louis and Chicago.

Wish to communicate with persons able to introduce high titled Austrian to American heiress. Utmost discretion; highest references. Address Bleyer, Box—

"We in Vienna know," said she, "that in the United States there are many daughters of millionaires who have had every possible luxury showered upon them since their birth, but who long for what has always seemed to them unattainable, namely, pride of family and social position. I can give them both.

"I have on my list two princes, brothers, one 23 and the other 25 years. Both are officers in the Austrian army, and their regiment is stationed at Vienna. Their family is of ancient lineage and they own two castles of Bohemia. Each has a fortune of 3,000,000 gulden, and the purchasing power of a gulden in my country equals that of a dollar in America. A condition which must be met in the cases of both my princes, should I find wives for them, is that the American girl must bring them fortunes equal to their own.

"Another of my clients is a Bohemian count. He is 38 years old. He has traveled extensively and is familiar with American customs. He is of fine family and ancient ancestry and is a member of parliament. It may interest American girls to know he is so popular that women who attend the sessions of parliament wave their handkerchiefs when he speaks. His education is such that he demands in a wife culture that will enable her to fill the high station in life to which he will introduce her.

"Then there is a baron, a Tyrolean nobleman, whose social rank is so high that only an archduke pre-

NEWSY HAPPENINGS

GATHERED FROM EXCHANGES, And Briefly Stated for Our Busy Readers.

Washington, March 20.—William Jordan, a colored man of this city, about thirty years old, suddenly went insane at his home in Nicholsonville yesterday and ran amuck. With bricks and clubs he proceeded to demolish window panes, fences and any other property in his neighborhood that he could lay his hands on. Every effort was made by the neighbors to capture him, but in vain. He had a large knife in his hands and defied arrest. Finally the police were called in and succeeded in arresting him and lodging him in the city jail. Efforts will be made to get him in the colored asylum in Goldsboro.

Salisbury, March 20.—Charging that his wife tied him fast to a bed while asleep and then set fire to the bedclothes, Sam Young a tenant of a farm, five miles from Salisbury, came to town today in search of officers. He declared that he and his wife retired in good humor; that he was awakened by the smell of smoke that he found his limbs tied to the bed and that he was able to free himself until the fire burned the rope just in time to save his life. He bore severe burns on his face when he reached this city. The affair is a mystery and the officers are making investigations.

Charlotte, March 20.—The Yadkin River Power Company, a $4,000,000 concern, was chartered under the laws of North Carolina today for the specific purpose of taking over the Blewit Falls Electrical Power plant in Richmond county, complete the plant and set on foot electric transmission and power enterprises in the operation of public utilities, sale of power and interurban car lines. Work on this plant was interrupted by the financial stringency caused by the panic of 1907.

It is a fact not generally known and recognized through North Carolina that the Wilmington port holds fourth place among all other Southern ports for exports of cotton. The government bulletin just issued by the department of commerce and labor for the first eight months of the season, says while the exports of the staple from Wilmington last year amounted to a little over $17,000,000, it goes to more than $28,000,000 for the first eight months of this season. Wilmington is led only by Galveston, New Orleans and Savannah, in the order named.

Wilmington, March 20.—Saturday night about twelve o'clock fire broke out in the Virginia-Carolina Peanut out in the Virginia-Carolina Peanut Company factory, which, together with Martin county tobacco leaf factory was entirely consumed. Loss about forty thousand dollars with insurance of about twenty-one thousand. This property was owned by Messrs. Staton, Gurganus, Cowan & Godard.

The bar had a laugh on Judge Peebles this morning. His honor is a great stickler for proper decorum and dignity during the sessions of court. This morning he spoke loudly to a supposed-to-be man in the audience to remove his hat. The hat was that belonging to the sheriff and was on the newell post at the bar railing.—Kinston Free Press.

AN OPPORTUNITY FOR CORN GROWING BOYS

IT IS WORTH STRIVING FOR.

$25 Prize in Boys Corn Contest by Farmers' Union of Pitt County.

At the county meeting of the Farmers' Union, held in Greenville on Saturday, March 11th, a resolution was passed, offering a special prize of $25 to the boy between the ages of 12 and 19 years, who raises the largest number of bushels of corn on one acre of land in Pitt county. The following rules must be observed by all who enter the contest:

The prize acre must be measured by a committee of three men, to be appointed by the Farmers' Union.

The gathering of the corn is to be supervised by that committee.

The corn is to be shucked and measured in stand, one stand shelled and weighed. The stand weighed to be the basis of calculation for the whole.

The contestants shall be required to keep an accurate account of all cost of labor, fertilizer and other manures used.

The regulations are practically the same as those of the "Boys Corn Club" under the supervision of the county superintendent of schools, and the farm demonstration agent, except there is no limit to the amount of commercial fertilizers.

All boys who enter the contest for the $25 prize are requested to forward their names and addresses to the county secretary by the 15th of April, also their age.

The contest is open to any boy who wishes to enter.

The members of the Farmers' Union of Pitt county appreciate and approve of the work being done through the boys corn club and offer this prize in connection with the present club as a stimulus, to further promote the work in Pitt county.

All boys entering the contest, send name, age and address to

ANNOUNCEMENT.

Sanitary Values Placed On Various Styles of Toilets.

Sanitarians representing North Carolina and other Southern states engaged in crusades against typhoid fever and hookworm diseases at a recent meeting in Atlanta, have agreed on a sanitary valuation for the various styles of privies ordinarily used. As typhoid fever, hookworm disease and the dysenteries are carried in, and scattered with, human excrement, a privy which prevents the spread of these diseases has a high value.

Valuations expressed in percentages:

Failure to have any kind of a privy on premises represents 0 per cent, sanitary value. The ordinary privy open behind, unprotected from flies, dogs, washing rains, etc., has 10 per cent sanitary value.

The same style privy having a hinged flap in the rear coming down close to the ground is given a sanitary value of 25 per cent.

A privy having a covered seat, a closed hinged door in the rear, and tubs or pails in which the excrement is collected for subsequent disposal, if not rigidly fly proof, is valued at 50 per cent.

This same style of privy, having a rigidly fly proof vault under the seat and water tight tubs or pails, kept in good condition, is valued at 75 per cent.

A sewer system, with water closets and a septic tank arrangement in which oil barrels are used, known as the L. R. S. privy, are valued at 100 per cent.

By writing Dr. Jno. A. Ferrell, assistant secretary to state board of health, Raleigh, you may receive free an illustrated pamphlet giving the plans and specifications with a bill of the material for the best and cheapest kinds of sanitary privies.

GRAND JUNKET AT ALASKA

Ten Congressmen to go This Summer at Uncle Sam's Expense.

Five senators and five representatives will have a fine trip to Alaska this summer if the extra session of congress is not so prolonged as to prevent it. The last sundry civil bill carried an appropriation of $10,000 to allow 10 members, representing both houses, to visit the territory of Alaska. The joint committee is to make an investigation into the existing conditions in Alaska, with a view of obtaining material upon which to base any legislation that may be necessary.

The senators who have been appointed are Nelson, Smoot, Nixon, Simmons and Bankhead. The house delegation is composed of Fitzgerald, of Brooklyn, Shery and Robinson, of Arkansas, and Hamilton and Good. The committee plans to visit every accessible portion of Alaska and to have a look at everything that may have a bearing on the government of the territory.

Its members, who look forward to the trip with a good deal of interest, naturally are hoping that congress will not sit all summer. It would be impracticable for the committee to start after September 1, because while it might reach even a remote part of the territory, the season would be so late that the chances of its getting out again before the following summer would be slight. It would never do to have the chairman of the house appropriations committee and several other distinguished members of congress marooned in an Alaska mining camp all winter.—Washington Cor. in Brooklyn Eagle.

COUNTY HOMES.

Davidson county is building a new county home. It has all the modern conveniences and will cost $13,000. Cabarrus county is one of the most progressive counties in the State, but the buildings and equipment at her county home would be a reflection on one of the poorest and least progressive counties. The home is situated on some of the most valuable land in the county, much of it being worth $100 an acre. It has been suggested that some of the land be sold and the proceeds put into modern sanitary buildings, and the suggestion is a good one. "The poor ye have with you always," and every county should be prepared to take care of them in a humanitarian manner—Concord Tribune.

Above is something we hope the commissioners and every citizen of Pitt county will read over several times before putting this paper aside, and then do some good hard thinking about it. What the Tribune says about the home in Cabarrus county, fits Pitt county as well as if it had been written for this county. And Pitt could have a county home that would be a credit to the county if the people would set their heads to do so.

If in furnishing the interior of the new court house niches were left in the walls, especially the main hall, in which could be placed mural tablets giving the history of the county, the handsome building could be a hall of fame as well as a temple of justice. Pitt county is rich in history but how neglectful her people have been in preserving it! It is not yet too late to begin making amends for past neglect, and we would be glad to see some steps taken looking to placing tablets in the new court house.

That Munford property along the A. C. L. railroad that is to be divided in lots and sold Thursday, is going to shut off one of the best factory sites around Greenville. The Reflector had hoped some day to see a larger manufacturing plant on a site so available and convenient to the railroad. But opportunities do not wait always, and Greenville too often for own good lets them go by.

John D. Rockefeller has offered a donation of $20,000 towards the erection of a Y. M. C. A. building at the A. and M. College in Raleigh, provided the students will raise a like sum. The boys have set to work to raise the money and feel confident of success.

Geese Whilkins, Cowan! Did the sight of one addle you like that?

Inconceivable, but nevertheless so, Aye, shamefully so, and never in their most ridiculous days did Insurgents Patton and Phillips ever perpetrate anything half as bad. No, sir, even though Whichard has indulged in a form of alleged wit that we imagined would make the shade of the lamented Mark Twain shudder and be glad that he was no longer a funny mortal, he was never so "cool, cool." While we have often felt regret and repentance as we looked back over our chaotic day of silly punning yet never—in fact, nev-yah—were we ever tempted to indulge in such, as the following from the Durham Sun, which with tears of sorrow brimming our optics a choking sensation in our throat and a feeling of genuine pity in our heart, we reluctantly direct your attention to:

"The ruler of Mexico is strongly of the opinion that he didn't Di-az soon as some people had supposed. It is to be hoped that this will not bring on a revolution with such insurgents as Phillips, Patton and Cowan.—Wilmington Dispatch.

Obedience the Supreme Demand.

From the beginning of the world, obedience has been demanded of men. As a divine injunction, peoples and nations have gone upward as world builders, or disappeared, their names a reproach and warning to succeeding generations.

In the ways of men, obedience has ever meant a cardinal virtue. A supreme test from early childhood to extreme old age, those obeying the demands set before them, have always commanded the world's approval and gained its greatest respect. And yet with all the honor and respect that comes to the child and man who can obey, it has ever been the severest test on the parents, that of securing an obedience, not through the fear of punishment, but an obedience based upon the heart, to obey because such an act was one of love.

"Children who can wheedle their parents into letting them act foolishly are being educated to bribe legislatures into letting them act lawlessly," is the severe arraignment of parents by Dean Matthews. Note the word of action in this sentence, "wheedle." Is there another word to compare with it in description of the child's method to secure what it wants? It means the getting by unfair methods, a prevailing against the parents judgment, a cunning deception to disobey without paying the penalty, through a just punishment for the act committed. And while this arraignment may seem far reaching, how many parents in later years have been worse than humiliated by their children, who were permitted to wheedle their way from early childhood, until parental control was lost? Cannot there be seen on all sides, the results from obedience, with trivial and not held important in the child, in the man and woman mean disgrace, dishonor and death?

Cicero was pretty correct in the statement that "dutifulness of children was the foundation of all virtues." As the supreme demand both divine and human calls for obedience, so is its reward the greatest, to those who learn the lesson and faithfully follow it.—New Bern Journal.

Silly Argument.

Much of the argument used against bond issues for good roads in many of the counties is silly. Of course the money could be wasted, and so could the other county funds if they did not have proper officials to look after it.—Durham Herald.

Of course a woman hates to tell a secret, but there seems to be no other way out of it.

Something Rotten in Denmark.

The great question of when is whiskey whiskey does not need any further solution, but should be placed in the custody of the police department of Durham. In court yesterday two bottles were produced as evidence, two bottles that had been bought for whiskey, and contained a substance that had the odor of spirits of frumenti, and behold these same bottles contained only pure water at the trial of Mr. L. G. Bryan, although it is stated that four hundred other bottles in his possession contained the real article.

That these two bottles were placed in the possession of the police department of Durham is confirmed; that the same bottles were produced the next morning was the testimony given before the court, and yet some time while in the possession of the police water had undoubtedly been substituted for the whiskey. This is defeating justice and the only parties to blame for such transactions is the police department of Durham, who are sworn to uphold the law.

It matters not whether any member of the force or some outsider made this substitution; the bottles were in the custody of the police department, and they alone must answer for such negligence to the law-abiding people of this city.

No right-minded citizen will believe that out of four hundred and two bottles two contained water; and, furthermore, the testimony showed that the odor from the bottles Wednesday was that of whiskey. It is now up to the police department to clear this mystery and at the same time to see that justice is done.

Four hundred bottles of whiskey are more than the law allows, and this alone should be sufficient to convict any man.—Durham Sun.

You need never carry another pail of water or even go out of the house on stormy days. Put running water in your home—in the kitchen—bathroom—bath—and have an adequate supply in the barn for watering stock—washing carriages, harness—for the lawn, garden—or for protection against fire—besides, a makes this possible. It eliminates the unsightly elevated water tank that freezes in winter—or dries out in summer. The compressed air in a Leader Steel tank does all the work. In your cellar or buried in the ground it cannot freeze, and it solves the water problem forever. A complete system costs $40.00 upwards and you can install it yourself, if you like.

Let us show you how a Leader Water System in your home will save you money—in doctor's bills, and add to your own comfort and satisfaction at the same time.

A Leader Water System suited to the needs of your home will never get out of order or need repairs. A few minutes attention each day is all that the apparatus requires.

GOLDSBORO

HEARD FROM

A Lady Who Lives in Goldsboro Joins in the Chorus of Praise for Cardui, The Woman's Tonic.

Goldsboro, N. C.—“A physician treated me for many distressing symptoms,” writes Mrs. Etta A. Smith, “but gave me no relief.

“After taking Cardui, I am now well and can recommend it to other suffering women.”

Just such doubtful symptoms, as those from which Mrs. Smith suffered, are the ones for which it will pay you to take Cardui, the woman's tonic.

It is at such times, when there is nothing to show, for certain, the real cause of the trouble, that you need a tonic, to give the body strength to throw off the illness that evidently threatens.

Take Cardui, when you are ill, with the ailments of your sex. Take Cardui as a tonic, to prevent illness, when you feel it coming.

Your druggist keeps it.

Terrace Building.

The idea of the terrace is that we shall convert a field that has a constant fall, into a series of fields, the surface of each one of which is level. When a properly terraced field is completed a cross section of that field should have the appearance of a series of steps. To secure this result we establish a series of level lines in the field. The amount of fall between the lines depend very much upon the steepness of the grade. On hills of moderate grade a four-foot difference in the heights of the levels will usually be found sufficient, whereas when the grade of the hill is steeper, this can be profitably increased to six feet. Again, this difference in levels also depends upon the nature of the soil, remembering that a sandy soil will absorb water more readily than a clay and as a consequence, there will be need for fewer terraces on such fields. After the line of levels is established we then plow a good furrow up hill along this line and follow with two or three down hill upon top of that, thus throwing up an embankment that will serve to arrest the flow of the water down hill and catch the soil that it is carrying with it. Unfortunately, most of us seem to think that when this embankment is established that job is done. As a matter of fact, it is only just begun and it will take a number of years of careful work before the terrace is completed and gives us maximum results.

After once establishing this line of level then all of our plowing between the embankments should be down hill. Each breaking that we give in this way hastens the work of the rain in carrying soil from the upper part of the terrace and building up the lower part, until finally the land between the two lines of embankment is level and the water will soak in instead of running off.—D. N. Barrow, in Progressive Farmer.

As To Loveless Marriages.

A Chicago professor depicts loveless marriages as the sources of much crime and a great deal of sorrow. His idea is that no woman should marry merely for property, position, or support. He thinks that a one-million-dollar feminine personality which is dependent on a one-thousand-dollar masculine income means a discordant couple, and he contends for the economic independence of woman as the basic condition of marital happiness. He appeals to woman not to sacrifice her rich nature on the altar of want and dependence, and adds:

“If man can be brought to see the undesirability of the power of man over woman, a power enjoyed by the possession of money, we may even bring him to see the degradation of the power of money over man.”

The lesson which the professor tries to convey is that a woman must know a man's limitations before she marries; she must accept them, adapt herself to them lovingly, faithfully, and he, in return, must sacrifice everything for this loyalty and love. There is no question that if all marriages could be arranged upon this plane the world would be an ideal place in which to live.—Washington Herald.

Go to Blaize's.

When you think you are consigning a bore or any one who irritates you beyond endurance to a hot spot by telling him to “go to blaize” it appears that you are mistaken and that instead of being rudely abusive you are in fact merely kindly polite. The explanation is that once, in some far-away time, there was a good bishop named Blaize, who was always ready to dispense wise and sound advice to all applicants; hence it grew customary to say “Go to Blaize's.”—Washington Herald.

Be Open to New Ideas.

Success consists largely in acquiring knowledge of the right kind, and success doesn't put a man in a class by himself, or make him independent of the information to be secured from others. It is bad to be marooned on a little reef of self-conceit. Men must be open to new ideas, facts and theories, which are the commerce of the world of brain.

As illustrating the value of persistency, it has been stated that repeated and rapid blows will make iron red hot. But after all, a forge is quicker and cheaper. Persistency is all right, if you don't persist in being wrong. The world may owe you a living, but your banker won't accept that debt as collateral for a loan. Your business is to conquer disadvantages whatever they may be; don't let them conquer you. What would be the use of courage to challenge it? The brave nature never shows itself so grandly as under fire. You cannot get ahead by calling on the other fellow to stop.

If men spent one-half the energy in earnest, faithful work that they do in harmful pleasure, there would be no poverty among the working classes, and no misery among the rich. For this thing called success is simply the realization of ideals we have formed and striven to materialize. The man who succeeds in any line of endeavor is he who works whole heartedly, whole souledly, whole selfedly for success.—The Merchants Journal.

Not Intelligent Otherwise.

Noting the excellent practice which has arisen of reading from daily papers to public school pupils and also to college students, The Macon Telegram observes: “It is well enough to know the history of the ancients, but we are living in an age when more history is being made in a day than was made in a generation of the ancients. Problems undreamed of by the people of even a hundred years ago are the most vital with us today. The daily newspaper is the one certain and sure means by which much of this information can be obtained and if the citizen of the future is to be an all-round developed man he must read the papers as well as his text-books, for the sciences, arts and literature as well as history are making constant advance.”

In other words, schools or colleges which neglect this field are not turning out intelligent boys and girls, men and women. An article published by The Observer not long ago impressively showed by specific examples how more knowledge of the living present is needed among students in our colleges. For culture, for business, for simple escape from unfit citizenship, a good newspaper is a necessity today.—Charlotte Observer.

The Colonel's Bad Luck.

What has become of the Roosevelt luck? The colonel sets forth on his Southern trip and the country is absorbed in the army's movements and the Mexican crisis. He arrives in Texas, where it has been arranged that the Rough Riders should whoop it up for him, and Fort Worth is visited by the greatest fire in years. Now that he is headed for El Paso, who knows but some of the extinct volcanoes down there will create a sensation by bursting forth in eruption and causing the Rio Grande to run uphill.

It should be a law of nature that when the colonel goes abroad on one of his speech-making tours all floods, fires, war and spectacular occurrences on land and sea shall be suspended out of deference to him. Respect for his rights requires that he shall occupy the centre of the stage and that nobody shall make a noise in the wings to divert the attention of the admiring universe.—New York World.

Lays Eggs on the Fly.

An up to date hen of Mrs. William Kaler, of Sayville, Long Island, has taken to aviation, but sometimes business and sport. To say she lays while she flies jaradoxical, but it is true.

A rustic hanging basket in the Kalers' grape arbor was spied by the aspiring bantam one day last week. She flew up, and the impetus she gave the basket set it swinging like a pendulum. The hen enjoyed the flight in the monoplane so greatly that she paid her fare by depositing an egg in the basket.

Since then she has taken a flight every day and has laid an egg every time.

Mrs. Kaler says omelettes are light as air when made from these aerial eggs, which cannot be beaten. She intends to raise chickens in mid-atmosphere, as she thinks they might bring high prices.—New York World.

Many a girl marries in haste and repents in the divorce court.

He who does what he can may soon be able to do what he would.

It's a waste of the other fellow's time when you talk foolishly.

NEWSPAPER PRESS FOR SALE.

Having placed an order for a new fast newspaper and book press, to be installed the middle of April, we have a newspaper press that will be sold at a bargain for delivery May 1st.

It is a Monona Leverless Press, large enough to print four 6-column pages, or two 9-column pages and has steam fixtures so that it can be run either by hand or power. Been in use six years.

It is a splendid press for a weekly paper and is in good condition to do many years good service. We used a press from the same factory for 17 years before installing this one, printing a daily paper with small circulation about 10 years of that time. Its speed, 800 an hour, is too slow for a daily paper with the present circulation of The Reflector, and for that reason we are having to displace it with a faster press.

Any one interested and wanting a good press for a weekly newspaper, can see this press at work every day in the Reflector building, before our new press is installed. Any one who cannot come to see it at work and examine it, can get particulars by addressing

Stocks.

Weakness in London helped the bearish trend here. Steel held up firmly, though there was a great deal of the stock for sale. Strength was also shown by Missouri Pacific. Declines were noted in Southern Pacific, Union Pacific and other leaders, both railroads and industrials.

Cotton.

FASHIONS FROM MIDDLE AGES

Having run through the entire gamut of the comparatively modest hats, toques, beehives and the like which succeeded the picture hat a year or so ago, the aris milliners are turning to the middle ages for inspirations.

Old manuscripts, prints and engravings of the sixteenth, seventeenth and eighteenth centuries are being studied with a view to suggestions for new fashions, and the latest models from the Rue da la aix that appear in England and America may turn out to be copies of hats worn by contemporaries of Nell Gwyn.

The Joan or Arc hat is the happiest find from the fashions of long ago. The maid's hat, a blue velvet toque with trimming of gold lace turned up at the four corners, was two centuries in the possession of an Orleans family and after the French revolution was in the hands of one of the religious orders. Although it disappeared at that time, drawings of it were kept, and it is from these that the new fashion has been created.—Virginia Pilot.

Oath That Binds the Burmese.

Perjury having been rife in Rangoon courts because no form of oath existed which the Burman considered binding, the government prescribed a formula which is a queer admixture of Buddhism, Brahmanism and Shamanism. Here are phrases from it, picked at random: "If an untruth passes my lips, may all the gnats that live in lakes, ponds and brooks and the gnats of the five great rivers of India destroy me. May curdled blood pass my lips rather than a lie, and may I die vomiting blood, my body bent in two."

A BIG BUSINESS DEAL.

MADE IN AYDEN

MEANS MUCH FOR THAT TOWN.

Mr. L. L. Kittrell Buys The Smith Milling and Electric Plants.

Ayden, N. C., March 21.—The concert by the singing class from the Oxford orphan asylum will give their entertainment here next Thursday night in the Methodist church. Let every body come out.

Mr. E. G. Cox and family left Monday and will make their home for a while in Greensboro.

Possibly the largest deal was consummated in Ayden Saturday that ever has been in the history of the town. Messrs. J. R. Smith & Bro. sold to Mr. L. L. Kittrell, of Winterville, their entire mill, gins and electric plant, consisting of a system of ginney, grist mill, 2 60-H. P. boilers, 2 35 and 50 H. P. engines, dynamos, motor, saw outfit, planing outfit, reaw, edger, band saw, tools, harness, undertaking outfit, wagons, mules, timbers, electric lines, buildings, etc. Mr. Kittrell took charge last Monday morning. He will move his family here in short. Mr. Kittrell is a man of pluck and energy and we look for improvements in all branches of this establishment. We consider that Ayden is fortunate in securing such citizens as Mr. and Mrs. Kittrell.

We are sorry to learn that Mr. John I. Nobles near Rountrees, suffered a stroke of paralysis last Monday. At this writing he is able to be up.

Last Saturday a little son of Mr. J. W. (Sol.) Dixon, at Willow Green, was standing too close to the fire and his clothes caught. Before the flames were extinguished the little fellow was seriously burned about the legs and body.

The condition of Mr. J. J. Smith, who on March 12th suffered a stroke of paralysis, continues to grow more serious each day.

We hear that Rev. T. N. Manning is very low with a carbuncle at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Bob Smith, near Frog Level. Mr. Manning was once a resident of Ayden, conducting a fancy grocery store on the corner where Dr. M. M. Sauls' pharmacy now stands, and has many friends in Pitt and adjoining counties, who will learn this with regret. In his young days he was a very active Free Will Baptist minister, and when in his prime, could marry a couple a minute and possibly married as many as any man of his age. We hope he may yet be spared many years.

Mr. Joshua B. Carroll is conducting a very successful Sunday school at Hopewell school house near Ayden.

The Ayden editor is spending a day in Greenville.

April 11th is the day when Ayden will vote on bonds for the erection of a modern school building.

It was a pleasure to visit our neighbor city, Winterville, a short while last Sunday and hear one of Dr. W. R. Cullum's lectures, which we fully enjoyed, besides meeting so many of our friends of younger days. Jolly Jim Greene is always so pleasant and in such good spirit he reminds us of a breakfast food advertisement. We spent a few hours in the home of our old boss, Mr. A. G. Cox. He showed us his chicken yard, full of incubators, brooders and chirping birds; a lot full of fine cattle and hogs, which he raises for home consumption, as well as market; his large modern barn full of feed and improved machinery had more the appearance of a model "Progressive Farmer" than a cotton planter manufacturer. The evening was short.

We spent the time so pleasantly we were loth to leave. Some of the good people of Winterville are the "salt of the earth" and know how to make a visitor feel when within her "gates". We think the measles must have found every man, woman and child in the community and we hear the whooping cough is on the way, looking for the little tots.

Willing to Take Them Back.

A letter came from the clothing firm saying that the cloth that had been sent them was full of moths. Was the wholesale house taken aback? Not it. By return post went a missive to this effect:

"On looking over your order we find that you did not order any moths. It was our error, and you will please return them at once at our expense."—Argonaut.

Couldn't Help Himself.

"He lived next door to a man for ten years without even learning his neighbor's name."

"Can you imagine anybody being so unsocial?"

"Oh, yes. You see, the warden wouldn't let them talk."—Birmingham Age-Herald.
