

DISASTROUS HOLOCAUST

IN NEW YORK SHIRT WAIST FACTORY

NEARLY TWO HUNDRED PERISH

Girls Hemmed in Like Rats in a Trap With Inadequate Measures of Escape—New York Grand Jury Will Indict Owners of Factory for Manslaughter and Criminal Negligence.

By Wire to The Reflector.
New York, March 27.—District Attorney Whitman announced he would demand the New York county grand jury to find indictments, charging manslaughter and criminal negligence as a result of the holocaust in the Triangle waist factory. Evidence has been presented to Whitman that the doors were locked, this preventing many of the victims from escaping. Negligence is also charged to the bureau of the buildings, and Randolph T. Miller, superintendent, will be called upon to explain the lack of protection for the workers. There was only one fire escape and it is an out of the way place and an air shaft, itself a death trap and in bad condition.

One hundred and forty-five bodies had been recovered up to seven o'clock this morning and the search was still going on. Of these recovered seventy had been identified. Probably two score will never be identified, the bodies being charred beyond recognition. Of the seventy bodies identified only sixteen were men. Despite the rain storm thousands of people had gathered at the morgue at eight o'clock this morning searching for the bodies of relatives.

The fire occurred about 5 o'clock Saturday evening in a shirt waist factory where some 500 girls were at work on the 8th to 10th floors. The fire was sudden and quickly cut off means of escape. Many jumped from the upper windows to the pavements below, only to be crushed to death, the bodies being an unrecognizable mass of flesh and bones when picked up. The death toll will reach nearly 200, and this is the worst holocaust the city has known since the burning of the steamer Slocum a few years ago.

PREACHER POUNDED.

Found His Pantry Had Been Entered And Stocked Instead of Emptied.

Before beginning his sermon in the Baptist church Sunday morning, Rev. C. M. Rock, the pastor, spoke feelingly of the appreciation and cordiality shown him by the people of Greenville since he came here the first of the month. The evidence of appreciation which he found upon his return after a few days absence last week, when he went to his former home to bring his family here, he said moved his heart greatly, and he was afraid to undertake to express in words his feeling over this kindness.

During Mr. Rock's absence the church and friends had taken charge of his home, arranged it for occupancy and stocked his pantry with supplies sufficient for many days, even not omitting "salt that had not lost its savor." There is a joke about the salt that gave some of the brethren a good laugh on the pastor, but he knows how to take it. At any rate he has learned how to distinguish salt from sugar.

"THE WATCHMAN'S DUTY."

Our Obligations to Our Fellow Man Discussed Sunday Afternoon.

The meeting of the Men's Prayer League in the Christian church, Sunday afternoon, was another of those interesting gatherings that gave the men something to think about. The topic for discussion was "The Watchman's Duty," which the leaders, Messrs. J. C. Tyson, H. D. Bateman and J. A. Bland, handled from the standpoint of Christian, citizen and parent, pointing out he duty every one owes to his fellow man and in fulfilling his obligations to his neighbor. Others also made some interesting talks.

Next Sunday afternoon the meeting will be held in the Baptist church. The subject for that day is "What are we Living for?" Text: Luke 12:23. Leaders, Messrs. E. L. Daughtridge, D. L. Niven and A. D. Dupree.

POLICEMAN CLARK SHOOT WILL GRIFFIN IN LEG

GRIFFIN HAD BEATEN HIS WIFE

Officer Went Out to Arrest Him and Griffin Resisted.

Sunday afternoon Policeman G. A. Clark went out to arrest Will Griffin, a white man, who lives on the southern limits of the town, and Griffin showed so much resistance that the officer found it necessary to shoot him.

About 1 o'clock Sunday morning a neighbor of Griffin's went to the home of Policeman Clark and told him Griffin had beaten his wife and run her away from home, and was threatening further violence toward her. Officer Clark told the man to find Policeman McGowan, who was then on duty. Policeman McGowan went out to the scene, found all quiet then, and not having a warrant concluded not to wake the mayor at that time of night to get one, so did not arrest Griffin.

Sunday afternoon word came down that Griffin was raising trouble again, when Officer Clark procured a warrant and went out to arrest him. He found Griffin but the latter refused to come down town with the officer. They had a tussel in which the officer showed his gun, when Griffin changed his mind and said he would come. They started on together and after walking a short distance Griffin became obstinate again and said he would die before he would submit to the arrest. Officer Clark grappled with him again and had to shoot Griffin in the leg before bringing him under submission.

Griffin was brought down to the office of Dr. E. A. Moye who extracted the ball, which had only made a flesh wound, and the man was then taken to the guard house. Griffin has previously served two road sentences for beating his wife.

NATIONAL IRRIGATION CONGRESS

The Next Meeting in Chicago December 5th to 9th.

Chicago, March 27.—Drain the swamp and overflow lands of the United States is a slogan of the National Irrigation Congress, which particularly interests those states having large bodies of land which require drainage for their reclamation. The drainage question is one which interests every state in the Union and is causing all sections of the country to take unusual interests in the nineteenth annual meeting of the National Irrigation Congress at Chicago, December 5th to 9th.

This great development organization has been one of the leaders in the work to have the overflow lands reclaimed through co-operation of national, state and individual efforts under a plan similar to that by which reclamation through irrigation has accomplished such wonders throughout the Western states. Special attention will be given this year at the Chicago meeting to this matter which is of such direct interest to the states of the South and middle West.

At the Pueblo meeting last year the Irrigation Congress adopted a resolution regarding drainage as follows: "Recognizing the economic waste and menace to the public health connected with our vast areas of swamp land and overflow lands, we request our representatives in the Federal congress to take suitable action looking toward the reclamation of such lands under a policy corresponding with that of the reclamation of arid lands by irrigation under reclamation service; such reclamation of swamp and overflow lands to be carried forward through co-operation between individual owners, states and the Federal government."

At the Chicago meeting efforts will be made to further this policy.

NO MORE GREEN TEA.

It Can Not Be Obtained in This Country After April First.

Lovers of green tea will be distressed to learn that after March 1 they will find it impossible to procure their favorite beverage in this country. The government's "tea board" has, after careful consideration, decided that the artificial coloring of tea is injurious to health, and that, therefore, its further importation is unlawful and must be stopped. The order will not go into effect until May 1, because that is the time when the new crop begins to come in, and to have enforced it earlier might have worked considerable hardships to those taken by surprise with importations on the way. Definite notice is given now, however, and importers will hereafter attempt to import artificially colored tea at their peril.

The decision is expected to have a far-reaching effect, especially on the commerce of Japan, which exports artificially colored tea in large quantities. The United States imports approximately 115,000,000 pounds of tea a year, and the proportion artificially colored is roughly estimated at not less than half. It is assumed that a large number of the tea producers of Japan will be compelled materially to alter their methods to meet the new treasury regulation.—New York Tribune.

Visit of the Orphans.

The singing class of the Oxford Orphan Asylum had a large audience in the auditorium of the Training school, Saturday night, and their concert was delightful. The class also sang in the Baptist church at the service Sunday night. Greenville, as is always the custom when the orphans come here, showed her liberality to them, the amount received being $75.10.

Col. R. T. Bennett's "Selma Hill" Homestead at Wadesboro Destroyed by Fire—Furniture Factory at Thomasville Burned—Man Burned at Whichards Dead from Injuries.

Wadesboro, March 25.—"Selma Hill," the home of Col. R. T. Bennett, ex-congressman and ex-judge of the Superior court, was destroyed by fire this morning between 9 and ten o'clock. The fire caught on the roof while Mrs. Bennett was burning out a chimney and as the water main does not go within about three hundred yards of the house, the friends who rushed to help could not save the magnificent old homestead.

Thomasville, March 25.—This evening at about 7 o'clock the alarm of fire was given and in a few minutes the whole town was lit up by the blaze coming from the Lambeth Furniture Company. The plant was on fire and almost a total mass of flames before any one could reach the scene. The people were helpless as the fire had gained such headway that all the available efforts could not subdue the raging flames and in less than an hour the machine room and finishing department, which was up stairs, were burned to the ground. The loss is estimated at between $35,000 and $40,000 and nearly 100 people are thrown out of employment.

Mr. Ben. Peterson who was so severely burned at Whichards about three weeks ago succumbed to his injuries last night about seven o'clock. For a time, it was thought that he might possibly recover. However blood poison set in, and then the end was only a matter of time. Death came as a relief to intense suffering.—Washington News.

If the success of this new farming implement continues, Shelby will have a splendid new manufacturing industry that will give employment to scores of men.—Shelby Star.

Spelling Match.

R. F. D. No. 4.
Tarboro, N. C., March 24th, 1911.
There was a spelling match held Friday afternoon between the pupils of Mr. Ives' school and Mrs. Moseley's school, resulting in a clean sweep of Mrs. Moseley's school. Only eight of the best spellers were selected on both sides. Five of Mr. Ives' pupils were left standing when the last of Mrs. Moseley's sat down.

This goes to prove the good work we have done this year under the direction of our teacher, Mr. Ives. We are all pleased with his way of teaching, and sincerely hope we may secure him as principal of our "high school" which is to be erected during the summer.

STATE BARACA-PHILATHEA CONVENTION

GREENSBORO, NORTH CAROLINA.

Saturday, Sunday and Monday, April 22nd, 23rd, and 24th, 1911.

The call of the convention is to the young men and women of this State for a more consecrated service to the Master in carrying on the great work of gathering the men and women, boys and girls, into the Sunday school and ultimately into the kingdom of God.

The purpose of the convention is to meet and greet each other; speak words of encouragement and good cheer; exchange ideas for mutual benefit and enthusiasm and to get a vision of the great opportunity offered and the responsibility that rest upon us individually as representatives of one of the greatest Sunday school movements of modern times.

Each and every Sunday school Bible class in the State is cordially invited and earnestly urged to send as many delegates as possible; there is no limit, and a cordial welcome awaits you.

All delegates will be given a reception Saturday evening by the Greensboro Baracas and Philatheas, at which there will be no "Wall Flowers" and during their stay at the convention will be entertained free. This is very liberal of the Greensboro folks, but they always "do things" right. We want all delegates to arrive in Greensboro not later than Saturday afternoon.

We have applied for special rates and all delegates are requested to see their railroad agents before leaving home in regards to same. This promises to be a great convention, and every class in the State is requested to send by its delegates a concise report, showing its condition and progress. We will have several speakers of ability and reputa-

Negro Women As Suffragists.

All party Socialists are suffragists; a great many suffragists are Socialists. The Socialists in the north have held so-called "miscegenation" dinners at which they sat down with negroes and toasted each other upon the day when all races would be joined together by ties of blood, and the color line between the races would be merged into one neutral tint. We are not surprised, therefore, at the announcement that leaders of the woman suffrage movement are planning to give a social entertainment to negro women of Harlem, whom they would recruit with the woman suffrage party.

It is important, not only for their social and racial integrity, but for their physical wellbeing, that the white and the black races should live apart. Their hybridization, leads to the forming of a degenerate type; anthropologists declare that some of the most cruel and treacherous specimens of humanity are to be found among "mottled" negroes of the south. If the women suffragists wished to gain converts for their cause in the states lying south of the Mason and Dixon line, they have gone about it in a queer way.—New York Times.

WORKING ROADS BY TAXATION.

Iredell county will soon vote on the question of issuing bonds to the amount of $400,000 to build good roads in that county. Some time this year Greenville township is to vote on the question of issuing bonds to the amount of $50,000 to build good roads in this township. Both of these are along practically the same lines, about the only difference being that one applies to a whole county and the other only to a single township, hence what is said in argument for or against in one instance applies almost as well in the other. Therefore the following article appearing in the last issue of the Statesville Landmark, with some words of local application left out here and there, fits Greenville township as well as it does Iredell county. The Landmark says:

The important fact should not be overlooked that a vote for the road bonds is also a vote for working the roads by taxation. The bond bill, which is to be accepted or rejected by the voters, provides for working the roads by taxation, and if the bond proposition is accepted the old system of working the roads will pass. The old plan is antiquated, of no value so far as permanent benefit is concerned, and yet every male citizen of the county—outside of incorporated towns—from the age of 18 years to 45, is liable to road duty six days in the year. While the work done on the roads is usually of little value, it takes the time of men who are often busy on their farms, and at the present price of labor three or four days put in at road work will amount to enough to more than pay the road tax of many of the road workers. This is a view of the bond proposition that should not be overlooked.

Of course the $400,000 will not build good roads on all the public roads in the county. Nobody has so claimed, and nobody will. The plan and the purpose is to put the main thoroughfares of the county, the leading roads, in good condition and thereafter maintain them and to work the other public roads by such methods as may be adopted. Some voters have asked if all the public roads outside the main thoroughfares will be abandoned. Not at all.

Another matter; Some of the people who are industriously searching for excuses to oppose the bond issue have suggested that while the road bill does not provide for an increase in taxes, that taxes will be increased by increasing property assessment. Of course property assessment will be increased. It would have been increased if the bond issue had never been heard of, and it will be increased if the bonds are not voted. Every intelligent citizen who reads the papers knows that tax assessments increase every year, and the increase is regarded as a sign of progress. If, when property is listed for taxation there should be no increase over the previous year, or a decrease was shown, it would prove that the people of the county had either made no progress or were going backward, and the publication of such a fact would be the worst possible advertisement any community or county could have.

The statement that valuable property shows an increase every year doesn't apply to real estate for a general assessment of real estate is made only once in four years. This year is the regular time for the re-assessment of real estate and this fact should mean a very material increase, for no intelligent citizen will contend that land has not very materially increased in value the past few years.

Of course there will be a general increase in the assessment for taxation this year, because values have increased and the increase in taxable value is proper. But the increase has nothing to do with the bond issue; the increase will be made whether the bonds are voted or not; and if the bonds fail you will go on paying the same tax as if they had carried, you will have to work the roads as now if you are liable to road duty, but you may have to wait a long time for a good road to be built in your neighborhood, for under the present system the process of building roads is slow.

The executive committee of the North Carolina Press Association has selected Lenoir as the place for the next annual meeting, and June 20th the date. The association met in Lenoir in 1889, and after a delightful session there a trip to Blowing Rock followed. The Matter of Hospitals.

The day when first-class hospital facilities were confined to the larger centers of population has passed. A gratifying number of North Carolina towns now have hospitals and the list is continually growing. Lincolnton, Gastonia, Lumberton, Shelby, Rutherfordon are all on the list and there are many others. The Newton News, therefore, in declaring its earnest desire to see community take this step, is occupying very solid ground—"Newton" it thinks, "has the wealth to build and the medical talent to look after a hospital and the matter ought to engage the serious consideration of the physicians and people of the town"

The advantages offered by local hospital service—if this be adequate—over any that must be secured by a tedious journey are many and obvious. Accidents are not infrequent in which an immediate operation is necessary. In communities without a hospital the surgeon performs operations without the ordinary facilities which modern science deems essential to his best work. The difference may not infrequently mean the difference between life and death for the patient. Again, in cases of illness where the necessity is not so pressing or immediate the local hospital has scarcely smaller advantages over one at a distance. The accessibility of friends and acquaintances in such instances is one of the greatest aids to the treatment and invariably lightens the weariness of the sick room.

Columns might be written without exhausting the subject. Population is turning this way from the four points of the compass. Our farmers are improving their methods in preparation for the newcomers. Industries are springing up to give a part of them employment. Towns of today will be cities ten years hence. These should not fall behind the industrial and agricultural interests in their endeavors to keep abreast. Every properly appointed hospital which shall be erected in North Carolina means just a little bit added to the sum total of the state's good.—Charlotte Observer.

Where there's a will there's a fighting chance for the lawyers.

Advertising By Circulars.

The Newbern Journal voices once more the complaint against the practice of attaining publicity by means of the distribution of booklets and circulars. No city can possibly be a city beautiful, according to its way of thinking, as long as tons and tons of waste paper are scattered indiscriminately every year on the streets and in the yards upon whose appearance the beauty so much desired depends. To the circular and booklet method of advertising in itself no particular objection is to be raised. If the advertiser finds that such an investment brings returns, his selection of it is justified from the business viewpoint. It is the litter which accompanies the method that constitutes the nuisance, and in not a few instances this is of such magnitude as to demand the abolition of the practice. In this day of deadly competition, when every penny invested must produce its result, the fact that the circular closely resembles a load of shot in taking effect offers the brightest hope for its relegation to the rear. The average boy, as The Journal points out, does not distribute his circulars; he merely scatters them. Logically there must be an enormous proportion of the paper and ink—to say nothing of the thought—employed to prepare the circulars absolutely and irretrievably wasted. When advertisers figure this proportion down outweighs the advantage derived from the circulars that are read, circular distribution will die a quick death. And thus will the city beautiful be brought a step nearer.—Charlotte Observer.

Woes of an Architect.

Extraordinary demands are often made of the architect, varying with every client. Jones wants colonial stairs in a wide hall. Smith says, "for heaven's sake put the stairs somewhere so that I can speak upstairs without going by the front door!" Mrs. Jones announces with an ice-cream to be able to put in the air of a discoverer that she wants ice from the outside—a plan which Mrs. Smith strenuously vetoes, because she says it enables the iceman to cheat so easily. One of my architect friends recently received more as a command than as a suggestion the idea of a combination dumb-waiter and dining table. "A splendid idea," said the client, "the table can be set in the basement, then raised gracefully into place like an elevator."

"Yes," agreed the architect, "but when the table is down below what happens to the hole in the floor?"—Metropolitan.

A Fierce Night Alarm.

Is the hoarse, startling cough of a child, suddenly attacked by croup. Often it aroused Lewis Chamblin, of Manchester, O., (R. R. No. 2.) for their four children were greatly subject to croup. "Sometimes in severe attacks" he wrote, "we were afraid they would die, but since we proved what a certain remedy Dr. King's New Discovery is, we have no fear. We rely on it for croup and for coughs, colds or any throat or lung trouble." So do thousands of others. So may you. NEWSPAPER PRESS FOR SALE.

Having placed an order for a new fast newspaper and book press, to be installed the middle of April, we have a newspaper press that will be sold at a bargain for delivery May 1st.

It is a Monona Leverless Press, large enough to print four 6-column pages, or two 9-column pages and has steam fixtures so that it can be run either by hand or power. Been in use six years.

It is a splendid press for a weekly paper and is in good condition to do many years good service. We used a press from the same factory for 17 years before installing this one, printing a daily paper with small circulation about 10 years of that time. Its speed, 800 an hour, is too slow for a daily paper with the present circulation of The Reflector, and for that reason we are having to displace it with a faster press.

Any one interested and wanting a good press for a weekly newspaper, can see this press at work every day in the Reflector building, before our new press is installed. Any one who cannot come to see it at work and examine it, can get particulars by addressing

THIS IS CERTAIN.

The Proof That Greenville Readers Cannot Deny.

What could furnish stronger evidence of the efficiency of any remedy than the test of time? Thousands of people testify that Doan's Kidney Pills cure permanently.

Home endorsement should prove undoubtedly the merit of this remedy. Years ago your friends and neighbors testified to the relief they had derived from the use of Doan's Kidney Pills. They now confirm their testimonials. They say time has completed the test.

Mrs. T. S. Norman, 911 Evans St., Greenville, N. C., says: "I gladly give Doan's Kidney Pills my endorsement, as they have proven of greater benefit to me than any other remedy I have ever used. I suffered from a dull ache through the small of my back. There was also a soreness across my kidneys and I was hardly able to get around on account of sharp, darting pains through my loins. Upon arising in the morning, I felt tired and languid and had but little ambition or energy. Since using Doan's Kidney Pills, procured at Wooten's Drug Store, the backache and pains have disappeared, I do not suffer from backache and that tired, languid feeling has been removed."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

A Town's Best Asset.

The chamber of commerce of Sumter, S. C., held a revival meeting, so to speak, the other night. The object of the gathering was to infuse new spirit into the members of the organization, in order that they might be the better prepared to boost Sumter on all occasions. As principal speaker the Sumter folks invited Secretary McKeand of the Charleston chamber, and his words are well worth the widest attention. He told his hosts to follow the line of least resistance in inaugurating a boosting campaign; to select some object which would intrinsically appeal to the business men of the town and to rally them around it. Having secured their harmonious co-operation in one effort, there would be much less difficulty in enlisting it for the next. The importance of setting forth the exact truth with regard to the town's assets rather than indulging in roseate dreams was also emphasized.

More important than any other single thought of Mr. McKeand's, however, was one which will be considered trite by many but which needs emphasis and re-emphasis, none the less. "The best asset of a town," he declared, "is its men." After all, the progress of any community depends upon the quality of its citizenship. If a boosting organization comes to depend too much upon climate or soil or some other natural advantage and seems to forget that the best of all such things in most abundant measure will not alone make a town, that organization stands sorely in need of a realignment. Behind the natural advantages must stand the men. If these do not give liberally of their time and thought to the upbuilding of their town, the process will inevitably be slow.

The various commercial bodies in this region have busied themselves in inventing descriptive slogans for their respective communities, and these naturally differ. There is not a chamber of commerce or board of trade in existence which will not do well to adopt as its own private slogan Secretary McKeand's message to his Sumter brethren: "A town's best asset—its men."—Charlotte Observer

Light Work.

A weather-beaten dandel somewhat over six feet in height and with a pair of shoulders proportionally broad appeared at a back door in Wyoming and asked for light housework. She said that her name was Lizzie, and explained that she had been ill with typhoid fever and was convalescing. "Where did you come from, Lizzie?" inquired the woman of the house, "where have you been?" "I've been workin' out on Howell's ranch," replied Lizzie, "diggin' post-holes while I was gettin' my strength back."—Lippincott's.

Attacks School Principal.

A severe attack on school principal, Chas. B. Allen, of Sylvania, Ga., is thus told by him. "For more than three years," he writes, "I suffered indescribable torture from rheumatism liver and stomach trouble and diseased kidneys. All remedies failed till I used Electric Bitters, but four bottles of this wonderful remedy cured me completely." Such results are common. Thousands bless them for curing stomach trouble, female complaints, kidney disorders, biliousness and for new health and vigor. Try them. Only 50c at all druggists.

He is an ungrateful man who lives beyond his wife's means.

Has Millions of Friends.

How would you like to number your friends by millions as Bucklen's Arnica Salve does? Its astounding cures in the past forty years made them. Its best Salve in the world for sores, ulcers, eczema, burns, boils, scalds, cuts, corns, sore eyes, sprains, swellings, bruises, old sores. Has no equal for piles. 25c at all druggists.

Closing Postoffices Sunday.

The proposition to close postoffices on Sunday seems to be spreading throughout the country. The idea is not a bad one, for the custom of Sunday mail is simply a custom, a habit, which in most cases could be dropped to advantage and without hurt. A movement has been started in Salisbury to close the postoffice in that town on Sunday but it is explained that the closing will affect only those who call at carriers' windows or the general delivery window for mail; that patrons who have lock-boxes will get their mail as usual. This arrangement is not only unfair, but it is beating the devil about the stump so far as Sunday observance is concerned. We had supposed that the idea of closing the postoffices on Sunday was to give the postoffice clerks a rest—one day of rest in seven to which they are entitled. But if clerks are to be on duty and distribute mail so that patrons of lock-boxes can get it, it will add little to their work, or to the sin of getting mail on Sunday, to keep the delivery windows open for a short time.—Statesville Landmark.

The Woman in Business.

What many girls, and women, too, fail to realize is that work—any work be it for the commercial and impersonal world that pays for it with a small weekly check, or for the dear personal world which pays briefly in love—that any work is a privilege. No matter how monotonous it may seem, carries with it a responsibility which should win a response not only of respect and interest, but of affection; and which should result in making for the girl a larger and more admirable personality. Of course, a girl may be overdriven, in which she can hardly be expected to love her work. What she needs is to be taken away from it and nursed back to steadiness of nerves. But assuming that a girl has a normal working day, lasting seven or eight hours, (unfortunately, it is sometimes nine); she has no excuse for not feeling an interest in it, for not understanding that she owes it an attention that has nothing to do with the wage she draws for it.—Woman's World.

Ralph Waldo Emerson's Stove.

Ralph Waldo Emerson was a man of rare integrity and very particular about small things. One day a new cooking stove had been provided for his house, and, although the stove came very highly recommended, it proved thoroughly unsatisfactory and most provoking, as it did everything but what it was expected to do. After awhile the family was in despair, and some one suggested sending it to auction.

"What!" exclaimed Emerson. "Transfer our own perplexity to another pair of shoulders? No, never, unless the stove is labeled 'Imperfect.'"

And so "Imperfect" it was labeled and sold at a great discount.

IN A ROMAN CAB.

A Party of Disgusted Americans and an Overgrateful Driver.

In Mr. Howells' "Roman Holidays and Others" is this delightful story of an adventure in a Roman cab:

In returning from the Pincio the only cab we had been able to get was the last left of the very worst cabs in Rome, and we had bidden the driver wait for us at the church steps, not without some hope that he would play us false. But there he was, true to his word, with such disciplined fidelity as that of the Roman sentinels who used to die at their posts, and we mounted to ours with the muted prayer that we at least might reach home alive.

This did not seem probable when the driver whipped up his horse. It appeared to have aged and sickened while we were in the church, although we had thought it looked as bad as could be before, and it lurched alarmingly from side to side, recovering itself with a plunge of its heavy head away from the side in which its body was sinking.

The driver swayed on his box, having fallen equally decrepit, in spite of the restoratives he seemed to have applied for his years and infirmities. His clothes had put on some such effect of extreme decay as those of Rip Van Winkle in the third act; there was danger that he would fall on top of his falling horse and that their raiment would mingle in one scandalous ruin.

Via Sistina had never been so full of people before; never before had it been so long to that point where we were to turn out of it into the friendly obscurity of the little cross street which would bring us to our hotel. We could not consent to arrive in that form; we made the driver stop, and we got out and began overpaying him to release us.

But the more generously we overpaid him the more nobly he insisted upon serving us to our door.

At last, by such a lavish expenditure as ought richly to provide for the few remaining years of himself and his horse, we prevailed with him to let us go and reached our hotel glad, almost proud, to arrive on foot.

TOUCHY SERVANTS.

Japanese Nesans Have to Be Handled With Gloves of Velvet.

Japanese servants must be treated with tact, however trying they may be, and often they are very trying indeed, especially the nesans, who are usually untidy, cross and lazy. Yet the dear little things have admirers who praise their kittenish ways, their tiny hands and even, of all things, their artistic temperaments.

A certain writer solemnly says: "A Japanese nesans—any nesans, even one in a hotel—will set out your hairbrushes, clothesbrushes, nail scissors, collar box and tooth powder on the average hotel dressing table and make a design of them—a picture, an artistic whole." All I can say is that no nesans has ever arranged studies of still life with the nail scissors and the tooth powder for me, though, possibly by way of compensation, one has started little lakes of boiling water on my carpet when I rang for you, or toppled over the morning tea tray and arranged the fragments in an unconventional design on my bed quilt, or dragged a table with scrapings in a minor key the whole length of the veranda.

If corrected roughly the maiden will first cry and then leave. The hotel manager is well aware of this—aware with all the nervous perception of a person whom one hasty or ill considered sentence can throw into a situation seriously threatening his comfort and prosperity; hence his attitude of habitual meekness. He dares not let his little lecture slide over the line which divides it from a scolding and is careful to deliver a necessary exhortation with a smiling face and frequent laughs just to show that it is really not a scolding at all.—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

Couldn't Kill Him.

"Spotted fever" received some queer treatment in John Wesley's day, according to Wesley's journal of September, 1746. A man named John Trembath had the fever, and Wesley wrote: "It was the second relapse into the spotted fever, in the height of which they gave him sack, cold milk and apples, plums, as much as he could swallow. I can see no way to account for his recovery but that he had not yet finished his work."

Abraham Could Read and Write.

Some people persist in thinking that the art of writing is recent and that in primitive times poems and literary productions had to be memorized. But more than 3,000 years before the Christian era people in Abraham's native town wrote receipts for garden and market products just as we have them now, showing that the patriarchs certainly must have known how to read and write.—Dr. William Hanna Thomson in Designer.

Not Interested.

"You really ought to take up the study of reincarnation," said the young woman of great mentality. "Not I," answered Mr. Dustin Stax. "These investigations are giving me all the trouble concerning my past that I can handle at present."—Washington Star.

Getting an Education.

"Has your son learned much since he went to college?" asked the new minister. "Naw," replied Farmer Oatcake, "but I hev, by hen!"—Chicago News.

MODERN HAIR DRESSING

has played havoc with the tresses of the fair sex, and druggists everywhere comment on the fact that they are selling large quantities of sage for making the old-fashioned "sage tea," such as was used by our grandmothers for promoting the growth of their hair and restoring its natural color. The demand for this well-known herb for this purpose has been so great that one manufacturer has taken advantage of the fact, and has placed on the market an ideal "sage tea," containing sulphur, a valuable remedy for dandruff and scalp rashes and irritations, called Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy. The manufacturers of this remedy authorize druggists to sell it under guarantee that the money will be refunded if it fails to do exactly as represented. This preparation is offered to the public at fifty cents a bottle and is recommended and sold by Moya's Pharmacy, Greenville, N. C. Subscribe to The Reflector.

You need never carry another pail of water or even go out of the house on stormy days. Put running water in your home—in the kitchen—bathroom—bottlet and have an adequate supply in the barn for watering stock—washing carriages, harness—for the lawn, garden—or for protection against fire—besides.
Leader Water System
makes this possible. It eliminates the unsightly elevated water tank that freezes in Winter—or dries out in Summer. The compressed air in a Leader's Blast tank does all the work. In your cellar or buried in the ground, it cannot freeze, and it solves the water problem forever. A complete system costs $40.00 upwards and you can install it yourself, if you like. Let us show you how a Leader Water System in your home will save you money—in doctor's bills, and add to your own comfort and satisfaction at the same time. A Leader Water System suited to the needs of your home will never get out of order or need repairs. A few minutes attention each day to all that the apparatus requires.

THE BURNING OF MONEY.

A Little Experiment in Rockingham—Acquitted Himself Handsomely.

How far will a dollar go? To ashes if no further, is the conclusion reached by Messrs. W. C. Leak and W. N. Everett, two gentlemen who love money too well to purposely burn it. But the story tells its own tale and here it is:

Some days ago a gentleman came into the office of Mr. Leak and carefully folded a dollar bill, placed it in an envelope, set it afire and then awaited results. Out came the dollar bill unscratched by the flames.

Next Mr. Leak took it upon himself to do the same trick. Friends were called in to witness the exhibition. Mr. Leak, with all the mystery of a magician, carefully folds a dollar bill, places it in an envelope, says a few Oriental words over it, strikes a match and the flames appear.

With the air of a conqueror Mr. Leak takes up the seeming remains and with a smile reaches for the dollar, but lo, and behold, it has gone the way of the wayward and is no more.

Mr. Everett hears of the trick and its non-success and wishing to see it repeated asks Mr. Leak to again pull off the event. Mr. Leak kindly consents to do so, smoothly asking Mr. Everett for a dollar bill. Without a thought Mr. Everett hands it over. The second experiment was like unto the first. Again a dollar bill is consigned to ashes, and it dawns suddenly upon Mr. Everett that it really was not Mr. Leak's dollar that was gone. But Mr. Everett recoups his "fallen fortunes." He at once sent the ashes back to Uncle Sam and got a pretty new one in its place. And herein he prides himself, and well he may, for he saved a dollar where "Doc" Leak lost one. And another omen of "good fortune"—as he proudly and for good reason doth boast—it, that in walking down the street some days ago 'twixt two Hebrew friends, he first spied and picked up a penny. Surely he was born under a lucky star, and is headed for the Morgan class.—Rockingham Post.

Science on the Farm.

"It is an inspiration to see how farmers are studying improved methods of farming," says Mr. T. J. W. Broom, who has been on tour through a number of the eastern and piedmont counties recently. "Everywhere they are waking up to the growing of larger crops and to soil improvement." Mr. Broom continued, "and this year they are going at it with more intelligence than ever before."—Monroe Enquirer.

Corroborative Detail.

AYDEN SUPPLIES GIVE A SKATING PARTY PERSONAL AND BUSINESS NOTES

Ayden Wants a Modern Hotel and Will Get It.

Ayden, N. C., March 27.—The class from Oxford gave their concert here Thursday night in the handsome new Methodist church, which was filled to overflowing. Rev. E. T. Phillips invoked the divine blessing upon the class of the orphans and then made some touching remarks. The concert was splendid. The closing song, "Lead Kindly Light," was majestic enough to start tears from some of the hearers. The receipts were some over $80. This class always finds a hearty welcome, when they come to our town.

Rev. W. V. Denton will leave Monday to make his home in Dunn, where pastures are greener, waters are deeper and salaries are higher.

Mr. J. J. Smith's condition seems unchanged. He is still very low and hope of his recovery is very doubtful.

All kinds of lace and insertion to match, nice line of dress goods and straw hats for men, women and children, crockery, silver, a full line of drugs, patent medicines, hardware, mill fittings, roofing, metal, rubber and paper, at J. R. Smith Company's.

Mr. John B. Pierce is the proud father of a baby girl.

Mr. E. G. Cox is having some repairing done on his fence, houses, etc., high greatly improve his premises.

Who is it that said he would take $1000 stock in a brick hotel in Ayden, if the corner near the old post office could be secured? It would be a beautiful location, or the Braswell lots on the corner of Third street would be equally as well. A modern hotel is something we surely need.

Mr. Sebron Cox, Jr., returned from a trip through South Carolina and Georgia Friday.

Our farmers tell us the chances are that tobacco plants will be scarce as the outlook now is poor.

Mr. J. E. Cannon in a papa again, another boy.

Mrs. Martha Carman, of Rocky Mount, is visiting in town.

Messrs. G. V. Cannon, E. Leslie Turnage and Dr. Harvey Dixon have been elected trustees on the board of Ayden graded school, in the place of Messrs. J. F. Barwick, W. J. Mumford and H. C. Ormond, whose terms had expired.

Rape, millet, hairy vetch, crimson clover, onion sets and a full line of garden seeds and Irish potatoes.—J. R. Smith Company.

Mr. Josephus Gaskins is having a nice dwelling erected on the B. B. Jones place, near Harrington X roads.

We fear the recent cold wave will damage the early fruit crop.

Miss Annie Coward has gone to Greenville on a few weeks visit.

Skating Party.

No social event this season has been so greatly enjoyed as the decidedly unique "skating party" given on Tuesday evening by the Ayden suffragettes to the young men of the town.

Promptly at nine o'clock the guests assembled at the rink where amid much merriment and laughter the ladies, carrying out the idea of suffrage, presented the young men with cards filled for ten skates. When the whistle blew for the skating to begin the party, led by Miss Sallie B. Quinerly and Mr. J. C. Gardner, took their places on the floor.

During the five minutes intermission between skates Misses Lucy Hodges and Olivia Berry gracefully presided at the punch bowl. Music by the Ayden string band greatly added to the enjoyment of the evening. Those invited were Miss Sallie B. Quinerly with Mr. J. C. Gardner; Miss Lizzina Moore, of Greenville, with Mr. J. C. Noble; Miss Etta Powell, of Weldon, with Mr. S. F. Noble; Miss Mayfield Richmond, of Richmond, with Mr. L. E. Turnage; Miss Margaret Godley, of Red Springs, with Mr. W. A. Quinerly; Miss Bettie Howe, of Monroe, with Mr. R. L. Turnage; Miss Lee Nichols with Mr. A. R. Cannon; Miss Jennie Davis with Mr. D. R. Hollowell and Miss Lucy Turnage with Mr. E. J. Gardner.

Uncle Joe's Idea About It.

From a "note of warning" issued by Charlotte's city solicitor, one is led to believe that some of the drug stores, candy and other stores are running a genuine three-card monte game. The solicitor says they are gambling and if they do not stop he is going after them. Why don't these men advertise in the Charlotte newspapers and secure trade without gambling for it? A man who cannot get business through the home papers cannot get it at all.—Greensboro Record.

Agriculture's Rainbow Tints.

An esteemed correspondent sends a 2-cent stamp to find out "whether the future of agriculture is as bright as has been painted." Then the editor of the Stockman and Farmers flings out this little bit of sarcasm:

"We don't claim to know much about the future of agriculture or anything else, but would suggest that some good reliable color is nearer the correct thing for painting it than gorgeous rainbow tints. Some persons can paint the future of agriculture in such wondrous hues as to make a fellow wish he had deferred his entrance into this world until a later date.

Some can paint the present of agriculture brilliant colors also. Most of these talented artists, however, deny themselves the full enjoyment of agriculture's rosy dawns, glowing noontides and tender sunsets by living in town and following some prosaic occupation, such as hold a political office, teaching school or running a store. Very few of them are engaged in coloring up a farm with a manure pile or adding to the essential knowledge of a newly weaned calf.

Better trust the judgment of some solid farmer than the brilliance of a painter as to the future of agriculture. The farmer may not sling no the paint so thick or make it so bright, but he knows more about the subject. As for ourselves, we feel confident that agriculture is going to reward the man who believes in it enough to study it, who applies good common sense and delicence to it.

The other kind of men have no bright future in any kind of business. Farming isn't all a bright picture; it has trials and difficulties, just as other occupations have, but it is a better business today than it ever was, and it is not "advancing backward."

The Game of Quintain.

The game of quintain survives only in the village of Offham, Green, in Kent, England. It is so named from an instrument used in tilting on horseback with the lance. It consisted of an upright post, surmounted by a crossbar turning on a pivot, which had at one end a flat board and at the other a bag of sand. The object of the tilter was to strike the board at such a rate of speed that he would be past and out of the way before the bag of sand as it whirled round could hit him in the back.
